Allied Bombing Reduces Nazi Plane Output To Point Where Huns Barely Replace Losses

LONDON Dec. 17 (CP). —Allied day and night bombing of German industry has cut the Nazis' aircraft production to the point where fighter plane output barely equals the rate of losses in air battles, it was reliably reported today.

Information available here indicated that the Germans produced about 1,250 bombers and 650 fighters in August and the same number in September, while the late summer bombing campaign undoubtedly reduced the figures still lower.

Since Oct. 1, British and American fighters and bombers have shot down more than 1,000 German planes by conservative count. The Germans are believed to have only 2,400 fighters in service now on all fronts, about two-thirds of them at home.

Nazi industry once had a monthly goal of 2,600 planes of all types, but achieved this only in July, 1942.

69 Known Dead In Train Crash

By RALPH L. HOWLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

LUMBERTON, N.C., Dec. 17 — (AP). — Twenty-four hours after a train disaster near here took a known toll of 69 dead and more than 50 injured, the search for more bodies went forward early today in the blue light of acetylene torches.

Red Cross and railroad officials here reported eight more bodies were believed locked in a section of a passenger car which had not been entered. Workers toiled at the wreck scene all night in the freezing weather.

The toll of dead—48 servicemen and 21 civilians —was announced by Atlantic Coast Line Railroad headquarters at Wilmington. Upwards of 50 persons were injured, many seriously.

Enough of the mass of telescoped cars and twisted rails was expected to be moved today to permit resumption of normal traffic over the trunk A.C.L. lines.

Some of the dead were still unidentified. Witnesses said a few victims were so dismembered it would be difficut to establish identity.

A broken rail, A.C.L. officials said, caused the first wreck— the deraiment of three coaches of the Florida-bound Tamiami, West Coast champion. One person was killed in this wreck.

This was at 2.10 a.m. Five minutes later the northbound Tamiami East Coast Champion ploughed into the derailed coaches of the first train.

The disaster occurred on the coldest day of the winter, in 10-degree weather, and it was two hours before some of the injured and dying could be tended.

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP).— The majority of civilian defence organizations in Ontario municipalities plan to continue activities on a modified basis, the Ontario Civilian Defence Committee said today. Only a few, mostly in Northern Ontario, have indicated their intention to disband entirely.

Those continuing to operate are keeping their fire services active, and are holding first aid, police and warden services but will not undertake active training tests. They will retain all equipment supplied by the federal department of civilian defence.

Havelock Board Changes Meeting Date

HAVELOCK, Dec. 17 — (ENS). —Final meeting of the Havelock School Board was held on Wednesday night with chairman B. Smith presiding and trustees Sarginson, Anderson, Nobes and Matheson present. By unanimous decision, it was decided to change the night of Board meetings in 1944 to the second Monday in each month.

Principal Jones reported the public school enrolment at 162 and the average attendance was 120.5, due to the flu epidemic. Also that Miss Locklin was off on sick leave until January 3 and the supply teacher was out of town. He felt a supply teacher should be appointed immediately, in case some of the other teachers would take ill. However, after some discussion no other teacher could be located who could fill this vacancy.

Caretaker Young reported he had not been able to secure the lumber for the cupboard in Miss Buchanan's room. The new seats for Middle School room have arrived and he would have them installed during Christmas vacation.

Principal Goheen in his report of the High School said the attendance was down over one-third owing to the flu epidemic. The Commencement had to be postponed, owing to so much sickness, and would not be held until February 4. The black blinds for the grade X room have been installed and the pictures can now be shown in the daytime. He intimated he would like to put on another St. John's First Aid course in connection with Air Cadet Course and the Defence Training program. The course costs $5.00 for a class of 30 pupils, and students buy their own text books and the bandages. He explained a Voluntary Aid Detachment Course, whereby girls must have a Home Nursing Certificate first of all, and on a motion by trustees Sarginson and Anderson, the matter of securing an instructress to teach nursing was left in tthe hands of Mr. Goheen.

In the correspondence, a letter was read from the Department of Health stating that teachers would be asked to submit to a medical examination. Teachers' contracts are to be amended to cover only teachers on the permanent staff. Regarding the transporting of pupils from the Trent River district to Havelock High School, suitable tire and gasoline accommodation have not been completed.

The following accounts were ordered paid, on a motion by trustees Sarginson and Anderson:

Teachers, caretakers and secretary's salaries $1150.41; A. C. Denike, supplies $48.01; C. C. Snowden supplies $20.09; Black Shades $18.51; Helen Buchanan, four days as supply teacher, $16.

Railroad Strike Set For Dec. 30

CLEVELAND, Dec. 17 — (AP).—Railway and government officials expressed belief to-day a countrywide railroad strike scheduled in the United States for December 30 would fail to materialize, while a spokesman for one of the five operating unions said "we know of no reason why a settlement cannot be worked out" at a mediation meeting next Monday.

The meeting was called by the National Mediation Board after operating brotherhoods set December 30 and the three succeeding days for a "progressive strike" of 350,000 unionists seeking to enforce demands for wage increases. The session will be held in Chicago and will be attended by railroad officials and brotherhood leaders.

Announcing a proposed "strike against inflation for the privileged fe wand deflation for the many," presidents of the brotherhoods said 97.7 per cent of their members voted for the walkout.

War Reaches Crucial Stage

ALGIERS, Dec. 17 — (AP). — The Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean area, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his first message to his troops since his return from the Allied military conferences at Cairo, told them today that "the war now is entering into its crucial phase."

The message to Allied forces in Italy follows:

"The past year has been a very hard one for us, but we have obtained very good results.

"The war is now entering into its crucial phase.

"I ask each soldier to do his duty to his utmost."

Gen. Eisenhower attended the Cairo military conferences at which observers believe final plans were laid for all-out offensives against Germany and Japan. He also accompanied President Roosevelt on his subsequent visits to ancient Carthage and Malta.

Heavy Bombers Lash Airdrome

PEARL HARBOR, T.H., Dec. 17 (AP)—United States heavy bombers attacked the airdrome and started fires in the hangar area on Tarao in the Maloelap Atoll of the Marshall Islands Tuesday, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet, announced last night.

Seventeen Japanese Zeros intercepted and one was shot down. Four others probably were destroyed and five damaged. Three of the United States bombers were damaged slightly but all returned to their base.

The Japanese made nuisance raids in the Gilberts on Tarawa Dec. 12 and 13 and at Makin Dec. 13 and 14. The Navy said no damage was caused at Tarawa where the United States has a fine airfield in operation. On Makin, four men were wounded by bomb fragments.

The Gilberts and Marshalls are approximately 300 miles apart.

Bevan Assails Allies On Italian Battles

LONDON, Dec. 17 (AP).—Aneurin Bevan, Labor, assailing Allied strategy in the Italian campaign, told the House of Commons to-day, "the greatest crisis the German High Command has faced since the battle of Stalingrad is now over and the Germans can transfer first-class troops from the Italian front to Russia."

While praising the bravery of American and British troops in their drive toward Rome, Bevan drew laughter when he declared bitterly:

"The Allied Command has approached the problem of attacking Italy like an old man approaching a young bride—fascinated, sluggish and apprehensive."

Bevan called Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's speech in Commons yesterday a "masterpiece of ambiguity," and declared that when Prime Minister Churchill and Eden "engaged in world tours" they brought back "merely ambiguous sentences because we have not the necessary military successes to back up our diplomacy."

Aside from the victory in North Africa, Bevan charged, the British government's military handling of the war situation was one blunder after another. He spoke on the second day of a two-day debate on the war and foreign policy.

American Troops Advancing Across Arawe Peninsula 14 Jap Planes Shot Down

Allied Planes Dominate The Skies Along Entire Island Chain Lakona Captured In New Guinea

By ASAHEL BUSH—Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Dec. 18—(AP).—Troops of the United States 6th Army have occupied the entire Cape Merkus Peninsula in the Arawe sector of New Britain Island, and are continuing to advance, headquarters announced tonight.

This gave the invasion forces which landed four days ago complete control of the three-mile neck of land flanking the Arawe harbor on the southwest coast of the big island leading toward the site of the presently-unserviceable air strip.

The peninsula, together with the off-lying Pilelo Island which was overrun the first day of the attack, were described as the prime initial objectives of the sea-borne blow against Japanese occupation of New Britain, their major base in the southwest Pacific area.

"Our force near Arawe continues to expand its position," a headquarters spokesman said on the basis of developments through yesterday.

Battleline Vague

No distinct battleline has been established, the spokesman said, but Americans in intermittent combat eliminated scattered enemy resistance as it was encountered.

The Japanese were reported to have continued their air activity over the sector in an effort to hamper the gains, but there has been no indication of any damage caused. The enemy's earlier aerial retaliation was beaten off by Allied fighters.

On the second southwest Pacific land front across the Vitiaz straits, Australians pressed farther northward along the shore of the Huon Peninsula of New Guinea and maintained contact with the enemy north of the Sanga River.

United States 5th Air Force fighters which downed 14 of the Japanese bombers and fighters seeking to attack the bridgehead, patrolled the skies over Arawe today while that New Britain invasion point was cleared of enemy snipers and fortified by U.S. 6th Army troops.

230 Single Raids.

On the Solomons approach to Rabaul, Admiral William F. Halsey reported 230 more sorties by planes which monopolized the skies over Bougainville, pounding its 150-mile-length with 170 tons of explosives from Buin on the south to Buka on the north.

Far to the northeast of the Solomons, 7th Army Air Force bombers raided the mid-Pacific Marshalls for the eighth straight day Wednesday.

Elements Decide Number Of Heavy Raids

GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 18—(AP)—The weather within the next few weeks may have a great deal to do with the length of the forthcoming Allied land assault on the German homeland.

The elements so far this Fall and Winter generally have favored the British and United States air forces based in Britain. But the time now has come when it's almost any man's guess whether conditions will permit regular full scale bombing assaults on Nazi industry.

If the weather is favorable, the big bombers can continue their series of powerhouse blows and possibly obtain much greater dividends toward the destruction of German war plants than ever before. Unfavorable flying weather would permit a Nazi industrial recuperation.

A number of German cities, it was

Japanese Force Badly Mauled

By J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN

U.S. AIR HEADQUARTERS IN CHINA, Dec. 17 (Delayed)—(AP)—Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the United States 14th Air Force, declared today the Japanese have been "decisively defeated" in their drive into free Free China's rice area and now are attempting to extricate about 10,000 troops from the Tungting Lake battle area.

"I believe our planes inflicted considerable casualties on the enemy in addition to holding up the withdrawal of the invaders by bombing the towns through which they passed," Chennault added.

"If their object was to loot the rice harvest we know a lot which they seized has been sunk by air attack on boats. We still are trying to prevent them getting out the rice.

"The greatest penetration did not exceed 100 miles from the Lake and the Japanese were unable to hold their positions at that distance."

He said it had been confirmed that United States fliers supporting the Chinese operations had destroyed 31 Japanese planes, 25 of them on the ground, during the week ending yesterday.

The 14th American Air Force lost four fighters in the air and one on the ground and two medium bombers were damaged. One American airman was lost.

The bulletin said the Prime Minister's pneumonia "is resolving."

Bomb Explodes Berlin Munition Plant

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 18 — (AP).—One of Berlin's largest munitions factories in suburban Babelsberg was blown up by the R. A. F.'s Thursday night raid, Karl Erikson a Swedish engineer just returned from the Reich capital, said today.

Erikson said, "it was light as day on the streets from fires and I counted 41 in a 15-minute walk down the street. A quarter of an hour after I retired in the Hotel Excelsior, which was practically untouched except that the windows were broken, a violent explosion shook Berlin. The next morning I learned the blast was at one of Berlin's largest munitions factories at Babelsberg which was destroyed by a delayed-action bomb."

Erikson, who has been installing turbines in Italy for the past four years, was passing through Berlin en route to Sweden from Genoa.

"I had experienced several of the British and American air raids before, but this was the worst experience in my life," he said.

"Bombs dropped unceasingly for nearly half an hour, especially around the air raid shelter near Anhalter Station, where I stayed."

He estimated the area within a radius of a third of a mile of the Anhalter station had been devastated, but said the station itself was undamaged. Also hard hit were the western suburbs of Babelsberg and Neubelberg.

"When I left the Tempehof airfield fires were still burning in three administration offices. The personnel told me that four hangars were destroyed and parts of the field torn up by bomb craters."

He said, however, that Berliners took the raid quietly because they were growing accustomed to them.

"Fire brigades and the police were better organized than in earlier raids, according to persons I spoke to. Berliners said it was the shortest of the big attacks, yet the most violent they had experienced."

Another eyewitness said he had found Essen and Kassel harder hit than Berlin.

"Fifteen thousand homes have been damaged at Genoa, of which 8,000 are ruined completely. In Milan, 30,000 houses have been damaged severely."

5th Pincers Closes On San Pietro

Hand-To-Hand Fight Raging Now In Village Suburbs

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 18 — (AP). — A 5th Army pincers movement closed in today on the heavily-fortified village of San Pietro, 7 miles northeast of Cassino, on the main highway to Rome.

American troops reached the outskirts of San Pietro, where the hand-to-hand fighting continued for the second straight day as the troops dug the Germans out of their pillboxes one by one. The Allies now hold heights north, east and south and southwest of the village, a military commentator said, leaving the Germans only one road to escape.

The attack on San Pietro was co-ordinated with an assault on 1,000-foot Mount Lungo, to the south of the Rome road. Closing of the pincers would chop off a large section of the road near the entrance into the Cassino Plain.

Further inland Allied troops captured Lagone, a 2,000 - foot mountain village two miles west of Filignano in hard street fighting. Three German attacks northwest of Venaro were repulsed, but in Central Italy on the 5th Army front Allied positions were driven back by a fierce German mountain lunge.

Around Sanpietro the enemy was barricaded in innumerable concrete pillboxes and caves and all approaches to the village were guarded with mines and booby-traps—making the progress of the 5th Army slow and costly.

Tank Battle.

Fighting on the 8th Army's end of the line near the Adriatic was equally bitter with the Germans counter-attacking and both sides using tanks. By nightfall yesterday, 13 German tanks had been turned into flaming wrecks and two had been captured intact.

New Zealand troops fought their way on to the north of the Orsogna-Ortona road which they had crossed three days ago and it was against those units that the Germans directed their heaviest counter-blows, particularly in the vicinty of Orsogna.

Some of the enemy's 1st Parachute Division was withdrawn from mountain positions to take part in ths fighting.

Allied Headquarters formally named the Canadians fighting in the Adriatic end of the line, where they are closing in on the port of Ortona, as the Canadian 1st Division which took part in the Sicilian campaign and the 3½-months' drive up through Northern Italy.

Bad weather grounded the big bombers of the 15th Strategic Air Force which on the three previous days had smashed at enemy airfields at Athens and rail facilities in the Alpin passes between Italy and Austria.

But lighter planes ranged over Yugoslavia, Albania and Italy, provoking a series of sharp sky battles in which seven enemy fighters were shot down and one Allied plane failed to return.

White Russia Battle Raging Kirovograd City Encircled

LONDON, Dec. 18 — (CP). —Troopsof Gen. Ivan S. Konev's 2nd Ukraine Army have strengthened their encirclement of the industrial city of Kirovograd, killing 800 counter-attacking Germans, Moscow announced today as Nazi sources reported new and heavy fighting in White Russia. Capture of Kirovograd would seriously menace the German garrison at Krivoi Rog, principle source of manganese for Germany's war machine. The Germans have held to this vital mining centre for months, hurling back repeated Red Army frontal attacks.

Today's Russian communique was unusually laconic, confining itself mainly to action around Kirovograd, but Berlin reported terrific battles in White Russia, possibly heralding the opening of a full-scale Russian winter drive for the Baltic.

Dispatches from Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, meanwhile, said that Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukraine Army, in smashing Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's tank offensive in the Kiev bulge, "has won a defensive victory as important as some of its offensive victories."

"Although the Germans gained the important rail cities of Zhitomir and Korosten," Cassidy wrote, "and the highway junction of Radomsyl in prolonged and expensive armored assaults, they failed to achieve a major breakthrough. The fighting which originally involved eight German tank divisions has now dwindled to scouting operations."

Cassidy added Vatutin still holds a wide springboard west of Kiev for further expected Russian offensives toward the Polish frontier.

Most important of the reported Soviet drives in White Russia, according to Berlin, was an attack begun last Monday in the area south of Nevel, 70 miles from the Latvian border.

Here, the German broadcasts asserted, the Red Army has extended its operations west and northwest of Nevel. Yeremenko was said by the Nazis to be using at least 60,000 troops bolstered by heavy tank forces in this drive toward the Baltic coast.

4 Fliers Killed In Battle As Sunderland Bombs Sub

OTTAWA, Dec. 18—(CP).—An R.C.A.F. aircraft whose pilot, navigator and two front gunners lost their lives in the action sank one of two U-boats lurking in mid-Atlantic to head off a convoy and three of the surviving aircrew soon will be back in the fight. The U-boats were sighted as the plane — a Sunderland reconnaissance aircraft — was on the last leg of a sweep. Defying the submarine's guns, Flt. Lt. Paul Sargent of Toronto, captain, sent the plane into a weaving run toward them while his front gunners, Flt. Lt. Woodward and Flt. Sgt. Needham, R.A.F., swept their decks, and a third crew member, PO. A. R. B. (Art) Bellis, D.F.C., of Victoria, manned a wait gun.

The U-boat's gun crews pumped shells and machine-gun bullets into the Sunderland as she roared over the first boat to drop depth charges.

The aircraft's gunners poured lead at the submarines as the plane again swept in to attack. The riddled plane, disregarding a hail of flak, dropped its charges and wobbled away. Needham and Woodward dead, and the navigator, PO. Chesley B. Steves, of Elgin, N.B., mortally wounded.

As the plane swung away, the crew noted that the second pattern of charges had bracketted the first U-boat and she had disappeared. WO. W. F. Beals of Vernon, B.C., the radio operator, found the convoy.

Steves plotted a course for the Italian Troops Of Little Value

By WES GALLAGHER

ALGIERS, Dec. 18—(AP).—Three factors, as important, if not more so, than terrain and weather, have played a large part in the slow progress of the British 8th and the Anglo-American 5th Armies up the Italian boot, it appears to me after a tour of southern Italy.

They are:

1. The Italian surrender has produced far less in a military sense than had first been hoped for. The Italian armed forces have not yet proved of any great value, especially on land, and Italian guerilla activity and sabotage has been negligible.

2. This Mediterranean theatre is camaign has been worth the cost, theatres which figure higher in Allied plans.

Yugoslav Army On Offensive

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Yugoslav Partisan troops have gone over to the counter-offensive in three sectors, seizing the initiative after breaking the heaviest German assaults yet launched against the liberated territory, it was announced today.

Marshal Josip Broz' (Tito's) communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio reported that in the Serbia-Montenegro border area his 2nd Corps was "clearing the territory of the enemy," that in eastern Bosnia his troops were going forward in "very heavy fighting" against tanks, and that in Croatia as well, Yugoslav forces were on the offensive.

The Germans were hard hit in Montenegro, where Partisan forces were battling them to a standstill, Tito said. The Yugoslavs counted 280 dead Germans and Chetniks on the battlefield, together with many wounded, and captured a large amount of war gear, his bulletin added.

LONDON, Dec. 18 — (CP Cable) —The Canadian formation spearheading the drive of the British 8th Army up the Adriatic coast was identified for the first time today as the Canadian 1st Division in a dispatch from the Daily Herold's correspondent at Allied headquarters, Algiers.

The correspondent said, "men of the Canadian 1st Division on the coastal sector are burying the Germans in 'Dead Man's Gulch,' this ravine has been the scene of the hardest fighting of the whole 8th Army's Italian campaign."

While it was obvious to Canadians here that the 1st Division was doing the fighting it has been prohibited until now to mention its number in dispatches from London until Allied headquarters formally permitted naming it.

Already Allied headquarters had named seven infantry regiments and a reconnaissance reg'ment of the 1st Division as being in Italy.

The division, then under command of Maj.-Gen. Guy Simonds of Kingston, Ont., fought throughout the 38-day "model campaign" in Sicily beginning last July 10. Since then Gen. Simonds has been promoted to command a Canadian armored division. There has been no formal announcement as to what general officer succeeded him in command of the 1st Division.

2nd Division Arrives

joined in Italy by at least one other joined in tIaly by at least one other division and announcement was made that a Canadian Corps had been formed there. There has been no indication yet that these fresh troops have gone into the line.

First Division units which Allied headquarters has formally named as being in Italy are the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment and the 48th Highlanders of Canada, making up the 1st Brigade; the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada (Vancouver) and the Royal Edmontons, making up the

The last of the 33 polls closed this morning at three o'clock after balloting proceeded all day yesterday at the various operations of the company in this district.

Mr. Finkelman reported at the conclusion of the voting that no unusual incidents had been reported to him at his headquarters in the company's main office at Copper Cliff where he was on duty for nearly 20 hours to supervise the vote, believed one of the most complicated in the labor history of the Dominion.

Power Reviews R.C.A.F. After 4 Years

Commonwealth Scheme To Be Continued Until March 31, 1945

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—(CP).— To those connected with the planning and development of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan, it is a "great satisfaction to know that we have helped to make easier the ultimate success of the troops on the fronts," Air Minister Power said last night in a statement reviewing the development of the R.C.A.F. under the plan, now entering upon its fifth year.

"It is apparent," the Minister said, "that the enemy's industrai might is reeling under the giant hammer blows of air bombardment. There is even a hint that these blows may be a decisive factor in the final victory. At the very least it now is possible to say that air bombardment has considerably weakened the enemy's military power."

Trained R.C.A.F. personnel do not constitute the entire product of the B.C.A.T.P., "but their activities alone are a striking indication of its accomplishments."

Breadner Shift.

Maj. Power said the recent shift of Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, Chief of Air Staff, to the post of Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief, R.C.A.F. overseas, was tied up with Canada's constantly-growing role in the air.

The R.C.A.F. today operates all over the world— from the Aleutians to Ceylon, Russia to England, North Africa to Alaska.

Referring to the world-wide operations of the R.C.A.F., the Minister said at notoble feature of the Canadian activity in the Aleutians campaign came to light when it was disclosed that an emergency appeal brought a fighter squadron, intact, from Ottawa to an Aleutian outpost in 48 hours.

More than 200,000 have been enlisted in the R.C.A.F. including more than 15,000 members of the Women's Division, since the war broke out, and about 80,000 of this total have had special training in ground crew trades so that air-crew could be kept aloft.

"The C. A. T. P. was first intended to last only until March 31, 1943; but its instant success prompted the participants to extend its operation until March 31, 1945. This decision was reached early in 1943," the Minister said.

"Canada will pay half the estimated cost of $1,500,000,000; Britain, Australia and New Zealand will pay the rest. Britain has already paid much of her share in the form of planes and other equipment needed to carry out the giant undertaking."

Denies U.S. Wheat Charge

Senators Claim Canadian Price Too High

WINNIPEG, Dec. 18 — (CP). — George McIvor of Winnipeg, Chief Commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, said in a statement last night "there is absolutely no basis of fact" in a statement made to the United States Senate Liquor Investigating Committee yesterday that Canada is trying to hold up the United States on the price of wheat.

(Senator Abe Murdock (Dem.-Utah) told the U.S. committee he got the idea Canada "is trying to hold up this country on the price of wheat" from testimony given by William A. MacArthur, Director of the Grain Division of the United States Commodity Corporation.

(MacArthur testified that the C.C.C. had purchased options on 9,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, but the Canadian Wheat Board had refused to set a price on the bulk of the grain until the Murray Bill is disposed of.)

Mr. McIvor, in a telegram to Mr MacArthur, said:

"You are quoted as saying that the Canadian Wheat Board had refused to sell wheat to the Commodity Credit Corporation pending action by U.S. Senate Committee on Bill to remove duties. This statement is obviously wrong as the Board has been offering to both the Minneapolis and Portland offices of the Commodity Credit Corporation and have sold considerable quantities of wheat since December 1."

Wood Alcohol Kills 1 Man

Four Others Taken Ill After Party

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 (CP).— One man is dead and another is in serious condition in hospital today as a result of what police termed "a wood alcohol drinking party," which sent three other persons to hospital.

Charles Latreille, 46, of Ottawa, died in hospital last night before Cesaire Blais, 35, also of Ottawa, was admitted in a serious condition. The three others, Leo, Beatrice and Gilbert Meilleur also were admitted and treated for the wood alcohol poisoning but they returned home after a short time.

Police said they are holding Donald Clark of Ottawa as a material witness in connection with Latreille's death.

Civic health authorities said that they will reopen their investigation of the couse of the death yesterday of Mrs. Louisa Jones, 26, a neighbor of Latreille's. Her death was at first attributed to food poisoning.

Dr. H. D. Sparks, food inspector, said he believed someone was selling wood alcohol to unsuspecting victims, and that this may have been the cause of other deaths recently.

Police believe that the alcohol was stolen from a local war plant and sold to individuals.

War Has Taught Real Value Of Christmas

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18 (ENS) —The real significance of Christmas is now beginning to be realized as Canada observes its fifth wartime Yuletide season. This was the thought expressed by Mrs. Cecil McCulloch in an address before members of the Seymour West Branch of the Women's Institute which met for its December meeting on Thursday afternoon.

It was the Christmas meeting and the speaker chose the timely topic "Christmas In Wartime" which she described as a more important topic than it had perhaps ever been in the past. This year, as it has been during four other war-torn heart-breaking years, Christmas seems far removed from the spirit of 'peace on earth, good will towards men'. "We are better off in most ways than many of our allies, and certainly there is no comparison between Canada and the war ravaged countries of Europe. Yet it is true that often those with the most happiness do the greatest amount of grumbling. When we stop to think of our many blessings, as we most certainly should at this of all seasons, we can and must give sincere thanks for our good fortune and many blessings." In the speaker's opinion Christmas had for too long been simply taken for granted by the people of the Christian world who saw it only as something material that had been highly commercialized by selfish thinking.

"This war has taught what Christmas really means and the fitting simplicity surrounding Christ's birth can more truly be emulated in a less lavish observance as many of the more ornate and unnecessary trappings associated with the greatest of all festivals are now missing."

Favorite Carol

Members answered the roll call at the meeting by naming their favorite Christmas carol and though most of the popular carols were named "Silent Night" was the choice of a majority. During the business period it was decided to give a $10.00 donation to the Navy League. Five dollars was voted to the Christmas Cheer for British Children fund. Feeling that they should take a more active part in the campaign for blood donors a committee comprising Mrs. R. A. Rutherford and Mrs. Reg. McCulloch was named to look into the matter of arranging transportation and listing volunteers. One question left unsolved was whether they would make their contributions to the Belleville or Peterborough clinic. A report and recommendations will be made by the committee at the next meeting.

The program of the day was in charge of Mrs. Robert Waddell and at its opening each member was given a small sprig of evergreen tied with red ribbon, and a Christmas card. Following the singing of carols, Mrs. Alex McKenzie gave a demonstration of a Christmas centre piece which was fashioned from an angel cake tin covered with white crepe paper and decorated with colored seals. It was put in place on the dining room table flanked by tall red tapers in silver holders. In the hollow centre was a single taper while the inside of the tine was filled with fresh fruit such as apples, oranges and bananas. Only other number on the program was a reading by Miss Verna Fairman.

COBOURG, Dec. 18 — (ENS) — The funeral of Mrs. Leslie Wilson was held this week with interment in Cobourg Union cemetery. She was found dead in bed earlier in the week after neighbours had become alarmed because her milk and daily papers had not been taken in for two days. Her family consisted of 8 boys, one deceased, and two girls, Joseph of Edmonton, Rodger and Leo, Vancouver, B.C., Frank and Thomas of Detroit, Michigan, John J., Douro, and Bart at home. All Players Hit By Ban

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 —(CP)—New R.C.A.F. regulations on hockey-playing by members of the Air Force apply to all airmen whether they play on civilian or service teams, it was stated at headquarters today.

The regulations, announced last night, forbid participation in games in leagues where the championship would qualify the team to play off for the Allan or Memorial Cup. They permit inter-mural games, games in local garrison leagues and exhibition contests with other teams of the armed forces in the same area, providing exhibition games are not held more often than once every two weeks.

Judge Shows Leniency In Theft Case

COBOURG, Dec. 18 — (ENS) — Alfred Natale and Michael Spizzari of Toronto were found guilty of breaking and entering and theft when they appeared in county court Thursday before Judge J. C. M. German. The charge against Natale's wife was dismissed. Judge German at first sentenced Natale to a year and Spizzari to nine months in the reformatory but after an appeal from both the accused youths and their counsel, E. J. Murphy, Judge German reduced the sentence in Spizzari's case to six months but left Natale's sentence as it stood.

Constable Frank Atkinson of Brighton, testified that at 6.15 on the morning of August 25, he saw a car parked in front of the summer home of Clarence Atkins in Brighton. He noticed a man walking over towards the car from the lawn of the house. Suspicious of him the constable went over to the car and found a woman asleep in the back of the car.

"The man asked me what was wrong and I asked him for his identification cards and saw from his registration card that he was Alfred Natale of Toronto. He also produced his driver's license and ownership card. In the front seat was something wrapped up in a table cloth and I found it to consist of silverware. There was also an iron bar and a cushion in the car. Natale said that he didn't know where the stuff came from but that it must have been the others. I asked him what others and he said that it was the other two back at the house. I put the stuff in my car and went to get John Atkins, who looks after the house when Mr. Clarence Atkins is away. We checked and found that some household articles had been piled up on the kitchen table. Out in the yard I found a watch belonging to Mr. Clarence Atkins. When I left the house I saw that the car had gone and I notified the provincial police and gave them the license number," testified Constable Atkinson.

In reply to a question of defence counsel, the constable admitted that the house might have been broken into prior to August 25.

No Marks

John Atkins of Brighton told the court that he looked after the house while his brother was away. His brother spent about three months in the year at Brighton. Witness said that the last time he was in the house was on August 22nd and everything was in order. Atkins identified the cutlery and table cloth as belonging to his brother. Cross-examined by defence counsel, Atkins was unable to point out any identifying marks on the silverware but recognized them from their general appearance.

Both Natale and Spizzari testified that they had been at a dance the night before at Presqui'lle. They stopped at the Atkins cottage to use the outdoor toilet and noticing that the door of the house was open looked around inside. Both denied taking anything but Natale stated that Mrs. Natale had taken out the silverware to the car. This statement was made after the charge had been dismissed against Mrs. Natale.

Natale has a record, the court was informed. In 1934, while 14 years old he was charged with car theft, and in 1937 with theft of a bicycle. He was allowed on suspended sentences in both instances. Spizzari had no record.

"Natale you have a record and you got off twice before. I sentence you to one year in the reformatory. Spizzari you have no record but you were just as much involved and you are sentenced to nine months," was Judge German's sentence.

"Can't you make it lighter, Judge?" Natale begged. "I didn't intend to do it. I do not realize what I am doing when I am drinking. Please, Judge. I just can't spend a year in jail. Please make it lighter.

"I thought I was being lenient," commented Judge German.

"Your Honor," stated Mr. Murphy," the stuff wasn't worth 25 cents. I wouldn't give a quarter for it. It was just typical summer cottage cutlery. These boys are not criminals."

"What have you to say Mr. Deyman?" asked Judge German of the Crown Attorney.

"There can be an application for clemency later," replied Mr. Deyman.

"Let you lawyer talk for you, he is doing all right," stated Judge German to Natale. "However I don't want to be too hard. Spizzari has no record so I will make it six months instead of nine, but Natale's sentence remains the same."

War Criminal Trial Continues

MOSCOW, Dec. 18—(AP)—Capt. William Langheld, 52, of the Gestapo, a defendant being tried in a Kharkov court for murder as a war crimnal, described the operations of gas truck death chambers, it was revealed today. He said he had seen Russians inside clawing at the windows as they met death.

Langheld is being tried with other Germans and one Russian traitor under the pledge by the Soviet Union Britain and the United States that war criminals would be brought to justice at the scenes of their crimes and tried under local law.

After he told how five women were executed one morning, the prosecutor asked, "and what happened to the sixth woman—the mother with the child?"

"She died during a beating," Langheld was quoted.

"And her child?"

"The child began wailing and screaming and finally a corporal killed it."

little military value in capturing Rome. It would not be worth the tremendous cost in infantry casualties to bring the campaign to a quick end.

But despite the fact that there is little chance that the drive can be speeded up, I am convinced that the campaign has been worth th cost, for the tremendous air bases on the mainland alone.

Foggia and its 13 satellite fields offer bases from which heavy bomber forces can attack every point in southern Germany and the Balkans. The great plain, along with flat lands to the south, offer space for an unlimited number of planes, and heavy bombers are pouring steadily into this theatre.

Besides bombing Germany, Mediterranean air forces undoubtedly will be given the task of knocking Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary out of the war, or at least discouraging them from taking active part. And also they will be weakening the German air force for defence purposes in the spring.

Attack Coast

American fighter-bombers attacked shipping along the Yugoslav coast and during the mission their escort took on five Messerschmitt-109s and shot down three. The aircraft strafed a merchant steamer which had previously been attacked and towed into a port on the Peljesak peninsula.

In western Italy American planes made a quick, destructive attack on Port Anzio, 26 miles south of Rome, scoring hits on docks, barracks and warehouses. They topped off the assault by strafing a convoy of 15 motor trucks.

Spitfires and Warhawks were active over the battle front, attacking two trains south of Ancona and destroying three locomotives and damaging 14 cars.

A few Italian fighter planes made an attack on a German airfield at Podgorica in Yugoslavia. This was the first time the Italian air force had been announced as in action on a mission of its own although small number of Italian planes have flown as escorts previously.

The air force announced that during the Sangro River battle the tatical bomber force made 1,395 sorties in support of the 8th Army.

pointed out today, now are on the borderline where repair work bulks nearly as large as productive war work and a further raid or two might push them over the line to join a number of others already in Germany's war effort debit column. A high R.A.F. officer said that in northwest Germany alone nine cities are in this debit column and six on the edge.

The R.A.F.'s success in driving home its blows against Berlin despite the best defences the Germans can muster may be due in part to a new strategy of escorting its bombers by long-range fighters.

The Vichy radio, in a broadcast recorded today by Reuters News Agency, said the bombers attacking Berlin Thursday night were flanked by R.A.F. night-fighters.

If true, these may be the fighter version of the 400-mile-per-hour plywood Mosquito bombers.

Drunken Driver Given 7 Days

Harry Little, Havelock, was found guilty by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on a charge of drunken driving and was sentenced to seven days in jail.

"In view of your admission that you had previously been convicted of a similar offence I was thinking about a longer sentence but in view of the fact that no one seems to be pressing for that course I will give you the minimum sentence. That will let you out on Christmas Eve."

Little was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Club Planning Turkey Dinner

The last weekly meeting of the Friday Night Club for the year was held in the Y.M.C.A. dining hall last night. Although this was the last regular meeting, plans have been made for the annual turkey dinner to be held Wednesday, December 22. All past members, now on active service, have a cordial invitation to this dinner, as guests, and at the expense of the club.

After the supper, Don Forde led the fellows in a friendly sing-song, which was followed by the draw for the door prize by the guest speaker C. S. Browne. A brief report on the Youth Commission conference held in Toronto, was given by the club delegate, Walter Hanbidge, followed by the introduction of the speaker by Gordon Johnston.

C. S. Browne, principal of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, has a high reputation both as a teacher and a leader. Since the time of his graduation in mathematics and physics, from McMaster University, Mr. Browne has followed the teaching profession, and has steadily scaled the ladder of success.

Heading his address, "Put your best foot forward," Mr. Browne pointed out that every individual person writes his own ticket to success or to failure. With very humorous incidents as proof, he showed that the admittance price for a ticket to success, was to put your best foot forward.

Walter Howell, speaking on behalf of all the club members, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker. The meeting closed with the club creed.

Another escort vessel raced to the scene of the action as doctors worked over the plane's survivors and sank the second U-boat. Four of the Sunderland's survivors are already well and away again.

Bellis and Beals were awarded the D.F.C., on recommendation of the commander-in-chief, coastal command, for displaying "courage, skill and resolution beyond praise."

R. G. Killingbeck Seriously Hurt

L-Cpl. Russell George Killingbeck of the Canadian Provost Corps is reported to be seriously ill overseas, suffering from a fractured skull and a double fracture of the jaw, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. Annie Killingbeck, 157 Rutherford avenue.

When war broke out, L-Cpl. Killingbeck was anxious to get in and do his bit, and since there was no recruiting here at that time he went to London and enlisted in the Royal Canadian Regiment and went overseas with the first contingent, which Friday observed its fourth year overseas. Later he transferred to the Provost Corps.

As far as his family know, Killingbeck is still in England and he received his injuries in a motorcycle crash while on duty. Before enlisting he was employed at the Peterborough Canoe Company.

Sleigh Rider Unhurt When He Strikes Car

When the sleigh on which he was riding slid under a passing automobile at Sherbrooke street and Monaghan Road on Friday night, Rodney Bowen, 3 Grandview avenue, had a close call from serious injury or death.

George Sage, Cameron street, was driving his car north on Monaghan Road and at the intersection of Sherbrooke street, he told police, the boy on the sleigh suddenly shot across the road. There was no time to avert an accident and the sled went under the wheels of the automobile, practically stopping the car. The sleigh was completely wrecked.

Mr. Sage got out of the car expecting to find a badly injured boy but to his joy discovered that young Bowen had slid or rolled off the sleigh and had suffered no injury.

Merchants Protest Turkey Buying

TORONTO, Dec. 18 — (CP). — The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada today protested to the Prices Board that large manufacturers and industrial concerns are purchasing large quantities of turkeys, to be used as gifts and as raffles, at prices higher than the wholesale price ceiling by which retailers are bound.

"At a time when food merchants are finding it increasingly difficult to obtain turkeys for their regular family trade," said secretary A. G. Frame, "it seems strange that the Board should encourage large industrial corporations to pay unreasonable prices for Christmas turkeys and thus add to a scarity which already exists."

Young Women's Band

For the first time in Peterborough's history a brass band of young women has been organized under Sergeant H. J. Parnell. The organization is giving a concert in the Collegiate auditorium.

On The Sport Front

Anthony Tick Caccavella of the Ramblers team of the City Five-Pin League came within an ace of achieving the bowler's dream the other night when he just failed to roll a perfect score. He rolled 11 consecutive strikes and on his twelfth attempt the five-pin tottered but remained standing. That gave him a score of 445, and high single for the year. He also rolled 311 in his first game and wound up with a 955 total for three games, the best of the season. Karl Davis, the Texas "Crippler" defeated Jan Gotch in straight falls here in the weekly Tunney wrestling show. There will be no more wrestling until after Christmas.

Meaning of Christmas Is Forgotten In Rush, Bustle

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Mary Said:— Behold, The Hand Maid of the Lord: Be it Unto Me According Unto Thy Word. St. Luke 1:38.

To many the Christmas Season is becoming commercialized by the through the rush and bustle we're apt to forget the meaning of this happ time. It's right and proper for our children and young people to be full of happiness. On other hand it is the privilege and the right of the older ones to ponder upon its meaning.

To your child it is the birthday of, the Lord Jesus, Who placed little children upon a higher plane by teaching: "Except ye become as little children ye cannot enter the Kingdom of God." Mature Christians should centre their thoughts and hearts upon the deeper truth behind the humble submission of the Virgin Mary who cried: "Behold, the hand-maid of the Lord, be it unto me according unto Thy Word." The fundamental truth of our Christian religion is in the words of the Angel: "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee; therefore, also that Holy Thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God."

It is the re-entrance of God into this world through the agency of a woman. Let us not forget that the Holy Ghost is "The Giver of Life"; a truth which every woman who marries should keep before her mind. The Virgin Mother was to be the temple of the Son of God. A famous Church Father reminds us that for the Son also there will be created a human soul. He takes upon Himself our complete human nature, not merely a form.

The important question is whether the village maiden will consent. Can you imagine the holv angels awaiting for her answer? On her part it is an act of supreme surrender. Truly the sword will pierce her soul in the days to come.

In due time He was born. "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us." A profound and uplifting truth which has gripped the imagination of both simple an the imagination of both simple and wise. Some of you at your Christmas Communion will hear these clear, definite words: "Who, by the operation of the Holy Ghost, was made very Man of the substance of the Virgin Mary His Mother; and that without spot of sin to make us clean from all sin." This is the doctrine of the Virgin Birth of Our Lord. What is its practical value?

Clearly and simply that Jesus is God. Many accept this in simple child like faith. Yet it is necessary to emphasize it. There are teachers who tell you not to bother about theological questions. That Jesus is a superman, who was wonderfully endowed by the Holy Spirit for His Work. This is a practical age. Jesus went about doing good. Follow his example. Such teachers may not clearly say that He is NOT God. Yet their teaching means that we have no Redeemer. He is only an example. He is not a Deliverer; not a Saviour from sin and its power.

The truth is that Jesus is God. He is "my Lord and my God." "O come let us adore Him, Christ the Lord." He is come to reveal God to us; "Who for us men and for salvation was made Man." He is the Head of a new race. He is the Head of a new order.

The practical every day truth is that God is willing to work a simplier miracle in you, if you will consent. Then you will become partaker of the Divine Nature: Slowly, silently you will become impregnanted with the Christ; quietly He will be developing in you, reproducing something and His goodness and love and attractiveness. By His strength you will be able to overcome your besetting sin. It is God Who is coming to you. God in Christ Jesus is offering Himself to you. God is waiting to enter your soul and give you new life and power. He will not force Himself upon you. When you, like the Virgin Mary, cry: "Behold, Thy servant, be it unto me according to Thy Word." Then you will discover in your own personal experience the truth of the incarnation that God was made man.

GREAT IS THE MYSTERY OF GODLINESS: GOD WAS MADE MANIFEST IN THE FLESH.

Methodism in Peterborough In 1854 and Later Recalled

The first George Street Church, the mother Church of local Methodism was a small frame structure erected in 1834 on land granted by the Legislative Council, described in the deed of front as lots 1 and 2 north of McDonnel street and west of George street, being directly opposite the present church. The grant was dated in November, 1834.

A new and larger church was built in 1844 with dimensions of 60 feet by 40 feet, the old church being fixed up as a parsonage. In 1848 the circuit was divided and Millbrook set off. In 1854 the church was enlarged and in 1874 the present church was built at a cost of $60,000.

In 1854 the Rev. John Sanderson was appointed to the Mud Lake (Chemong) Indian Mission under the jurisdiction of the George Street Church and his biography by his daughter Camilla throws interesting light on local Methodism of that time.

John Sanderson was born in Ireland in June, 1790, and in 1831, he came to Canada with his wife and young family. He never reached any ministerial distinction, serving in Missions and large but poor country circuits, but was one of those holy, saintly men who are the backbone and heart's blood of any religious denomination. In an introduction to his biography, Professor Dr. F. H. Wallace, Dean of the Faculty of Theology, Victoria University, writes of him:—"Rev. John Sanderson was a typical Methodist minister of the old school, a man of exceptional ability, a genial Irish temperament, which made him at home everywhere, an unsullied record, a thoroughly useful career. He and his good English wife are to be reckoned among the men and the women who have made Methodism and who have made Canada."

Served In Cavan

His first field of labor was in Cavan and Monaghan where he became well acquainted with William Morrow and his wife, progeneration of a well-known Peterborough family. After serving in Consecon, Newburgh (Napanee), Norwood, Lindsay in 1849 including the Indian Mission on Scugog Island and Cartwright, later called the Wallaceburg Circuit, he was appointed to the Mud Lake Indian Mission in the Peterborough Circuit and began an association which was strengthened by his settlement here upon superannuation.

After a tiring journey the Sanderson family reached the "thriving little town of Peterborough" and the biography tells of the delight of the children who had never before seen anything bigger than a village and therefore this collection of houses, churches and places of business looked "very grand and imposing." They had never seen a brick house and now were actually going to live in one.

The first Sunday in Peterborough was not altogether a happy one.—Mr. Sanderson went to preach at the Mission and did not have a "good time" owing to difficulty about interpretation. Mrs. Sanderson and the children were placed in an unpleasant position in George Street Church. No pew had been allotted to them and there was no welcome for them as they walked the full length of the church without being invited into a pew. A tall gentlemanly man sitting in a large corner pew near the pulpit invited them to his pew which they afterwards occupied. He is only mentioned as Mr. E. and is not further identified.

However the new minister, his wife and family soon settled down to a happy life here. The Rev. W. M. Poole was then pastor of George Street church, then situated on the west side of George street.

Mr. Poole's Bible class was one week-day attraction of the church and even in those early days there were discussions as to whether the people of the British Isles were the descendants of the ten lost tribes of Israel. The Misses Food and Miss Martha Benson are mentioned as taking part in these discussions.

Mr. Thomas White, afterwards the Hon. Thomas White, was a much-loved Sunday School Superintendent. He was succeeded in that office by Mr. Robinson Rutherford, an Englishman by birth, whose educational advantages had been limited but whose force of character and personality, together with great powers as an orator, made him a striking figure in local Methodist circles. He died in Kingston, May 25, 1871. He was the father of Mrs. James Kendry, locally well-known for her work in the cases of social and moral reform.

Another prominent church official was Walter Sheridan, well-known in civic life as county clerk and treasurer. He was born in Carlow, Ireland in 1796, and died here January 9, 1875. Mr. Sanderson had met him in earlier days when he was stationed in Cavan and Monaghan, and when Methodist services were held in Henthorn's Tavern at the north east corner of George and Hunter streets.

Another prominent member was Thomas McBurney.

In addition to Walter Sheridan, the minister found two Irish compatriots in the persons of James Stevenson and William Claxton, both leading citizens. The former was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland and came to Canada in 1840. He served 10 terms as Mayor, and was member of the Board of Education for 36 years, holding the office of chairman for 19 consecutive years, beginning in 1873, and member of Parliament. He died October 5, 1910.

William Claxton was born in Dundalk, Ireland, in 1819 and was a leading business man in the dry goods business and as a dealer in grain, and in 1872 was elected a member of Parliament in the Dominion House. He died February 16, 1905, aged 82.

Other well-known Methodists were Messrs. Winch, Fletcher and Stutt, and also the Elliotts, Bells and Milburns, prosperous farmers in Smith. Two other well-known local families were the Fords and the Flavelles. Joseph Ford's eldest daughter, Mrs. Arthur Rutherford, was active in church and social work. Two of his sons, William and James, entered the Methodist ministry, and another was Dr. S. P. Ford, well-known local physician. Mrs. John Flavelle and her sister, Mrs. Lydia Dundas, kept a private school and they took in the young Sandersons as pupils without charging any fees. Mrs. Flavelle is described as an

A Fulfillment of the Law Is Found in Christ

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 19 is Hebrews 1:1-9; Romans 10:4-10, the Golden Text being Hebrews 1:1, 2, "God . . hath at the end of these days spoken unto us in His Son.")

"God who at sundry times and in divers manners spoke in time past unto the fathers by the prophets," are the word we read in the first chapter of Hebrews and in the first verse.

These words call to our minds the days of Moses and Aaron and the Children of Israel when they wandered in the wilderness for those 40 years. Also Moses' communion with God, who sometimes talked to him from a burning bush and sometimes from the mountain and in lightnings and thunderings. Other prophets of old also claimed God had spoken directly to them.

Now. Paul says, "Hath He in these last days spoken to us by His Son, whom He hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also He made the worlds."

A number of men since the time of Jesus have told the world they have been in contact with God, and that He has spoken to them and given them rules by which to live. They have founded religions on these "revelations," and their followers have been people who believed their stories and accepted their alleged miraculously inspired way of life.

To us they seem misguided and utterly mistaken.

Jesus on High

Paul speaks of the "brightness of the Lord's glory," and how, after He by Himself "purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high."

Even the prophets of olden times who were good men and saw the mistakes the people of Israel were making and warned them of what would happen if they persisted in their evil ways—were not perfect men. They were far-sighted as far as their own times and their own people were concerned; and they were courageous, even going to prison or their deaths for their views, but they were not perfect. Only Jesus was perfect.

He was, as Paul says, "made so much better than the angels." God said to Him, "Thou art My Son, this day have I begotten Thee?"

"And again, when He bringeth in the first begotten into the world, He saith, And let all the angels of God worship Him."

God, says Paul, "maketh His angels spirits, and His ministers a flame of fire." The angels, you see, were vividly described in terms of nature—the reformed version having it "maketh His angels winds." Swift like wind and bright like flame were these dwellers in the kingdom, but Jesus is as the sun—far above them. "Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even Thy God, hath anointed Thee with the oil of gladness above Thy fellows."

Righteousness of the Law

Moses, says Paul, "describeth the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which doeth those things shall live by them." We have been studying those laws by which the Jewish people of that time regulated their lives, and to which we, even of this generation, largely adhere.

"If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in the heart that God raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

Paul insists that good works are not enough without faith, nor faith without good works. We need faith in these times. There is no use in allowing fear and forebodings to make us afraid of the future. Rather should we all—young and old, have faith in Jesus, our Saviour, and look hopefully and courageously to the future. That is faith. And in the meantime we should follow His example in charity, in warm understanding and helpfulness to all men, remembering His command to "love one another." In this way we will do our bit toward making a better world.

Mrs. Kate Morris Retires

It would be unthinkable to allow the retirement of Mrs. Kate Morris from the Board of Education to pass without the fullest acknowledgement of her great services to the cause of education in this city and in this Province. For twenty-two years Mrs. Morris has given her time and her brilliant gifts to this work; for twenty of those years she has been a member of the School Board. The existence of a Vocational School in Peterborough is the direct result of those years of work. In 1919 Mrs. Morris ran for the Board of Education, and her platform was vocational education; she was defeated. In 1920 she ran again, and this time she was elected. During the following six years she won a cold and reluctant Board to her cause, but she was not in office during 1927, when the Vocational School plan was finally accepted and work upon it was begun. But she was once again a member of the Board of Education in 1928, when the Vocational School was opened. It represented the triumph of her idea over apathy, reaction and procrastination. Since 1928 Mrs. Morris has been a member of the Board, but now she has decided to retire from public life.

Mrs. Morris is the only woman ever to hold municipal office in Peterborough. It is sometimes said that all a woman needs to make a success of public life is twice as much ability as any man opposing her; Mrs. Morris's career might be said to bear out that observation. She brought to her work a clear, forceful and cultivated mind, and she achieved her ends without ever resorting to means which would have been unbecoming in a woman of the highest type. There are always men who are reluctant to admit women to full equality with themselves in municipal affairs, and sometimes one suspects that they fear comparison with women of outstanding ability; Mrs. Morris met with plenty of opposition, but she overcame it and has lived to see her true worth appreciated by the men and women of Peterborough.

Educational work has not absorbed all Mrs. Morris's energies and talents. She was for many years prominent in playground and relief work, and was a leader in the local Women's Auxiliary of War Veterans. For a time she was Ontario President of this latter organization. She has also been President of the Ontario Ratepayers' and Trustees' Association, and Ontario President of the Federation of Home and School Clubs; she was one of the earliest advocates of this latter work, and is still a member of the Provincial Executive.

Without ever having used the bellicose, strenuous methods of some women who engage in public work, Mrs. Morris has been a leader in Peterborough and in the Province of Ontario. She retires at a time when her best efforts have been crowned with success, and when she enjoys the admiration and affection of the great majority of her fellow citizens, who will wish her many years of well-earned rest.

Churchill Doesn't Know

We do not imagine that Winston Churchill reads any Canadian newspapers regularly, and certainly he does not do so when he is confined to his bed with pneumonia. We are heartily glad that this is so, for several of Canada's leading dailies are taking his illness with an intensity which he might find disconcerting. 'How terrible', they say in effect, 'if Mr. Churchill should die!' Very true; his death at this time would be a great misfortune for the Allied cause, but as we are perfectly certain that Mr. Churchill has no intention of dying we are not unduly alarmed.

When a man of Winston Churchill's age develops pneumonia his condition is serious, but it does not call for despair and immediate speculation as to who shall succeed him in office. He is in the Middle East, which we should think was as good a place to have pneumonia, or any other pulmonary disease, as any on earth; he has three physicians of the highest reputation in constant attendance and he has every facility which modern medical science provides for a man in his condition. What is more, the latest bulletin at hand as we write announces that his health has taken a slight but noticeable turn for the better. Mr. Churchill, have no doubt about it, will recover. He has the good wishes and the prayers of all the United Nations, and that factor also should not be forgotten in reckoning his chances of recovery.

Were Mr. Churchill able to give his mind to such matters, and were he informed of it, we do not think that he would appreciate the dispatch with which certain Canadian papers have bustled him into the grave. He would resent the suggestion that a touch of pneumonia could finish him off without a struggle. He would resent the delight in sheer gloom which prompts such reflections: It is wiser, we feel, to follow the suggestion made by the heads of the churches and pray for the Prime Minister's health than it is to waste time in grisly contemplation of the calamity of his death.

An Optimistic Outlook

The people of Canada have heard so much during the past year about the hard times which they must face after the war that the optimistic predictions of the Hon. C. D. Howe and the Hon. George Drew come as a very welcome change. Mr. Howe spoke to the Canadian Club in Toronto last Monday, and he scouted the idea that immense programs of public works would be needed to prevent widespread unemployment after this war. He warned his hearers against any vision of the future which included both large state employment schemes and the suppression of private industry; inevitably the suppression of private enterprise would create unemployment which would have to be relieved by public expenditure, but there are other and more profitable ways of putting our country back on its feet when the war is over.

Premier Drew is in Britain at present, gaining what information he can about possible expansion of British industry in Canada after the war. Something of the result of this very practical form of post-war planning is expressed in this dispatch from London, which quotes him as saying:

"I believe possibly the largest industrial expansion in the world is likely to take place in Ontario in the next few years. Development in Canada and particularly Ontario will be much greater even than in the 20's. Rather than be fearful of the lack of jobs, we will need all the skilled hands we can get."

Now here we have a Liberal Cabinet minister and a Progressive Conservative provincial premier both expressing their belief in a thriving post-war period. Both men are in as good a position to know what they are talking about as any leaders in Canada. They deny that the post-war period must exactly reproduce the days which followed the last war. After all, there was a considerable measure of inflation during the last war which has been avoided during this one, and thus no period of serious deflation will be necessary.

Of course, the optimistic views of Mr. Howe and Mr. Drew will not be borne out in fact unless we take steps to realize them. A closer relationship between management and labour will be needed, and it is easy to see that Mr. Howe thinks that the government will have to have a big say in the way in which wartime industry is translated into peacetime industry. But there will be a great demand for all sorts of goods after the war, and that demand, properly controlled, should make the translation comparatively painless.

Mr. Howe did not hint at any continued comprehensive control of industry by the government. Obviously it will not be possible to lift all controls and restrictions at the very moment an armistice is declared, but they should not be continued any longer than they are necessary. Mr. Howe expressed his admiration for the contribution which private industry has made to the country's war effort, and he made it clear that he thought Canadian industry quite capable of managing its own affairs and ensuring the highest level of employment without governmental interference. It is clear that some measure of planning will be needed in order that things of primary importance shall be produced first, but nothing like the present network of restrictions is contemplated. Mr. Howe said nothing to indicate that he believed that there would be no unemployment of any kind after the war; he did, however, make it clear that such unemployment could be kept at a low level, and that it could be prevented from extending for long periods.

The optimism of Mr. Howe and Mr. Drew is refreshing. A firm belief that a thing can be done goes a long way toward ensuring that it will be done, and it is reassuring to know that not all of the people's representatives see the future painted in unrelieved tones of black and blue.

Diary of A 'Flu Case

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY, Nov. 28: This afternoon at tea a lady told me some interesting things about the Duchy of Bronte on the island of Sicily, which was granted to Horatio Nelson by the grateful King of Naples in recognition of his services to his cause. When Italy still fancied herself as a fighting nation the Duchy, with all its extensive farms and orange plantations, was taken over by Mussolini's minions; the sixth Duke of Bronte, a direct descendant of Nelson, is now in the Royal Navy, and presumably steps have been taken since the conquest of Sicily to get his land back for him. After all, it is bad manners to give a man something, and then try to snatch it back from his heirs, but Italian manners have deteriorated sadly under Fascism....The palace of Blenheim, which I have always considered just the right size and appearance for a private home, was given to Marlborough in return for his services to Britain as a warrior. With so many illustrious examples, it might be a fitting thing to give General Montgomery a block of flats in Mayfair after the war; the income would keep him in style.

MONDAY, Nov. 29: Did more Christmas shopping today, and now have mine almost completed. It is terribly hard to find Christmas gifts for colourless people. If a man or woman has an interest of some kind, it is easy to get a gift which will be interesting and welcome. But people who do not care greatly about anything are my Christmas bugbears; in fact, people who do not care greatly about anything are nuisances all the year round....For anyone with a taste for literature, the Modern Library Shakespeare makes a handsome gift; it is bound up in three stout volumes, looks well, and is a reasonable price. As it has notes, it is especially useful to beginners, however....There is a lot of 'flu about. I hope I can avoid it. After all, I had it in the spring, and once a year is enough for anyone.

TUESDAY, Nov. 30: A grand day for the last of November, bracing but bright and mild. People seem to be divided into two camps these days: the young and carefree are yearning for snow, so that they can go out and fall down in it; the old and careworn are praying that the cold weather will hold off, so that their pittance of coal will last out the winter. I count myself among the latter. I admire the first snowfall of the year, and then I tire of snow and ice and drizzle; I tire of garbage cans with a foot of filth frozen in their bottoms; I tire of putting on twelve pounds of extra clothing every time I put my nose outside the door; I tire of walking on pavements which feel like relief maps of the Andes. I'm dreaming of a GREEN Christmas.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 1: I bought a corncob pipe today. All my other pipes have become strong and foul because of the disappearance of pipecleaners. Straws and other substitutes are of now use; it takes a fat cotton cleaner to do a proper job on a dirty pipe. The corncob is surprisingly sweet, but not very cool by the time I am three-quarters through my smoke; still, it only cost me twenty cents, and what do I care for twenty cents? With all the money I earn by my labours I could buy a new corncob every year at that price. There was a time when I was very fond of cherry wood pipes; they are light and cool, and cost very little, but I have lost all I had, and I have not seen any for sale for some years. Stanley Baldwin always smoked one, but in spite of that they were very good pipes.

THURSDAY, Dec. 2: Had occasion to visit a doctor today; he looked very white and tired, though it was only nine in the morning. He explained that he had been up since five a.m., boosting the census. I have sometimes wondered what it is that makes men adopt such professions as medicine and letter-carrying. The work is killing and the rewards are not great. No wonder so many doctors die of heart-failure in their sixties....Whether it was my visit to the doctor or not, I feel unwell this evening. My legs ache confoundedly, and my head feels like a pumpkin.

FRIDAY, Dec. 3: It has happened. I have the 'flu. I must stay in bed and crunch pills. How rarely one has a really pleasant illness! Sometimes I have thought that breaking a leg was perhaps the ideal state of ill-health; true, the fracture and setting are painful, and one suffers from shock for a day or so, but after one has a fortnight at least of delightful inactivity during which one may claim all the privileges of an invalid, without any great inconvenience to be endured. Indeed, if one is well insured, the fracture of a leg may be a positively profitable experience. But this 'flu offers no such pleasures. My back aches as though Torquemada had stretched me on his rack, and I cough like a dog baying the moon.

SATURDAY, Dec. 4: Visited by a doctor today, who gave me a cough mixture which tastes of liquorice, and some stuff to rub on my chest. What an air of importance it gives one to be visited by a physician; his very presence is at once a reassurance and a guarantee that one is ill enough to be in bed. This afternoon heard "Boris Godounov" on the radio, but 'flu has dulled my appetite for music, and I could not last through the final act. When one is ill, five o'clock in the afternoon is the lowest point of the day; if one has any inclination toward self-pity, it will make its appearance at that hour. I write these words at 5.30, when this purgatorial ailment is at its worst.

Under the Nazis' Noses

The clandestine French publication "Combat" has just celebrated the issue of its 50th number with a special edition—in the normal size of a newspaper, with many photographs. Here is its infinitely brave editorial introduction: "We certainly could not let the occasion pass without proving once more to the Gestapo what the resistance movement can do."

The challenge is almost ribald. This newspaper boasts a circulation of 300,000, every reader devoted to the extermination of the Nazi oppressor.

The Gestapo, in futile attempts to run it down and exterminate its sponsors and publishers, has resorted to the terrorism of mass arrests. Men, women and children have been whisked off to concentration camps without trial, without hope of release, except by way of death from execution, insanity or disease. Yet, more triumphantly supported than ever, "Combat" comes out in full dress to tell Hitler and his criminal menials that they are done for.—New York Herald-Tribune.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DUTIES OF 1944 COUNCIL

Sir,—With the year 1943 drawing to a close, and the Civic elections for the appointment of Civic Council and various bodies to represent us for the year 1944, it behooves the taxpayers and voters of the city of Peterborough to carefully consider the material going into next year's Council.

We are continually being told that 1944 is going to wind up the war as far as Germany is concerned. Production of war material is going to be seriously curtailed, and perhaps thousands of men in the employ of war industries will be unemployed, and this, more or less, will be true in our city. New members of the council should be aware of the fact that there will be some unemployment, and should be ready and prepared for this eventuality.

I would like to bring to the attention of the taxpayer one point in which I consider the Council of Peterborough have been negligent in their duties in the past few years, and that is, the question of an airport for our city. This matter has come up at various times, and has been dropped. Why? Simply because the interested parties were told that there was no land around the city of Peterborough suitable for an airport.

When we read in the newspapers what has been done in other places towards building airports, some of which have been built in the midst of tundra in the north, in swamps and forests throughout Canada, I see no reason whatsoever why the city of Peterborough should not have an airport. By this, I mean an airport suitable to accommodate the largest Trans-Canada liners.

Peterborough prides itself upon being one of the leading industrial centers in the Dominion of Canada, and is widely known, not only in Canada, but throughout the British Empire for its modern factories and manufacturing facilities. It is also known throughout the United States and Canada as a recreation center, fortunately being situated in the heart of the lake distrcit, where fishing, hunting, and other recreations abound, and this is a particular point I wish to stress in conjunction with an airport. With a suitable airport in Peterborough, there is no question but what the tourist trade in this district would materially increase, and Peterborough would then become a distribution point for the tourist trade in the surrounding country.

Therefore, it behooves the people to be sure that the Council of 1944 are going to see that Peterborough gets a modern and up-to-date Civic airport.

Another point I would like to bring up for the Council of 1944, is the condition which exists in Peterborough regarding sewage disposal. We have, at present, a pumping station which is part of a sewage disposal plant. The part it plays is that of pumping the raw sewage from the main trunk lines, and dumping the sludge back into the river, without any treatment whatsoever, and thereby polluting the waterways between Peterborough and the Bay of Quinte with the raw sewage from the city of Peterborough. We boast of the growth of our city, but as the city grows, we should not overlook the fact that here is a condition which also multiplies, and which should be corrected.

Plans should be immediately made for the completion of the sewage disposal system, so that if the time comes when there is unemployment in the city of Peterborough, these people can be employed at constructive, gainful occupations, instead of being placed on the dole as in the past.

HY WOOD.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a married son and daughter whose marriages, I fear, are going on the rocks. Not because there is anything wrong with the girl and boy they married, but simply because they do not seem able to come down to earth after their honeymoons. They talk cynically about the disillusion of marriage and having missed their soul mates and a lot of nonsense like that, and have even begun to doubt that they love each other. And you know that when a young couple start on that road they are on their way to the divorce court.

What can I say to them that will make them see that they are just sobering up after the emotional debauch they have been on, and that if they will just give themselves a little time and use a few grains of gumption that they will be all right?

WORRIED MOTHER.

ANSWER: To advise young people about love is a sheer waste of breath, because they are convinced that nobody has ever felt the way they do. Probably nothing else on earth would surprise your children so much as to know that you and your husband went through exactly the same experience at the beginning of your marriage that they are going through now. You, too, had that flat, let-down feeling and wondered what made you do it.

Probably more marriages are wrecked by great expectations than by anything else, and that is why the ratio of divorce is so much greater among young couples than old ones. The young can't take it. Life hasn't disciplined them and taught them to make the best of their bargains. And so when they face the realities of marriage and find out that it is not a perpetual petting party, but a life sentence at hard labor, and that they are married to just plain, ordinary human beings, instead of romantic heroes and heroines, and that you can't keep on thrilling over a person you see 365 days a year, why, only too often they decide that their marriages are failures and throw up their hands and quit.

They don't try to make their marriages a success. They don't even give their husbands and wives a sporting chance of winning out. The bridegroom is disillusioned because his bride isn't as pretty with her complexion off and a bungalow apron on as she was when she was dolled up in her pink chiffons when he came to take her out of an evening. And he feels that he has been gypped because she doesn't know how to manage a house and cook the way his mother does.

And the bride is equally disappointed to find out that instead of having acquired a great lover as her husband, she has one who takes her for granted and is more interested in his stomach than he is his heart, and that he has fussy little ways and habits that get on her nerves, and peculiarities that she never suspected that he possessed.

Neither one realizes that what is happening to them is that they are going through a shaking down process that will either land them in the havens of the blest, which is a happy marriage, or in the divorce court. It all depends on whether they meet the situation with common sense, with unselfishness, with fortitude, and a determination to make their marriage a success instead of a failure.

It is precisely the same situation that every man or woman who goes into a profession or business encounters. There is the same disillusion at first, the same discouragement, the same despairing wonder if one hasn't made the wrong choice, and the same results. Success for those who had the courage to fight through it. Bankruptcy for the quitters.

"What wonderful congeniality there is between you and your wife," said a guest at a silver wedding celebration. "Yes," replied the elderly bridegroom, "but it took us 25 years to achieve the results you admire so much."

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Just how much patience is required to be accepted as a good mother-in-law? My son is married and to me he seems an ideal son, husband, father, but his wife is never satisfied with what he does and comes to me with her complaints of him. She is a careless housekeeper and poor manager and she expects him to take over the responsibility of the children and the house so that she can have her time out with her girl friends, as she puts it. But, when it is necessary for him to attend a session of the church brotherhood or a meeting of his lodge, she calls me up on the phone and complains about how selfish he is.

My son never criticizes her to me, but she calls me to account for everything he does that peeves her. Is there any way this situation can be remedied without severing our friendship? I have plenty of worries over another son, who is serving overseas, without being bothered with her petty grievances.

MOTHER-IN-LAW.

ANSWER: Being a mother-in-law is always a difficult and dangerous job and one that requires almost superhuman self-control and patience and diplomacy, but your daughter-in-law has added another complication to it in making you the recipient of all of her complaints against her husband. That is a new angle to the situation, but while it is extremely unpleasant for you, you should be glad that she does her whining to you, instead of broadcasting her dissatisfaction to the general public. For you know how unjust and unfair her charges are, whereas strangers would naturally believe them.

Many a man has not only his character ruined, but his business or professional career wrecked by his wife's peevish faultfinding. If Mrs. A goes around wailing that she can't have this and she can't have that because her husband just doesn't seem to know how to get along, it does not help him to get the job he is qualified to fill, or the contract he wants.

And many a man, who is as sober as the town pump and as domestic as the house cat, gets a reputation for being a rounder by his wife telling all who will listen that she had to stay at home with the children because her husband went to his class banquet, and she could smell liquor on his breath when he came home.

There are women who have to have somebody to tell their troubles to, and, inasmuch as it is better for your daughter-in-law to tell them to you than to outsiders, I don't see any safe way for you to shut off her flow of complaints. Perhaps you might try telling her that you did your best in trying to rear her a good husband, and if he doesn't give satisfaction that you will be glad to have him returned to you. And she can throw in the children, too. That should hold her, if anything will.

A Bible Message

And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath. And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.

The Lord then answered him, and said, Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?

And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him. (Luke 13: 10-17.)

HE'S A PACIFIST NO LONGER

Romain Rolland, French author and pacifist, whose death was announced recently, was dying when he arrived in Paris a week before from a concentration camp in Northern France, says the Swiss Tribune de Geneve. Shortly before his death at his home he told intimate friends, "After all I experienced this past year it is better that I should never be able to write again. I would have to revoke all the works I have ever written and urge you to employ force against force.—Canadian Churchman.

Rescuers Work For Hours To Aid Injured

FLORENCE, S.C., Dec. 18 (AP). —A passenger on one of the two Atlantic Coast Line express trains which smashed together at Buie, N.C., yesterday told how an expectant mother with both legs mangled, held up bravely until aid arrived and how a navy captain did heroic rescue work.

"I was a passenger on the Tamiami West Coast Champion southbound to Tampa, Fla., which derailed at about 1.00 a.m.," said William Wood, publisher of Small Homes Guide magazine, unhurt in the wreck.

"Capt. P. W. Allen of the Navy and I took charge of helping the injured and trying to reach the dead. We got blankets from the Pullman cars and hot coffee and whisky from the diner, then made fires on the snow-covered ground.

"Captain Allen did some heroic work in that smashed wreckage. Through state highway patrol radio we reached Robert Samet at Lumberton, who brought acetylene torches to cut out the dead.'

Wood said he helped to set flares after the train was derailed and that at about 1.50 a.m. the northbound Tamiami East Coast Champion plowed through the wreckage spilled over the parallel tracks.

"The A.C.L. wrecker arrived about 9 a.m. and ambulances had been streaming in and out from Pembroke and other places. You have never seen such a smash-up. Bodies were mangled, rails twisted into hairpins and loops all over the place," the publisher added.

Wood said he and others stood at the side of the railway and watched the speeding streamliner scream into the southbound train.

He and other passengers of the derailed southbound train frantically tried to build fires out of newspapers to warn the northbound engineer, he said.

Two southbound freight trains already had been stopped by makeshift flares when they heard the streamliner roaring north. The speeding train ripped into the smoking car, he said, cutting it almost in half and fice coaches of the northbound train leaped the track and folded together like an accordion.

Wood said the woman expecting a baby had her legs and thighs crushed and mangled. She kept saying "I won't lose my baby, I won't lose my baby, God help me, I won't."

"She had more spunk than I've ever seen in a woman before," Wood said. A short time later a doctor came up an examined her, gave her a sedative and told her that her baby would be born. "'Thank God'," she said.

The cars were jammed with passengers, he continued.

"It was a horrible sight," Wood said. 'A lot of the people were cut in half when the seats snapped together by the impact clipped them in two like paper."

Foreign Yuletide Customs Are Followed By National Groups

In Canada, the word Christmas conjures visions of steaming plum puddings (wartime style this year) and golden brown fowl. Norwegians, Netherlanders, Poles and Russians who are now living in the Dominion have an entirely different conception of Christmas, at least as far as customs are concerned. Wherever national groups gather this Christmas season, old country customs will more than likely be the rule of the day. These will help young men and women who are homesick for their native lands bear the burden of separation until their countries, or portions of their countries, are freed from the Nazi yoke.

Norwegians regard rice pudding as a very important part of their Christmas feast. In Toronto and the Muskoka District of Ontario, where young Vikings are training for big jobs ahead, the men will gather in the messes for dinner, after Church services on Christmas Day.

The first item on the menu will be rice pudding with an almond put in only one serving. The lucky person who finds the nut in his dish wins a prize. During the dinner, Aquavit, a popular Norwegian drink is always served. As Christmas is a time of rejoicing and hospitality the Norwegians include the birds in their celebrations. Grain is scattered for the birds outside each Norwegian dwelling.

According to Polish workers now living in the Dominion, Christmas in Poland is celebrated on Christmas Eve and no food is ever cooked on the day itself. Guests are invited to dinner parties in odd numbers, three, five, seven and so on. Then a vacant place is set for any stranger who may come to the door.

To recall the manger in which the Christ Child was born, hay is spread under the tablecloth and guests pull out straws, judging by the length of the straws, the length of their lives. Following the custom of Slavic countries, the meal is served when the first star appears in the sky. And no festival is complete without "Baba." This is a kind of sweet-bread associated with the Christmas feast.

In the Russian Ukraine, the customs at Christmas are closely akin to those in Poland. The Ukrainians' meal on Christmas Eve is composed of 12 courses in commemoration of the 12 Apostles. In the centre of the dinner table is set a bowl of "Kutya," a traditional dish of the Ukrainians. This dish, served only twice a year, is a combination of wheat, honey, ground poppy seeds, pecans or other nuts.

The dish of "Kutya" is left in the centre of the table throughout the night. When the table is cleared several clean dishes are placed beside the dish. The legend has it that any departed spirits who may return during the night will be able to partake of a special feast.

In Holland, if the mist rises on St. Nicholas' Day, December 6th, the saying is "St. Nicholas is baking for Christmas." Before the war, special St. Nicholas spiced cakes were made. These cakes were given to the young men and women of the Dutch towns and villages in the hope that they would all have sweethearts.

Toronto Exhibition Several Years Away

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP)—Elwood Hughes, manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, held annually here until 1942, said today that in planning resumption of the exhibition it was not a question of when war ends but when the department of national defence hands the park back.

Commenting on the prediction last night of R. A. Stapells, a director of the C.N.E., that it would be two or more years after war before the exhibition could be held again, Hughes said it seemed likely that the department of national defence may want to use the park and its buildings for demobilization purposes.

Belgian Legation Fifth Embassy

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 (CP)—The Belgian legation in Ottawa is being raised to embassy status and Baron Silvercruys, the present minister, will become the first ambassador, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today.

Mr. King said it is not the present intention to raise Canada's mission to the Belgian government in London to embassy status.

Maj.-Gen. G. P. Vanier, former minister to France who recently was named Canada's representative to the French national committee at Algiers, is still technically Canadian minister to the Belgian government, Mr. King said.

With Mr. King's announcement, Ottawa faces the prospect of having five embassies. Ray Atherton, former United States minister, recently presented new credentials to the governor-general and became his country's first ambassador here.

Recently the prime minister announced intention to raise Canada's legations at Moscow, Chungking and Rio De Janeiro to embassy status and that Russia, China and Brazil would take similar action.

Canada's legation at Washington also is to be raised to an embassy as soon as Hon. Leighton McCarthy, the present minister, presents his credentials.

Court Dismisses Company Appeal

TORONTO, Dec. 18 —(CP)—Ontario Court of Appeal has dismissed an appeal of the Aluminum Company of Canada from a ruling by the Ontario Municipal Board which had ordered that the taxable income of the company for 1940 be increased from $9,127 to $1,811,806. Respondent was the city of Toronto.

The judgment, made public today said the Aluminum Company made a return showing an income in excess of $15,000,000 and claimed exemption of all of it except $9,127.18. It was stated the company included among exemptions income from subsidiaries which income was made up of dividends or interest on advances from the parent company.

"It is in respect to these items, totalling $1,985,580.89, but reduced by certain adjustments and reductions to $1,811,806, that the present appeal rests," the judgment stated.

The Aluminum Company had been assessed for the income it received from the subsidiary companies.

Pope To Broadcast Midnight Mass

AT THE ITALIAN - SWISS FRONTIER, Dec. 18 — (AP). — Pope Pius XII. will broadcast his traditional Christmas message to the world from the Vatican radio December 24 at 12:15 p.m. Rome time (7:15 a.m. E.D.T.) over wave lengths 3106 and 1987.

Christmas Eve he will celebrate midnight mass which also will be broadcast, starting at 11 p.m. Rome time (6:00 p.m. E.D.T.). Although the Pope"s annual Christmas address is awaited with interest, it is not generally believed that he will seek directly to influence the warring nations.

However, the intense activity of the head of the Catholic Church in the past few days has fostered another series of rumors of peace negotiations. Informed Catholics generally discount these reports, declaring that all the Pontiff's efforts to mediate have failed and that the Vatican's efforts now are limited to charitable work.

Moot Morrison As Next British Premier

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 18 (CP). — A sidewalk phrenologist shaped Herbert Morrison's career and a one-time smirking, chest - beating, would-be dictator of Britain almost was the cause of the career's end.

When Herbert Morrison was a delivery boy in London's East End more than 40 years ago, he spent his weeks shilling allowance on an introduction to phrenology. The sidewalk seer told him he might be Britain's Prime Minister one day and Herbert Morrison has never doubted it.

His friends say the bespectacled compact, five-feet-nine Morrison looks in a long mirror after he is finished dressing each morning and says, "Good morning, Mr. Future Prime Minister."

Now, at the age of 55, holding power over Britain's 48,000,000 people as Home Secretary and the Minister of Home Security, he seems closer than ever to eliminating the "future" from his daily salutation, despite the clamoring and furore raised by his release of Sir Oswald Mosley, the Quisling Fascist.

The future of Morrison shuddered and rocked for two weeks after he freed Mosley from 3½ years of jail detention, through two weeks of demonstrations, of mass meetings and renunciations by powerful trade unions which almost unhinged Morrison from his lifelong attachment to the Labor party.

Weathered 2 Gales

There were two vital moments for Morrison during the outcry, first when the parliamentary Labor party upheld him at a private meeting by 20 votes and when the government and Morrison were up held by an overwhelming vote of the House the next day.

If either vote had gone against him, Morrison's position in the party would have been untenable. But the concensus after his Commons speech was that, no matter what opposition to Mosley's release remained among the people, Morrison's personal stature in the party had been enlarged by the sincerity and honesty of purpose with which he handled the affair.

Labor, of course, must win the postwar election to make the phrenologist's forecast come about but if the party wins, Morrison stands well to being its No. 1 man at the time. This, despite Mosley and the fact that not many months ago he lost his position on the party's national executive committee.

Morrison knows his own mind. He wants the party to be ready to "talk turkey" to the people after the war; solutions and plans being the "turkey" and not "theoretical doctrine," facts and figures and not generalizations.

He wants state control over industry to avoid "chaos." He wants primary schools "good enough for the sons of policemen and plutocrats alike."

Canada Retains 900 Refugees

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Some of the restrictions on employment of home 900 enemy alien civilian internees who were brought to Canada from Britain in 1940 and later released are being lifted, it was learned to-day.

Up to now the employment of such persons has had to be approved by the immigration department. In future they will be in the same position as "friendly enemy aliens" who were in Canada before the outbreak of war and who are under supervision of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The effect, official sources said, is they now may take any employment they wish subject to the Selective Service regulations which apply to all adult residents of Canada.

But their status as residents under the immigration regulations has not been changed. They are in Canada on temporary permits and have not been granted permanent entry.

After the fall of France about 3,700 persons of enemy nationality, rounded up in Britain, were sent to Canada for internment. Owing to the danger of invasion, the British government considered it unsafe for them to be at liberty or even in custody in Britain.

Investigation afterwards showed that many of the internees brought here were refugees from persecution in Germany or otherwise harmless. About 2,500 were classified as refugees who could safely be released either in Canada or after return to Britain.

Most of the 2,500 were returned to Britain but about 900 were released in Canada subject to supervision of the Immigration Department. It is this group which is affected by the new arrangement.

About 1,200 who are considered dangerous are believed to be still interned in Canada, but only nine of those classed as refugees are still a charge on the public. These are in hospital.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

With three games carded for tonight in the Y.M.C.A. House League tonight in an effort to speed up the schedule in the Dominion Life competition in order to complete the regular games as originally arranged there will be plenty of basketball for lovers of the cage game. With the playoffs just around the corner every game is important and the results tonight may have a marked effect upon the final standing. In the opening game of the triple bill the Military Training Centre team is billed to clash with Harry Currie's Destroyers. At 8.15 o'clock Pete McArthur's Fairmiles are slated to meet up with Jim Ferguson's Corvettes and in the final encounter of the night Steve Csumrik's Frigates will do battle with Gord Johnston's Cruisers. All three of these fixtures loom up as real battles and the Fairmile-Corvette duel in particular should be a red-hot tussle as it is likely to settle the question of which outfit will finish the regular schedule in second place, provided of course no one in the meantime succeeds in knocking off Joe Stewart's unbeaten Algerines who are idle in the midst of all the shooting tonight.

It looks as if there might be a certain liveliness in hockey this winter after all. At least the suggestion thrown out in this column the other night in regard to the possibility of forming a City League has already fallen upon fertile ground for along comes Larry Maguire with the announcement that the boys down at the Outboard Marine plant are definitely interested and that they are willing to enter a city loop and attend an organization meeting as soon as it is called. So there we have three teams in line already, the Military Training Centre, the C.G.E. and the Outboard Marines. Surely with that excellent start it should be possible to round up three more outfits. The time is short however and if such a loop is to be organized the spadework should be done as soon as possible. If there are any more teams who are anxious to play hockey this winter and are willing to face the inconveniences of outdoor rinks and small gate receipts this column which is acting as a clearing-house in the promotion of the suggested league will be glad to hear from them and to pass the information along. But applications should not be long delayed; if the league is to be formed at all it should be done in the near future.

Athletes And The War

James P. Fitzgerald veteran sports editor of the Telegram comes to bat with the following pertinent comment on athletes and the war effort, comment that will be applauded in many quarters: "Joe Gordon, 28, brilliant second baseman of New York Yankees, announces from Eugene, Ore., that he will enlist in the armed forces this winter. Being a pilot already, he probably will enter the flying branch. Which leads Jack Cuddy in his Sport Parade to lament that "baseball has failed pathetically to claim its proper place in the war effort." Baseball, hockey and other games are needed in these times of stress of war, but no games are so vital to the well-being of a nation fighting for its existence that the players thereof should automatically be exempt from military service precisely because they are athletes. Perhaps this column is out of line when it begs to think the exact opposite. The importance of sport to a nation in war or in peace has been established beyond peradventure. Nevertheless, it is natural to suppose that our athletes should be the first to volunteer and by the very fact that they are trained physically along lines that should make for the best possible soldiers, the public has every right to look askance at any performer on the field of sport who can pass the army doctors. The remarkable thing is that so many of them are turned back as unfit. This Gordon awakening does not seem to fit in with our ideas at all. If he is fit his place is in the army and not on the ball field. And so, too, with all other ball or other players."

"Baseball is needed all right and so is hockey, but only to the degree that the athletes in these games are too young, too old or unfit for military service," continues the Toronto scribe. "When the argument is offered that the stars of baseball should be retained in the game to serve as "heroes" for the schoolboys of today it gals one. Forgive us if we beg to protest against any athletes fit for the fighting services hiding behind any alleged necessity of sports to keep out of the army. Moreover, this, our view, seems to be but an echo of the attitude of the citizens at large and of those in particular who have sons and daughters on the fighting fronts. This is no charge that athletes at large or in particular are doing that, though Cuddy adds that Gordon has "plenty of company." Neither is it a hint that the military authorities are turning a blind eye toward athletes any more than any other class. It is safe to lay it down as a bald truth that baseball and other fans do not want to see games played by young men fit for the fighting services."

Junior hockey is to be the major sport in Belleville this winter and it is evidently going to be put over in style judging by the following article in Ken Colling's sport column: "President Tom Fuery's Belleville junior hockey executive will meet tonight prior to the O.H.A. group meeting of tomorrow. Junior hockey is to move into higher brackets this year, and that's the way it should be now that a full executive has been named. Secretary Wally Berry announced today the club colors would once again be red and white, which brings back fond memories of the days when the late Dick Arnott piotted junior hockey teams in Belleville and the "red and white Belleville colors" were recognized and respected from Cornwall to Toronto (inclusive). The days of Daw Whalen, Gunner Arnott, the Holway boys (Toots and Bouncer), Bill Green and many others who brought hockey fame and honors to the Quinte City. Another innovation will be junior hockey programs that will carry the names and numbers of all players in the group, thus keeping the patrons of junior hockey acquainted with each player, particularly our own. Of course there's got to be ice at the local palace de sport before all of this is realized."

Writes Sport Sage in the Lindsay Watchman-Warder: "Lindsay curlers were represented at the Thauburn 'spiel at High Park by three able rinks—and they gave a good account of themselves, although they were not fortunate enough to get into the jewelry class. Alibis are not necessary, because the locals stacked up against some of the best curlers in the province. As a matter of fact these Toronto bonspiels are becoming more or less professional in their brand of curling. For instance there are the Hall brothers, of Kitchener, the Howards and the Brackens, and the Stanach outfits of Toronto; the Walton's of Agincourt; there are the Simonds and Kellers of Barrie and Midland, and Sergeant of Orillia, as well as Parsons and others from Oshawa....and our own Percy Skitch, Bill Langdon and Graydon King of Lindsay. So those who follow the sport can readily see that these events include the very cream of curlers in Ontario. Three games a day and another game on the following day is a real grind on the chaps from Lindsay, who up to the time of this 'spiel never had a work-out, as compared with the curlers in Toronto, Kitchener, Oshawa and other points where they have had the advantage of artificial ice. As Skip Bracken said to the Lindsay boys: "I would hate to meet you fellows after you get in condition."

Sporting Chili Con Carne: The R.C.A.F. ruling that all Air Force hockey teams must get out of organized leagues by January 6 will take a flock of colorful hockey players right out of the play....Probably the surprise arrival of three Army players in the ranks of the Toronto Fliers was the last straw that led up to the new policy....Incdientally the edict removes a threat from the O.H.A. senior group....The Toronto R.C.A.F. showed its strength last night by invading St. Catharines and beating the Saints 7 to 3....There was no game in the Y.M.C.A. House League last night owing to the fact that the Military Training Centre could not field a team....Mike Dziura who played for the Trenton Fliers last season is coaching the Trenton R.C.A.F. junior B squad....The ruling will not apply to that outfit as they are not in line for the Memorial Cup playoffs....It is stated that no R.C.A.F. player will be allowed to play with a civilian outfit.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—(AP)—The Dodgers won't get the use of the West Point field house for their spring training activities until 5:45 p.m. on week days—which ought to be ideal preparation for playing night games. . . . Still it has Deacon Branch Rickey a bit worried because he figures the only ball player sure to stay out of trouble is one who is too tired to go looking for it. . . . Lester Patrick, whose last competitive hockey effort was when he donned the goalie's pads in that famous 1928 Stanley Cup playoff, put on his skates again this week to give a few lessons to Roger Leger, who has a lot to learn about playing defence.

Today's Guest Star

Alex Sults, Seattle (Wash.) Times: "One thing about playing professional baseball, its travel broadens one. . . . That is, if looking out a Pullman car window in between drawing three cards to a pair in a penny ante game can be considered educational."

Unanswered Question

After receiving a letter from Gabe Paul, former Cincinnati road secretary of the Cincinnati Reds, postmarked Camp Blanding, Fla., Secretary Eddie Brannick of the Giants demanded: "Who said the government wouldn't let baseball men go to Florida?"

Just A Stand-in

The day the Oklahoma Aggies' basketball team beat City College in the Garden, Robert (Injun Joe) Nipp celebrated his 18th birthday by looking up a draft board and by taking an X-ray examination that disclosed a slight fracture in one foot. . . . Just to give the kid a treat, Coach Hank Iba decided to send him into the game in the last three seconds. . . . As he started for the floor, Nipp asked: "Which is my man, coach?" . . . Iba just gasped. "Boy, we're playing a zone defence tonight; there are three seconds to go; just report and then stand still on the court."

Angott Loses $100 On Fight

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—(AP)—Sammy Angott, the boxer, suddenly turned slugger last night and came close to be knocked out, all for $100.

It seems Sammy suddenly got the idea he carried real dynamite in his fists and he bet the "C-note" on himself to flatten Bobby Ruffin in Madison Square Garden.

As a result, he came roaring out, banging away in the opening round. One of his wild swings left him wide open, and Ruffin countered with a right hand that dropped Sammy for a one-count. That convinced Sammy, and he wasn't quite so anxious to throw his haymakers after that—even though it cost him what the boys on Jacobs' Beach commonly refer to as "a yard".

ST. PAUL — (AP). — A four-player trade with Montreal Royals of the Internation League was announced yesterday by St. Paul of the American Association. Bombers On Top

WINNIPEG, — (CP). — R. C. A. F. Bombers gained sole possession of first place in the Winnipeg Services senior hockey league last night as the result of a 4-3 win over Chippawa Navy. The Sailors and Winnipeg Army are tied for second place one game behind.

Senior O.H.A. Circuit Will Carry On

TORONTO, Dec. 18—(CP)—W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association, said last night he believes the Association's Senior "A" circuit will continue to function, despite the announcement from R.C.A.F. headquarters in Ottawa that Air Force teams will not be permitted to play after Jan. 6, 1944, in organized leagues eligible for Allan or Memorial Cup playdowns.

Hewitt said the ruling will force Toronto R.C.A.F. from the league, leaving it to carry on with Kingston Army Frontenacs, Toronto Navy and two civilian clubs—St. Catharines Saints and Hamilton Majors.

Expressing complete surprise at the ruling, Hewitt said he is confident "no abuses" of the spirit of R.C.A.F. participation in hockey have been committed by the Toronto R.C.A.F. team, but added he is not quarreling with any decree the R.C.A.F. decides is in the interests of the service.

The O.H.A. secretary said he believes R.C.A.F. teams in centres like Arnprior, Exeter, Renton, Belleville, St. Thomas and Camp Borden will not be affected by the ban.

He said these teams are not eligible for Allan or Memorial Cup playdowns.

Kenny Kilrea, youngest of four hockey-playing brothers is returning to National League competition with Detroit Red Wings, it was learned last night.

Kilrea is being discharged from the Canadian Army as medically unfit, and intends to leave early next week for Detroit. He enlisted in the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps here in April, 1942, and was stationed in Ottawa until early last month, and then was posted to Barriefield, Ont., for his basic training.

His brother Heo starred with Ottawa Senators for years; Wally Kilrea, another brother, now is captain and scoring leader for the Hershey Bears in the American League, and Art Kilrea, now overseas, played amateur hockey here before enlisting.

Two war workers set the pace in the second round of the $5,000 Open Golf Tourney at Miami yesterday, with Steve Warga, Jr., employee of an airline in Florida, taking over first place with a 139 for the 36 holes. Juniors In Tie

HAMILTON, Dec. 18 — (CP).—In the one scheduled match in the junior O.H.A. series here last night the local Whizzers managed to hold St. Catharines Falcons to a 4-4 tie in overtime when Gluck put the Hamiltonians on even terms with the visitors with a bare three minutes to go in the regular time, no score developing in the extra play. It was 2-1 for Hamilton at the end of the first frame thanks to Nick Tomiuk's 2 counters, and the second period wound up with a 3-3 deadlock.

TOP-WEIGHTED FOR N.O. RACE—Marriage, above, the handicap star, has been given top-weight for the $15,000 Louisiana Handicap at New Orleans, Saturday. Alsab, the Cinderella horse of turf, is another entry.

TORONTO, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Army hockey has suffered certain setbacks from criticism this year, but it scored a major victory in Red Deer, Alta., this week when it announced soldiers and C.W.A.C.'s will be admitted free to home games of the Red Deer team in the Alberta Services Hockey League. This really means something because the Red Deer team representing the A20 Canadian Army Service Corps Training Centre has such players as Jim Henry, Mac Colville, and Jack Forsey and it plays against such former major leaguers on Calgary teams as Dave Schriner, Max Bentley, Pete Slobodian, Eddie Wares and Tommy Anderson.

The Army press release states the team executive "pointed out that the team is a morale-building and recreational venture for the troops and in no way a money-making proposition." Civilians may buy tickets to the games to help defray expenses, however. Red Deer has a small arena with natural ice and expenses are not heavy.

George Mackintosh of the Edmonton Journal comments that the Red Deer decision proves players are not being paid to play hockey.

Another answer:

The Army gave its hockey critics another setback this week. Some critics had wondered how it was a majority of th members of the 1943 Western champions, Victoria Army continued to play together although moved up Vancouver Island to Nanaimo. The Army announced transfer from Nanaimo of Bill Carse, Elmer Kreller, Mel Lunde, and Terry Reardon All but Reardon were with the team last season and all are outstanding players. Members of the Victoria team still playing at Nanaimo are Joffre Desilets, Sammy Kennedy, Pinky Melnyk, Julian Sawchuk, Nick Metz and Amy Dufault.

Incidentally:

Greig Warren, who died in Winnipeg this week, was one of that city's finest football and baseball players 20 years ago....Joe Jerwa, 34, former N.H.L player, has turned out with Red Deer Army hockey team....Cornwall had enjoyed top-class senior hockey for eight years until the Cornwall Army team withdrew this season. Now Cornwall must depend on intermediate hockey which drew less than $100 at the gate for its opening game this week....Gus Marker, former N.H.L. player, is officiating in the O.H.A. at Kingston.

Emphasis On War Not On Sports Brings Hockey Blackout RCAF Teams Disband After Jan. 6

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Directly affected by the most drastic military sports blackout since the war began, six R.C.A.F. teams shelved Allan Cup hopes today under an order banning Air Force clubs from major hockey competition after Jan. 6, 1944.

The official announcement from R.C.A.F. headquarters in Ottawa last night represented the most far-reaching move yet attempted to solve the problem of service participation in organized sport, a subject of widespread comment since the war effort moved into high gear.

In a statement, headquarters said no Air Force teams will be allowed to remain in organized leagues whose champions qualify for Allan Cup playdowns. Afterwards an R.C.A.F. spokesman, stressing that "there has been too much emphasis on hockey and not enough on war," said the ruling will mean no athlete in the R.C.A.F. may join a civilian team.

Curbs Juniors Too

Air Force teams, however, may play intramural games, in local garrison leagues and in exhibition games against teams of other armed services within the same geographical boundaries. These exhibition games must not be played more than once every two weeks.

The statement vetoed the possibility of Memorial Cup competition by R.C.A.F. personnel, but there are no service teams in the Junior race except Regina Navy. The six senior teams affected are Vancouver Sea Island R.C.A.F. Sea Hawks, now leading the Pacific Coast League, Winnipeg R.C.A.F. bombers, Toronto R.C.A.F., Montreal Alouettes and two Halifax teams, one in the Halifax City League and one in the Cape Breton League.

Follows Army Move

The Calgary R.C.A.F.-Navy team, combining players from both services, presumably would lose all R.C.A.F. members after Jan. 6.

The blackout order, which the R.C.A.F. said was taken because the service "has no time to be running down rumors of all kinds with respect to hockey and to correcting abuses wherever they may occur." rocked the foundations of Senior hockey in Canada for the second time in little more than a month. It followed a tightening of the screws applied when the Army announced its "soldier-first" policy, declaring that hockey would not be allowed to interfere with routine training. Unable to muster sufficient talent under the policy, army teams in Halifax, Montreal, Cornwall, Toronto and Regina withdrew from the hockey picture.

Many Stars Included

Loss of the R.C.A.F. teams will be an equally severe blow. Even if the ban does not presage similar action by other services. Hockey will miss such National League stars as Jack Stewart, Harry Watson, Sid Abel, Scotty Cameron, Frankie Eddolls and Pete Morin of Alouettes, pre-season Allan Cup favorites; Johnny Quilty, Wingy Johnston and Lou Labovitch of Sea Hawks; Alf Pike, Bill Juzda, Wally Stanowski, Pete Langelle and Paul Platz of Winnipeg; and Ernie Dickens, Red Herron, Bud Poile, Johnny O'Flaherty, Bus Wycherly, Floyd Gronsdel, Doug McCaig and Norm Tustin, Toronto, R.C.A.F.

Air Force teams promised to dominate the horizon this year, just as they did in 1942-43 when four of nine district teams qualifying for Allan Cup eliminations, were R. C. A. F. teams from Halifax, Toronto, Winnipeg and Ottawa. Air Force sports policy was under Sqdn. Ldr. Lionel Conacher, who since has resigned as director of sports activities.

The announcement came as a surprise to all officials reached last night.

Ted Kennedy Replaces Hill

By The Canadian Press

A National Hockey League Frenchman who celebrated his 18th brithday last week has been selected by coach Happy Day to replace injured Mel Hill as second string pivot for Toronto Maple Leafs.

Day announced last night that Ted (Teeter) Kennedy of Port Colborne, Ont., whose smooth play made him Toronto's leading goal producer with 10 in 18 games, will act as playmaker for George Boothman and Jack Ingoldsby for Toronto's two week-end appearances against Chicago Black Hawks, in Toronto tonight and in Chicago Sunday.

Kennedy and Boothman were wings for Hill, who broke his left ankle when he crashed into the boards in a game against Detroit Red Wings at Toronto last Thursday. Hill, one of the Leafs' four veterans, will be out of action at least eight weeks.

The Chicago - Toronto doubleheader marks 50 per cent of weekend activities. The two other games will be played Sunday, with Boston Bruins at Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings at New York Rangers. Detroit, now in fifth place three points behind the Chicago Hawks and Toronto and four behind Boston, will introduce their third net-minder in three games in Harry Lumley of Owen Sound, Ont.

Lumley replaces Normie Smith, who came out of a five-year retirement Thursday to replace Jimmy Franks in the Detroit nets. Smith made his debut a winning one as Wings triumphed 4-1 over Leafs, but will be available to Detroit only for all home games and road games that will permit him to return to his war job Monday morning.

Ruling Surprises RCAF Coaches

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Dec. 18—(CP)—Sqdn. Ldr. Jim Grant, manager of Toronto R.C.A.F. in the Senior "A" Ontario Hockey Association, told The Canadian Press last night that the R.C.A.F. headquarters ruling on participation of Air Force teams in organized hockey leagues comes as a bombshell to the Toronto club.

Reached at a hotel here after R.C.A.F. defeated St. Catharines Saints 7-3 in a league game, Sqdn. Ldr. Grant said the team had not been informed of the decree, which prohibits Air Force teams from playing hockey after Jan. 6, 1944, in organized leagues eligible for Allan or Memorial Cup competition.

Jim Primeau, coach of the Toronto R.C.A.F. team, now in fourth place in the five-team league, said the ruling also surprised him but that there is no alternative but to comply with the ban.

Kingston Offered Two Souvenirs For Hall

KINGSTON, Ont., Dec. 18—(CP)—Authorities in charge of establishing a hockey Hall of Fame here said last night they have received an offer of two souvenirs for the Hall from F. L. Bishop, manager of a North Battleford, Sask., team which visited Japan in 1935.

Kingston said Bishop promised to send a silver seal set in cherry presented by the mayor of Tokyo. The other trophy, which was not described, was presented by the Japanese Canadian Society.

It is understood one of the trophies, both of which are engraved in Japanese characters, will be selected by Kingston authorities for the Hall of Fame.

Establishment of the Hall was approved by the National Hockey League at a meeting in September. Protests against selection of Kingston as the site have been voiced by Halifax and Montreal officials.

Angott Defeats Bobby Ruffin

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP). — Using a slugging, take-a-chance kind of clouting style that he has never shown shown before in nine years of beak-bustin, Sammy Angott punched out a bristling, 10-round decision over Bobby Ruffin last night in Madison Square Garden. Angott scaled 137; Ruffin 135½.

Down for a one-count in the first round when his brand new walk-in-and-wallop system, left him wide open for a short inside right, Pennsylvannia Sammy took the play away from the Long Island youngster most of the rest of the way, staggered him twice and came home on top by a clearcut margin.

At the finish The Associated Press gave Angott six rounds, voted three for Ruffin and called one even.

A crowd of 11,844 chipped in to a gross gate of $30,784 to watch the slugging party, in which Sammy's National Boxing Association world lightweight championship, was not at stake, but in which his hopes for a chance at the New York - recognized titleholder — Beau Jack — certainly were.

Judge Bill Healy and Referee Frank Fullam each gave the fight to Angott by a comfortable edge, but Judge Bob Cunningham voted for Ruffin, five rounds to four, with one even.

INVENT FLYING "ICE BOX"—Above is an artist's visualization of the new 120-ton flying wing refrigerated fruit express as planned by Colonial Airlines for postwar use. The idea is to transport perishables from Florida to Canada (Miami-New York City-Montreal). It is designed by Vincent Burnelli, inventor of the flying or all-wing type of airplane. The plane will be capable of carrying a 40-ton payload at the unprecedented cost of eight cents a ton mile and will enable Florida growers to market their fruit in New York or Montreal 14 hours after the produce is picked.

Bracken Says Tories Showing Gains

WINNIPEG Dec. 18 (CP)—John Bracken, National leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said in an address here yesterday that the "present (Dominion) Government is on the way out and pretty fast."

Speaking at the Manitoba Progressive Conservative convention, Mr. Bracken claimed his party "is going ahead by leaps and bounds" and urged representatives of Federal constituencies to do a good organizational job in preparation for a general election.

"The present Government is in the habit of dropping an election on us suddenly and we must be ready for whatever happens," he said. "It might be soon."

The National leader outlined the program advocated by his party and urged his followers to bring the program before the public as an adequate alternative to the programs of the other two parties—the Liberals and C.C.F.

While the C.C.F. party was progressing quickly, Mr. Bracken expressed his belief it had reached its peak, adding:

"...It is not good enough just to kick the C.C.F. around... They have some good things in them and some bad; the other folks have a laissez-faire program."

Mr. Bracken emphasized the Progressive Conservative party stood for rational reform but not for socialism. He said there should be jobs at fair pay for every worker; agriculture should be given a square deal in Canada's economy and there should be security for the aged, sick, unemployed and those suffering from accidents.

Fall Into Barrel Kills 200-Pounder

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Dec. 18 (AP)—John M. Wilkinson, 37-year-old 200-pounder, fell into a barrel while working in the attic of his home and suffocated before he was discovered. His mother found his body, with feet and head protruding, but his legs jammed against his chest.

The accident occurred Wednesday, but Dr. William C. Wilentz, Middlesex County physician, withheld a verdict of accidental death until a post-mortem had disclosed no complications to contradict the police theory Wilkinson had been standing on a bed to reach a wire when he lost his balance and fell backward into the barrel.

Will Organize Police Across Canada

MONTREAL, Dec. 18 — (CP).—Aime Laurin, president of the City of Montreal Municipal Employees' Brotherhood, today said in an interview that Canadian Congress of Labor officials plan grouping into a federation all members of police and fire departments in Canada.

For recruiting purposes, he added, Canada would be divided into two zones: one for western Canada and Ontario, the other for eastern Canada comprising Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

The C.C.L. will first concentrate its efforts on the large urban centres in Quebec, starting with all municipalities on Montreal Island, Quebec, Three Rivers and Hull, Mr. Laurin said. Later, campaigning would spread to the other provinces.

Union Recognition.

The Quebec Municipal Commission, which controls the affairs of the City of Montreal, on Tuesday night recognized, on behalf of the city, the C.C.L. as sole bargaining agent for the city's police force and firemen, bringing to an end a 14-hour strike of policemen, firemen, and public works employees. The C.C.L. had previously been recognized as sole bargaining agent for the public works employees.

Since the resignation yesterday of Honore Parent as representative in Montreal of the Quebec Municipal Commission, the only new development on the Montreal labor front was a demand made by neighboring Outremont policemen and firemen for salary readjustment and recognition of other affiliation to the C.C.L. They set December 25 as a deadline for a decision in the matter.

Tremendous Fires Burn In Berlin

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 18 (AP)—A strict censorship apparently was clamped on foreign correspondents in Berlin today, but a correspondent for Stockholm's Aftonbladet was permitted to say that Berlin was burning again following last night's smashing R.A.F. assault.

"Tremendous fires reddened the sky," he said.

Indicating that the battered capital's defences had been caught flat-footed by the first raid in two weeks, the correspondent said that a Swede who left his dinner the moment the sirens wailed had gone only a few hundred paces before the first explosions shook the city. The shelter he finally reached was shaken repeatedly although it was deep underground.

Berliners themselves showed they are no longer nonchalant about raid alarms, but scurry for cover at the first signal.

IN MIDDLE EAST—Liberators, heavy bombers, flown by the Royal Air Force from a base in the Middle East, are doing great work in smashing Hitler's bases in the Eastern Mediterranean. Enemy installations in Greece and the Dodecanese are visited almost nightly by these giant American-built bombers, and many aerodromes, harbors and railways have been battered by the weight of their bombs. Here is Flight Sergeant H. Charbonneau, of Montreal, Que., who is rear gunner of a Liberator operating from the Middle East.

TO CARRY BROADCAST

It was announced today that radio station CHEX would carry the Christmas message of the King on Christmas Day. His Majesty will be on the air from 10 to 10:15 a.m. on December 25 and will be preceeded by an Empire broadcast of one hour.

PROOF OF AN OLD MAXIM

After reading and hearing about a scarcity of turkeys for Christmas, according to the expectations of the trade Sam Carpenter of Alparka reminded himself of the allegory of the early bird and hied himself to market this morning some time about 7:40. The result of that expedition in the late dark of December will be demonstrated on the Carpenter table next Saturday. There were about eight or ten women from the country in the market hall all set for early birds. The price was 45 cents the ceiling.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Member of the Peterborough Rotary Club will hold their usual Christmas party at the Empress Hotel on Monday. There will be no speaker but the Rotarians will follow their usual practice of presenting each other with toys which will afterwards be presented to the Children's Aid Society and St. Vincent's Orphanage. There will be no Rotary luncheon on the following Monday.

CYCLIST INJURED

When the bicycle on which he was riding met in collision with an automobile at Brock and Water streets, Robert Wilshaw, 48, of 721 Elcome Crescent sustained a gash on the back of his head. Wilshaw was wheeling east on Brock street and as he neared Water street his bicycle collided with a car driven by J. Wilson, Monaghan Road who had been driving north on Water street and was making a left turn into Brock. The cyclist was knocked off his wheel.

SELECT HOGS

Walter McFarlane of Otonabee delivered to Canada Packers the other day twenty-two hogs averaging 217 pounds. They were around five months and three weeks old. In the rail grading twenty of the twenty-two were marked selects. Mr McFarlane follows the older practice of trough feeding using grain and roots from his own farm, but some of the breeders who prefer the practice of spreading the rations on the floor might be ready to dispute the point with Mr. McFarlane. Still that 20 out of 22 score carries a lot of weight in any argument.

NAVAL RECRUITS

H. B. Cowan, Jr., states that the Canadian Naval Service are looking for a number of writers and probationer writers and applications will be dealt with at once as new courses are opening shortly. The age limit for writer probationers is between 17½ and 30 years and applicants must have two years high school education and one year's clerical experience preferably stenographic. Writers will be taken between the ages of 18 and 35 and are expected to have had two years high school education and a minimum of four years stenographic or banking or accounting experience.

Schools Boost Total For War Victims

This Friday saw the widest activity in any one day on behalf of the special donations for Christmas now being raised to send to Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, with far more people participating than on any one day for a long time.

Most of this came from groups of a varying nature, the total day's receipts amounting to the sum of $440, which still leaves a balance of $1,724 required in order to send as much as was sent last year at this time.

Church Groups Give $151.60

Church groups play quite a part in this days record, due in a large measure to a splendid contribution of $100 given by the Cheerful Workers' Class of St. James' Church, who thus repeat what they have previously done for the fund on the two previous special donations for Christmas.

Three different Sunday Schools, all of them owing allegience to the United Church of Canada in the surrounding district are included in this group, when the King's Daughters' Class of Trent River United Church held a cake draw to make $20, which was forwarded through Audrey Brown and Florence Shearer, while the sum of $16 was sent in by Andrew Brown of Roseneath United Church Sunday School on behalf of those under his guidance, and Bailieboro United Church Sunday School added another $10.50 with Mark St. United Church Choir also coming into this group with a donation of $5.10.

City School Groups $144.29

Coming very close behind the church groups are donations from four of the City Schools, the highlight of this feature being a splendid contribution of $90 from King Edward School presided over by D. T. Crawford as principal. The amount raised testifies to the excellent lead given by the staff to the pupils, who all entered into the work with a will, $26.30 being raised by a bazaar given by Grade 8 students last Monday, to which was added $5, the proceeds of their Home and School Association meeting held on the same evening, and the balance being made up by the pupils and staff representing what they would have spent on an exchange of gifts, itself a splendid thing for them to do in order that boys and girls far away may have something to cheer their lot at Christmas time.

King George School, presided over by F. E. Kerr as principal, also raised a nice sum of $40.65, of which Grade 7 gave $3.60, the balance of $37.05 going to the credit of the whole school, which has on quite a number of occasions given a helping hand to the fund.

There were four different contributions from Queen Alexandra School for a total of $8.64, following hard on two others listed in Friday's report, these coming from Grades 1 and 2, 5, 7 and 8, while Central School through its Grade 5 taught by Miss Buck is represented with a gift of $5. All of the school group donations were specially marked for the Children's Christmas Cheer Fund.

Social and War Groups $100

There are five different groups of this kind giving assistance in today's list, the lead in this respect being taken by the Good Neighbor Group headed by Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. W. Townsley living beside each other on Ware street. They have done noble work for the fund, for the $54 listed in their name today now makes a total of $834.05 they have raised to this date.

This latest contribution comes as a result of parties held in the homes of Mrs. Head on Olive avenue, Mrs. Gillies on Aylmer street, Mrs. Cairns on Perry street, Mrs. Smith on Gladstone avenue, Mrs. Watson on Ware street and Mrs. Siddal on Park street, south, each of whom have a little extra share in it by reason of loaning their homes to make the gatherings possible.

Then the Fairview War Workers Group who were listed only a short few weeks ago with $51 for the fund, are back once more with another $25 through Mrs. W. Fowler, their efficient secretary, which was raised in an effort at the Market last Saturday specially for the children's fund, and now gives them a total credit of $365 raised to help the fund along.

Three Others

Three other groups all from outside the city limits are included in this portion of the days' receipts, the North Monaghan Red Cross Branch giving adding $10 to their previous good record through Mrs. T. Monk, while the Lakefield Women's Institute through Mrs. Roy Bullock contributed $6 and the Warsaw Women's Institute and Community War Fund through Mrs. H. G. Digweed add another $5 in the day's list.

Ten personal donations amounting to $45 in the aggregate complete the day's list, and once again the fund management would urge a larger part being taken in a personal way, so that you and you will be present at least in spirit to give the boys and girls in Britain a share in the Christmas joy that all youngsters should have.

This Sunday, the Lakefield United Church of which Rev. G. F. Kelley is minister, will hold their annual White Gift Service, the collection at which will be given to the Children's Christmas Cheer Fund.

Thomas Henry, Orangeman At Age Of 17 Attended Every Orange Walk For 75 Years

The recent death in Peterborough of Mr. Thomas Baxter Henry leaves a gap in the ranks of Peterborough Orangemen. Mr. Henry never missed an Orange celebration in 75 years and walked in the parade every year up to last year when his health would not permit and he had to be content with doning his regala and watching the parade from the sidewalk.

Sir Knight Henry, as he was known was first made an Orangeman 75 years ago at Carmel Lodge in Hope township, and to use his own words: "I slipped in a little under the age limit as I was just 17 years old that summer." This is believed to be a record unsurpassed in the annals of Orangeism in Eastern Ontario.

Twenty-six years ago he transferred to Lord Nelson, L. O. L., 2440, North Mongahan, where he continued his membership up to the time of his death. He was made an honor member three years ago in recognition of his long service to the Orange Order.

With 21 Years' Service To City Mrs. Kate Morris Is Retiring

By JEAN STENTON

The Peterborough Vocational School is a substantial monument to more than 20 years of active service as a member of the Board of Education for Mrs. Kate Morris, who pioneered for women in municipal affairs here, and who today announced her retirement from the Board of Education. It was largely due to her untiring efforts that this school came into being.

MRS. KATE MORRIS

Mrs. Morris first ran for office in 1919 and was defeated, but in 1920 she staged a successful come-back and went in on a program which stressed the need for a vocational school. For several years with little support she championed the need for such a school and ran the gamut of disapproval of members who muttered about women who should be in the home and wondered about the outcome of feminine efforts. After an absence of two years she returned to the Board in 1928 and sat on the platform as a Board member at the formal opening of the project which she had envisioned.

The only woman ever to hold a municipal office in Peterborough and one of the earliest to do so in the province, Mrs. Morris faced a much more difficult task then, than a woman candidate would at the present time. In those days municipal affairs all over the country were in the hands of the male section of the population and they looked with the greatest disfavor upon women who tried to crash the exclusive gates. Having had no previous experience, Mrs. Morris had to map out her own campaigns and organize her own stand with little assistance, and her biggest regret at the present time, is the lack of another woman candidate.

Lack of Interest

"I have been unable to find any woman willing to offer herself as a candidate for the Board of Education. I have tried many who are suitable and interested, but they feel they are too preoccupied with war work. I had even hoped to have one last year who might have had some experience before I left, but

No Bugle For Bill's Christmas Only Ersatz Toys In Santa's Bag

It is a rueful Santa Claus who will harness his storied reindeer next Friday night and sling a pack of clackety-clack ersatz toys over his broad shoulders, toss them in behind his high seat, and pick up the leather lines with a semblance of the jolly gusto of yore, nod to Orion, his jewelled companion of the heavens, and evoke from his deeper resources of his spirit the old gay cheerio to shout again: "On Donder! On Blitzen!" as he heads into the familiar sky lanes with the elfin jingling of his silver sleigh bells.

Not a bugle in his capacious bag. Not a drum nor shiny top! Neither engine or electric train! Not an automobile of new model or old to run about on living room floors! Not a dump truck, nor fire truck! And none of the comic company of mannikins, with their spring mechanism, to stride about and to bump blindly against the leg of a chair, and trip over a rug to whirr helplessly prostrate while their motive power runs down!

For the white whiskered agent of Saint Nicholas this approaching night ride of gladness and glory will be only a task mission, as they set in occasion war reports, with a sackful of substitutes in wood and cardboard and plastic. Toyland has been stripped of most of its enchantment, a major devastation to be listed against the modern Huns.

"There is all we have," said the manager of one of the depots of Santa Claus stock on George St., in a brief pointing to soldiers stamped out of plastic, wooden wagons and trains and cardboard odds and ends, a joyless prospect to the memories of Christmas eves of great expectations and Christmas mornings that were sheer ecstasy.

No bugles in little Bill's year! Even that woeful preduction, 12 months ago seems far less sad than the reality. No tooting in of Christmas Day in the happy house hold commotion as childish innocence sounds up the stairs to young parents the gleeful discovery that Santa Claus has kept his promises of reward, and that all is well in a transitory little world that gradually fades, as it must, from perfection as its domestic destructibles become battered and tuneless usually before Christmas is a month gone. (At least the psychology that is sterile of all such stuff and sentiment should be made content by this handiwork of Hitler.)

Even little Bill's bugle with its notes to re-echo in his memory down the years has been sacrificed to that freedom for which he, too, as many of his elders will compute it, is paying a heavy price.

Still, there are Christmas trees about. You see them already on the way to brighten another Yuletide. And most mothers have the gift of imagination to forestall even the Hun's far-reaching blight. Some how or other, with the substitutes at hand, they will manage to recreate the spirit of Christmas in the home, especially for that young Bill whose absent Dad is going to miss again the thrill that should be his of making great to do about writing this week to Santa Claus not to forget a bugle that shines like silver for a four year old little man.

Kinsmen Fund Is Nearing $15,000

The sum of $7,890 has been contributed during the past year for Milk for Britain, J. A. MacDonald of the Royal Bank and treasurer of the fund announced today. Of this amount the Peterborough Kinettes have raised or received through subscriptions and the remainder has been raised through various activities of the Kinsmen Club and through the generous support by donations of individuals, clubs, societies and other groups. It is almost three years since the Milk for Britain fund was started in Peterborough and the sum of $14,573.29 has gone forward to purchase milk which was sufficient to send 145,732 quarters overseas.

When Hal Rogers, the founder of the Kinsmen Association, was here a week ago, a cheque for $1,000 was presented.

The most recent contributor to the fund is the Cheerful Workers Bible Class of St. James' United Church. This group has contributed $50 as a special Christmas offering to the fund which is trying to reach the $15,000 mark before the end of the year.

Four Are Injured When Car Struck By Train

Four persons were hurt, three of them seriously enough to require hospital treatment, when the C.P.R. passenger train from Toronto struck a light sedan at the Townsend street crossing shortly before 9 o'clock Friday night.

The automobile with its four occupants was carried 132 feet on the front of the locomotive before the train was brought to a stop.

The four injured were:

H. Edwin Byers, 37, of 1 Brown street, the driver and owner of the car, who suffered a broken leg and critical internal injuries.

Mrs. Alfreda Quinlan, 22, of 282 Romaine street, compound fracture of the left arm at the elbow.

Mrs. Maretta Forbes, 28, of 144½ Hunter street, laceration of the lip.

Melville Ketcheson, 185 Bethune street, bruised legs.

Byers and the two women were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital after the accident, the driver in an ambulance and the other two in an automobile. Ketcheson did not receive medical attention, having a lucky escape from more serious injury.

The train was in charge of Conductor Edward Walker, 362 George street south, Engineer W. D. Davis, 344 Annette street, Toronto and Fireman Stanley Smith, Evelyn avenue, Toronto, had passed the diamond and was proceeding toward the station.

Did Not See Train

Byers was driving his automobile west on Townsend street and apparently did not see the train for he drove on to the crossing just in time for his car to be hit squarely by the locomotive. The train was only moving slowly and was stopped in the length of the locomotive and baggage car, after carrying the badly damaged motor vehicle a distance of 132 feet.

Byers was the most seriously injured. Apparently the impact was on the left side of the automobile just about where he was sitting in the driver's seat.

Engineer Davis said after the accident that he had seen the automobile cross Aylmer street and thought that it would stop befores entering on the rails. However, he said, it kept on coming and was struck.

Ketcheson told police that he had been sitting in the back seat and saw nothing of the train before the crash.

Inspector James F. Reid and Officer John Stevenson investigated the accident.

THE STARS SAY ....

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, December 19

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds presage of very conflicting conditions. While social, financial, domestic and affectional relations may be exceedingly active, with every promise of pleasant, progressive and profitable gratifications, probably with merry celebrations of a festive occasion, yet elders, superiors or others may be stubborn, unfriendly or otherwise disposed to cause grief and estrangements in personal associations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday is is may anticipate a year of expansion, progress and fruition of high aspirations and ambitions, yet may be surprisingly opposed from their richest fulfillments by elders, superiors or interference from those in power. Finances, honors, popularity and intimate satisfactions and joys may discount these antagonisms.

A child born on this day may have much outstanding ability for achieving high position, influence, honors and rewards, but may suffer sorrow and loss in its most cherished ties.

For Monday, December 20

Monday's astrological forecast is for a sudden and surprising turn in the affairs that may wipe away all sorrows, frustrations and adverse situations by its revolutionary, thrilling and far reaching adventures. This may affect business, finance, the career, and the romantic prospects of life—eventful and dramatic, with change, unusual experiences and spectacular good fortune.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday is is may be ready for a sudden and spectacular turn in the fortunes. There may be exceptional accomplishments and crises, with sensational denouements and lucky adventures, causing public recognition or acclaim. Beware strange intrigues and curious associations.

A child born on this day may have brilliant talents and exceptional ingenuity, originality and independence, although ambitious, noble, kindly and excessively generous. It should attain conspicuous heights and popularity.

Raises Money for War Victims' Fund

HAVELOCK, Dec. 18—(ENS). — A good crowd assembled at the Rebekah euchre party this week which was sponsored in aid of the Peterborough District British War Victims Fund. The prizes were $1.00 in War Savings Stamps, and were won by Mrs. Derwood Scott and Donald Matheson. During the evening four lucky draws for a War Savings Stamp each, were won by G Melville, Jack Bannon, Mrs. W. Ketchen, and Mrs. A. Aboud. The proceeds of the card party amounted to $11.30. At the close of the party a hand-worked linen luncheon cloth, on which tickets had been sold, was drawn for and won by Horace King of Belmont. This cloth was made by Miss Minnie Williams and the entire proceeds of $31.50 was also donated to the British War Victims Fund in Peterborough.

Supper Club Presents Tableau

"The Herald of Peace," the Christmas story from the Gospel of Luke in verse and song, was a feature of the annual ceremony of "The Hanging of the Greens" held at the Y.W.C.A. Friday evening. A tableau, presented by the girls of the Friday Supper Club was presented, and Jean MacTavish was narrator.

The Christmas story was told, and appropriate carols were sung by the group, led by the choir. Soldiers from the Training Centre were invited to assist in the evening's fun, and a good many availed themselves of the invitation.

The program opened with the showing of a nature film, and a technicolor film of a Ukrainian Christmas. The Ukrainian film showed how the people of a Ukrainian community near Winnipeg celebrated Christmas, with ancient songs, traditional dances, and ceremonies.

The Hanging of the Greens, an old English custom, has been observed at the Y.W.C.A. for several years, and consists of the appropriate decorating of the rooms of the "Y" with greens and bright red, blue and silver paper. A Christmas tree had been set up in the front hall and was also decorated.

The crowd was divided into several groups, each with a certain room to decorate, and each group had to use its ingenuity to decorate the room within a certain time.

Groups of choir girls went from room to room starting Christmas carols among the groups, and as one group would finish a verse, another would pick up the melody.

A definite time limit was set on these proceedings, and at the conclusion of the allotted period the groups adjourned to the recreation room for the Christmas program.

The serving of refreshments in the Green Room concluded the evening's entertainment.

Miss Margaret Wood, who has spent the past four weeks with Mrs. Edmund Ball, left for Toronto this week where she will spend the winter months. Her nephew Aylmer Lefroy, is also in Toronto for the winter, and the homestead here closed until spring.

Mrs. Clarence Ball, formerly of the Pendrie Store staff, is assisting with the holiday trade until after Christmas.

PO. Reg. Edmunds, R. C. A. F., who has been at a training centre in Quebec province, is home until after Christmas with his mother, Mrs. H. Ross Edmunds.

LAC. George Sedgewick, R. C. A.F., who is also at a training centre in the same province, is on furlough until after Christmas and with Mrs. Sedgewick, of Peterborough, will spend the holiday with her mother, Mrs. Edmunds.

With 21 Years

none were available."

In the early days of her Board service, Mrs. Morris worked to popularize vocational education. She says that at that time only one type of child was being given an opportunity, the one coming from a home where there were sufficient funds to secure a collegiate and college education. She felt that in a factory town, that there should be an opportunity for students to receive a basic training for industry which would teach him to know himself and his aptitudes in industrial work, and to discover what interested him most. There was no idea of producing trained artisans at 16.

She was accused of being an "extravagant woman" and many a blistering word battle took place in the old meeting room in the Toronto Savings and Loan. In 1926, Mrs. Morris ran again and was defeated and she was returned in 1928, and has been on the Board since that time. Declaring she is a woman of action by nature, Mrs. Morris said she has learned to be patient, at least up to a certain point.

Following the opening of the new addition, Mrs. Morris explained that the attendance greatly increased due to the fact, that there was room to accommodate county pupils in whatever number was requested. When she began on the job there were 16 teachers and now the staff has 43. This she points out is some indication of the effects of the school.

Provincial Jobs

Not only was she the first woman in Peterborough municipal life, and the only one to ever hold office, but she was also the first and only woman president of the Ontario Trustees and Ratepayers Association. This keen eyed individualist explained that before she was eligible for this honor she served on various committees for years until she had a thorough grounding.

During the past twenty years, the ex-teacher held two other Ontario presidencies in which she took an active interest. She was president of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations and of the Auxiliaries to the Great War Veterans' Association, which later became the Canadian Legion, and the Auxiliary name changed with it.

Home and School groups have always absorbed a good deal of Mrs. Morris' attention. She is an original member and has belonged to the executive since its foundation 21 years ago, when it was the Provincial Committee with a small membership. It was based on the Teachers and Parents Federation in British Columbia, and it has now become a national and international association. She has been a member of the National group since its inception, and she recalled that the name Home and School was chosen because it was more embracing than the other.

"I have always enjoyed the contacts with teachers and parents," the retiring member declared. I have gotten to know them and have had an opportunity to study the problems from their point of view. I also want to pay tribute to Inspector A. Mowat. He was kindly but shy, and his stern appearance caused some to misjudge him, but he was the best friend the teachers had."

Not Too Helpful

Asked as to the attitude of her own sex, Mrs. Morris said she had found them cordial, but as in many cases, when it came to lending active support it was another matter.

"Their favorite assertion used to be 'oh you'll be all right. We know you'll be successful,' and they were always the most surprised when sometimes I wasn't," she chuckled reminiscently.

Commenting on the outstanding change in education since her membership on the Board, she said that teaching has become much more flexible and tends toward developing individuality. There is less memorization and stress on character development emphasized by teachers and inspectors, and the inflexible and repressed ideas of both the home and the school, have largely disappeared, this educator pointed out.

Joint Effort

In an address to the Trades Council seeking to secure the Labor vote, the Examiner records that in 1919 the candidate made the following statement:

"We have no intention of taking the place of men. In the home women look after their share of the partnership and I believe in carrying on the city's work in the same spirit."

At that time she was actively supported by Mrs. S. T. Medd and Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, and she was proposed by W. H. Hill and Thomas Barrie. Other nominees running that year were: Joseph W. Worth, Frank Neal, G. D. Cameron, E. G. Patterson, E. Bruce Fowler, Dr. E. E. Harvey, J. Mendel Greene, A. J. Bolwell and Alex Morrison.

Broad Horizons

In spite of the somewhat hectic session of the past, which give Mrs. Morris many humorous moments, men who served with her on the Board learned a lot from her and she learned from them. She has never confined her interests in education to the narrow boundaries of the local community but has reached out for knowledge to other organizations and communities.

Announcing that she is retiring because of the pressure of household tasks, Mrs. Morris does not however intend to sit with folded hands but will take up some new interest, and hopes later on to get her hand in helping returned men, as she did several years ago. Peterborough is losing the services of a clear and far seeing mind and her position will be a difficult one to fill.

LEVINE'S WILL MAKE HER HOLIDAY DREAMS COME TRUE!

SOMEWHERE, on the assembly line, there's a girl dreaming about happy holidays. She may be wearing overalls, with a smudge on her face . . . but she longs to be a glamor girl with scores of suitors. She may be snatching a hurried lunch-box snack . . . but she dreams of going to the Major Bennett dance on Christmas night or the Firemen's Ball on New Year's Eve. She dreams (and what girl doesn't) of meeting that certain man, sort of a Prince Charming, and maybe . . . who knows . . . her dreams might carry further to a pint sized apartment or a cottage . . . (But of course that is supposition).

Her dreams will however see herself as one of the "belle's of the ball" and that is where Levine's can make her dreams come true. Our party dresses, can make you glamorous and lovely as your fondest hopes. We specialize in selling to you the dress that is most suited to your own particular beauty, and our study of Ladies' Wear enables us to do you justice. American Paper Lauds Mr. Churchill

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (CP)—The New York Times, in an editorial to-day expressing hope for speed recovery of Prime Minister Churchill, pictured him as a man "stoutly contending with an adversary" rather than as a sick man.

"Mr. Churchill has known danger all his life," said the Times. "At 18 he was nearly killed falling from a tree. At 21 a Cuban bullet missed him by a foot. At 23 he pulled wires to get into action in Afghanistan, and at 24 he broke almost by main force into the Sudan campaign. A few years later he got himself appointed correspondent so that he could dodge Boer bullets in South Africa. At 41 he left a cabinet post to go into the trenches with the Grenadier Guards. One day he was summoned from his dugout just five minutes before a German shell destroyed it....

"He went to Egypt the other day with a temperature of 100 degrees deriding the threat of pneumonia as he did that of German bombers."

The Herald-Tribune editorially noted that Mr. Churchill was already ill when he left London for Cairo and Teheran.

"But his burden was not one which could readily be shifted to other shoulders....Nor was Mr. Churchill likely to consult his own safety under any circumstances. In this case the goal was not incommensurate with the risks and the British prime minister can be certain of the understanding, sympathy and good wishes of those free peoples for whom he has been such an inspiring voice."

CANADIAN MEMORIAL — Shown here at the top of this broad gravelled path is the Memorial which has been erected near the mountain town of Agira to Canadians who were killed in action during the Sicilian campaign. The Memorial was fashioned by Italian craftsmen out of Syracusa white limestone, with a superimposed crusader's sword, and will be a part of the Canadian cemetery in Sicily. One side faces toward the battlefield near Regalbuto, the other towards Agira, in which three western Canada infantry units distingushed themselves before its capture.

Veterans Want System Changed

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 (CP).— The National Council of Veterans' Associations of Canada to-day made public a resolution sent to the Dominion government asking changes in the procedure for dealing with members of the forces who are referred to as casualties to the Pension Department for treatment.

The council said a majority of category "E" cases are transferred to the Pensions Department and that substantial pay losses result, particularly for commissioned ranks. Present regulations of the Department were described as "complex, confusing and easily misunderstood, resulting often in different interpretations and in a considerable loss of pay and allowances in many instances."

The Council asked that in no case pay and allowances of a member of the forces in a hospital be less than those of his rank during active service and that this condition should continue through the period of active treatment.

Albert Murphy Denies MadgeBellamyCharge

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 18 — (AP).— Albert Stanwood Murphy says he and former film star Madge Bellamy "are not now and never have been husband and wife."

Attorneys for the wealthy California lumberman filed an answer to the actress' divorce suit yesterday, denying her allegation that she and Murphy were married under Nevada's "consent clause" in April, 1941.

In San Francisco last January, the actress was accused of firing three ineffectual shots in Murphy's direction because of his alleged association with another woman. The latter subsequently was identified in the litigation as Mrs. Murphy, the former June Almy of New York.

Canadian Lady Accredited To U.S. Forces

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Mollie McGee stood on a pier at Dover and watched the armada of boats stream back from Dunkirk.

McGee was in the hospital when the wounded were brought back from Dieppe. She was at a bomber base when the boys flew home from the first big raid on Berlin. She was in London through the blitz and the great fire.

This genius for being in the right place at the right time has made Irish-eyes Mollie McGee one of Canada's best known woman reporters.

Now she's scored one more scoop by being the first Canadian woman accredited as a war correspondent to the American armed forces. No woman has yet been accredited to the Canadian Army.

It's not the fame and glory—or the smart American uniform—that Mollie's after.

"I don't want to go forward to the front line with the armed forces," she told me. "All I want to do is go and report where other women are driving, nursing, doing canteen work.

"Men and women are in this war shoulder to shoulder, so every story has a woman's side to it. There should be a woman covering every field of activity in which women are taking part."

And so, when the biggest story of the war breaks, and the Allied forces have their feet firmly planted on Western Europe soil again, Mollie will be there in her khaki uniform to tell the world about the part women are sure to play.

A Varied Career.

The fighting, Australian-born, Irish-Canadian hasn't any doubts about women's ability in a crisis. "During the blitz in England, women workers, ambulance drivers, A.R.P. wardens stood the ordeal as well as men."

Mollie has had a career that makes a younger reporter's mouth water. Since the war started she has covered commando training, been aboard naval vessels, visited air bases, army camps, hospitals, with a good peppering of scoops to her credit.

She's always in there punching for equal breaks for newspaper women, and like most of the girls of the trade, her back-hair rises at being tethered to what she calls "a non-existent women's angle." A pugnacious grandfather who went from Ireland to Australia "with two pistols and pen after some trouble," handed down to her the spirit for this crusade. Mollie was born in Australia but was taken to Montreal as a small girl. She studied occupational therapy at the University of Toronto.

After she graduated she was superintendent of the therapy department of the Mountain Sanitarium, Hamilton, Ont., but she was convinced that there was a place for her in newspaper work.

She got her break in 1932 when the Montreal Herald sent her to Ottawa to cover women attending the Imperial Conference. Back in Montreal on the Herald she wrote a front page column, covered murders, and wrote Montreal society notes for Mayfair Magazine.

She went to Ottawa to be one of The Canadian Press' first women staffers, but when, after the death of King George V., things seemed to be popping over here, she freelanced her way to England to cover the Coronation, and later the first rumblings of war on the Continent. She was in Canada during the Royal tour, returning to Britain to become a corespondent for the Globe and Mail when the war started.

Scrooge Returns With A Message

By "SCROOGE"

"Christmas! Humbug!

That's what I said as I sat in my cold counting house on Christmas Eve, a hundred years ago.

That's what I said as I climbed the cold, dark stairs to my room.

I said it again when the ghost of Jacob Marley visited me there.

But before I woke on Christmas morning I knew better.

No one can ignore Christmas.

It was meant to be a merry celebration.

It's just a hundred years ago this Christmas Eve, that I discovered that fact.

You remember how Charles Dickens told of my discovery. And Tiny Tim said "God Bless Us Every One."

Of course there's no denying that I'm very dead now. That all happened a century ago.

Still I've come back to say that Christmas 1943 is more important than ever.

To-day people have an even greater need of the spirit of Christmas.

In the closing chapters of my life it was said of me 'That I knew how to keep Christmas well.'

Let me, the ghost of an old man who learned a lesson late in life, tell you what I think are the important things about Christmas.

It's the time when all of us stand together to help one another.

It's a time to view our brighter hopes, and to hold them out to others.

It's a time to open our hearts, our homes and our purses to help make the lives of those who are not so fortunate as we, more cheerful.

Ah, yes! I can see the wretched havoc of war around you.

I see the empty places, the saddened hearts, and the many who have no homes at all.

I see the grim desperate battles of the armies who fight for freedom.

But I am an old man who has learned that good can master ill.

Christmas! Humbug? Never!

The spirit of Christmas 1943 is hope. Look ahead to a future bright with the reward of triumph over evil.

Keep that spirit alive in your hearts, and help to hasten the day of Victory.

Lend your money to your country for that purpose.

You'll be buying a Christmas present for the whole world.

Then it will be truly said of you that you know how to keep Christmas well."

— With grateful acknowledgement to the shades of Charles Dickens.

Canadians Say Berlin Given Real Drubbing

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 18 —(CP Cable) —R.C.A.F. airmen who took part with the R.A.F. in last night's mighty smash at Berlin agreed to-day that the German capital received a staggering blow.

"Heavy cloud made it difficult to assess with accuracy, but judging from the glow I think our concentration of bombs must have done great damage to Berlin," said 20-year-old Flt.-Lt. Rod Dunphy, navigation leader of the Canadian Thunderbird Squadron, whose home is in Winnipeg.

Canadians told of many encounters with Nazis night fighters.

Flt. Sgt. D. R. Waddell, of Sperling, Man., a bombaimer in the Thunderbird Squadron, said that as he left for home he could see the glow of fires but thick clouds prevented a view of more than a reflected glare.

German night fighters dropped flares which illuminated the path for 25 miles as the Canadians were on their way in to the target, Waddell reported, adding that searchlights blanketed the area.

Lots Of Flares

"There was an unusually large number of flares and the rising moon helped light up the target area above the clouds," he said. "We could plainly see a Focke-Wulf-109 which slipped across our bows from the north just as we dropped our bombs. As we dived the rear-gunner opened up on him but there wasn't a chance to see if any damage was done before he disappeared."

"If the markers were right—and judging from the bright red glow they were, as usual—then we gave Berlin another good pasting," said PO. K. A. Decker of Kitchener, Ont., Goose Squadron bombaimer in whose crew were Squadron Navigation Leader Flt. Lt. Tommy McDougall, D.F.C., of North Bay, Ont., and Engineering Leader Flt. Lt. Eric Mulligan, D.F.C., of Sudbury, Ont.

The crew of one Canadian Lancaster went on to bomb Berlin after it had an engine knocked out by a Nazi fighter whose shells also holed the bomber's starboard wing and petrol tank.

Flt. Sgt. J. Przybylski of Arborg, Man., rear-gunner of the Goose Squadron, damaged a Focke-Wulf 190 which attacked his Lancaster 100 miles from the target. He knocked pieces off the German's wing as the Nazi aircraft came in to attack 350 yards astern. The Focke-Wulf started to lose height and disappeared in the clouds.

Many combats and exchanges of fire were reported by PO. George Andrew of Sarnia, Ont.

Other Canadians on the raid included PO. Jimmy Bell of Drew, Ont., PO. C. E. Rodgers of Hamilton, Ont., and Flt. Sgt. Don Ryan of Tillsonburg, Ont.

Radio Station Owners Want Voice

CALGARY, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Representatives of privately owned radio stations have suggested to Rene Morin, K.C., chairman of the Board of Governors of the C.B.C. that they be given representation on the governing body of the second national network of C.B.C. to be opened January 1.

At a meeting here this week it was urged that the C.B.C. take "full advantage of the abilities and facilities of Canada's private stations" in operating a second network. A telegram sent to Mr. Morin said in part:

"The new net work with the single exception of CJBC, Toronto being composed entirely of the privately - owned stations whose contribution to Canadian radio has been generally overlooked, can make a valuable contribution in the organization and the exchange of programs reflecting sectional folk-lore, musical and educational advancements. A network so constituted through the element of competitions would stimulate the industry in general and the existing network in particular and the listening public of Canada will enjoy the fruits of experience, initiative and a clearer interpretation of community progress."

Dearest loved one we have laid thee
In the peaceful grave's embrace,
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thy heavenly face.
One by one earth ties are broken

Brighten but to pass away.
One by one our hopes grow brighter
As we near the shining shore,
For we know across the river
Waits the loved ones gone before.

17,000 People Helped Build Alaska Road

By GORDON McCALLUM

EDMONTON, Dec. 18 — Seventeen thousand men and women worked for 81 civilian contractors at the peak of the 1943 drive for completion of the Alaska Highway, it was revealed in Edmonton yesterday as traffic rolled along the road in a constant stream. There were 7,000 pieces of equipment on the project.

These were the first definite figures of the tremendous manpower and machine power needed on this miracle job of fast construction to give the United States an overland connection with Alaska.

And the mysterious Arctic, which manufactures frigid blasts to plague men and machines, admits it was licked and like a sportsman is trying to make up for it. The Americans started the road construction early in 1942. The winter of 1942-43 was the worst in 50 years. The Weatherman threw everything there was in the book at the engineers—heavy snows and readings of 72 below. But the men didn't give up.

Mild This Year

This season, its almost Palm Beach weather in comparison. The thermometer recently was riding at 10, 20 and 30 above. Once—and its already mid-winter on calendar — has the thermometer gone below zero. That was when it hit only nine below for a brief interval. Where the 1942-43 winter was the worst, it looks as if 1943-44 will be the best.

The other day is was 36 above in Whitehorse. On the same day last year, it was 53 below.

The all-weather Alaska Highway was completed this month. It followed the general route of the original "pioneer" road built by the United States Army and completed from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks on November 20, 1942.

Permanent Bridges Needed

With the exception of a few permanent bridges, which are to be built in 1944, the work of thousands of construction workers and hundreds of machines on the highway is finished, Brig. General James A. O'Connor, commanding general of the Northwest Service Command, stated.

As one veteran worker shouted as the last load of gravel clattered into place and the bulldozers moved forward to smooth the final gap: "This is it!"

Brig. Gen. L. D. Worsham, division engineer of the Northwest Division, United States Corps of Engineers, with headquarters in Edmonton, said that in a little more than a year and a half there has been accomplished one of the greatest construction projects ever undertaken by the Corps of Engineers.

Nature plays queer tricks in the far north country, such as springs that flow all winter long, rivers that freeze from the bottom up.

Bitter cold broke down machines and took the strength of men and long hours of darkness hampered transport.

Men had to be especially clothed to endure the frigid temperatures. Quarters had to be built to withstand the Arctic weather and even then the walls were often covered with frost an inch thick. The problem of keeping engines warm enough to function properly or at all was a serious one. At one time the solution was to leave the motors running day and night. Fuel lines on Diesel equipment froze and had to be thawed.

Between Watson Lake and the Alaska border—about 900 miles—there were more than 250 places where icing conditions temporarily stopped use of the road. In some sections permanent frost is a few feet under the earth and sometimes inches below the surface.

Springs which flow or "bleed" all winter long often build great mounds of mushroom ice across the road.

Some streams and rivers have a disturbing habit of freezing from the bottom, causing the level of the stream bed to rise and overflow to form a new channel. This occurs all winter long, with subsequent meandering all over the valley. In some cases the ice was measured and had built up as high as 20 feet above the original surface. Temporary bridges became covered with ice, making them useless for travel. The ice, honeycombed and unsuitable to travel over, gouged out many bridges in the spring and summer thaws.

Kidnap Victim Dies In Exile

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 18 (AP)—The man who laid legal claim to the identity of Charley Ross, child-victim of a kidnapping case which gained country-wide publicity in the United States for more than 50 years, is dead at the age of 73.

Known as Gustave Blair until the Maricopa County Court recognized him in 1939 as the abducted and long-lost son of Christian and Sarah Ann Ross, wealthy Philadelphians, he died as he had lived most of his life—an obscure carpenter. An attack of influenza proved fatal Monday.

The Ross family insistently refused to recognize his claim to being the toddling Charley who, with a brother, Walter, was kidnapped from Germantown on the fashionable outskirts of Philadelphia July 1, 1874. Walter later was found.

Negro Faces Charge Body Found In River

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Dec. 18 — (AP).— A first degree murder charge has been placed against two Niagara Falls negroes in connection with the alleged murder of George W. Fowler, 63, Ransomville gasoline station proprietor, Detective Captain Robert C. Fitzsimmons said to-day.

The charge marks the culmination of an investigation which followed the finding of Fowler's body in the Niagara River December 8.

Fitzsimmons said he obtained a signed statement from George F. Knight, 25, saying that he robbed the victim of a considerable sum of money on October 30, hit him over the head with a blunt instrument, put the body in an automobile, then drove to North Grand Island Bridge, where he slipped the body into the river.

Mrs. Helen Fowler, 36, Fitzsimmons said, made an oral confession that she was Knight's accomplice in the crime.

Fewer Uniforms Now Being Made

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP) — The Telegram said in a newspage story Friday that production of uniforms for the armed services, which has been engaging Toronto tailoring factories since the outbreak of war, has recently been curtailed.

It added:

"Most of the firms engaged in war contracts are said to be returning actively to civilian clothes-making.

"It is reported some 10 Toronto factories have been manufacturing either complete or partial military uniforms.

The paper quoted the head of a Richmond street plant as saying his company has shut down "the special factory, where for many long months we have been producing almost every type of uniform for men and women in the armed forces."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FALSE CARDING AN ART

SKILLFUL false carding is more than a mere habit of always playing the highest card you can afford, when you are the declarer. On many occasions, the whole situation is made clear to the defenders by such practice, whereas the play of the smallest card would keep them entirely in the dark. In other situations, the true card makes it likely that the defenders will misread your holding, the false card helping them to make an accurate estimate.

Exactly that bidding came on this deal at two duplicate tables, and the identical lead was made at both, the diamond K. At a careless glance, you would' hardly guess it, but the entire result depended upon South's play to that trick. In one case he false-carded with his 10, and in the other he made the natural play of the 3. That determined what West did next.

Where the 10 was played, West figured thus: East has either the 4 and 3, and is starting a high-low, or else the 4 alone, as if he had held the 6-4-3, he would have played the 3. Knowing then that his partner had not more than two, and maybe only one diamond, he repeated the suit with the K, then led the 8 to the Q, which East ruffed, holding the declarer to exactly his contract of 4-Spades.

South's wise play of the natural card, the diamond 3, at the other table, caused West to figure this way: East had not the 10-4 or 6-4, or he would have used the top card for a high-low, consequently he had either the 10-6-4 or the 4 alone; if the 4 alone, then a repeated diamond would be good business, but he was more likely to have held three than the declarer, who bid two suits. So West switched to a trump, to avoid establishing the diamond Q. Result, declarer got an extra trick.

Stewart Laing Promoted To Flt. Lieutenant

Stewart C. Laing, who is a member of a famous train busting squadron attached to the R.A.F. in India which recently destroyed its 100th locomotive, has been promoted to the rank of flight lieutenant, according to his wife, formerly Dorothy Ridyard. This promotion dates back to the last of July.

Since October of 1941 when he went overseas, Flt. Lieut. Laing has been in a number of hot spots, and although he has seen considerable action, has not been injured. He served in England for a time, then went to Egypt. From there his travels took him to the bomb rocked island of Malta where he was stationed during the blitz prior to the time that Hugh Fallis arrived.

For the past year, he has been in India attached to the R.A.F. India Command and his people feel it is a remarkable coincidence that his observer is a flier from Peterborough, England. Flt. Lieut Laing is the pilot of a bomber.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Laing, John street, "the train buster" joined up in October of 1940 and trained in the western province, receiving his wings in Saskatoon in July 1941. At the same time he was granted his commission. His marriage to Dorothy Ridyard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ridyard, Stewart street, took place the following month and he then took a special course until October, when he was sent to England.

"elect lady" with a wonderful personality. The name of Flavelle was later written by her son Sir Joseph in Canadian business and other history.

In due course the changes of the itinerant system removed Mr. Sanderson from Peterborough and he was appointed to the Madoc Mission, and left here after a happy ministry, chastened by the loss of his youngest son, Jimmy.

After serving his term at Madoc he was appointed to Cavanville and Millbrook, and later, when superannuated, he returned to live in Peterborough about 1860. The biography is singularly weak as to dates, but the George Street pastor at the time was Rev. Henry Langton, who was stationed here in 1859 and 1860.

A Full Day.

The Sandersons settled in a house near the banks of the Otonabee River at its bend near Dickson's Dam. Upon inquiry as to the routine of church services the newcomers were informed they might begin on Sunday morning by attending a 7 o'clock prayer meeting, class meeting 9:30, preaching service at 10:30, Sunday School at 2:30, teachers' prayer meeting immediately afterwards, volunteer tract distribution 4:30 to 5, and evening service at 6:30, followed by a prayer meeting. Truly a strenuous day.

On that first Sunday their old friend, Dr. S. P. Gord, introduced them to his especial friends, W. J. Mason, G. A. Cox, and T. Donnelly, also Robert Rowe, W. Dixon, Alec McNeill, and others. Mr. Robinson Rutherford was still Sunday School superintendent. They also renewed acquaintances with many old friends, Walter Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. McBurney, J. Stevenson, William Cluxton, Mrs. and Miss Dundas, Mrs. Flavelle, J. R. Dundas, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, and others.

During his superannuation a new circuit was formed and the old Charlotte Street Church was built. It stood on the site of the present Clinic, and was replaced by the present Trinity Church. The foundation-stone was laid on June 25, 1873, by Mrs. Hilliard, and it was opened on December 7, 1873.

Among the pastors of George Street during that period were the Revs. Charles Fish, James Brock, C. H. Davis, J. H. Johnston, M. A., N. R. Willoughby, M.A., and C. Watson.

Among newcomers in those days were D. W. Dumble, a young lawyer, his wife and infant son. He had been educated at Victoria College, and in Cobourg, and was afterwards for many years Police Magistrate.

Mr. Sanderson also found many new friends, among the rapidly increasing population including Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jeffers, Dr. and Mrs. Fife, the Clarkes of Ashburnham, Mis Blasdell, Miss J. R. Panton, Mr. and Mrs. John Braden, and Mrs. Thomas Bradburn, all members of the rising generation.

In 1874 when the present George Street Church was opened and Father Sanderson, as he was affectionately called, was 84 years old the Trustees dedicated a comfortable pew to "Father Sanderson and his family." A striking difference from their reception in 1854.

Six years later, after much suffering patiently borne, on August 13, 1880, he died, aged 90 years. Following an impressive memorial at George Street Church he was buried in our beautiful God's Acre, Little Lake Cemetery, and just 20 years later his wife was laid to rest beside him.

William A. Ellis 90 Years Old

LINDSAY, Dec. 18—(ENS)—Enjoying good health and still able to do part of his farm work, William A. Ellis, one of the oldest residents of Verulam Township, celebrated his 90th birthday at his home, Belvidere Farm, on the Sturgeon Point road.

Mr. Ellis was born on the same farm on which he now resides, son of Alexander Ellis and Mary Ingram. He was the eldest of a family of nine and the only other surviving member, his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Knox was present at the birthday celebration. Mr. Ellis was for many years superintendent and Bible Class teacher of Bethel Methodist Church Sunday School. He now is a member of the United Church in Fenelon Falls.

He married Maria Knox in 1884 and out of a family of seven children, only three are living. They are Mrs. Hazel Curtis at home, Mrs. Amy Carmichael of Lindsay and Mrs. Welhimine Hunt of South Verulam.

Now that the dark spectre of possible defeat no longer looms above us, some people have a tendency to relax the tenseness of their war effort. We must not relax. We must push on with every ounce of energy we possess, till the white flag of surrender is hoisted by our enemies.

PRESIDENT

IN THE CHAOS AND CONFUSION of modern battle, how does the general staff keep its finger on the progress of armies scattered over hundreds of square miles of territory? By a combination of communication devices most of which are organized and operated by "Signals".

Tanks, infantry, reconnaissance and other advanced units keep in touch with formation headquarters by means of wireless, flares or messengers. But wireless waves can be tapped by the enemy—they may also betray the position of our forces. So important information is usually transmitted over land wires.

That is where the Signal Corps swings into action, with the right-of-way over all other traffic. A cable-laying device mounted on a truck or universal carrier spews out the telephone cable on one side of the road, often pushing forward right behind the infantry. Two smaller trucks manned by linemen follow the cable-layer and make the line secure.

By means of the network of wires with which "Signals" cover the field of operations, headquarters is able to keep in touch with the scattered units of a modern army and control them like a well-ordered machine.

British 8th Captures Orsogna City

Allied Gunners Smash 43 Nazi Tanks

By JOSEPH DYNAN
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 20 —(AP)—The British 8th Army, supported by tanks, overran an enemy position in the sector along the Adriatic coast of Italy, inflicting severe losses, and also advanced about a mile farther inland, taking the village of Consalvi, Allied headquarters announced today.

Consalvi, about six miles from Orsogna, is just north of the lateral highway running from Orsogna to the port of Ortona. The position taken by the right flank, where the Canadian 1st Division is fighting for Ortona, was not immediately identified.

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's artillery knocked out five German Mark IV tanks, bringing to 43 the total of German tanks destroyed since the start of the Sangro River battle. Of these at least 30 were Mark IV's, the largest the Germans have employed in Italy.

50 Paratroopers Taken

Fifty German parachutists were captured from a group recently transferred from the central mountainous terrain to bolster the eastern defences.

On the Anglo-American 5th Army front American troops which captured the fortified village of San Pietro after three days of heavy fighting made new gains toward San Vittore, next strong defence point on the road to Cassino.

In mountains to the northeast Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army troops registered gains up to two miles, headquarters said.

Fifth Army troops north of Venafro in the Italian Peninsula's hilly backbone were blasting their way through the difficult terrain and forcing enemy forces to give ground in what a military commentator characterized as a "hurried departure."

Many Unburied

The advancing Allies found many enemy dead unburied in the mountain passes where intense artillery fire had sprayed them with steel.

3000 Britons Lose Homes

By BARBARA WACE—Associated Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHWEST ENGLAND, Dec. 20—(AP).—Even with the war on, five days before Christmas will be a bustling, expectant, gay time in the country towns and on the farms of North America. But in this corner of England, today means the end of normal life for 3,000 people. Every cottage, store, farmhouse and inn must be evacuated so that the United States Army can move in to set up a second-front training area. The people are leaving their homes, taking with them all the accumulated treasures of a lifetime. Many of the farms and cottages have been in the same family for 200 years.

In the village, some nights ago, lifelong friends discussed the situation. Behind the bar, Mrs. Lavers, the lively little tavern keeper, smiled bravely as she poured good English ale and cider.

For 20 years, first with her husband, and after his death alone, she has worked behind the bar to make a livelihood for her boy. Now she has to find a new home.

Keep On Smiling.

"Still, we can't grumble, can we Dan?" she asked a smiling figure at the bar. She turned to push Dan's mug a little nearer—and I saw he was blind.

"You've got to keep your chin up, is what I say," said Dan Luscomb, in his soft west country burr. "So long as I've a roof over my head, I won't grumble."

George Trout and Harry Steer drank their ale in bewildered silence. A 70-year-old fisherman, Steer, murmured at last to Mrs. Lavers, "Where be I going, missus, I go with you." Afterwards I learned that this old man in his darned fisherman's jersey had lost his cottage, his grand-daughter and his great-granddaughter in a raid in 1941. Now he must move again. Old, tired, it was hard for him to understand. He feared being sent to a city.

Trout, the 72-year-old sexton, quietly sipped his cider. "What must be must be's what I say," he stated philosophically at last—and asked for another pint.

Many Are Old.

I found the 84-year-old parson sitting in his rambling vicarage—a room strewn with his possessions—all of which goes with him to the bed-sitting-room found for him in a nearby town. He was cheerfully making out his list of groceries and preparing to pack the church plate.

Outside there was much activity. United States Army trucks moved with difficulty up and down the steep grades, preparing for the coming troops. Sentries stood watch at country lanes.

The first villager to leave, 89-year-old Grandma Guest, was helped out to a waiting car.

There she had been born, worked as a fisher-woman, married, raised seven children, and two little orphan neighbors. Into the car were packed innumerable bundles—pathetic colection of a lifetime—souvenirs and treasures.

"Its hard," she kept repeating.

Germany Hit From South Submarine Bases Bombed

LONDON, Dec. 20—(CP).—American heavy bombers struck from the west at much-battered northwest Germany in daylight today in a quick follow-up to yesterday's Mediterranean-based Allied heavy bomber assault on Innsbruck and Augsburg, 20 miles northwest of Munich, on the Brenner Pass route.

The American planes were escorted by fighters in their renewed onslaught on their favorite recent targets — Hitler's U-boat nests and the shipbuilding ports of the North Sea. Specific targets were not named immediately. Yesterday's first blow in the one-two punch at German industry from the west and south was made through fierce fighter opposition.

Targets hit by the massed formastreaming across the channel from tions of Allied bombers and fighters British bases to-day were believed to have been on the French coast, since one of medium bombers streaked back across the channel in less than half an hour.

The sound of aircraft passing over the Straits and the southwest coast became almost continuous as the day wore on, indicating the aerial war had been stepped up into high gear again since the last heavy raids Thursday and Thursday night.

4 Injured.

For the first time in six months London had two night air raid alarms early to-day but of the few Nazi planes which crossed the coast only a small number penetrated to the London area.

A bomb injured four persons. One enemy fighter was destroyed.

The German attack followed a daylight fighter sweep by the Allies across the channel after a three-day pause. The targets were not specified.

Information receieved in London indicated meanwhile, that Allied bimbings were causing a railway crisis in France where the Germans were said to be running out of locomotives to haul their supplies.

The Air Ministry disclosed last night that R.A.F., American and Czech planes, operating with coastal command, sank a U-boat in the Bay of Biscay recently after a 9½ hour battle.

The attack on Augsburg was the first on that Southern German industrial city by the Mediterranean based bombers. The city was last attacked on April 17, 1942, by the Britain-based R.A.F. bombers.

Not only was the raid the deepest northern penetration of Germany from the Mediterranean theatre to date, it also was the longest operation from that war theatre and demonstrated that from now on Germany may expect heavy attacks on her homeland from the south as well as the west.

Work Together

It proved that Allied southern and western air power is in position to concentrate on German target simultaneously to deliver a maximum weight of explosives.

Innsbruck's strategic railway lines, which were hammered by the formations of bombers escorted by fighters, were last attacked on December 15 by American raiders.

The Cairo radio said yesterday's assault caught Innsbruck's defences by surprise and that the alert was sounded after the first bombs had exploded.

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Admiral Harold R. Stark, who as commander of United States Naval forces in European waters likely will play a major role in any sea borne invasion of the continent, has returned to Washington for conferences expected to centre on final details of the grand assault on Hitler's European fortress.

At the same time it was announced today that Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the Imperial Staff, had returned from a tour of the Italian front. This suggested, that top British military leaders were about to begin climactic "invasion conferences" in London, paralleling talks in Washington.

The Brazzaville radio said Gen. Henri Giraud, commander of French armed forces, also was coming to London for staff talks. The report said he would be accompanied by Admiral Andre Lemmonier, chief of the French Naval staff, and Rear-Admiral Philippe Marie Auboyneau, deputy chief.

Nazis Work Overtime

Across the Channel, the Germans were reported engaged feverishly in counter-invasion plans. A Vichy broadcast said Marshal Erwin Rommel had reached headquarters of Marshal Karl Von Runstedt, German commander in the west. The Paris radio said the Nazi military chieftains were mapping plans to stiffen the defences of the German Atlantic wall.

Washington reports that Gen. George C. Marshall would not lead the invasion have caused surprise in London where the U.S. Chief of Staff had long been accepted unofficially as the logical selection.

British officers, although reluctant to accept the reports, seemed to feel that even if a change has been made it was not necessarily done to put a Briton in command. They pointed out that while the British and Canadian troops might outnumber the Americans in the early stages of the campaign, the Americans probably would be preponderant later on.

That huge American forces are steadily pouring into Britain was disclosed, meanwhile, by yesterday's London newspapers.

"U.S. troops are 'strap-hanging' across the Atlantic on a non-stop run by great fleets of transports," said the newspaper, The People, while the Chronicle reported that "Great Britain . . . is about to become a mighty springboard for a United Nations leap on Hitler's fortress."

Take Over Trains

The London Daily Mail meanwhile published what is called a "final warning" from the nation's railway executive committee that the railroads now are giving top priority to the movements of the troops and supplies for a second front and "the public just does not count."

Cairo dispatches, meantime, said that prospects for an Allied push into the Balkans in the coming months appears to have been heightened by the drawing together of the British and American command in North Africa.

Spearhead Nearing Polotsk 20,000 Huns Die in 6 Days

By JUDSON O'QUINN—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 20 — (AP). — The Red Army has smashed the southern anchor of Hitler's Russian front, forcing the Germans to retreat from their Kherson bridgehead at the lower extremity of the Dnieper River, the Berlin radio acknowledged today, while to the north powerful Soviet units, pouring through collapsed Nazi defences in the Nevel sector in a new winter offensive, surged to within 57 miles of the Latvian border.

The loss of Kherson left the Germans without a good defence prospect short of the Bug River, 30 miles to the rear on the way to Odessa. Announcing the withdrawal, the German broadcast said the crossing of the Dnieper was achieved "without any loss, despite a heavy ice drift."

The big Russian drive in the north, now in its sixth day, has overrun 500 villages and hamlets, and Russian tanks, cavalry and white-robed ski troops were smashing forward toward Polotsk, key rail junction near the Polish and Latvian frontiers.

The Russians drove up to the mouth of the Dnieper early in November during the height of their offensive which walled off the northern outlets from the Crimea, and at one time reported they held the entire eastern bank of the Dnieper.

The Germans, however, asserted they still held a bridgehead on the eastern bank, across the town of Kherson which is on the west side of the stream. The Germans also hold a bridgehead farther up the stream near Nikopol.

The Germans said the Russians also were attacking near Nikopol where they asserted 69 Soviet tanks were destroyed, and southwest of Dnepropetrovsk within the river bend.

Russian attacks aimed at a breakthrough south and northwest of Nevel were said by the Germans to have "failed in grim fighting." The Russians were said to be using strong tank and infantry forces after intense artillery preparation.

The Berlin broadcast said Russian forces attacked unsuccessfully at Kherson Sunday, but "since this bridgehead had become useless through freezing of the Dnieper River, it was evacuated last night unnoticed by the enemy."

Berlin Ghost City Of Ruined Buildings Searchers Still Seek Bodies Of Victims

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 20—(AP)—The bodies of Berlin residents are still being removed from smoking ruins a month after the R.A.F.'s assault on the German capital began, and Nazi authorities are discussing a 100 per cent evacuation of the city, Swedish correspondents reported today.

"Berlin is a ghost city—a home for corpses and grey-faced inhabitants living in basements," said one cabled dispatch. "You find people who begin to cry when they see the ruins everywhere."

The detonations of explosives set off by demolition squads removing tottering walls echo through the streets, another dispatch reported.

"It sounds like a new bombing and the people start. Their nerves react without their being able to control them."

Walls also are being pulled down by chains attached to captured Allied tanks and armored cars, many of which still have anti-Nazi remarks painted on their side, it was said.

CCF Plans Insurance Probe Claims Rates Unreasonable

OTTAWA, Dec. 20—(CP).—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said today he believes life insurance rates "are out of proportion to the services rendered. The companies' accumulated profits are immense, and lapses in insurance means a tremendous loss to the savings of the public." He said the C.C.F. has been "looking into life insurance."

Mr. Coldwell was commenting on a Friday address at Halifax in which Lloyd Shaw, C.C.F. research director, said the C.C.F. soon would make some "startling revelations" regarding insurance in Canada.

Mr. Coldwell, who returned from the West today, said from examination of data already assembled he had come to the conclusion there should be "a thorough inquiry into life insurance."

Too Much Wealth.

The party leader said that in the House of Commons he had made mention of what he considered "the vast accumulation of wealth in the hands of life insurance companies."

"I am not opposed to life insurance, since in the present economic structure we must have protection and that is to be found in life insurance, when the rates are reasonable.

"I don't think the present rates are reasonable."

Mr. Coldwell said he would undertake further study of data now assembled before deciding on the next step to be taken, but said it was probable he would raise the matter in the House of Commons at the new session starting next month.

Insurance Man Replies.

H. W. Mannng, president of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association, in a statement commenting on an address in Halifax by Lloyd Shaw, national research director for the C.C.F., said "a non-official, so-called investigation of the insurance business by one political party cannot be regarded as unprejudiced."

Mr. Manning's statement said the life insurance business "is under continuous investigation, regulation and supervision by the Federal government and the Provincial governments through their several qualified insurance superintendents.

"The announced investigation by one political party whose aims are known to be antagonistic contains an unwarranted implication against the business of life insurance," the statement added. "To announce that an 'investigation' is going to be made, and at the same time to intimate the nature of its findings, gives plain evidence that the findings were preconceived and the so-called 'investigation' farcial as well as political."

Bolivian Rebels Depose Premier

By JULIO VALDEZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 20—(AP).—The pro-Allied Bolivian government of President Enrique Penaranda was overthrown today in a coup d'etat by leaders of the Nationalist revolutionary movement, an organization described as strongly opposed to the policies of the United States.

President Penaranda, Gen. Miguel Candia, Bolivia's Minister of War; Gen. Antenor Ichazo, chief of staff; Minister of Government Pedro Arce Zilvetti and other leaders of the Penaranda government were reported to have been arrested.

The Nationalist organization which engineered the successful coup is made up of elements of the Bolivian army and youth organizations.

Victor Paz Estensboro, revolutionary leader reported to have headed the successful coup, was said to have taken over the Governor's palace and to have refused admittance to all others.

Newspaper publication was halted immediately. Soldiers were posted about all newspaper plants.

President Penaranda, an anti-Nazi who led his country a declaration of war against the Axis countries, was elected in 1940. He visited the United States last May, and during a tour of Detroit's war plants he declared that Bolivia stood ready to throw an army into the field at the side of the Allies when called upon.

Ian Mackenzie Plans To Retire

OTTAWA, Dec. 20.—(CP).—Parliamentarian in close touch with the government to-day forecast that Hon. Ian Mackenzie will retire shortly and that the Department of Pensions and National Health which he now heads will be divided into separate pension and health departments.

(A report yesterday from Vancouver, Mr. Mackenzie's home city, also forecast that the Minister was planning to retire.)

The source here said Mr. Mackenzie likely will succeed Dr. Arthur Beauschesne as clerk of the House of Commons.

He also said he thinks Dr. J. J. McCann, Liberal member of Parliament for Renfrew South, will be chosen by Prime Minister Mackenzie King as Minister of National Health.

Retirement of Mr. Mackenzie would leave British Columbia without representation in the cabinet. The informant here expressed belief this would be remedied by appointing J. G. Turgeon, Liberal Member for Cairbou, as Minister of Reconstruction. Mr. Turgeon has headed the Commons Reconstruction committee.

Other Parliamentary sources forecast that Hon. Cyrus MacMillan, at present Parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Ralston, would be made Minister of Pensions in the Cabinet re-arrangement.

Churchill Shows Improvement

LONDON Dec. 20 (CP).— Prime Minister Churchill is making satisfactory progress in his recovery from pneumonia, an official bulletin announced today.

The bulletin, issued at 10 Downing Street at 3:20 p.m. (10:20 a.m. E.D.T.) said:

"The temperature remains normal and the Prime Minister is making satisfactory progress."

The bulletin was signed by Mr. Churchill's physicians, Lord Moran Brig. Davis E. Bedford, and Lt.-Col. Robert J. V. Pulvertaft.

The announcement indicated that Mr. Churchill was recovering from the attack of pneumonia which struck him while he was in the Middle East.

A bulletin released yesterday afternoon said his temperature was normal and that the pneumonia which sent him to bed somewhere in the Middle East was disappearing.

The latest bulletin made no reference to an irregularity of pulse mentioned Saturday. This had given some uneasiness since the 69-year-old Prime Minister is being attended by a heart specialist.

Explosion Fires Oslo City

Worst Catastrophe In Capital's History

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 20—(AP)—Oslo was shaken today by exploding ammunition thrown into the city by the blowing up of a German munitions ship in the harbor, 24 hours earlier.

The German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau called the blast the worst catastrope the Norwegian capital exer evperienced.

The Hotel Bristol was requisitioned as a hospital for great numbers of wounded. There was still no official list of casualties. First reports said four were killed.

"There was no blackout in Oslo last night," the Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau said. "The whole town was lighted by huge fires.

"German soldiers are fighting the fires today but they are forced to duck into shelters regularly because of recurrent explosions. Many streets are barricaded because of the force of blasts from bombs and shells thrown into the city. Enormous damage was caused in the harbor area, which now is evacuated."

Drive on Rome Far Behind Schedule

Lack Of Punch Indicates Italian Campaign Of Secondary Importance

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Analyst

The hints and promises of a European invasion, getting broader and stronger by the day, have picked up reinforcement from from an unexpected quarter — Allied Headquarters in Algiers.

A report by Wes Gallagher of the Associated Press makes it clear the Italian campaign is far behind schedule, that its principal gain has been a network of mainland air bases, and that the western Mediterranean campaign no longer is considered a major offensive.

It has, of course, been obvious for some time that the Anglo-American march on Rome was not packing anything like the punch of the march on Tunisia. The real significance of this report from Algiers lies in its plain statements, passed by military censors, that (1) The Italian surrender turned out to be less important militarily than the Allied had hoped, (2) Other theatres now take priority in supplies and troops, and (3) The Allies really don't care now whether they capture Rome or not.

The "bad terrain and unfavorable weather" explanation of slow progress has some validity, says Gallagher, but not as much these other factors, And nobody now expects a decisive blow to struck in Italy.

Fitted into the pattern of other recent developments, this all lends strength to the belief that the Allies are preparing a new heavy blow off Western Europe. It follows the Teheran promise of new attacks from the west, south and east. It follows foreign secretary Edens prediction of invasion in the near future. And it comes in the midst of a new flurry of reports and rumors of important Allied staff and command changes, all more or less concerned with the huge reservoir of troops and supplies amassed in Britain.

Staff changes of considerable extent seem to be in progress and presumably they are due to an approaching invasion. Of the new offensives promised at Teheran, that from the East already has started with the new Red Army drive south of Nevel toward the Latvian border, opening a great winter push in which the Germans have admitted breakthroughs.

The blow from the west may be next.

Japs Fought To The Last

Garrisons On Makin And Tarawa Wiped Out

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 — (AP).—A Tokyo broadcast heard, to-day by U. S. Government monitors said Japanese forces on Tarawa and Makin Islands in the Gilberts had "died heroically to the last man" in their final "charge against the enemy on November 25."

A Japanese Imperial headquarters communique beamed both to the homeland and the United States said the garrison fell before "overwhelming superiority in numbers" of the United States landing forces, estimated at 50,000.

The broadcast said 3,000 Japanese troops and about 1,500 civilians in naval service all were killed.

A Tokyo broadcast recorded by The Associated Press said Rear Admiral Kenji Shibazaki, commander of the garrison, was among those killed and quoted Rear Admiral Hideo Yano, chief of the naval press section, as saying "he died like a true Samurai — he must be contented."

Expect Unions To Start Drive For Members

By The Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Increased activity by labor unions in seeking new members and expanding their organization is expected to follow collective bargaining legislation which has been promised by the government.

It is expected to be announced early in the new year.

Regulations to compel employers to deal with unions which can prove a majority of employees are included in their membership will give the labor organizations a valuable talking-point in their efforts to expand.

Backing them up will be the success of the Canadian Congress of Labor in gaining recognition for police and firemen's unions in Montreal after a one-day strike.

Unfair union practices — as well as unfair employer practices—are to be defined in the new regulations. With a race for members in sight, particular interest will centre on any action the government may propose to check jurisdictional disputes between unions.

Need Diplomats

Canadian diplomacy: The war-accelerated growth of the Dominion's diplomatic service is handicapped by a manpower shortage but an announcement may be made soon about a Canadian mission to Mexico.

That republic is understood to be anxious to exchange ministers with Canada—and the government here considers the exchange important. However, Canada has had to staff so many new missions lately that the matter has been put off.

An exchange with Peru also is on the books for as soon as conditions permit.

Bateman Mooted

Production Board: E. P. Taylor of Toronto resigned recently as deputy Canadian member of the joint production board at Washington.

His successor hasn't been designed officially yet, but don't be surprised if George C. Bateman of Toronto, metals controller in the munitions department since early in the war, gets the job.

Vast northland: There's a bit of disagreement among officials in the mines and resources department over the prospects of the Canadian northwest in the post-war period.

Some like Dr. Charles Camsell, Canadian chairman of the North Pacific planning project, have expressed belief it would be an error to look for a great rush of settlement to the far north immediately after peace is restored.

But there are plenty of departmental officers who say they think large sections will be populated and developed as soon as manpower becomes available.

R.C.A.F. strength: With the absence of official figures it's hard to picture the strength of the Canadian air force overseas. Air Minister Power said last week there now are 36 overseas squadrons of the R.C.A.F. and that for every one man in those squadrons there are 10 others scattered through the R.A.F.

Put it this way for a clearer idea: On the basis of Major Power's figures, the overseas R.C.A.F strength is the equivalent of 396 squadrons.

When the 1944-45 war appropriation comes down next spring, the R.C.A.F. is likely to need something like $500,000,000 to maintain its own overseas establishment.

Reversed controls: In Lachute, Que., H. Grenville Smith, vice-president and general manager of Defence Industries Limited, said he foresees the probability of "more curtailment of war production." He spoke of vast stocks of war materials built up on the fighting fronts.

It's too early to say definitely, but this may mean a sizeable extension of a trend back to civilian production.

If the curtailment of munitions output is in any way extensive, there may be the need for increased civilian output to absorb labor freed from vital war tasks. Wartime controllers then would face the problem of reversing the progressive ban on use of materials—and manpower—in civilian enterprise.

OBITUARIES

FREDERICK BISSONNETTE

The death of Frederick Bissonnette, R.R. 9, River Road, occurred here Saturday evening in his 78th year. He had been in failing health for some months.

Born in Peterborough and a resident of this district all his life, he was the son of the late Antoine Bissonnette and Clarisle Brarolt. He was engaged in the cartage business until his retirement two years ago. He was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church. His wife, Nellie Mc Grath, predeceased him.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. John Sabatino, Lakefield; Mrs. Robert Walbridge and Mrs. W. Sears, both of Toronto; and by a son, Frank of Toronto. He leaves also a brother, Edward.

The funeral will be held from the J. J. Duffus Funeral Parlors, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception where mass will be offerred for the repose of his soul at nine o'clock Tuesday morning. Interment will take place at St. Peter's Cemetery.

CHARLES L. FINN.

The funeral of the late Charles L. Finn, a highly respected and popular citizen of Asphodel, was held at St. Paul's Church, Norwood, on Wednesday. High mass for the repose of his soul was sung by Rev. C. J. Carroll, his pastor, who also conducted the burial service at St. Paul's Cemetery. Mr. Finn, who died suddenly at the age of 66, was a successful farmer with an inherent love of the land. He leaves to mourn his loss a sister, Jennie, and a brother, Joseph.

by tanks, cavalry and ski troops, in the Nevel area was in its sixth day, and was punching toward the rail junction of Polotsk.

A Moscow dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Eddy Gilmore said the Russians were "dangerously close" to Polotsk, which is near the Polish and Latvian frontiers, while other Soviet units "brought an imminent threat" to Vitebsk.

Advance 20 Miles.

Twenty thousand Germans already have been killed and 2,000 captured, a Moscow communique announced last night in the first Soviet mention of the big offensive. The broadcast bulletin said the Red Army had cracked German positions on a 50-mile front to a depth of nearly 20 miles, routed three German infantry and one tank division and destroyed or captured huge quantities of war material.

Gilmore's Moscow dispatch said "one of the most significant features of the breakthrough is the factor that the Soviets now are but little more than 200 miles from Riga. Between the advanced positions and Riga run two main trunk railways which the Germans use for supplying the whole Leningrad and northwest fronts. These now are within striking distance."

The new Russian offensive, Gilmore said, also diverted the Germans from their push west of Kiev and should halt the huge reinforcements which they had been pouring to this front.

Military men in London hailed the new drive because it is the most direct toward Germany proper, East Prussia being a little less than 300 miles west of the Nevel sector.

The Russians listed Obol as one of the town captured in the new offensive. Available maps show a town of that name 52 miles southwest of Nevel and only 20 miles east of Polotsk. If that is the Obol referred to by Moscow, then the Russians have cut the Vitebsk-Polotsk railway at a point 40 miles northwest of Vitebsk. Gilmore's Moscow dispatch, however, said Russian units "appeared headed for the Vitebsk-Polotsk railway."

The Soviet communique did not mention fighting in other theatres.

Theft Of Tea Related To Trial Jury

John D. McIntosh was found guilty of theft of tea from the A. & P. store, by a jury at the General Sessions before Judge Smoke late this afternoon. Judgment was reserved.

Two score yeomen of the county and city of Peterborough began the week of Christmas this morning by resuming their jury service in the general sessions of the Peace with Judge Smoke presiding.

These jurors first responded to their summons two weeks ago, and spent all that week in the cases in the criminal section of the docket. A week's recess intervened for the sessions of the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court.

All the men of the petit jury panel were present this morning when John D. McIntosh was called to the prisoners' box and answered not guilty to a charge of having broken and entered the A. & P. Store on Charlotte Street, January 22, 1943 and having committed a theft of tea.

Police Constable Percy Sexsmith was the first witness examined by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

John A. Bradshaw was defence counsel. Constable Sexsmith said his patrol duties on Charlotte St., took him that night to the rear of the A. & P. Store. His attention was attracted at 10:25 a.m. to a jagged hole in a lower glass part of a door, about 2½ feet by two feet. After waiting there five minutes he hopped the Eaton fence to the Capitol Taxi office and telephoned the police station.

Searched Store

Police Officer Murphy and H. L. Corner manager of the store came through from Charlotte Street and opened the back door to the witness and then bolted it.

A tea counter and shelf were partly stripped of their stock as Mr. Corner indicated.

P. C. Sexsmith said he heard a noise as he was coming out of the stock room, rushed in that direction and "saw the accused going through the hole in the door." After the door was unbolted witness found foot tracks outside leading toward the creek, and appearing again on the west side of the creek 10 or 15 feet down stream. P.C. Sexsmith said he had known McIntosh for some years.

Witness told Mr. Bradshaw he recognized the accused. He was in a crouched position at the broken rear door, through which he went out head first.

McIntosh was not arrested until August, seven months after the break-in. Police learned from their inquiry he was out of the city until the later period of the seven-month period.

Mr. Bradshaw: "When did you tell Detective Meagher you recognized the man?"

"I told him early that morning."

"What do you mean by that?"—"After midnight when we got back to the station."

"You didn't go to the home of the accused that night?"—"No."

"Nor at any time in the seven months?"—"No."

Harry L. Corner, manager of A. & P., testified he filled up the tea shelves before going home that night, and when called to the store by police he noticed that only a few packages were left.

"All I saw was a man's dark hat going out the hole in the door," witness said. He estimated that 400 packages of tea were taken from the store that night. The price was 78 cents a pound, but these packets were in 8 and 4-ounce quantities.

Corporal Norman Carr, in khaki, said he was on leave at his home over Henderson's grocery store, King and Bethune Streets, the night of January 22.

"I heard some one knocking at a door of the building about a quarter to 11 o'clock. After a little while I went down to see who it was. He asked about the storekeeper, and said he had some business with him. His, lower clothes looked all wet as if he had been in snow or water."

Witness told him he would have to wait until Saturday morning.

"In the morning I went down to the shed to get some coal and saw four baskets of tea packages, with coal thrown over them."

Witness identified four store baskets which Mr. Corner had said were exactly like those used in the A. & P. store.

Recognized Accused

Carr said he heard a knocking a little later and went down. He recognized the accused as the man who had called the night before. "He told me the tea belonged to him. I asked him where he got it. He said he was a tea agent, had a breakdown on his way from Toronto and got a ride in. He said he was looking for the storekeeper to see if he would take it from him. The store wasn't open at that time. We went for a walk as far as the Champlain Hotel and back."

Carr said he and the accused returned to Charlotte street and spent some time in a billiard room. They went back again to the store and Mr. Henderson was there. He also said he recognized the accused in August in jail.

To Mr. Bradshaw he said he was not sure about the exact time when a man knocked at the apartment the night of January 22. Defence counsel recalled a statement by witness at the preliminary hearing that the time was 10:45 p.m. Carr replied that he had no definite memory of the time, but it was around 11 o'clock.

John Cumming, father-in-law of Corporal Carr said he had seen the tea in the coal shed.

Police Constable Archie Menzies gave the information that he arrested the accused at Rye's pavilion on August 28. He also said there were seven or eight men in the jail corridor the day Carr identified the accused.

P.C. Menzies said that from hearsay evidence he learned that McIntosh was not in the city after the break in, but returned in the spring and was working here. Mr. Bradshaw asked witness why McIntosh was not arrested them.

"We didn't have enough evidence to arrest him," witness said.

Wouldn't Answer

"Did you not know that Sexsmith identified McIntosh as the man who was in the store?" "I heard it by hearsay."

"Wasn't that enough to arrest him on?" "I don't care to answer that."

John Burfield, scrap metal dealer, told the court he paid the accused $17.50 for 70 half-pound packages of the tea. He said he wasn't sure of the date, but he thought it was January 23.

"He came to my yard and asked me if I wanted to buy some tea. He said the price was 50 cents a pound. He counted out the 70 packages, amounting to 35 pounds."

Burfield said he read in the newspaper the next day that the A. & P. store had been broken into.

Mr. Bradshaw informed the court he did not intend to offer any evidence.

Why Wait 7 Months

In reviewing the evidence to the jury, Mr. Bradshaw raised the question: "If Sexsmith recognized the accused as the man in the store, why did they wait seven months to arrest him? Why did the police not take finger prints in the store? That does not require an expert. Whoever broke in the store must have left finger prints all over the place."

"If you believe McIntosh had tea, that does not prove he broke into the store, that he smashed the glass in the door. The duty of the Crown is to bring it home to this man, and if it does not do so he is innocent no matter how much evidence is raised against him. The best the Crown can do is ask you to draw the conclusion he must have broken in because he was in the store afterwards."

Mr. Bradshaw said there was a discrepancy in the evidence as to time.

Bolivian Rebels

The 51-year-old Penaranda was commander-in-chief of the Bolivian army during his country's six year war with Paraguay, and was the army's choice for president in 1940.

Harsh Treatment

Since the war began however, he had been criticized frequently, particularly in his dealings with his country's tin mine strikes. Oppositionists charged he dealt too harshly with the strikers.

Bolivia has been beset by inflation since the war began, and by shortages of commodities including food.

Bolivia is one of the largest sources of tin for the United Nations, and depends to a considerable extent for her food supplies on the United States.

Shortages and rising prices were reported to have caused much discontent.

Much of the republic's small business was in German hands before the war, resulting in many of her business establishments being placed on the Allied black list after war was declared.

Greek Children Need Clothing

A recent investigation of canteens in Greece where children are fed showed that tens of thousands had neither shoes nor coats and were obliged to walk long distances through rain and cold to reach the mountains.

This information was given out today by the Greek War Relief Fund to show how serious conditions are in Greece and also to give weight to the appeal for clothing of all sorts which will be sent to Greece as soon as possible.

In the survey of canteens there were 2,117 children being fed with food supplied in part from Canada, as a result of the appeal made last year. Of these children 1,370 had neither shoes or coats. This, however, it was stated here today is only one instance of the terrible conditions in Greece and Canadians can help overcome these by supplying any of the following articles: wool suits for men, women and children; coats, jackets, skirts, separate trousers; knitted underwear, cotton or wool, in all sizes from infants to adults; sweaters, pullovers, cardigans, vests, sacques; dresses of wool, cotton, silk or rayon (these must be plain; no fancy or elaborate clothes are needed); all types of practical clothes for children, especially corduroys, cotton knit shirts, underclothes, simple little suits, dresses and coats; men's shirts; shoes in good condition; blankets, towels, sheets and pillow slips; woollen underwear. The peasants in the mountains are used to wearing long woollen underwear. Old-fashioned underwear of this sort that may be packed away in your trunks will be welcome.

Garments may be sent to any of the local Greek stores or restaurants.

Nazi Criminals Hanged By Russians

LONDON, Dec. 20—(AP)—The Moscow radio announced last night that three Germans and a Russian traitor convicted of war atrocities by a military court at Kharkov were hanged in the public square of that city at 11 a.m. today.

Thus was completed the first case of the war criminal trials.

The four were convicted by the military tribunal of the 4th Ukrainian front which handed down the sentence Saturday.

They were Wilhelm Langheld, a Gestapo captain; Hans Ritz, vice-commander of a storm troop company; Richard Ratzlaw, a corporal in the Gestapo auxiliary police, and the Russian, Mikhail Bulanov, who served as a Gestapo chauffeur.

The Moscow radio said 40,000 persons witnessed the executions, which were "greeted by the workers of Kharkov and the collective farmers in the nearby villages with great satisfaction and much applause.

The men were earlier quoted as blaming Hitler and Interior Minister Heinrich Himmler for attempts to wipe out the "inferior Russian race."

Pleaded Guilty

Theopening of the court-martial was announced Thursday in a Moscow radio broadcast which said all the accused already had pleaded guilty. The trial followed only a few weeks after the Moscow pledge by Russian, Britain and the United States on Nov. 1 that war criminals would be returned to the scene of their crimes and tried under local law.

The verdict was announced a few hours after one of the defendants was quoted by the Moscow radio

Allied Planes Hit Augsburg

ALGIERS, Dec. 20 —(AP)—Allied heavy bombers blasted Augsburg, 20 miles northwest of Munich in Germany, and smashed again at Innsbruck north of the Brenner Pass, it was announced today.

Forty-three German planes were knocked out of the sky during these and other Allied assaults.

The Allied communique said "the Innsbruck railway yards were subjected to a great and accurate bombardment."

Sixteen Allied planes failed to return from the day's operations, the bulletin said, but some of these "are believed to have landed in friendly territory."

Medium bombers pounded key rail communications at Goligno, Perugia and Arezzo in central Italy and the Terni railway junction also was attacked.

Raids also were carried out against harbors and shipping in the Adriatic and off the west coast of Italy.

Approximately 100 German fighters challenged the American airmen over Southern Germany, Austria and the Alps in heavy battles and the bomber-gunners and fighter escorts shot down 37 of them. Six Nazi planes were destroyed in other operations.

Light bombers pasted Civitavecchia, a port city north of Rome, and shipping off both coasts.

Three German ships off Pasman Island southeast of Zara on the Yuogslav coast, and another near Split also on the Yugoslav coast, were hit.

An entire freight train on the 8th Army front burst into flames following an attack by Spitfires, and another train of 25 cars near Colleferro was blasted by dive-bombers.

Heavy losses suffered by the Germans' 90th Light Armored Division for the second time threatened that unit with extinction. A spokesman said reports from the 8th Army front showed this division had lost about half its infantry strength.

Two battalions of the division's 361st regiment had been consolidated, it was said, and 2,400 infantrymen from the division's two infantry regiments had been killed, wounded or taken prisoner.

This division was a part of Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa Corps until it was wiped out by the 8th Army. It was reconstituted in Corsica and transferred to the mainland.

New Britain Airstrip Under Attack

Fighters Sweep Rabaul In First Sortie

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Dec. 20 — (AP).—United States invasion forces on New Britain island are approaching the Arawe airstrip six miles north of the tip of the Arawe Peninsula, a headquarters spokesman announced today.

Japanese air attacks against positions of the U.S. 6th Army on the southwest coast of the big Japanese-held island are diminishing in the face of strong Allied air support for the ground forces.

Possibilty that the presently unserviceable Arawe airstrip may be in United States hands by this time was suggested by the headquarters spokesman's statement that the Americans are approaching the field. He said the bulletin was based on reports as of late Saturday.

Capture of the airstrip would give the Allies another hopping-off point for aerial attacks on Rabaul, the main Japanese base on New Britain, which is 260 miles from Arawe. But Allied planes already have struck at Rabaul from newly-won bases in the Solomons.

Get 6 Zeros

This first all-fighter sweep over Rabaul in the war was staged on Friday by South Pacific fliers under Admiral William F. Halsey.

Forty Zeros rose to meet the Americans. Six were shot down.

Japanese airmen still sought to break through the dawn-to-dusk air umbrella protecting the newly-won New Britain beachhead.

Concentrated artillery fire supported 6th Army troops cleaning out Japanese remnants in the Cape Merkus area of the Arawe sector, the Allied communique reported the capture of the village of Umtinglau and said medium artillery levelled Japanese defences to facilitate the victory.

On Bougainville Island, last major Japanese holding in the Solomons, American forces with artillery support continued to press their drive for higher ground overlooking their eight - mile beachhead.

A. J. Campbell Re-elected Creamery Head

HARWOOD, Dec. 20 — (ENS). — The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Harwood Co-operative Creamery Company Limited was held in Harwood Hall. A. J. Campbell, Roseneath, the president, reviewed the past year's business pointing out the company had achieved new high records in volume sales and dollar values. A bonus of $23,444.45 was paid to patrons December 1, which was at the rate of 2½ cents per pound for butterfat received during the year.

R. E. Drope, the manager, gave a report in detail of the operations of the company and explained the manufacturing, gathering, marketing, and management costs. The make of butter was 1,163,795 pounds the highest in the history of the company, an increase of 53,811 pounds over last year. He reported subsidies amounting to $76,137.42 had been received during the year which was at the rate of 10 cents per pound butterfat for the winter months and 8 cents per pound for the summer months.

Edward J. Humpage sent his report, which showed the company to be very strong financially. The operation of the company was efficiently maintained, records of butterfat purchases, manufacturing data, etc., were checked from time to time and found correct. The balance sheet gave a statement of the affairs of the company as of October 31.

R. C. Banbury, agricultural representative for Northumberland County, gave an address touching on many problems of agriculture. The officers elected for 1944 are as follows: President, A. J. Campbell, Roseneath; vice-president, F. R. Currelly, Canton; directors, George Willcock, Harwood, H. McKinlay, Plainville, Wallace Jibb, Coldsprings, Charles Fisher, Bailieboro, A. Drowning Story Found Mistake

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 (ENS) —Parents of this town were thrown into a mild panic here Saturday afternoon when the report was circulated that two small lads had gone through the ice in the river while playing on the canal below the first locks.

The story got its start when a resident on the east side of the river living opposite the fair grounds noticed the children playing on the ice and saw a couple start out for the other side. When she took another look they had disappeared and her immediate thought was that they had gone through the ice. She called the fire hall and the single long blast that emitted from the siren told that someone was in the river and the fire brigade together with a stream of cars filled with citizens was soon on the scene. A careful search of footprints on the snow covered ice failed to indicate any such tragedy as had been forecast and after a careful examination had been made it was decided the report was false. However to relieve the anxiety of anxious parents, several hundred children at the theatre were warned by Police Constable D. Bowen to go straight home as soon as the performance was over and a check up later in the evening disclosed no children were absent from their regular places at the table.

Dutch Fliers Hit 9 Enemy Vessels

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 20 (AP).— Nine large enemy vessels have been sunk or damaged beyond repair in the past two months by fliers of the Netherlands East Indies army air force, with one captain of that group being credited with four of the "kills" Aneta news agency said today.

The captain, who participated in the bombing of two Japanese transports in northeastern Timor last Wednesday, said the timing of the attacking two-engined bombers in this latest action was so perfect that some of the planes in his formation hit both vessels in one bombing run.

In the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire from coastal batteries and a destroyer, the bombers swooped down to score directs hits on the two 5,000 ton transports.

He saw one of the Japanese ships burning fiercely and apparently a total loss while the other was also aflame.

The Community Fund Statement

The annual statement of the Peterborough War Services and Community Fund is once again a source of satisfaction and of self-congratulation to the people of this city. The Fund handled $89,423.76 this year; of this sum a total of $66,200.00 was disbursed among the Canadian Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A., the Salvation Army, the National Institute for the Blind, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Children's Aid Society, the Navy League, St. Vincent's Orphanage, and the Chinese and Greek Relief funds. Office and running expenses involved in handling this large sum amounted to $1,426.52, and we do not think that anyone will regard this as extravagant. The balance in hand at the end of October was $21,797.24, as represented by $20,000 in Dominion of Canada Bonds and the contents of the Savings and Current accounts.

This is eminently satisfactory. The Community Fund spares the people of Peterborough the exertion involved in ten or more separate campaigns to raise money, and it makes generous provision for the works and charities which have a legitimate call on the public. The report shows that the Fund has been admirably handled; everyone connected with it deserves congratulation on a good job well done.

An Enviable Record

The Peterborough Utilities Commission's electrical branch has a record which we think will be hard to beat. During the past fifteen years the flow of electrical power has only been interrupted for 250 minutes, or four hours and ten minutes. That is something to shout about.

Most of us take electric power for granted. We turn on the switch, and the room is lighted; we plug in the toaster, and the toast is made; we sweep our homes and chill our food by means of electricity; it is our Genie, always at command whenever we choose to rub the lamp. "We call that fire of the black thunder cloud electricity, and lecture learnedly about it, and grind the like of it out of glass and silk: but what is it? What made it? Whence comes it? Whither goes it?" Thomas Carlyle asked those questions more than a century ago, and how many of us can answer him today?

But a ready supply of this amazing stuff is always at hand in our city, because the electrical staff at the Utilities know their job and because they are guided by men who have the interest of Peterborough deeply at heart. We congratulate them on their fine record and wish them another fifteen years with a minimum of trouble.

Another Point Of View

Not long ago we printed some account of a trial which was in progress in England, to decide whether or not a wife was entitled to what she could save out of the housekeeping money; the court decided that she had no right to such money, and many Englishwomen resented the decision strongly. We added a few remarks to the effect that a home was happier if a wife had an allowance in keeping with the family income, and was not reduced to begging from her husband.

We have been sent a clipping from the London Sunday Chronicle in which a British journalist, H. W. Seaman, puts forward a different view. "Wives," he says, "will still conduct their affairs on the ancient principle, 'What's his is mine, and what's mine is my own'".

Women, thinks Mr. Seaman, spend most of the money in the world. They spend it, he says, "on cinemas, cigarettes, sweets, tin jewellery, lipsticks, hairwaves, hot water bottles, nail varnish, stuff to remove nail varnish, and little boxes and bags to keep things in. What is left after these and other household necessaries have been paid for will be the husband's pocket money, to be saved, or to be spent on tobacco, dogs, club dues, pipes, gadgets for removing clinkers from pipes, beer, lighter flints and matches".

Women, thinks Mr. Seaman, have by far the best of it. Husbands are responsible for their wives' debts, but not vice versa; if a husband leaves his wife he can be made to return to her or keep her, but not vice versa; when the bill for a wife's income tax comes in she can, in law, compel her husband to pay it, but not vice versa: men have very few rights in home affairs, and Mr. Seaman says that it is lucky that most wives are kind to their husbands.

There is no doubt about it, women have a very easy time. They have little real responsibility, and they are the coddled children of the law. No wonder they live longer than men.

Rumours About Commanders

We do not feel that it is fair of military commentators and political commentators to name men whom they believe are to be appointed to very important positions when they have little but rumour to back up their statements. It puts the men so named in an embarrassing and often humiliating position. For instance, there has been a great deal of talk and comment in the U.S. during the past few months about General George C. Marshall as the supreme Anglo-American commander in the European theatre of war. Vague as most of the talking and writing was, it distinctly gave the impression that General Marshall had been chosen for that vastly important post, and that it was merely a matter of time before he went to London to begin his job. It was said that his staff had been chosen, and there was plenty of what Pooh Bah called "corroborative detail intended to lend artistic verisimilitude to an otherwise bald and unconvincing narrative". Now a dispatch from Washington says that General Marshall "will probably remain in Washington"; in other words, the tales of his appointment were rumour, and nothing else. The rumour-mongers are now saying that General Eisenhower may be the great man. They seem determined, by the way, that the supreme commander must be an American.

Readers will remember that at one time several Canadian papers played up the suggestion that General McNaughton would be the man to lead the invasion of Europe from the west. Nothing is heard of such talk now. Indeed, the rumour is that McNaughton may retire.

Such rumours must be embarrassing and irritating to the men who are the subjects of them. There must always be a suggestion that they have been weighed in the balance and found wanting, that they failed, somehow, to make the grade. A distinguished soldier, who has risen high in his profession, deserves better treatment. When the supreme commander is appointed, we shall know his name, and not before. Meanwhile, it is foolish for military commentators to groom candidates for that position, when the appointment does not lie in their power.

A Reminder Of The Past

We are told that there is no new thing under the sun, and that the past should be full of lessons for us. But too often we advance into the future blindly, wilfully, and without regard for the charts and the signposts which a knowledge of history would give us. Luckily there are always a few men who are able and ready to make clear to us the lessons of the past and their bearing on the future.

Franklin Davey McDowell, who has for many years been a publicity representative of the Canadian National Railways, has written a novel called Forges of Freedom in which he gilds the pill of knowledge with some excellent fiction. The period of his book is 1381, and its theme the Peasant's Revolt under Wat Tyler, but the passing of almost six hundred years has not made any essential difference to the struggle between democracy and fascism — between liberty and slavery. In an introductory essay called On The Cause of Freedom Mr. McDowell makes clear exactly what he means, and then proceeds to illustrate it in his admirable story.

As the author of The Champlain Road F. D. McDowell has a high place in Canadian authorship. Forges of Freedom will increase his renown, and earn him also a reputation as a clear-eyed political thinker. His book is more than an excellent piece of fiction; it is a key to what is perhaps the most pressing problem of our times, and we dare not neglect its lesson and its implications.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Any shopping you do now will still be earlier than if you leave it till later.

Scientists now claim to have produced a yarn that stretches. Our armed forces have had many a jumper made out of that stuff.

In Britain a method has been discovered of burning coal which gives five times as much heat as at present. But, like so many good things, it must remain a secret until after the war.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

WITH winter in charge now, farm work must be planned with a view to meeting the next seed time fully prepared to push the work for the 1944 crop. Farmers who have bush on their farms should be early at the wood. Fuel is expensive and where there is a fair supply of it on a farm, it will be a good idea to cut a little extra this year. If you do not need it for your own heating a few cords of dry stove wood will be a useful cash crop to have on hand. The dead trees, as usual, should come home log lengths, to be cut up in the yard, or to cut it into stove lengths in the bush must be decided by those who have to do it. Get the wood out, and get out some more than you need, that is the important thing.

Bone meal is rather difficult to get these days, but ground limestone is easily obtained and should be mixed with the salt that is given to cattle, or placed where they can lick it when so inclined. Iodized salt should be used by all means, as mineral feed may be short because of labour and other handicaps during the war. Don't neglect the pigs in the matter of salt and calcium. They will not require a very large ration of such feed but it is highly important that they should be given some. It is not too late yet in some places to get some sods to feed in winter. A good green fall wheat sod would be fine for pigs and it would pay well to skin off a few squared yards of a wheat field to get these sods. This feeding of sods is something that I bring up every year as it is very easy to overlook such things, and the importance of this one can hardly be overestimated. The green blades, the roots and the earth in these sods are health giving, and prevention is better than cure in every case, so if you have no sods laid by and have pigs to winter, get some in at once.

GRASS seeds are scarce in the United States. Red clover and white clover are in fair supply, but alfalfa, sweet clover, alsike, timothy, Kentucky blue and red top will not be up to the demand. Sweet clover seed is the smallest crop in twenty-one years. It is said that farmers must buy early or find they can only get inferior seed later on. This is a year where farmers everywhere should get their seeds of all kinds early, and be sure they have the best of seed, high in germination qualities, and store it where neither rats nor mice can possibly injure it. Good strong, pure seed is necessary to a good crop and this is a year when no chances should be taken. If seed grain comes from the west all weed seeds should be eliminated and in oats, if any wild ones are in the seed, they should be floated out in brine and the lighter oats would go at the same time which would be all to the good. Very mild weather or a warm building would be necessary for this as the seed should be thoroughly dried afterwards.

They seem to have a surplus of pigs in the United States and some difficulty in slaughtering them. The floor in their price has been shattered some and during the first few days in December the price dropped from 25c to $1 in certain markets. When the State of Iowa gets busy raising hogs the numbers multiply very rapidly. The price dropped until hogs sold cheaper in Chicago than they have since March of 1942. The top was $13.75 down to $13 live weight, which calculated roughly would be from $18.35 down to $17.35 dressed with something added for the offal, head and feet.

There is a good deal of outcry about this in the hog markets but I notice some large feeders saying they can make more money out of hogs than cattle. Feeding corn in the U.S. is a bit different from our plans of feeding here. In 1939, only four years ago, hogs sold on the Chicago market for from $5.70 down to $4.75 live weight. A month ago the price was up to $14.25 live weight in Chicago. Feed is quite a bit higher in price across the line than in Canada.

IN the United States there is a very substantial market for fresh pork. In some states pork is in continual demand in butcher shops and feeders of pigs have not bothered too much about weight. If a farmer was feeding twenty pigs he sent them to market as a lot even though their weights varied a good deal as they were sold as butcher's hogs. In this country we usually had a very considerable excess production and so the export market fixed our values, and the only market we had was for bacon; we, therefore, had to breed bacon hogs and be careful about weights. We lacked the large pork eating population they have in the U.S. The weights as specified by the Government in the United States range from 200 to 290 lbs. The top prices are usually paid for a range of weights between 235 and 255 lbs. The thick fat hog has disapeared in the U.S. as they are breeding a fairly good bacon type and the lard hog is non existent.

Butter that will not melt in tropical heat is now being made in commercial quantities in Australia. This new product consists of 78 per cent dry butter fat, 19 per cent hydrogenated butter fat, 2 per cent skim milk powder, and 1 per cent salt. It is tinned and the tins sealed in vacuum for shipment. There is a total absence of water in this product and so will not turn rancid and is not subject to bacterial deterioration. A butter of this kind would be welcomed in the tropics. We hear about good butter substitutes from time to time but it is said that soldiers who have been fed on Oleo welcome nothing so much on their return as a supply of good butter. There is no adequate substitute for it.

NATIONAL flour in England is milled from 90 per cent wheat and 10 per cent wheat of a mixture of rye and oats and barley. Two pounds of dried milk and 7 ounces of calcium are added to each 280 lbs. of flour. After four years of continuous war that is a rather good bread ration to be feeding people on.

Between 1933 and 1943 the producers of milk in Britain have doubled. This means that half the farmers now milking cows have gone into dairying during the last ten years.

A farmer who pail feeds a number of calves each year, and does it rather successfully, says: "As a corrective of digestive trouble in calves I have found nothing half so effective as plain water, just that, and nothing else, up to 48 hours, and milk and water for a few days afterwards. The chill should be taken off the water." This sounds reasonable and I am quite sure it would have good results in many cases.

HAD NO MORE WISHES

"Waiter, there is no wishbone in this chicken."

"It didn't need one, sir. That chicken lived such a contented life that it had nothing to wish for."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

COPYRIGHT, 1943, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, Inc. WORLD RIGHTS RESERVED

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

ARE you happy? Are you having any fun? Are you getting a kick out of life? Of course, if you are one of those who, as the homely old phrase used to go, "enjoy poor health," or whose favorite topic of conversation is telling their troubles, or who take a pride in never "getting over" any misfortune, you are simply reveling in bliss. You live in a melancholy jag and are as drunk on your own tears as you ever could be on vintage wine. You are an object of envy rather than commiseration. These words are not for you.

But there are millions of other men and women who get no pleasure out of their miseries. They want to laugh, not cry. They don't want to spend their days wandering in the valley of despond. They want to dance in night clubs. They don't want to live dull, drab, monotonous lives with no pep in them. They want to go singing down the high road.

Yet most of these people who so long for happiness without ever finding it have no real reason for their unhappiness. They have met with no catastrophic misfortunes, no heartbreaking disappointments. They are no victims of poverty and want. They have comfortable homes and husbands and wives and children that are reasonably satisfactory. They should be happy and yet they are not. And that is the greatest tragedy in the world because it is the commonest.

Now being a trouble-hunter is a peculiarly feminine diversion. Of course, there are men who engage in this sport, but they are few. Most men are too busy wrestling with the problem of how to make a living to have time to search for the crumpled rose leaf under their forty mattresses of ease. They don't probe into their emotions. They just take it for granted that they are happy and let it go at that.

But it is the curse of domestic women, and they form the bulk of the unhappy, that their work occupied their hands, but not their brains; and while they are fixing the baby's bottle, or sweeping the floors, or darning Tommy's stockings, they have leisure to dwell on how flat and colorless and uninteresting their lives are, and how they are bored with them.

What these home-keeping women, who are so dissatisfied with their lot in life, fail to realize is that they are like bad cooks who, having been given all the material for making an angel's food cake, turn out a soggy, tasteless mess that would sour on anybody's stomach. For, little as they think it, happiness is a dish we cook up in our own kitchens and we have to make our own thrills according to our own true and tried recipes.

Take housekeeping, for example. Making a home can be the most exciting career a woman can follow, or it can be peonage. A woman can feel that she is a queen in her own house where she rules as an absolute monarch; or that she is a prisoner in it, doomed to a life sentence at hard labour. She can get excited over hanging a new pair of curtains because it makes her house more attractive, or she can take so little interest in her home that she doesn't even keep it clean.

Same way about cooking. A woman may regard cooking as the fine art it is and find as much interest in inventing new dishes and concocting ravishing sauces as she would in painting a picture or writing a sonnet. Or she may be allergic to pots and pans, and feel that getting a meal for her family is the lowest form of manual labour. In a word, a happy home is not a gift of the gods; it is something a woman makes for herself.

And children. Whether babies are little bundles from Heaven, or pests that the stork wished on them, depends upon how the mother regards them. There are plenty of women who never get any pleasure out of their children. They are always complaining that the youngsters tie them down at home; that they keep them from going on trips and to places of amusement, and belonging to clubs, etc.

They are bored and frustrated and unhappy because they do not realize that they have in their hands and are throwing away, the greatest change of happiness that a woman ever has, because there is no love so unquestioning as that of a little child, no drama so exciting as watching its mind develop, no humour so funny as its quaint comments on the world, and no ambition so fully gratified as that of the mother who looks upon her successful children who are taking their part in the world's work.

And husbands. There would be very few unhappy marriages if wives were determined to make them happy, and would dwell upon their husbands' good points instead of magnifying their defects. For a husband is as his wife sees him and all is well, or ill, according to whether she looks at him through her rose-colored glasses or her blue spectacles.

All of which boils down into saying that happiness is as we make it. We roll our own. Put that into your cigarettes, ladies, and smoke it.

Tobacco Rule

Gift parcels containing cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form originally addressed to members of the armed forces by tobacco companies for delivery outside of Canada or through fleet mail offices, must not under any circumstances be delivered to either the addressee or the sender in Canada. Such parcels, which are undeliverable as addressed, when returned to Canada must be diverted to the Collector of Customs at the point at which they were originally mailed.—Post Office Bulletin.

How Well We Eeat

Vancouver Sun

Despite rationing of many foods and the scarcity of others, Canada is a favored land when it comes to available sustenance for the people. We have suffered no real hardship in this connection.

Newspapers reaching Vancouver from Sydney and Melbourne show that our condition is even better than in Australia. A recent bulletin covering foods available during first week in October, contains interesting items. For example:

Beef—Little hope of supplies this morning; plenty of lamb and mutton.

Potatoes—Few shops had any stocks.

Tomatoes—Almost unprocurable. Beans, peas and carrots scarce.

Fruit—Poor supplies, oranges very scarce.

Fish—Scarce.

False Alarms

Since the days of a certain famous Donald, who rang fire alarms for the purpose of timing the fire department, false alarms have been accepted in a casual fashion by too many of the people of the city. For instance, during October 46 false alarms were turned in.

Some persons apparently think it funny to see men and equipment rush out to put out a fire that isn't there. So did some in Vancouver until recently, when a fireman was killed and two others injured in a crash answering a false alarm.

False alarms are not at all funny or trivial. They put needless wear and tear on precious equipment; needlessly endangering the lives of the men.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Passage To India

Out of Patterson Field, Ohio, runs the longest freight line in the world, longer than any Casey Jones ever rode or hoped to ride, 14,000 miles to India. Its freight cars have wings, its signal lights are the sun and the stars in their courses and when it whistles for a crossing it can be heard a thousand miles away. We don't know by what route it runs, but maybe you can hear it rattling down to Natal, and climbing the Atlantic hill to Africa and pulling around the big curves over Egypt and the valleys of the Tigris and Euphrates and hauling into the yards at Karachi, Bombay, Bhopal or Calcutta. The engineer doesn't lean out the window and the brakemen don't run along the tops, but they take her through snow and they take her through dust, and if an eagle gets on the track so much the worse for the eagle.—New York Times.

Karsh and G.B.S.

London newspapers are now very properly giving much attention to Mr. G. B. Shaw in view of the early publication of his new book which he describes as really a child's guide to politics, so one must hasten to be in the movement. Mr. Karsh, the eminent Canadian photographer, who was honored by a sitting from Mr. Shaw, gave one this story that Mr. Shaw told him.

Mr. Shaw had been explaining his preference for a photograph in portraiture. A painting was 75 per cent artist, 25 per cent sitter; a photograph 80 per cent sitter, 20 per cent photographer; and Mr. Karsh asked how about caricatures?

Mr. Shaw's story was something like this: "Caricatures are never like me. Low's aren't like me at all. One day when I went into a friend's flat I saw a caricature of me that seemed to be good—cruel, of course, but still what a caricature should be. I thought I would bring Low to see it. Then it moved and I saw it was a mirror."—Manchester Guardian.

Wartime Ragpickers

The British Ministry of Supply has gone into the ragpicking business. Helpers have collected and reconditioned more than 2,000,000 worn garments from the army, air force and women's services.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

A Bible Message

This second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you; in both which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance: that ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Saviour.... But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.... But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.

Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness.

Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless....

Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness. But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever. Amen. (II Pet. 3: 1, 2, 3, 10-14, 17, 18.)

Letter To The Editor

UNFAIR TO PREMIER KING

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In the Examiner of yesterday on the editorial page you claim that the Hon. Mr. King talks over the heads of the people.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am sorry that you said that about our Prime Minister. I am over 70 years of age and never had any education, only a short time at public school.

Your editorials have been very fair to all concerned, except this one. I have listened to Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill and I will say that Mr. King does not talk over the heads of the people and he is a better radio speaker than Mr. Churchill and just as good as Mr. Roosevelt.

G. A. RENWICK.

December 15, Westwood.

Unconsidered Trifles

"My friend," said a solemn man, "have you ever done aught to make the community in which you live the better for your living in it?"

"I have done much," replied the other humbly, "to purify the homes of my fellow-beings."

"Ah!" continued the solemn man, with a pleased look, "you distribute tracts?"

"No! I clean carpets."

It was the first day of a new term, and the teacher asked a small girl in her class—a new pupil—what her father's name was.

"Daddy," replied the child.

"Yes, I know," replied the teacher. "But what does your mother call him?"

"She doesn't call him anything," was the quick reply. "She likes him."

Ontario Leads

Yes, we will concede that Ontario is the premier province for ex-premiers. She has six of them: Ferguson, Henry, Drury, Hepburn, Conant and Nixon, and no other province has anything like the same number. Alberta, however, is well to the top with four: Stewart, Greenfield, Brownlee and Reid.—Lethbridge Herald.

New Legislation For Labor Highlights Year

Government Acts on Collective Bargaining—Time Loss Through Strikes Up and Wage Control Pressure is Increased.

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Organized labor in Canada, nearing the end of one of the most eventful years in labor history, has the promise of a Christmas present it has long sought—compulsory collective bargaining.

Important changes in labor legislation are recorded in the diary of 1943 and more are in the making. Labor organizations, growing in strength, showed a strengthened interest in political affairs. The strikes increased and pressure for higher wages bulged stabilization orders.

Early in the year the three-man National War Labor Board came into being in its present form and adopted a new policy of open hearings. Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, appointed chairman at that time, is the only one of the three still on the board.

Senator J. J. Bench, K.C., of St. Catharines, Ont., employer representative, retired because of ill-health and was replaced my Leon Lalande of Montreal. The original labor representative, J. L. Cohen, K.C., of Toronto, was dismissed by the government after he had refused to continue as an active member until the government clarified its labor policy. J. A. Bell of Toronto was appointed to replace him.

In its efforts to meet labor shortages in war and other highly-essential industries the government passed seven compulsory transfer orders making men of military age in specified occupations subject to transfer to more vital work.

Farm Labor Agreements

New Dominion - Provincial farm labor agreements were used to relieve labor shortages on the farm and provision was made for movement of farm workers from one area to another. Prisoners of war and conscientious objectors were placed on farms and seasonal help came from members of the armed forces.

One of the outstanding labor events of the year was the broad public inquiry of the National War Labor Board into labor relations and wage conditions generally. Both Labor unions and employers had full opportunity to express their opinions. One the basis of the Board's reports the government drafted important new labor legislation.

This legislation, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced early this week, includes compulsory collective bargaining—a point on which the unions placed great emphasis. It provides also for amendments to the wage-control order, removing a restrictive clause and facilitating the granting of increases where gross inequalities exist. Cost-of-living bonuses are frozen and became a part of basic wage rates.

Pressure on wage control increased during 1943 and wage increases granted by national and regional war labor boards now total $150,000,000. In some instances labor's demands were backed by strike action. Time loss through strikes doubled during the year. Work stoppages in steel mills in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and in Sydney, N.S., and in Alberta and British Columbia coal mines were among the more significant disputes.

At their annual conventions the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress in Canada displayed new political consciousness. The C. C. L. took the most definite stand by endorsing the C.C.F. as "the political arm of labor" and recommending to affiliated unions, that they affiliate also with the C.C.F.

The T.L.C. called on its unions to "create trade union committees for political action so as to enable the trade unions to play a more direct and more appropriate role in influencing and shaping the great movement for independent political action."

NeedHungarians For Balkan War

CAIRO, Dec. 20 — (AP). —The Yugoslav government's information office said today that Hans Neubacher, the Nazis' special envoy to southeastern Europe, is negotiating with the Hungarian government over the latter's proposal to withdraw Hungarian troops from Russia and send them into Yugoslavia.

(An Ankara dispatch reported on Wednesday that Neubacher had arrived at Budapest amid growing agitation for the recall of Hungarian forces from Russia. Germany had been reported previously as prepared to apply strong diplomatic pressure to keep her uneasy Balkan Satellites in line.)

The Yugoslav statement said that if the plan is approved Hungarian forces would be sent into Yugoslavia to reinforce German troops fighting against both Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), the Partisan leader, and Gen. Graja Mihailovic, King Peter's War Minister and leader of the regular forces.

The same statement asserted that in fighting between Mihailovic's forces and the Germans, the German garrison at Grebena had been disarmed.

It also charged that the Germans, continuing their systematic looting of occupied territories, had closed the largest glass factory in the Balkans, at Pancevo, Yugoslavia, and had transported the equipment as well as the workers into Germany.

BUDGET YOUR SPENDING FOR VICTORY

Join the Budgeteers!—Here's a new kind of budget plan to help you—Send for The Budget Calendar without obligation

"I WILL BUDGET my spending in 1944 to help bring Victory sooner." There's a resolution every citizen should make and live up to. For the way you spend your money in the months ahead is very, very important to your country—as well as to you. This is no time for unnecessary or careless spending, no time for a spree of holiday shopping or for spending beyond one's income.

Start budgeting now

Out of your pay cheque now must come money to keep our armies fighting on the battle fronts—and money to keep your family fighting on the home front. A well planned budget can help you meet higher taxes and war savings more easily, can help you cut out unnecessary expenses and keep your family well clothed and well fed for less.

Now, before the new year begins, is the time to start your planning. Spend moderately this month. Try to owe little or nothing when you go into '44. Plan just how you are going to spend your next pay cheque before you get it.

Why this plan can help you

That is where The Budget Calendar can be a big help. This is an utterly new kind of budget book. It contains no fixed spending pattern, no rule of so much for this or so much for that. Instead it helps make your own spending pattern to fit your own way of living and your own income.

Here is a budget method that will help you to take into account every expense that will have to come out of your pay cheque. It will help you decide how much to set aside for future expenses and what you can really get along without. We believe you will find, as so many families have already told us, that this is one budget plan that "really works."

Won't you join the Budgeteers?

Users of the Calendar who enroll in the Budgeteers are encouraged in their efforts by receiving a new booklet or letter from time to time. Their letters and questions are welcome, and are answered personally. Special recognition is given to Budgeteers when they complete a year of budgeting.

Household Finance is the oldest and largest personal loan company in Canada. From our many years of experience with family money problems have come The Budget Calendar and other practical booklets on buying and budgeting. The Budget Calendar was first published as a service to customers. We feel that it can now be helpful to many other families. Christmas Eve, 1943

"This is the night — the night I've always lived for, year in and year out.

"This one is sure different, though. Instead of sleighbells, we've got tank tracks clanking over the rocks. Instead of stockings over the fireplace we've got Army socks drying on the bushes. Instead of a treeful of presents, Jerry lobs over 155's.

"See that star over there? Looks like a Christmas star all right. It's shining down on our house right now, I bet ... on Dad and Mom and the kids and Mary.

"They'll be singing carols and it'll sound wonderful. And there'll be a big fire in the fireplace and the stuff on the tree will be sparkling like diamonds. And after a while they'll hang up the stockings. And finally they'll all go to bed and the kids'll dream of Santa Claus all night long, like I used to.

"Merry Christmas, Dad and Mom! Merry Christmas, kids! Merry Christmas, Mary! Don't worry about me. I'm all right. And, if everything goes okay, I'll be home for next Christmas."

Let us not fail the boy who waits tonight on a wind-swept hill. Let us try to match his job with ours. Let us work harder in mine and field and factory. Let us buy more and more Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. Let us resolve now to bring him home before another Christmas comes.

THE HOUSE OF SEAGRAM

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough ball fans and players and baseball executives all over the Central Ontario district will regret to learn that J. J. "Jake" Solomon, former manager of the Peterborough Central Ontario League club and the man who revived the Central Ontario loop and put baseball on its feet in this whole area has been seriously ill in Philadelphia and although on the way to recovery is still in bad shape. Word to this effect has been received by Ald. Max Swanston who was catcher for the Petes during the Solomon regime. Jake was the victim of a bad heart attack that confined him to hopital in Philadelphia for thirteen weeks and recently he has been trying to recuperate at Atlantic City where his condition is still so serious that he is travelling around in a wheel chair and has lost many pounds. Peterborough friends will wish him a speedy recovery. Few individuals have done so much for any one sport as the peppery Solomon did for baseball. When he arrived in Peterborough the game was only a memory here and in other centres in the district. His missionary work was a one-man effort, undertaken in spite of the fact that everybody he consulted told him that he couldn't get anywhere. First he organized a City League here and put the winner into the senior Ontario series, making Peterborough a charter member of the O.B.A.A. Then he launched the Central Ontario League and its first winner Belleville went on to win the Ontario championship and to pioneer a baseball revival that saw this district recognized as one of the strongholds of the game.

Toronto Leafs had a good week-end with a double win over the Chicago Black Hawks, 8 to 4 and 5 to 2. As a result the Daymen are firmly holding second place again with a margin of three points. For the first half of Saturday night's game the Toronto gang looked to be in for a trip to the cleaners but they suddenly found their scoring touch and finished with a barrage of goals that swept the Hawks off their feet. They carried their punch over into Sunday night's tussle at Chicago, scoring the first two goals and the Hawks never did overhaul them after that. Another feature of the Saturday-Sunday menu was the fact that the New York Rangers won their second game in a row by defeating the Detroit Red Wings 6 to 2 in convincing style. At Montreal Canadiens tucked the Boston Bruins away 3 to 1 but it was a tough, hard battle in which the Bruins had as much of the play as had the winners. Two goals by Toe Blake represented the Canadiens' winning margin.

Looks Like A Good Group

The Belleville Junior B group shapes up like a well-balanced affair. Here is how Ken Colling in his Belleville sport column views the prospects: "At last the decks have been cleared and everything is in readiness for the opening the junior O.H.A. season in the Bay of Quinte area. Some fans have been scoffing at the idea of junior hockey taking the place of intermediate or senior, but maybe these fans would like to be over in Peterborough where they have no hockey at all, not even midget. After all the juniors of today are the seniors of tomorrow and judging from the ability shown of some teen-aged kids now in the N.H.L. the big league moguls will be looking more to the juvenile ranks for their stars of the future. Reports from all four junior clubs in the group would indicate there is to be some keen competition before a winner is decided. Wally Hilton, coach of the Marmora-Stirling "Combines" can't see anything but victory, but quick. "We've the best from the entire Stirling-Marmora district to toss on the ice and that's saying a lot," admitted R. Neal the Combines' manager."

* * * * * *

"Although all four teams in the group—Combines, Air Force, Trenton Town and Belleville juniors will be included in group semi-finals there's every reason for the clubs to battle things out for first and second place," Colling goes on. "At the conclusion of the regular schedule the team finishing first will have the privilege of selecting whatever opposition they desire in the semi-finals, as will the second-placed club. That in itself is sufficient incentive to send the boys on their merry way simply because the higher they finish the better opportunity they will enjoy in the playoffs, so the first round is no practice series. All teams in the group agreed to play the first round home game of Fl. Buff Horton's "Flyers" at the spacious 200-foot R.C.A.F. rink east of Trenton. It is an open air rink, contrary to O.H.A. regulations, but in the regular schedule the other clubs waved their rights. All playoff games must be played in covered rinks, however."

They Pay The Shot

From the sport column of the Ottawa Citizen we lift the following. It raises a point that is of general interest: "Elmer Ferguson, the Montreal sports scribe who gives you the three stars in Saturday night's hockey entertainment from Toronto after Foster Hewitt gets through screaming "He shoots! He scores!" is more than a trifle irked. Fergy admits he has been around hockey too long to pay too much attention to the roar of hockey fandom, but one raucous-voiced fan in the Maple Leaf Gardens got the writer down. This particular fan, probably enjoying the spectacle of a three-goal Toronto drive in the final period at the expense of Canadiens, kept roaring: "Give it to 'em, Leafs! They can't take it! They never could take it! The only place they can win is in Montreal." Under ordinary circumstances, Fergy might have overlooked the matter. But Canadiens, with only two setbacks in 17 starts, are the best team in the N.H.L. by a margin this far—either at home or on the road."

* * * * * *

"Fans are the same everywhere whether the sport is hockey, football or baseball," continues the Ottawa writer. "The vast majority are biased to the extent that they blame the poor officiating among a dozen other things for defeats suffered by their favorites. The fans themselves often provide more entertainment than the athletes. They groan every time an opposing player hits a bodycheck without incurring a penalty and roar with glee when one of the home athletes hands it out. It is surprising the number of staid citizens who become wild fanatics when supporting a team. In the long run, though, this sincerity of supporting fandom is what makes sport so gripping. If the customers remained indifferent, sport would not be a paying business."

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—Only one pro football team—the Bears, of course—ever played in the Chicago All-Star game in August and then went on to win the league title play-off in December . . . Our guess is that the Redskins won't repeat that one . . . It's doubtful their line will be "up" another week . . . As for Sammy Baugh, all he did besides wing those passes to the receivers, was to pull off two crucial quick kicks—one the longest ever made in a playoff—and was under the Giants' passes before their own receivers . . . Think the fans liked it? Well, yesterday's 42,800 put the National League's total attendance for 42 games 36,000 over last year's figure for 55 games.

Luke Appling Wins Batting Title

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 —(AP)—Luke Appling, the 34-year-old veteran whose entrance into the army probably means the end of a brilliant major league playing career, today took official possession of the 1943 American League batting championship

The star Chicago White Sox shortstop, who reported for duty at Fort Sheridan, Ill., Saturday, won the 1943 hitting title with a mark of .328, final official league figures show.

Playing in every game, he made 192 hits in 585 times at bat, and was the ninth player in the league's history to win the crown more than once. His first championship was in 1936, after six years with the Sox, when he blasted a lusty .388.

With nearly 200 players—including many heavy clouters—in the armed forces, league hitting slumped for the second consecutive year to .249, eight points under the 1942 average and 17 below 1941, the last pre-war season.

Only time can give the answer. ter—Appling and Ralph Hodgin of Chicago and Rookie Dick Wakefield and Roger Cramer of Detroit.

The team batting honors went to the Detroit Tigers who chalked up a mark of .261 to displace the Boston Red Sox as the latter team dropped to seventh place in that department after leading for three consecutive years.

York Has 34 Homers

Although minus Joe DiMaggio and other members of their peace-time powerhouse, the New York Yankees polled out 100 home runs to lead the circuit in such production for the 24th consecutive year. It also was the 22nd straight season in which the Yanks have delivered 100 or more round-trip blows. Their batting percentage of .256 placed them just behind the Tigers in that category.

Rudy York, Detroit's slugging first baseman, took individual home-run honors with 34, three more than his nearest rival, Charley Keller of the Yanks. York also led in total bases.

For the sixth straight year George Case of Washington won the base stealing race, although he was pressed by Wally Moses of Chicago who swiped 56 sacks to Case's 61. Case also was first in runs scored with 102.

WICHITA, Kans., Dec. 20—(AP).—President Raymond Dumont of the National Baseball Congress came out with the unusual proposal yesterday that batters be permitted to run either to first or third base after connecting with the ball for a safety. He would even permit two base-runners, from opposite directions, occupying the same base.

BASEBALL'S GRAND OLD MAN—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletes, poses at the memento-littered desk of his Shibe Park office, Philadelphia, as he nears his 81st milestone. The grand old man of baseball will celebrate his birthday on December 23. He will be feted by sports writers on the 27th, but congratulatory messages already are pouring in.

Mack Nearing 81 Wants Pennant

By JACK SMITH
Associated Press Sport Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Connie Mack, who'll be 81 years old Thursday, isn't quite his usual self these days.

"The years go on; time is going pretty fast," he says.

The sparkle is still in his eyes; the smiles still play across his lips; he's as erect and hearty as ever; and he'll tell you "I feel very much like a boy in a lot of respects"; but perhaps for the first time the gaunt, gentle old man of baseball admits to a touch of sadness as he awaits another birthday.

"There've been a lot," he says. "Birthdays started quite a while ago for me."

But the mood lasted only momentarily.

"If I could only get back some of the boys in the service I feel we would have a pretty good ball club this year," he said. "As it is there isn't much to be said. Most of what I call our regular players, the infielders and outfielders, will be new. They may be no better than the players last year, but they'll be new faces. You have to keep trying.

Works Every Day

"I'm still hoping to win another pennant you know. If I didn't I wouldn't be here."

The old man, the idol of millions of kiddies and adult fans, goes to his office daily—carrying his lunch in a sack—to plug away in his effort to build up a team like the great pennant-winning Athletics of the 1910-'14 and 1929-'31 eras, and in spite of his years he intends to go on travelling with the club, supervising the play on the field.

"Now you take Griff (Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators)," he said. "I felt really sore when he stopped managing his team. He stopped because he didn't like to travel, while I love to."

The veteran of 59 years in baseball added:

"I feel this old game. I really like it. I don't know what I'd do without it. I'd be completely lost. I'm gonna keep a goin'. So long as I can tell the boys what to do, I'm gonna keep a goin'. When they have to tell me what to do, when I start saying the same thing over and over again and repeating the same stories like some old men, then I'm gonna quit."

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Just three years ago today, Welterweight Champion Fritzie Zivic and Lightweight King Lew Jenkins fought a slashing 10-round draw in New York's Madison Square Garden. Jenkins, despite the weight he gave away, built up a lead in the first half but Zivic rallied strongly in the late rounds to gain a draw.

Christmas Calls For The Best!

ITS MATCHLESS Quality

Everybody likes Canada Dry for its matchless quality: And it's good for everybody for the same reason. The finest ingredients, painstakingly manufactured, give it that quality that has made it famous as "The Champagne of Ginger Ales."

Turkey 'n trimmings . . . Plum Pudding . . . Mince Pie. These things are traditional at Christmas time.

And so is Canada Dry, for there is scarcely a Canadian household that does not count on having on hand a good supply of Canada Dry. It's the ideal beverage for friends who drop in. It's the ideal companion to heavy Christmas meals.

Everybody likes it—especially the children. Let them have lots of it—it's good for them.

Keep in line with tradition—serve Canada Dry.

TORONTO, Dec. 20.—(CP).—An innocent-looking news item the other day stated New York Rangers had released Bill Warwick to their farm club, New York Rovers of the United States Eastern Amateur Hockey League. This apparently unobstructed transfer of players between amateur and professional clubs is proof the disinction between amateur and professional has disappeared in United States hockey as well as in Canada.

The attempt to differentiate between amateur and professional by the issuance of amateur cards has been a joke in this country for years. It is public kowledge that many so-called amateur hockey or baseball players have been paid for their prowess. Perhaps the present dropping of bars will lead to a complete change in our amateur rules after the war.

In Britain there is a free mingling of amateurs and professionals in team games such as cricket and football. Some of the greatest English athletes of all time remained amateur. Probably the greatest of all cricketers, Dr. W. G. Grace, was an amateur.

Bernard Joy, great centre half for Arsenal team just before the war, refused all attempts to get him into the professional fold.

The choice of amateurism in England is chiefly a matter of pride. British sport is gradually losing its emphasis on class distinction between amateur and professional although in cricket they usually occupy separate dressing rooms in pavilions. At Lord's cricket grounds, the pros and amateurs enter and leave by separate gates. The London Times give the amateur the title "mister" while most papers use initials for the amateur and refer to the professional merely as Jones or Smith.

It's not likely such distinctions would ever be drawn in Canada and it is high time we caused to differentaite between paid and unpaid athletes except in circumstances where strict amateurism is desirable and can be enforced such as in intercollegiate sport.

There is of course, the international rule that none but amateurs can compete in Olympic games. This is a spur to some to protect their amateur status. But except for the Olympic angle, an international regulation which could be amended, it is doubtful there is a sound argument against the mingling of amateur and professionals.

Wally Hammond, the famous English cricketer, started his sport career as a professional with Gloucestershire and an international. Later he announced to the cricket fathers that he would become an amateur. As such he became England's cricket captain, something for which he was previously ineligible because of the tradition that England must be captained by an amateur.

Evidently amateurism in England is a matter of personal choice. It's doubtful if there are logical reasons why it should not be the same in Canada.

Double Killing Chalked Up By Maple Leafs

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

The musty, dollar-and-cent tradition that customers will keep coming as long as the home team keeps winning just doesn't jibe with the evidence presented by New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Rangers, floundering without a victory in their first 15 National Hockey League games, continue to attract larger attendance than any other team. Further documentation was provided this week-end when Leafs, playing before the smallest Saturday night attendance since Maple Leaf Gardens was built, defeated Chicago Black Hawks 8-4 to sweep into undisputed possession of second place.

With only three N.H.L. veterans in the lineup in Bob Davidson, Babe Pratt and Lorne Carr, Leafs made it a double killing by crushing the Hawks 5-2 in Chicago Sunday. Other Sunday contests saw Rangers earn their second straight triumph, 6-2, against Detroit Red Wings, while Montreal Canadiens kept 3½ games ahead of Toronto with a 3-1 conquest of Boston Bruins at Montreal Forum.

Only 8,618 paid admissions saw Toronto's Saturday victory over Hawks. For 30 minutes the smallest crowd for any Toronto home game this season appeared likely to witness a Chicago victory, but Leafs struck for six goals without reply to surge from behind a 4-2 deficit.

Kennedy Gets 2

Gus Bodnar and Bob Davidson of Leafs and George Allen of Chicago scored two goals apiece in a see-saw contest. Ted Kennedy, who scored once Saturday, came back with two Sunday as Leafs handed Hawks their first defeat in eight home games. Pratt, Bodnar and Jack Hamilton also scored for the visitors while Allen and Bill Mosienko clubbed Chicago tallies.

Six of 13 players Rangers dressed for their home game against Wings were newcomers since the season opened and one of them, Bucko McDonald from Toronto, contributed most to the upset score. With McDonald acting as second defenceman, Grant Warwick broke loose for two Ranger scores, with singles to Bryon Hextall, Ott Heller, Ossie Aubuchon and Fernand Gauthier. Carl Liscombe and Syd Howe were Detroit snipers.

Toe Blake led Canadiens to their hard-fought victory over Boston, beating Bert Gardiner twice while Gerry Heffernan clicked for the third goal. Herb Cain, the league's top goal-producer, cashed Boston's lone score.

Goalie for the Detroit Red Wings in a game with the Toronto Maple Leafs, he kept up such a stirring 60 minutes of puck-stopping finesse, that the game was a win for the Wings, 4-1. He has been absent from the N.H.L. for five years. Because of his important position in a war-work plant in Detroit, he will not be permitted to make any more road trips for the club this season.

First Fiddle Wins

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — First Fiddle, favorite for the $15,000 Louisiana Handicap Saturday, came from behind to capture the local track's first major event of the season before 8,500 turf followers. The colt, which paid $4.80, out distanced Reaping Glory and Salto.

Scherza Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Forward Chuck Scherza of the New York Rangers was discharged from hospital yesterday after recovery from injuries sustained when he crashed into a goal upright one week previously. He fractured a rib. Scherza will not play for several weeks, however.

Kingston Army Nearing Top Position

By The Canadian Press

The Senior race of the Ontario Hockey Association tightened Saturday night when Frontenac Army, on their Kingston ice, overthrew Hamilton Majors 7-6, thereby coming within a point of the visitors in the leading position of the standing. The scoring result was in doubt until the last minute of play when, with the teams deadlocked with six goals apiece, Foster, Giesebrecht and Peters stormed the Hamilton citadel, and Peters slipped the puck into the cage for the winning counter.

Kingston staged a scoring splurge in the initial period to run in three tallies in a row by Grigg, Corrigan and Giesebrecht, but Majors went ahead in the second frame on five counters in succession and were still in the lead 5-4 at the close of the period after Tisdale had found the net. Shillington notched his third goal of the contest three minutes after the third period got underway to make it look nice for the visitors, 6-4. Kingston again took charge, however, and counted three times to win out, Corrigan netting the tying score.

Marksmen for Kingston were Corrigan (2), Grigg, Giesebrecht, Tisdale, Foster and Peters. For Hamilton, Shillington was the standout with three tallies; Johnny Conick accounted for two and Davey for one.

In the Junior "A" series, Oshawa Generals won their eighth game Saturday to keep on top in group one with a 9-1 triumph against the Lions at Brantford. Toronto St. Mike's continued one game behind Oshawa in the standing by whitewashing Toronto Young Rangers 4-0 at Maple Leaf Gardens while, on the same ice, Toronto Marlboros took Port Colborne into camp by the narrow margin of 2-1. In a Group Two fixture at Stratford, the Kroehlers bowed to Galt Kists 3-2, with Curk scoring the winning counter at 10.02 in the third stanza on a pass from Crammond. Galt is now only one game behind St. Catharines in the group standing.

Buyers Seize Turkeys Shown

Turkeys were picked up early on the market Saturday and the morning supply faded from the boards at the ceiling price of 45 cents a pound just about the time the session was reaching its peak.

Geese were also at the top quotation, 34 cents a pound, and by 11 o'clock only an odd one was left. Ducks generally went the way of the other festal fowl at 35 and 36 cents, but chickens were plentiful and were apparently filling a big gap.

Market Clerk Cowling said there was one woman waiting at the door when he arrived at seven o'clock and others were arriving shortly afterward. Presumably the comparative shortage of turkeys and geese was an indication of what is left around the country for the pre-Christmas trade. The chickens sold at 32 to 35 cents a pound, and some of them were quoted up to 36 and 37 cents. Eggs ranged from 42 to 50 cents.

New Potatoes

The outdoor market responded to the improved weather from a week ago, and most of the regulars were on hand. Potatoes were quoted at $1.90 a bag, Katahdins and Sebagos. This latter variety is said to be newer than the Katahdins, and some of them that were bought by consumers during the scarity last winter were said to be excellent in quality, that is if the stock generally measures up to those samples.

Herb Doag quoted Spanish onions at $3.50 the 50-pound bag. Fred Stenson's prices included carrots at $1.25 a bushel, parsnips $1.50; Yellow Globe Danvers onions $2.75; turnips 5c each and cabbages 10c each. Norman Moncrief said he sold more apples in the hour between 10 and 11 than he could ever remember. His prices by the peck were Russets 75c; Talman Sweets 70c; Baxters 60c; Snows 75c; McIntosh Reds 80c; Northern Spies 70 and 80 cents; No. 1 Spies by the hamper were $3.

Nazi Criminals

as telling on the witness stand how thousands of persons — including men and women—were herded into death vans and killed by gas.

"We were told that the Soviet people were an inferior race who must be exterminated by the superior German race, and we were taught methods of extermination," he said. "It was impressed upon us that this was the policy ordered by the German Government."

Children Slaughtered.

Bulanov said that sick and starving children were placed in a truck and told they were being taken to Stalingrad to visit relatives, but that later the Gestapo mowed them down with automatic guns as the children cried: "Daddy, don't kill us, we want to live."

Russian children commonly address strangers as Daddy.

Ratzlaw testified in detail of how he participated in the beating and torture of Russians, such as pulling hair out of their beards and sticking pins into women. He also testified that he helped operate a death automobile when Russians were killed by carbon-monoxide gas.

The court hearing Russia's first war criminal case at Kharkov, concluded its direct examination of Reinhardt Ratzlaw, 36, Nazi police corporal, and Mikhail Petrovich Bulanov, 26, Russian chauffeur, and ordered the questioning of witnesses to begin.

Ratzlaw testified that he received 12 months of training in police procedure, which included how to interrogate prisoners and how to make them talk.

"In our training," said Ratzlaw, "we were told the Russians belonged to a lower race than Germans and that they ought to be exterminated."

"You were also taught how to accomplish this extermination," asked Presiding Jurist Maj.-Gen. A. N. Miasanikov of the 4th Ukrainian Military Tribunal.

"Yes," was the answer.

Ratzlaw then went into a detailed account of how he participated in beatings and other tortures of Russians, such as pulling the hair out of their beards and sticking pins into women.

He added that he helped operate death automobiles where Russians were put to death from carbon monoxide gas.

Ratzlaw estimated that about 5,000 persons had been killed by carbon monoxide gas and that the total dead in the city and in Kharkov Province was about 30,000.

He said he also worked with the Gestapo in Zhitomir, Lubni and Poltava, and estimated that from 5,000 to 8,000 persons had been executed at Zhitomir, about 36,000 at Kiev, and 4,000 at Lubni.

"Don't you feel yourself responsible for these crimes?" asked the Prosecutor Colonel of the Justice Department, N. K. Dunaiev.

"I feel responsible in the sense that I carried out the orders of my chiefs," the German answered.

Bulanov, the Russian, followed Ratzlaw to the stand and related how he worked for the Germans from October, 1941, to February, 1943.

He said on examination that as chauffeur for the Gestapo he helped drive 900 patients from Kharkov hospitals to a place outside the city where they were shot.

He added lurid details of the number of sick and starving children among those executed. He related how they were put in a truck and were told that they were being taken to see relatives in Stalingrad but later were led to the place where the Gestopo mowed them down with automatic guns as the children cried, "Daddy, dont kill us; we want to live."

Russia's children commonly address strangers as daddy.

"How old were these children?" asked the prosecutor.

"From six to 12 years."

Bulanov testified that he also drove a truck on several occasions which took bodies to a Kharkov tractor plant where they were buried.

"How much did the Germans pay you for this treason?" he was asked by Dunaiev.

"Ninety marks or 900 rubles, also a German soldier's ration and some of the clothes and possessions of those executed—that is, after the Germans took the best of the clothes and possessions," he answered.

Gen. Miaanikov then took over the questioning.

"You admit you worked as a mechanic on the truck in which people were executed?"

"Yes."

"You admit you took part in the execution of 60 children?"

"Yes, with other Gestapo men."

"You testified you received money and articles of clothing and other things for your work. What kind of things did you receive?"

"A coat for my wife and two suits and shoes for myself."

"Do you plead guilty to having betrayed your country for 90 marks, to having participated in systematic execution of innocent Soviet people?" asked the jurist.

"Yes, I plead guilty," was the answer.

Large crowds mostly workers, housewives, soldiers and the old men of Kharkov, again packed the courtroom. Shudders and whispers swept the crowd time and again during the Russian's testimony.

Those willing to open their homes are asked to phone 9377.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

Cars driven by Mrs. J. H. Jamison, 218 Hunter street, and Addie McCutcheon, Havelock, were damaged in a traffic accident on George street south of Charlotte street. Mrs. Jamison was making a turn into the C.D.S. parking lot and had to stop because a truck was coming out. As she did so the car driven by the Havelock woman collided with her machine. Damage to the Jamison car was estimated at $43 and the other vehicle suffered damage to the front bumper, radiator grill, fender and head light.

BEGINS PASTORATE

Rev. E. J. Whan, newly incumbent minister at Park Street Baptist Church, was greeted by large congregations Sunday, the opening of his pastorate in Peterborough. The choir was at full vocal strength and the services were inspiring union worship for Rev. Mr. Whan and his south-end congregation.

AND THE EGGS WERE SAFE

Trevor Turner, R. R. 8, reported to the police Saturday night that he had left his automobile parked on Armour road near Carlisle avenue on Saturday, and that on his return the car and the 37 dozen eggs it contained were gone. Sunday the stolen machine was located parked behind St. Joseph's Hospital and the hen fruit was intact.

CHIEF ISSUES WARNING.

Fire Chief George Gimblett this morning called the attention of all householders to regulations bearing on fire precautions in relation to the decoration of Christmas trees and asked that no lights or candles be put on trees and that no paper or cloth decorations be used. This would apply to trees in public halls as well as in private homes, he said. He advised Peterborough residents to be particularly attentive during the holiday season of the danger of leaving rubbish lying around. The past week-end was unmarred by any fire alarms, but this morning the small fire-truck was called to 62 Dunlop Street, residence of Arthur Green, where a chimney fire had started as a result of overheated pipes. This was at 8.15 a.m.

Children Of C.G.E. And Genelco Enjoy Annual Christmas Party

Before a crowded auditorium of children of all ages, intent and anxious for his arrival, and a sprinkling of parents, Santa Claus appeared upon the stage of the Collegiate auditorium Saturday afternoon in person and intoned the traditional advice to little boys and girls to be good and helpful to their parents during the coming week in order that they might not forfeit all the joys and rewards of Christmas Day by displeasing his genial soul.

Apprised that a mighty ovation awaited his arrival in this city through the medium of a merely human go-between who stood upon the stage of the auditorium and contacted Santa Claus' supernatural presence via the ether, that well-beloved giver of gifts hastened his journey from Lakefield, which point he had reached in his travels at the hour the C.G.E. and Genelco's children's Christmas party program began, and appeared before a wildly-cheering crowd of his most faithful believers in less time than mortal ever covered the distance. It was reported that he would come by sleigh—and so he did, with two reindeer.

After warning the tremendous gathering of his silent and respectful admirers on their duties towards themselves and others now that Christmas Day was approaching, Santa passed along the aisles of the auditorium shaking hands with many of his most fervent disciples, grinning broadly and spreading cheerfulness wherever his ponderous, red-clad person carried him. At the same time the distribution of the gifts, which Santa apparently had authorized under the auspices of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club, began and children in age all the way from a few months to 14 years received presents appropriate to their years.

Welcomed By Mr. McRae

The paging of Santa Claus, the opening note in the children's Christmas program, was followed by a very brief address on the part of Ian McRae, works manager of the C.G.E. and Genelco, who expressed his delight that the Christmas programs were getting bigger and better each succeeding year, and voiced his fervent hope that the holiday season next year would find "much of the turmoil of this present war behind us." An interesting show of magic was put on for the tightly-packed audience of youngsters by McKinley and Hardy, and the whole program, designed for the children of workers in the C.G.E. and Genelco factories, was twice repeated during the afternoon to accommodate all the boys and girls who wished to come.

The part of Santa Claus was played by J. O'Brien. S. Valentin was director of Christmas gifts; and general directors were A. Rooke and F. Batterson. The general committee, headed by B. I. Burgess, included I. F. McRae, E. Williams, J. McCarney, J. E. Thomas, G. Routly, B. Smith, R. Routly and P. Kitchen.

Gifts for children two years and under were handled by a committee under the leadership of W. G. Shiner, with the following members: B. Edmondson, E. J. McDonald, R. Payne, J. Dunslow, M. T. Breckenridge, B. Julian, E. G. Herron, C. Low, D. Miller, A. Heather, L. Calladine, H. Allison. The committee for girls from three to 14, under M. Metheral, included D. Hall, K. Gibson, U. E. Waterman, D. Allen, C. D. Cowling, W. Cathcart, J. E. Girven; and that for boys of the same ages, under C. A. Lister, comprised J. T. Playford, K. Gibson, B. H. Pammett, P. Weir, F. Jopling and D. D. Sproule. Still others who participated in the distribution of the gifts, who served as ushers and doormen and set out the decorations and stage settings, included the following: D. Grant, C. Palmer, C. Logan, T. A. Lister, W. Cathcart, J. Watkins, P. Burke, J. Price, D. Raddon, C. McDermott, W. Allen, C. Jay, H. A. Cranfield, H. H. May, L. Simpson, G. East, R. Kemp, K. Kemp, O. W. Hurrle, and R. H. Perks.

'RUSSIA'S GREAT NEED'

Special Music Marks Church Services

Impressive ceremony and special selections of Christmas music and carols marked religious services in the city's churches Sunday, as the members of many churches gathered to worship on the Sabbath next before the holy day of Christmas.

At Trinity Church a lovely sight was presented by the evening candlelight service, where dozens of candles flickered through the church illuminating a mass of carefully rranged decorations. The Coventry Carol, a hymn that has come down from the 15th century and which was sung at the first Christmas services to be held in the bombed ruins of Coventry Cathedral, was a part of the Christmas music at this church "O, Holy Night" was sung by Wallace Wright; "Shepherds, All Shepherds," an old Austrian carol, was sung by Mrs. C. White; and other solos were contributed by Helen Parkinson and Alma Blanchard and Mrs. H. A. Mitchell. The morning service had consisted of "Jesu Bambino"; a solo by Margaret Westbye "Away in a Manger," and the old French carol "Sing Noel."

Murray Street Baptist Church was also the scene of an evening candlelight service, where in honor of the Christmas season approaching the gathering was given over in its entirety to a festival of the Christmas music. Several numbers were sung by the ladies' quartette of Phyllis Rome, Margaret Stenton, Mrs. Harold Scott, and Mrs. Velmas Gordon, who were also heard at the morning service; and numbers were given by the mixed quartette and solos by Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe, Miss Rome, and Mrs. Walter McCall.

At the Salvation Army Temple, where a large number of worshippers were gathered, the Songster Brigade and the Temple Band sang carols and played Christmas music. The male quartette of Bandmaster G. Routly, A. Smith, R. Routly and Sgt.-Major Robinson sang "Christ for the Whole Wide World," to the accompaniment of the band, which played the anthem "O Sing Unto the Lord." The carol "O Holy Night" was rendered by Mrs. Mendell Braund.

The morning service at St. James was featured by "Worthy is the Lamb" from The Messiah, and by the duet "Bright Star of Hope." In the evening the magnificent cantata "Glory to God" was sung with full choir.

At St Andrew's the service of Christmas messages and music included the singing of the old French carol "Angels O'er the Fields" by the ladies' chorus, "The Holy City" sung by Adam Hawley, and at the evening service a solo "Night of Nights" by Miss I. Whalon.

The morning service of George Street United Church included the singing of "The Star That Shines" by the mixed quartette and a solo by Henrly Batten. In the evening a number of soloists and the choir of nearly 50 voices performed a special musical service.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church evening service was devoted to telling the story of Christmas in song, with solo and chorus and the singing of the congregation. The junior choir assisted at the services.

Under the leadership of its organist and choirmaster Fred Mann, the boys' choir of St. John's is planning again to make its annual Christmas Eve singing of carols and will visit the Old People's Home and Nicholls Hospital. The midnight Eucharist will be a program of all Christmas music, and special carol service will be featured on Sunday next.

Great Evangelist Heard At Centre

A capacity audience at the Centre Theatre Sunday night was privileged to listen to one of Canada's greatest evangelists, Dr. P. W. Philpott, known all through Western Ontario as the pastor of the Philpott Tabernacle, Hamilton, for 26 years, later pastor of the Moody Memorial Church, Chicago, and the Church of the Open Door, Los Angeles, now associate pastor of the People's Church, Toronto.

The carol singing was lead by Bernard Aldridge, of Toronto, from 8:30 to 8:45, and the singing of Miss Grace Carter, of Toronto, gave a good start to a splendid evangelistic address by Dr. Philpott.

Taking as his text a verse in the 4th chapter of Hebrews, he referred to the dual nature of Christ—he was not only God, he was also man. While he shared with God all the attributes of deity, he was a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. To many the deity of Christ is the fundamental teaching of the gospel, but it is possible to overstate this side of His character. The speaker drew on his years of experience as a pastor and an evangelist to illustrate his theme, especially referring to the period of the First World War when in Hamilton he had to visit many homes and bring the sad news of the loss of a father, a son or a brother. It was during those visits that in giving comfort to the bereaved he could refer them to one who had suffered even as they suffered, but who in spite of His suffering had implicit confidence in the wisdom and love of His Heavenly Father.

City Council Grant Of $1,000 Take Part In Christmas Fund

How many people in this city really know what the inside of their city hall is like, or the council chamber where most of the business which affects their pocket books is done. In all probability they never give the matter a thought at all, and if they do it is only because of some legislation which has had an adverse effect upon themselves.

Then there are probably some who think of it as a place musty from its own particular usage, with oodles of cobwebs, etc., etc. Be that as it may, this is the spot and the place where the future benefit of the city and its inhabitants are plotted and planned, and those to whom the guidance of the city's welfare is entrusted have from the writer's own experience taken their trust as such in a serious manner.

Recently, the city fathers voted to give $1,000 to the city and district fund being operated to relieve the distress of air raid victims at the heart of Empire in the British Isles, an act in itself a pledge of this city's loyalty besides evincing a real humanity which should eradicate all ideas about mustiness and cobwebs, etc.

What contributed in a large sense towards making this grant possible was due to the avoidance of an election and its resultant cost about one year ago, which has since then in a general way turned out quite satisfactorily, for it must be admitted that in the serious times through which the country is passing, men of experience in this particular field are most desirable as leaders through the unknown happenings that will confront all in the days that lie ahead.

Operated in the name of the city and its surrounding country, the fund as such does its work on behalf of the war effort in the name of all within its jurisdiction, and this endorsement and support by both the city council and the county council on former occasions is much appreciated by those who are responsible for its management.

Young Peoples' Effort

Because of their youth and the results which attended their efforts, two contributions stand out in today's list, the first of these coming from Douglas Lochhead of Norwood, who has been in a cast for six weeks due to severe injuries to his hip. This young lad would thank all his school chums and friends who autographed the cast and donated to the fund in his name, besides the United church Sunday School who added the proceeds of their Christmas party on his behalf. This young lad has a brother with the forces in England, and sent along a request that the local radio station would have Gene Autry sing "Buddy Boy" for him.

Then Elva and Hugh McIntyre who live at 157 Crescent street, each had a little draw of their own which resulted in prizes being won by Mrs. Maher on Crescent street and Don. Breadman on Lake street, which was augmented through sales of goods donated by their mother, Mrs. R. R. Ford and Mrs. Cooke, together with a small Bingo which they held that all in all produced $11.00 credited in their name today. These two children have given good help to the fund on a number of previous occasions.

District Schools Help

There are five entries coming under this heading, which between them contribute a total of $20.03. Taking a foremost place in this group are the pupils of S.S. No. 3 Smith, who through their teacher, Miss M. Devinney, sent in the proceeds of their Christmas concert, held on Dec. 17 which amounted to $8.06. Mrs. R. E. Pakenham, principal of the Norwood public school, sent in $5.15 from Rooms 4 and 5, taught by herself and Miss E. Borland, while others in this group included Mays School, Grades 5 and 6, who in conjunction with their Home and School Association added a total of $5.00, and S.S. No. 8, Emily with Don Sutton as teacher gave the sum of $1.82.

Five Groups Give $63

The Red Cross Group of Fife Community has been heard from on former occasions with good help for the fund, and now they come forward with a good donation of $17.00 specially for the children's fund, taking the lead in this day's section of the report, while another in the same category known as the Happy Dozen Euchre Club follow a close second with the sum of $16.00.

A total of $30.03 is almost equally divided between the Sons of Scotland Benevolent Fund, of this city, the Bailieboro Women's Institute, another previous donor, and the Safety representatives of the C.G.E. Co. Ltd. and Genelco Ltd., who add something to the fine contribution that has already come to the fund from the city's two large industrial plants.

Ten Personal Gifts

About forty per cent of today's items come via this route, which include gifts in a personal way from a family who use this splendid way of paying tribute to one who has passed on, and include the Parker family of Norwood, who have done such a tremendous amount of good in the past for the fund, in connection with which the final returns were also made by Mr. Parker on a draw which he sponsored for a pair of blankets, donated by Gordon Shier, manager of the Metropolitan Stores and a second prize of tea and coffee set donated by Clifford Parker.

The final returns brought another $3.70 making a total yield of $21.15, and when the secretary of the fund made the draw on Saturday morning, the prize winners proved to be Mrs. Pearl Read of this city with ticket No. 717, and Mrs. E. Dorohty of Norwood with ticket No. 603.

Special mention in this group should be made of five year old Paul Humphries of Hastings who gave $2.50, which came from the sale of a pet lamb.

Beer Licenses Suspended In Two Hotels

HASTINGS, Dec. 20—(Special to the Examiner).—The Ontario Liquor Control Board has cancelled the licenses of the Clarendon Hotel owned and operated by E. W. Jones, and the Royal Hotel operated by John Condon, it was announced over the week-end.

The action taken by the Liquor Control Board followed an accident on the Hastings-Campbellford Road when a dairy truck owned by Grant Anderson and driven by V. Dainard, and who had been delivering milk in Hastings, turned over and threw the driver and his passenger though the top of the tuck. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constables Hayes, Campbellford, and as a result charged Dainard with reckless driving. It is also said that he discovered Dainard, who is a minor, had been served beer in a hotel.

The constable laid a charge of serving beer to a minor against John Condon, Jr., a waiter at the Royal Hotel, and J. Montgomery, a waiter at the Clarendon Hotel. The two waiters pleaded guilty and paid fines. The cancelling of the two hotel licenses followed the report from the Police Department to the Liquor Control Board.

CAPT. JACK BAIRD

about his injuries and the only information his people have to go on was sent by Capt. V. E. R. Zufelt of Peterborough, who is the chaplain, and from another officer, Major Whitwell of Brantford. He is described as suffering from back and neck injuries which he picked up in Sicily and he continued with the unit in Italy until in the middle of November he apparently became worse and was hospitalized.

CONGREGATION HAS FAITH.

The people of Murray Street Church carried on their Christmas service against considerable difficulties Sunday, when for the second time in a year, the boilers did something unexpected. While the organist played on with black clouds of smoke billowing around his instrument expecting every moment to see it burst into flames, the congregation sat calmly waiting to begin the service. When the trouble had been rectified, the choir filed in and the regular service was carried out even though the choir was unable to see the congregation for the smoke for more than naif the ceremony.—J. Earl Pruner, 19 Reported Italian Casualty

CPL. EARL PRUNER

One of the youngest boys to have taken part in the Sicilian campaign, Cpl. Earl Pruner, 19, has been killed in Italy, presumably in action, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. E. Pruner, 478 Aylmer street, who has three members of her family serving overseas.

Cpl. Pruner, who was with the Hastings Prince Edward Regiment, was reported to have been killed December 6, and his mother has received no details about how he met his death. He left High school to enlist with this unit in March of 1940 when he was 16 and he went to England in May of the same year.

After being stationed in England for many months he accompanied the regiment to Sicily and came through the campaign unscathed and continued to fight in Italy. He is a graduate of the Prince of Wales School and had only been at Collegiate for about a year when he joined the army.

Besides his mother he has surviving a brother, Pte. Jack Pruner, who is overseas with the 2nd Canadian Corps, having enlisted in 1939 and left Canada in 1941. A sister, L.-Cpl. Alice Morin, who was overseas a year in November with the C.W.A.C., is in England, and her husband is now in Italy.

Hit-and-Run Charge Follows Accident

Earl Turner, 76 Robinson street, was arrested at his home on Saturday night after David Forsythe, R. R. 2, Indian River, had reported to the police that his truck had been struck by a hit-and-run automobile as he was crossing Hunter street bridge.

Forsythe said that he was driving east across the bridge and that the other car, also travelling east, had crashed into the back of his truck, and after the accident had failed to stop, proceeding at a high rate of speed east along Hunter street.

Officers C. J. McGillen and Ernest Beatty arrested Turner at his home shortly afterward, and this morning he was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court with having failed to remain at the scene of an accident.

He pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until next Monday.

Canoe Workers Hold Annual Christmas Tree

The gleeful shouts and merry delight of children echoed throughout the Canadian Legion Hall on Saturday afternoon, when the Peterborough Company held its employees' children's Christmas tree. The entertainment and tree was sponsored by the shop committee in co-operation with the company.

The tree in the hall was tastefully decorated with all its Christmas trimmings, with the gifts and toys piled high at the base. The program opened with the Christmas hymn, "O Come All Ye Faithful" by all the audience. Community song sheets were issued as everyone entered the hall. Thomas Taylor rendered a fine piano solo, followed by Robert Hendry, Peterborough's Sir Harry Lauder, who in his fine, inimitable style sang some humorous Scottish songs, to he delight of the audience, who recalled him on two encores throughout the program. A Christmas recitation was given by Helen Dummitt; Luella Lee followed with a guitar solo, which was much appreciated by the audience. June Bullied rendered a piano solo, followed by her brother, Gordon Bullied, who also gave a piano solo.

Santa entered the hall to the delight and happy faces of the children. Mr. Taylor, superintendent of the plant, welcomed Santa in very appropriate words. Santa then began distributing the gifts to the children. Some sixty-nine gifts of toys were distributed to the kiddies, along with oranges. The employees' draw was then held, with Santa pulling the winning tickets. Geese were won by William Hardwicke, No. 54, and Mr. Richard King, No. 13.

Mr. Taylor acted as accompanist for the community singing. Homer Lundy acted as master of ceremonies for the entertainment and the credit for the success of the tree goes to all members of the shop committee, especially to the chairman of the Social committee, Ed. McDonald.

Judgment Reserved In License Case

After Harry Little, Havelock, had been convicted of drunken driving in police court on Saturday morning and sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to seven days in jail, a second charge against the accused of having driven an automobile while his license was suspended was heard.

Provincial Constable L. A. McClure produced a certificate from the department showing that the license of David Little had been suspended and that the suspension was still in existence.

T. J. Carley, K.C., who defended Little, argued that the accused could not be convicted under the name of Harry Little on a certificate that stated that the license of David Little had been suspended. In any event he declared that the license of the accused had terminated at the end of the year and that the suspension could not apply longer than that.

Magistrate Langley reserved judgment until Tuesday morning.

Yardley Perfume

By PRUNELLA WOOD

GLAMOR TRICKS FOR WOOLS—Some perfumes blend particularly well with wools, and a Bond Street scent you'd know would do so, as its name suggests. Gray and white wool plaid, with black, for the suit. The ensemble shown above is one that typifies extremely well the trend of hard-wear clothes we need in wintry wartime. It's a tweed, colorful though not giddy; warm, not easily soiled, sufficiently hospitable toward hats in a lighter vein for sunny days, however wintry they be. The model is adding a spicy dose of fine perfume to this workaday, all-purpose ensemble, and white gloves besides a veil trimmed hat: This feminine beauty treatment gives a lift to a familiar costume.

Higher Wages Being Sought For Girl Workers in Britain

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 20—(CP)—If it's any comfort to the civil service girls in Ottawa or girls in the lower income, groups in all parts of Canada their British sisters are having the same headaches with shoestring living.

A campaign is on foot to get English girls in government offices and in factories a minimum wage of $13.50 a week. Meanwhile factory workers and evacuated office workers of 19 and 20 struggle along on about $11.50 a week.

Civil servants in London get an extra $1.25 a week living bonus to take care of the boom town prices here.

In a West Midlands town where the minimum for girl factory workers, working 47 hours a week, is approximately $12.50, a Trades Coucil spokesman said:-

"Living conditions for lower-paid girl workers is so bad that some of them prefer prostitution to destitution."

In the same town, the usual charge for working class accommodation is about $7. a week for room and two meals a day. Depending on demand for accommodation in a district, this may cost as much as $10.50.

The same board and room at a hostel cost only between $5. and $6., but there are far too few of these establishments.

A typical budget of a factory girl in this district is quoted as; lodgings, $7; lunches five days a week, $1.25; health insurance etc., 50 cents; transportation, 50 cents; income tax, $1.15; laundry, 50 cents; a total of $10.90.

Out of a weekly salary of $12.50, that leaves $1.60 for recreation, clothes and any emergency needs that might arise.

The picture in London is no less somber, and many of the girl workers here look with envy on the women of the forces, who don't have to worry about how they are going to pay their board or dress themselves.

Here is the budget of a 20-year-old civil servant who receives $12.50 a week: lodgings, $7; lunches in a canteen 75 cents: bus fares, 50 cents; health and unemployment insurance income tax and other deductions, $1.75; laundry, 45 cents; toothpaste, soap, etc., 25 cents a week.

On top of these she pays about 65c a week into a shilling-in-the-slot machine to have heat in her bedroom and hot water for a bath.

The total is $10.70 leaving $1.80 for clothes, entertainment and any extras.

White Gift Night Well Attended

The White Gift offering was again made at the annual Christmas entertainment of Murray Street Baptist Sunday School, held Friday evening. Every class of the Sunday School went up to the platform in turn, and laid their gifts on an ever-growing pile of white envelopes.

This offering will be given to the War Services Committee of the church, to help cover the cost of sending parcels and gifts to the young men and women of the church who are serving either at home or abroad. The total of these gifts, including those presented at the primary tea, amounted to $62.42. This will later be supplemented by gifts from the members of the congregation.

The presentations of prizes for attendance, and certificates for temperance lessons were also made. Winners are as follows: Primary Department—Doreen Cameron and Denton Cameron; Junior Department—Betty Yelland, Doreen Kitchen, Kenneth Easson, Robert Lasenby, Jack Sutcliffe, Howard Hempstead and George Spencely; Senior Department—Gray Zavitz, Don McNab and Raymond Sutcliffe.

Santa Claus made a visit to the meeting, and distributed oranges to all the children present. The program, under the supervision of Dr. A. J. Madill, the superintendent, assisted by Miss Eileen Sellon and Mr. Walter Fitzgerald, consisted of two plays, "The Toy Shop," and "The Christmas That Bounced."

Orchestral numbers by the Sunday School orchestra were also presented, and the large audience of parents and pupils enjoyed a full and entertaining evening.

Evelyn Tew Weds Lieut. J. Pratten

Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity United Church officiated at the ceremony Saturday afternoon, when Ruth Evelyn Tew, Reg.N., daughter of Mrs. Tew, and the late Gordon S. Tew, of Stoney Creek, became the bride of Lieut. John Selvon Pratten, R.C.A.M.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pratten, Gilmour street.

An afternoon dress of turquoise wool crepe, with blue accessories, a silver fox hat, and a corsage of Sweetheart roses, formed the wedding costumes of the bride, and for travelling, she donned a gray coat and a silver fox cape

A reception for the immediate families was held after the ceremony at the home of the groom's parents, 608 Gilmour street. Later the bride and groom left for a short trip to Toronto.

Phone Call Won By Manitoba Boy

Excitement and tension ran high at the last Bingo until after the new year, held at the Servicemen's Recreation Centre Saturday evening, and accommodation was strained to the utmost. Every soldier was trying to win a 'phone call, to say "Merry Christmas" to his family.

The call sponsored by Mr. Ian McRae, was won by Pte. Kerr of Toronto, and Pte. Paul Bourrier, Altamont, Man., won the call given by Richard Hall Limited.

The Citizen's Committee is also indebted to the following for donations to the prize list: the Regent, Capitol and Centre theatres, for theatre tickets; Norman Routley, J. D. Fitzpatrick and Bert McLeod, for cigarettes; Millard's Sporting Store and M. S. Zakos, for wallets; Harry Florence, for a picture; and Anthony's Fruit Store, for a hamper of apples sent to be served to the players.

400 Soldiers Entertained

The Uptown Recreation Centre was gay with Christmas decorations Sunday afternoon, when approximately 400 soldiers were entertained by the Sunday Canteen Girls.

The usual games and singing were enjoyed, with Barbara Nicholls and Jimmie Abraham at the piano, and Mrs. G. Norman led the carol singing, after which the girls served lunch.

Miss Beverly Miller was the soloist of the afternoon, and Cpl. Mac Turner, band leader at the Training Centre, and Pte. Steeves, a pianist, delighted the men with their solo and duo piano selections.

Hostesses were as follows: Helen Lytle, Jeannette McMorran, Helen Hetherington, Jean Elcombe, Marion O'Toole, Yetta Fine, Geraldine Corkery, Barbara Nicholls, Viva Clarke, Olive Smith, Marjorie Armstrong, Jean Munro, Isabel Weaver, Joan Pitchford, Muriel Genge, Edna Genge, Maxine Elliott, Helen Riley, Nona O'Toole, Jean Whatley, Betty Detcher, Sylvia Fine, Beverly Miller, Dorothy Hanrohan, Margaret Courneya, Lily Haughton, Betty Blewett, Frances Haines, Audrey Brown, Phyllis Cowie, Jean Cranfiled, Kay O'Grady, Dorothy Pearson, Mary Sullivian, Phyllis MacLennan, Corrinne Coones, Dorothy Veals, Gladys Perritt, Yvonne Quirt, June Allen, Mary Hickey, Elinor Sheehy, Marion Foster, Phyllis Marshall, Pat Mackey, Jewel Scott, Helen Liddell, Betty Goldie, Norma Strickland, Lillian Nieman, Florence Hanwell, Helen Hopkins, Pearl Sanders, Betty Estlick, Ida Taylor, Levine Riel, Viola Crouter, Marion Frosotto, Eleanor Collins, Betty Meagher, Vivian Sullivan, Eleanor Jobbitt, Jean Ball, Pearl Thomas, Marion Weaver, Marjorie Goldie, Eleanor Craig, Estelle Betty McMahon, Shirley Alexander, Ruth Sedore, Joan Alexander, Mary Schiarizza, Grace Schiarizza, Clara Hawkins, Winnifred Preston, Audrey Rose, Elia Foley, Rita Lorenz, Irma Lorenz, Marie McPhail, Norma Elcombe, Muriel Crouter, Mrs. Deyman.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 21.

Definite progress in promoting the future and its contentment and security, with solid substance and peace of mind, is shown by this day's stellar operations. All this benign promise should come as the reward of labor, sound judgment, and sterling character. Industry, application, persistence and patience may bring increased possessions, safe securities or investments, lands, mining interests and possibly trusts, gifts or inheritance. It is a time for preparation for good and enduring fortunes, although there may be trivial incidental matters to dispose of. Sign all writings and documents with precaution.

Those whose birthday it is are to have the opportunity for attaining future benefits, permanence and security, increased possessions, solid position and honored responsibilities, all by hard work, diligence, sound principles, perseverance, tried and true merit, and practical constructive ability. There may be investments, securities, lands, home and business property, perhaps inheritance or gifts from elders or others in token of appreciation. Minor anxieties may be happily disposed of and there may be need of wise handling of papers or agreements. But future peace, comfort, and contentment should be at the end of the rainbow for this year's honest endeavor.

A child born on this day may have many sound traits of character with definite constructive ability, perseverance, continuity, dependability, ensuring it a long, peaceful and contented life, with enduring progress.

With The Girl Guides

There will be a Christmas Carol Service for children in the Collegiate auditorium on Tuesday evening, December 21, commencing at 7.30, and the Guides and Brownies have a special invitation to attend. We urge all Guides and Brownies to be present. We will meet at the auditorium (entrance on McDonnel street) in full uniform. The service will be over at 9 o'clock, so the Brownies will not be kept out late.

Collect Paper

With Christmas holidays just around the corner, I would urge all the Guides to use some of their spare time for the collection of paper, which was suggested some time ago. As the three companies are engaged in this job it will be interesting to see who is successful in collecting the most. Money raised from this project will be used to pay Peterborough's share for the upkeep of our division.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

Dear Mary Moore: In Christmas week we have to serve hot food to about 100 people and I have chosen the following dish because it can be kept hot without doing it any damage. It occurred to me that it would be quite economical for people with large families so I am sending it on to you to put in your wartime recipe column.

Italian Baked Beans
(Contributed by D. Griffin)

Two cups dry navy or lima beans, I small onion, ½ cup olive or other cooking oil, 3 sweet pickles, 1 bunch celery, ½ cup grated cheese, 2 cups strained tomatoes. Soak the beans overnight or for severla hours, then rinse, cover again with water, and boil for 1 hour. Saute the chopped onion, celery and pickles in the oil for 5 minutes, then add the tomato and simmer together gently for 15 minutes. Put drained beans in baking dish, pour over the tomato sauce, cover and bake slowly 2 hours. Sprinkle cheese over top, and return to oven long enough and brown it.

You will see that this dish contains no meat—the cooking oil takes the place of salt pork, and the cheese gives it very good flavor. An Italian wouldn't think of making this without adding olives, but since they are hard to find I have left them out.—D. Griffin.

Dr. Pett of the Health Department at Ottawa urges us to eat more beans—they are a cheap source of protein, and take the place of meat.

Officers Elected By Onward Class

The election of officers for 1944 took place at the annual meeting of the Onward Bible Class of George Street United Church, which was held at the home of Mrs. R. McKee, 870 George street.

During the meeting splendid reports about the year's work were given by the different officers. At the conclusion of the business session a social hour was enjoyed, and refreshments were served. A vote of thanks to the hostess was moved by Mrs. G. Marshall and seconded by all present.

Curling Notes

This article on curling was published in the Ontario Curling Annual. It is dated November, 1906, and was written by James Wallace, Lindsay:

"Let it not beforgotten that it is the enjoyment we have and the training we receive in playing the game, not in winning it, that constitutes its real worth.

"As brothers a' let us meeting upon the ice and may:

All ills that flesh is heir to
Be banished from our train;
And may the pleasure of the scene
Keep in each heart its memory green
Until we meet again"

As far as the Peterborough Curling Club is concerned the curling for the 1943-44 season got under way on Friday evening and followed it up with a big bonspiel on Saturday afternoon. While the condition of the ice was not all that could be desired, yet considering the sudden rise in the temperature, it was fair. Many curlers were out just to kind of get the edge off and the way they went at it, it would not surprise us but what some of the boys were on crutches to-day.

One thing that was quite noticeable was the number of new players who were in attendance.

To-night will be open night and maybe on Tuesday some of the schedule games will be called. Of course all this depends on weather conditions.

We have not yet received the schedule books from the printers.

Winning rinks Saturday:

1st — - - - -J. Pirie, J. Welch, B. Chesler, skip.

2nd—F. Stenson, C. Crowe, R. F. Downey, J. W. E. Thomas, skip.

3rd—H. A. Baptie, H. Darling, G. Putnam, G. Braund, skip.

All received cigarettes.

COMPULSORY BOOKKEEPING

PRETORIA — (CP). — Revised price regulations gazetted in South Africa during the week will give the union price controller power to compel industrialists and commercial men throughout the country to keep proper costing records.

Race Tightens In House Loop

The race for playoff positions in the Y.M.C.A. House League tightened up considerably Saturday night when Jim Ferguson's Corvettes nosed out the second-place Fairmiles in an exciting game and Steve Csumrik's Frigates swamped the Cruisers 71 to 40.

Military Training Centre scheduled to play the Destroyers in the first game of what was to have been a triple-header could not fill the engagement.

The Fairmile-Corvette tussle was a keen fight all the way with the lead changing hands repeatedly and the result in doubt until the last few minutes of play when the Ferguson outfit pulled off a garrison finish to win 39 to 30. The Corvettes took an early lead but the McArthur squad over-hauled them beore half time and were in front at the rest period 18 to 16. Early in the second half the lead fluctuated several several times and Fairmiles were ahead 28 to 27 only to have the Corvettes come through with a last minute scoring splurge to add 12 points, while the only reply from the losers was three points.

Smith, Nicholls and Ferguson led the Corvette attack while outstanding for the Fairmiles were McArthur, Baird and McCuaig.

Fairmiles, 30—Courtney 3, Ellis, McCuaig 12, Baird 1, McArthur 14.

Referee—Bill Moorhead.

The Frigates, who have been developing a scoring punch recently, showed far too much of it to wallop the Cruisers 71 to 30 in the second game.

Paced by Bill Eager who had 20 points to his credit the winners ran wild. They outscored Cruisers 41 to 10 in the first half and although the losers made a better showing in the second half Frigates continued to increase their lead.

The teams:

Frigates, 71—Edger 20, Franks 4, Blackburn 9, Seabrooke 14, Csumrik 14, Collins 10.

Cruisers, 30—Johnston 8, Sisson 2, Ketchebau 6, Grierson 6, Geraghty 8.

Referee—Bill Moorhead.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

With a three-stroke advantage over Sammy Byrd of Detroit, pre-tournament favorite, Steve Warga, an airline radio operator, captured the Miami $5,000 open golf honors with a 280 total, equal to par for the 72 holes, thereby taking $1,000 in War Bonds as his first prize. As Warga began making an impression with a 70 in the second round, the gallery deserted the name players to follow the Miami part-time contender who was not far from home because the airfield where he is employed adjoins the golf course.

John Bulla of Atlanta, now an airplane pilot, figured in the money by taking third place with 284, for which he was rewarded with $500. This was also the leading amateur score, made by Ensign Willie Turnesa of the U.S. Navy, former national amateur champion, who drew down a $100 bond.

Craig Wood, United States open champion, was among the also-rans after leading the way in the first round.

After winning all eight races in his U.S. tour through which the Army Air Forces Relief Society raised approximately $150,000, Gunder Haegg, Swedish runner, was accorded the majority Associated Press vote as "the athlete of the year," succeeding Frankie Sinkwich, Georgia football star.

Marion Next

Shortstop Martin W. Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals has been placed in 1-A category by the U.S. Draft Board and will be eligible for induction at Abbeville, S.C., in the New Year. He is a father.

George Uhle, former American League pitcher, has been appointed coach of the Washington Senators, it was announced by Manager Ossie Bluege at Washington last night. Uhle succeeds Ben Bengough who resigned after four seasons to work in a war factory.

The largest hockey score of the season in Senior circles was registered at Arnprior Saturday night when the Arnprior R.C.A.F. team smothered Canadiens of Ottawa 20-5 in a scheduled test of the Ottawa Senior Hockey League. The debacle followed receipt of the news that the Arnprior Fliers would be out of the League in January through an R.C.A.F. headquarters' order.

Social Credit Wins

INNISFAIL, Alta., Dec. 20 (CP)— David Ure, Social Credit candidate in the Dec. 16 Red Deer Provincial B-election, was elected with a second-count majority of 185 over W. J. Edgar, Independent. The final vote was announced Saturday night by E. W. Anderson, returning officer here.

R.C.A.F. Ruling Upsets Western Hockey

WINNIPEG, Dec. 20. — (CP).— Future of Winnpeg Senior and Junior Hockey League was in doubt today following the announcement of R.C.A.F. Headquarters that no Air Force personnel will take part in hockey after Jan. 6 in any organized League leading to Allan Cup or Memorial play-offs.

Whether the Winnipeg Senior Services League would be able to survive with R.C.A.F. Bombers on the sidelines was a question mark.

The League could arrange a series of games between the remaining teams, H.M.C.S. Chippawa and Army, with Bombers coming in for the occasional exhibition contests. This would be in line with the R.C.A.F. statement permitting teams to play "in exhibition games against other armed services teams in the same geographical boundaries," but officials have been non-committal on future plans.

Hits 18 Players.

The future of the city's two junior circuits likewise was in the air. The R.C.A.F. ruling affects approximately 18 performers. Winnipeg Rangers in the south division will be the hardest outfit hit, dropping five men, St. James Canadians two and Winnipeg Monarchs at least one.

All except three members of Winnipeg Air Cadets in the north division are members of the R.C.A.F., while Winnipeg Esquires have one airman in their ranks. Canadian Ukrainian Athletic Club and St. Boniface Athletics, the loop's other clubs will not be affected to any extent.

When Winnipeg R.C.A.F Bombers do leave the Winnipeg Services Senior League Jan. 6, they apparently meant to take the front door. The western senior semi-finalists last spring are perched on top of the standings with four victories, one more than H.M.C.S. Chippawa and Army

Hershey Bears Win And Draw

By The Canadian Press

The Hersney Bears strengthened their hold on to first place in the American Hockey League over the week-end by thrashing Providence Reds 6-1 Saturday night and by fighting to a 3-3 draw with Buffalo Bisons last night.

Indianapolis Capitals came through the week-end unscathed. They whipped the Pittsburgh Hornets 5-2 Saturday night and handed Cleveland Barons a 3 to 1 defeat last night. Barons defeated Bisons 6-4 Saturday and the Reds overcome Hornets 3-2 last night.

Now Barons trail four points behind leading Bears who have 30 points and Indianapolis stands in third place with 20 points. In the Hershey - Providence game Reds' coach — Johnny Mitchell— paraded on the ice long enough to tell the referee what he though about a decision and was fined $100.

George Allen, Chicago, who collected two counters for Hawks Saturday night and another last night.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"But, dear, I don't think it should look like you!"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

COUNT UP THE WINNERS

SIZING UP your situation for No Trump play, you generally count the number of winning tricks between declarer's hand and dummy, and then plan to develop the additional needed ones. In suit play, you generally do best by reversing this, counting apparent losers and planning to get rid of some of them. A paradox, however, is that the No Trump method of counting winners applies best to the style of suit play which is least like No Trump, the cross-ruff. Then it is best to count the winning high cards, plus one trick for each trump which can be used for ruffing. Sometimes this totals 13.

North: ♠ A 10 8 3 ♥ 8 ♦ K Q J 5 2 ♣ Q 9 5
West: ♠ 4 ♥ 9 2 ♦ 10 9 8 7 6 4 ♣ J 7 4 3
East: ♠ Q 7 6 2 ♥ K Q 10 7 5 ♦ 3 ♣ 10 8 2
South: ♠ K J 9 5 ♥ A J 6 4 3 ♦ A ♣ A K 6

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	7 ♠

North was sorry about the whole thing, regretting his opening bid and his strong-sounding spade call on the second round, when he heard his partner's grand slam bid. But South pulled the contract through.

If this had been in a duplicate, there would have been cases where East was silly enough to tip off his possession of the spade Q by doubling, also probably cases of the declarer trying to get outstanding trumps eliminated in four rounds and then staking all on a break of the diamonds. Of course, if the trump finesse worked and diamonds broke, there would be five tricks in the side suit, four in trumps, three in clubs and one in hearts, for a total of 13.

This particular declarer, though, counted the hand for a cross-ruff. Three tricks in clubs, plus one each for the red aces, then four each for ruffing tricks by North and South would add up to 13. So after the heart K lead to the A, he cashed the diamond A and three clubs, then cross-ruffed. No matter whether East ruffed an early diamond trick or not, it made no difference. He was over-ruffed. Of course, if East had held the long diamonds and West the long hearts, this would not have worked.

Aviation Marks 40th Anniversary

MANTEO, N.C. Dec. 20 (AP) — Aviation's 40th birthday was celebrated here Friday near the spot where the Wright Brothers made their first flight but the elaborate exercises planned for the occasion went by the Board because of the worst snowstorm in this area in 26 years.

Instead of the thousands of plain folk and dignitaries who had been expected to attend, a small audience of naval men gathered at the Navy's Auxiliary Air Station and heard Maj.-Gen. T. J. Hanley, Jr., commanding the A.A.F. Eastern Flying Command, pay tribute to Orville Wright.

New Democracy To Be Factor

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Amid evidence of increasing activity in the political field by all the major parties, observers here point to a paragraph in a book by Hon. W. D. Herridge of Ottawa as fair warning of New Democracy's continued life and wider ambitions.

New Democracy was founded in 1939 by Maj. Herridge, former Canadian Minister to Washington. It is represented in the House of Commons by 10 members led by John Blackmore. All are Social Crediters as well as New Democracy supporters.

Now Maj. Herridge, in an introduction to "What Kind of Revolution?" has written:

"When war came, I allowed the New Democracy to lie fallow. That was a great mistake . . once again, I think it is the business of the ordinary citizen to make sure we get this system. Therefore, once again, I make it my business. This book begins where I left off, three years ago."

Many of the politically-wise say New Democracy will again be a factor in the next general election.

HAVELOCK, Dec. 20 (ENS). — At the meeting of the Belmont Women's Institute the sum of $10 was donated to the Peterborough District British War Victims' Fund.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Robert Wrightly, presided. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George Smith, and two large quits were quilted. The roll call was responded to by each member donating a gift for the Christmas Cheer boxes. Mrs. Joseph Seabrook discussed "Peace On Earth, Good Will to Men." Several letters of thanks were received from members of the armed forces, for the boxes of chocolates and cigarettes they had received.

A letter from Mrs. H. Mann, district secretary, announced the nutrition lecture will be held in Havelock on Jan. 11. Mrs. William Harris reported on the area convention in Toronto in November.

Germans Forcibly Evacuate Whole Areas Of Rome, Engineers Planting Mines

By RELMAN MORIN—Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, Dec. 21—(AP).—Northern Italy is flaming with revolt against the German military command and its puppet Italian government, trustworthy information reaching Naples showed today.

At the same time, it was reported that the Germans, following the tactics employed in Naples, have forcibly evacuated whole areas of Rome, presumably to permit German engineers to plant mines and dynamite on a large scale. This may indicate a decision to abandon Rome.

The situation behind the German line was described as being "more serious than in any of the European countries that are under complete German occupation."

Axis radios gave heavily-censored confirmation.

They reported funeral services were held today for Aldo Resega, Federal Fascist Commissar; Pierre Deangela and Primiere Lamberti, officials of the Fascist Squadristi organization. The men were shot by Italians described as "terrorists."

All Traffic Suspended.

At the same time the German military commander for Rome ordered the suspension of all street, highway and railway traffic inside and outside of the city between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Churchill Gets Better Daily

LONDON, Dec. 21—(CP).—Prime Minister Churchill, who is recovering from pneumonia somewhere in the Middle East, continues to improve, today's bulletin on his condition announced.

The bulletin issued at 10 Downing Street said:

"The Prime Minister continues to improve. The condition of the circulation is more satisfactory."

It was signed by Lord Moran, Mr. Churchill's personal physician, and Brig. Davis E. Bedford.

A sure sign that the Prime Minister was getting better was his insistence on getting the newspapers as usual. They are flown to him from London every day.

Insurance Head Denies Figures

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 — (CP).—A spokesman for the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association stated here today that figures on insurance profits given in Halifax by Lloyd Shaw, National Research Director of the C. "The average return to shareholders in Canada," he said, "is approximately 3.3 per cent, which in these days cannot be considered very high," he added:

"For generations life insurance has been the most closely regulated enterprise in the world. It has thrived on initiative, competition and governmental supervision and

Heavy Snowstorm Hits Meaford Area

MEAFORD, Ont., Dec. 21—(CP).—Ontario's first snowstorm tie-up of roads this winter was threatened today in this area as wind-driven snow plugged township roads while plow crews worked constantly to keep main highways open to traffic.

Along some roads four feet of snow was reported. Storm conditions in the Meaford and Owen Sound district were confirmed today by the Ontario Department of Highways with a warning that the storm is spreading southward and might strike Toronto.

Rocklyn, a village of some 35 inhabitants 11 miles south of Meaford, yesterday received its bread supply seven hours late.

British Army Reaches Tollo Suburbs

Ortona Still Held By Germans Progress Is Slow

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 21.—(AP).—British 8th Army forces fighting against stiff resistance north of the Ortona-Orsogna road in Eastern Italy made further advances yesterday, Allied headquarters announced today, while positions around the Adriatic port of Ortona were improved.

Immediate objective of the troops advancing north of the lateral road was reported to be Tollo, some four miles west and a little south of Ortona.

Reports heard in London yesterday that Ortona and Orsogna had been captured by the 8th Army appeared here to have been premature as the Allied communique made no mention of Orsogna and in regard to Ortona merely said: "Our positions in the Ortona area were improved."

On the Anglo-American 5th Army front in western Italyn American troops advanced 2½ miles west from recently-taken Lagone through a snowstorm to capture Mount Spinuccio, a 2,600-foot elevation, seven miles northwest of Venafro.

On this section of the front the Allies are fighting under severe conditions. Hills in the area are all covered with snow and many of them loom up 3,000 feet or more. On the remainder of the 5th Army front only patrol activity was reported.

Naval Battle

The naval section of the communique announced that British and American light naval craft teamed up to fight two German destroyers off the island of Elba Dec. 18. Torpedo hits were probably obtained on one enemy destroyer.

American torpedo boats made the first contact, headquarters said, engaging the enemy destroyers with guns and torpedoes.

"The enemy retired with the PTS in chase and later was engaged with guns and torpedos by another force which included both British and United States light coastal craft," the communique said. "Both actions were brisk and enemy opposition was considerable.

"Though no results could be seen in the smoke and darkness, it is probable that torpedo hits were obtained on one of the enemy destroyers."

The communique announced that in the Eastern Adriatic on the same night British light naval forces sank one enemy E-boat, a ferry, an escort vessel and two motorboats.

Yugoslavs Enter Zagreb Suburbs Tito Goes To Cairo

By EDWARD D. BALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(AP). — The 250,000-man Yugoslav partisan army of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today it had advanced into the vicinity of the Croatian capital of Zagreb, in a campaign which London termed a major battle.

Tito's resilient forces were declared in London to be engaging nine German and three puppet divisions in the main fighting areas in addition to containing three to four Nazi divisions in sporadic combats in the Istrian Peninsula bordering Italy. The Germans and their mercenaries were said to have six divisions in Croatia, two on the Dalmatian coast and four in the Mostar region, including the Prince Eugene SS elite outfit.

The German radio claimed "armed bands" had been frustrated in landing attempts at the Dalmatian coast town of Omis near Split.

The main fighting was near Zagreb, 70 miles east of Ljubljana on the Belgrade-Trieste railroad, Tito's communique indicated.

The bulletin, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, said that one column of Tito's forces had entered the town of Kopinec, near the important Nazi-held base on Dec. 15, while another column had occupied the town of Vojnic, 35 miles to the southwest, on the same day.

The Partisan threat to Zagreb was broadcast belatedly, along with the announcement that Tito's forces were mopping up in the Croatian provinces of Banya and Kordun, where the Germans were said to have been put to flight after their sixth big offensive had ended in a debacle.

Tito's offensives were still rolling forward in Sanjak, Bosnia and Slavonia, the communique said. Presence of some of Hitler's pet fighting units in Yugoslavia was disclosed through an announcement that the Partisans were locked in battle with the Nazi Prince Eugene SS Division in Hercegovina.

Tito's bulletin said the Germans were suffering heavy casualties in Eastern Bosnia, with the Partisans on the offensive in all parts of the province. In Slavonia and throughout the widely-scattered sectors along the fluid front, the activity of the Yugoslavs, bolstered by Allied military supplies from Italy, was increasing, the Partisans reported.

Russian Unit 20 Miles From Vitebsk

Stampeding Reds Advance 7 Miles Nearer Poland

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(CP).— The Russian Baltic army, steadily expanding its breach in the heavily-fortified German line, has plunged down the east side of the Nevel-Vitebsk railway to within 20 miles of Vitebsk, Reuters News Agency reported to-day from Moscow.

This represented an advance of some 15 miles for Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's forces from their last reported positions. His troops stand barely 50 miles from the Polish and Latvian frontiers.

The nearest approach to Vitebsk was the railway station of Gorodok, 20 miles north on the railway Soviet pressure was increasing in from Nevel.

The German communique said the Vitebsk area and that "northwest of Nevel, the Soviets launched unsuccessful attacks."

In the Dnieper Bend area, the Germans said the Russians had broken through southeast of Kirovograd but claimed they had been dispersed or wiped out. Two days of Russian attempts to break through on the Nikopol bridgehead on the Lower Dnieper and southwest of Dnepropetrovsky were said by Berlin to have failed.

Bargamian's success in Northern Russia, threatening to disrupt the entire Nazi defence system south of Leningrad, had immediate repercussions on other sectors of the long eastern front. Dispatches indicated that huge reinforcements the Germans are throwing into the Nevel battle were possibly being drawn from the Zhitomir-Korosten front west of Kiev, if not further south.

Nazis Repulsed.

Troops of the 1st Ukraine army, who successfully balked Nazi Marshal Fritz Von Mannstein's powerful tank drive in the Kiev bulge last week, were back in the Korosten sector yesterday, front dispatches said, and had repulsed a series of sharp enemy assaults. Previous reports said fighting in the bulge was centred in the area below Malin.

A Berlin broadcast, meanwhile, announced the Germans had evacuated their bridgehead on the east bank of the ice-bound Dnieper River opposite the city of Kherson far to the south, and said an early assault against Kherson itself was anticipated by the German garrison. Moscow did not mention any activity in the Kherson salient.

1,800 Wiped Out.

Detailing action in the Soviet drive south of Nevel, the Moscow war bulletin said Bagramians army had wiped out 1,800 Germans yesterday and that "the enemy is retreating, abandoning a great quantity of arms and ammunition."

Bagramian was driving in multiple thrusts toward the rail centres of Vitebsk and Polotsk as his immediate objectives. In less than a week his troops have recaptured nearly 1,000 square miles of territory, including 570 villages and have killed or captured nearly 24,000 enemy troops along a wide front.

Canadians With 5th Army As Paratroopers

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 —(CP)—Announcement from Algiers that a specially-trained, mixed Canadian-American unit is in action in Italy with the 5th Army aroused speculation here as to whether these troops might be a force which was set up some months ago and took training at Helena, Mont.

There was no immediate information on this point from defence headquarters.

Defence Minister Ralston, who now is overseas on an inspection tour, made the initial announcement of formation of a joint Canadian - American super - Commando force. Subsequently tight secrecy was imposed on its training program.

Trained At Helena

However, from information in the original statement it was obvious these troops would be trained to the peak of assault efficiency, including skill in mountain operations which would be valuable in the present Italian operations.

The Helena force also was understood to be taking paratroop training.

(Yesterday the Toronto Star in a newspage story said relatives had been informed that six Toronto paratroopers were listed as casualties in Italy.)

Besides the mixed Canadian-American force which trained in Montana, the Canadian army has its own parachute troops. Training headquarters for the Canadian army paratroops is at Camp Shilo, Man., where extensive training facilities have been provided.

The fact the Algiers announcement referred to a specially-trained, mixed Canadian-American force was considered here as an indication the Helena troops were more likely to be the ones mentioned.

24-Hour Bombing Marathon Cuts Swath Over Europe Industrial Targets Blasted

Mosquitoes Stab At Belgium And The Ruhr
Bulgaria And Greece Raided
Bremen And Mannheim Included In Sweeps

By JUDSON O'QUINN—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 21 — (CP). — R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers rained more than 2,080 tons of high explosives and incendiaries on Frankfurt in a heavy raid last night, it was announced today.

Forty-two planes were lost in the night's operations, which included a subsidiary attack on Mannheim-Ludwigshafen. Ten of the missing planes were Canadian.

R.C.A.F. coastal command aircraft also successfully attacked enemy shipping in the Channel and Canadian Mosquitoes shot down two planes during intruder flights over Western Europe.

The great air offensive against Germany reached a new intensity with these additional attacks during the past 24 hours:

1. Mosquitoes stabbed at western Germany and Belgium and mines were laid in enemy waters.
2. Heavy formations of American bombers in daylight struck heavily at the German U-boat campaign by bombing Bremen.
3. Bombers based on the Mediterranean for the fifth time in recent weeks blasted the rail yards of Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, and Elevsis airfield near Athens.
4. British and United States medium bombers spread destruction on targets in northern France.

The Allies lost more than 90 planes in the 24-hour operations. This includes 33 (counting 25 heavy bombers) over Bremen, 42 in the R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. operations, 11 in the Italian-Balkan area and six fighters over northern France.

Over 800 Planes.

Last night's attack probably placed Frankfurt in the category with Berlin, Cologne, Hamburg and Kassel as Germany's most-bombed cities. It was carried out in near top strength by a force which possibly numbered 800 or more heavy bombers.

Huge fires were left burning in the city of more than 500,000 which already had been so badly devastated in 41 raids that a large proportion of the populace had been forced to leave.

Continuing the air offensive, a steady stream of medium and light bombers crossed the southeast coast towards France in daylight today, backing up heavy assaults begun yesterday on what may well be German rocket-gun emplacements.

Mannheim - Ludwigshaven, twin cities on the Rhine, where I.G. Farbenindustrie has the largest chemical works in the world, have been subjected to at least six bombardments of 500 tons or more since the start of the war. They have been well up on R.A.F. bomber command's list.

The tonnage dropped on Frankfurt last night approached the heaviest raid of the war—more than 2,300 tons rains on Berlin the night of Nov. 22—and its effect on a city less than an eighth the size of the German capital must have been terrific.

Frankfurt has been the target for British bombers on numerous occasions, but last night's raid was the third major attack (more than 500 tons). The city, important inland port and rail centre, also has been heavily attacked in daylight by American heavy bombers.

The Frankfurt attack was the R.A.F.'s fourth major operation of a month which has seen Berlin bombed twice in strength and Leipzig once. Losses to date for December total 136 aircraft.

A twin-engined enemy fighter exploded in flames in the sky when damaged by FO. John Caine of Edmonton, the pilot, and Flt. Sgt. Earl Boal of Regina, observer, in one

Treason Charges Face Flandin, Boisson

ALGIERS, Dec. 20 (AP) — The French National Committee announced today that warrants had been issued for the arrest on treason charges of Pierre-Etienne Flandin, former French Premier and later Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Vichy cabinet, and our other prominent Frenchmen.

The others were: Marcel Peyrouton, former Governor-General of Algeria; Pierre Boisson, former Governor-General of French West Africa; Tixier De Vignancourt, former French deputy and Vichy functionary, and Andre Albert, former French deputy.

A spokesman said the warrants had been issued about a week ago but that all the five had not been taken in custody.

Flanding had been under surveillance pending investigation by a commission probing suspected collaboration with Vichy.

The charges against Peyrouton concern his action while Interior Minister when he allegedly suppressed underground pro-Ally and pro-De Gaulle organizations.

The charges against Boisson mainly concern his refusal in September, 1940, to turn Dakar over to a British-De Gaullist expeditionary force, which precipitated a short, sharp battle between shore batteries and a Naval squadron. Subsequently, it was alleged, Boisson directed the suppression of pro-Ally and pro-De Gaulle groups in West Africa.

Warrants were issued by the Justice Commissariat on recommendations from the Purge Commission which investigated the dossiers against Peyrouton, Boisson and Flandin earlier this month.

Flandin, a pre-war Premier of France and formerly Foreign Minister of the Vichy government, was in North Africa at the time of the Allied landings.

Greatest Red Offensive Still to Come

Timed To Coincide With Invasion Will Probably Hit Across Rumania

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Analyst

The great Red Army offensive now rolling southwest of Nevel, whatever its immediate tactical aims, is clearly a major blow aimed eventually at collapsing the German left flank.

It is, moreover, in all likelihood only the first of a series of winter drives by the Russians calculated to speed up considerably the probable intention of the German staff to withdraw by spring to the so-called Riga-Odessa line.

The power of this northern lunge is indicated by German confession of losses long before the Russians disclosed progress, or even admitted the drive had started. And the Russians probably expect to keep moving, with growing momentum, until the Red Army, reaching the Baltic, has relieved the long siege of Leningrad and isolated Finland from her Nazi ally.

There is in some Washington circles a rather strong belief that the "main" Russian show, presumably timed to coincide with invasion of western Europe, is still to come, and will come in the south, aimed through the Ukraine and toward Rumania. Such an offensive probably will be launched.

But that should not minimize the importance of the push already undertaken in the north. The truth is that the Germans probably used up their last real armored striking force in the counter-attacks in the Kiev Bulge, and now that those have failed have lost the initiative to the Russians along the entire front.

Tighten The Line

That calls for some line-tightening by the Germans. It calls for it particularly because the Nazis are scraping the bottom of the manpower barrel and cannot replace their lost divisions with equally-strong fighting units. Already men past 40 have been thrown into action on the Russian front, a sufficient indication of Germany's manpower straits. The figure of 300 divisions still is used for German army strength, but many of them are no longer first-rate divisions.

All of this points to the likelihood that the Nazis high command will pull back, partly by plan but obviosly as the result of Russian pressure, to a line pegged on Riga in the north and the Dniester River in the south. By shortening their line that much, the Nazis probably would man the Russian front with 30 less divisions, and—even more important than the manpower saving—be freed of the headache of supplying nearly 500,000 men.

Japs Retreating Northward

Using Barges To Flee From Bougainville

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP).—Navy Secretary Frank Knox reported today that the Japanese apparently are fleeing from the southern part of Bougainville in an obvious effort to concentrate their forces further north of the island.

"There is some evidence," he told a news conference, "that the enemy is evacuating the southern part of Bougainville and moving up to the north by land."

The secretary added it "seems the very obvious thing" for the enemy to attempt to combine all of his forces on Bougainville where the task of cleaning up opposition has been turned over by the Marines to army forces under Maj.-Gen. Oscar Griswold.

None of the enemy's once strong air fields on Bougainville is usable now, Knox said. They are being kept out of action by constant U.S. bombing.

The evacuation of the southern part of the island is under way not only by land but by barges operating along the coast to carry troops to the north. The barges have been subject to heavy attack.

F.D.R. Backs Canol Project

New Source Of Oil Vital To War Effort

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 —(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that he approved the United States Army's Canol Oil Development in northwest Canada at a time when it appeared there might be great military action in the Alaskan and Aleutian area.

He added that at the time he would have approved anything to get a new source of oil in that part of the world as a war measure.

His comment was made at a press conference in response to a question whether he had known of the $130,000,000 cost of the project when he approved it. The president said he thought he knew at the time what the cost would be.

Two Democratic members of the Senate's Truman Committee defended the development, which has been the centre of considerable controversy in official circles in Washington.

Senators Tom Connally (Dem., Texas) and Carol Hatch (Dem., N.M.) put in plugs for Lt.-Gen. Brehon Somervell, army champion of the oil development, who explained the undertaking for the committee yesterday in detail.

Japs Retreat in New Britain Bombs Riddle Island Bases

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Dec. 21 — (AP). — The United States 6th Army expanding six miles from its Cape Merkus, New Britain, beachhead has taken the Arawe air strip, adding another landing field to the perches from which Allied birds are purging the air of Japanese. An Allied headquarter's communique today said the Arawe field was secured Sunday. Scores of heavy and medium Allied bombers again hammered Cape Gloucester, on the western end of New Britain, dropping 414 tons of bombs on enemy airdrome, supply and bivouac areas. Damage was described as 'widespread.'

The tonnage, left in two raids Sunday, topped the bomb load dumped on any one enemy location in one day in this war theatre, and brought to 1,600 tons the total delivered at Cape Gloucester since December 1.

Cape Gloucester marks the fork of the enemy barge supply route eastward from New Guinea. By taking Arawe, the Allies have severed the route that branches along the south coast of New Britain. Should they likewise seize Cape Gloucester, the north-coast route leading to the big enemy base at Rabaul, New Britain, would be cut.

Australian fighters on Huon Peninsula, New Guinea, cashed in on Allied air command in that sector by driving out at bayonet point the Japanese south of the Masawang River, 15 miles north of Finschhafen. The enemy in full retreat was pursued across the river. Allied planes meanwhile bombed and strafed the Japanese lines of communication.

Admiral William F. Halsey announced that United States Army forces under Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of ground units in the South Pacific, have taken complete control of the Empress Augusta Bay sector on the west-central coast of Bougainville Island in the Solomons.

Allied planes and motor torpedo boats took a toll of 25 Japanese barges sunk or damaged in attacks on these vessels which constitutes the enemy's principal medium for supplying his hard-pressed defensive points.

Polish Air Force Reborn Now Far Stronger Than 1939

By W. W. HERCHER—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 21—(AP).—The Polish Air Force was declared almost ready today to break away from the R.A.F. as an independent fighting organization and throw its full strength into the expected invasion of Europe from the west.

The rebirth of Poland's air arm as an autonomous group will occur soon after January 1, it was learned reliably, although details have not yet been disclosed by the R.A.F. under whom the force has been operating for four years.

But it is known the Polish Air Force is far stronger than at the start of the war in 1939. The Polish force now embraces 14 well-equipped and highly-trained squadrons.

Under the leadership of Air Vice Marshal Mateusz Izycki and with the co-operation of the British Air Ministry, the force has been expanded steadily by a flow of volunteers from other countries to the point where it is larger than the combined Airforces of the French, Belgians, Czechs, Dutch and Norwegians, which have a total of 13 squadrons in combat.

Izycki is considered the best bet to lead the reborn force. In addition to the British rank of Air Vice Marshal he is an Inspector-General of the Polish Air Force.

Latest available figures place the Polish air strength at more than 12,000 men.

All these are based in Britain and presumably would operate in close co-ordination with Polish ground forces when a full-scale invasion of Europe comes.

Since 1939, fighting from British and North African bases as part of the R.A.F. the Poles had achieved this record up to Nov. 1:—

Fighter squadrons destroyed 608 enemy planes, probably destroyed 159, and damaged 208. Bomber units dropped 13,840,000 pounds of bombs on enemy targets.

New Command Bombs Bangkok

NEW DELHI, Dec. 21 —(CP)—A combined R.A.F. and American bombing force attacked objectives in Bangkok, Thailand, the night of Dec. 19 in the first long-range operation of the newly-formed eastern Asia air command, it was announced today.

A communique said the R.A.F. hit the enemy arsenal area while the Americans attacked the docks.

Widespread attacks were also announced in southern Burma, the R.A.F. bombing by night and the U.S.A.A.F. by day.

"Targets from Akyab to Henzada on the railway south of Prome were attacked Dec. 14 and on the three following nights," the communique said. "On Dec. 15, American heavy and medium bombers hit oil installations at Chauk and Yenangyaung, starting large fires."

British fighters also made repeated attacks during the period on rail, road and river traffic, the bulletin added.

Floating Body Seen In Halifax Harbor

HALIFAX, Dec. 21. — (CP).—A body reported floating in Halifax harbor last night and not yet located, revived hopes among police that it might be the body of Cmdr. Frank M. Johnson, R.N., who disappeared three weeks ago with his 11-year-old daughter Nadia under circumstances suggesting murder and suicide.

The battered body od Nadia was recovered from the northwest arm of the harbor a short time after the disappearance, but grappling operations have so far failed to locate the body of the father. Police hold the theory that he may still be alive.

THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

DIVIDED THEY WILL FALL—This is the war pattern for tomorrow. As Britain and the U.S. rush plans for invasions, pledged at Teheran, this mapograph provides a visual short-cut to the blueprint for "quick victory" over Germany. Stalin presented a realistic picture of the problem. There are some 225 Nazi divisions on the Russian fronts. There were, at the time, about 48 divisions on the entire Italian, Balkan and south of France fronts and some 44 divisions on the western front. Stalin argued: "If 50 or more of the 225 divisions are drawn to other fronts, the Red forces could crack quickly through and crush the Nazis. A thrust across the English Channel would force the Nazis to withdraw vast forces. Invasions through southern France; progress of the Italian campaign and threats to the Balkans would draw a smaller—but nevertheless important—number of troops. This points to a channel invasion when the hour strikes and the step-up of activity in other areas.

Fifth Christmas Far From Home Canadians Take Over Santa's Job

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec 21 — (CP Cable). — In their "second front" camps in Southern England, Canadian troops will take time out for Christmas from their invasion training. For men of the First Contingent to come overseas it will be their fifth Christmas here.

There will not be any spectacular celebrations or big fetes but there will be additional food and festive trimmings as usual this Christmas which most troops confidently expect will be the last one overseas before any of them return home.

A feature of the celebration this year are Christmas parties given by units for British children in their areas. Nearly 10,000 children will be entertained by Santa Claus in battledress, with the soldiers turning over to the children their chocolate ration as well as candy, gum and good things in parcels from home.

The sergeants' mess at Army Headquarters has special attractions—jeep rides for the children.

Made Many Toys.

A general transport company of Royal Canadian Army Service Corps from Western Canada made hundreds of toys for the little guests. The men turned out airplanes, scooters, hobby horses, and dolls in the unit workshop in their spare time.

A Corps Headquarters is entertaining 150 children with movies, clowns, a punch and judy show, an orchestra and gifts. One of the largest parties will be given by a general hospital for children from a nearby school.

Travel is restricted at Christmas time and practically all the troops will be at camp. All officers messes are having their usual dinners and officers will serve the men, with generals to lieutenants going around with trays and saying to privates, "Another helping sir?"

The Canadian Red Cross donates ninepence a man to the units and this and regimental funds are used to buy turkeys, puddings and extras. The troops should get as good a spread as ever.

Christmas trees have been hard to get but the army "scroundged" around and is making a good showing. Auxiliary service are bringing out decoration carefully kept from other years.

To Hold Dances

The auxiliary services canteens throughout camp areas are having special entertainment during the Christmas week-end with dances and games. Dances will be held in most officers messes on Christmas Eve or Christmas night.

Christmas mail from Canada has been flooding into the camps with parcels, cards and letters being received in thousands.

In infantry and armored divisions which are earmarked for invasion as well as reinforcement units, and at Canadian military headquarters in London every effort is being made to make this Christmas a good one before operations begin. But underlying any Christmas gaiety is the knowledge that the coming year will be one of big battles in which Canadian troops now here will participate.

For the troops in the central Mediterranean there will be a different kind of Christmas but even in the battleline the day probably will be marked with extra rations. No matter how close to the shooting the Canadians are in Italy you can be sure they will use ingenuity to drum up some kind of Christmas, even if it's only an extra can of bully in an outpost slit trench.

Canadians in Italian bases, in Sicily and North Africa probably will fare better than the troops in England for they can shop around town and country for oranges and other foods, and a great variety of drinks. Add that to field rations and you get a feast indeed.

Associated Press dispatches from Cairo said high British and United States staff officers have reached "full agreement" with officers of Tito on plans for a military campaign in Yugoslavia.

Plans for the coming Balkan campaign were drawn up at a secret meeting in Alexandria and it was emphasized that the forces of Gen. Draja Mihailovic, who are supported by King Peter's government in Cairo, were not represented at the conference. Tito, it was added, now has a permanent staff in Cairo consulting with Allied Headquarters.

Cheerful Workers Bible Class Votes $150 To Patriotic Effort

Another successful year has been concluded by the Cheerful Workers Class of St. James' Sunday School. This class has 55 members who, by regular attendance and enthusiasm, are an excellent example to the whole school. The past year has been outstanding in that the group of ladies by steady plodding through the year have raised a large sum of money. The annual business meeting was held recently in the Primary Room. The president, Mrs. T. Meredith, presided, and conducted devotional exercises. The three active groups gave encouraging reports. The patriotic spirit was manifested when the sum of $100 was donated to the British War Victims Fund, and $50 to the Milk for Britain Fund. Generous amounts were given from the funds of the class for the general funds of the church. The excellent spirit prevailing in the class has had much to do with the success during the year. Mrs. R. B. English, the faithful teacher of the class, was remembered by appropriate gifts. Rev. Fred Craik presided for the election of officers or 1944: President, Mrs T. Meredith; 1st vice-president, Mrs. E. Osborne; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. O. Olaveson; secretary, Mrs. E. H. Porter; assistant secretary, Mrs. T. Littlefair; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. French Guerillas Seize Nazi Warrants

BARCELONA, Dec. 21 — (AP). — French guerillas and underground operatives are turning the tables on Heinrich Himmler's secret police (French branch) and collaborationists by using stolen Nazi search warrants, according to Paris newspapers reaching here today.

The newspapers carried front-page notices offering large rewards for information leading to the arrest and detention of the French 'terrorists' who have seized quantities of the warrants signed by Himmler's secret police. The guerillas were said to be using them in their war against collaborationists.

Guerilla columns were also reported to have laid siege near Lyon to a detachment of French Legion militia, supposedly the main civilian support of the Vichy Government but said to be, in fact, out-and-out collaborationists.

Second Strike Hits Montreal

MONTREAL, Dec. 21.— (CP).— Montreal's second strike of municipal employees within a week was on the way this morning when an estimated 2,000 city hall clerks and stenographers failed to report for work and started picketing the city hall.

All was quiet inside the city hall buildings where the only employees on duty, apparently, were the switchboard operators. They readily admitted they did not have much to do; all the telephone locals being unattended except the press room's where newsmen walked in and out trying to gather the meagre details available.

At the executive committee's rooms, no one was in attendance at the regular opening hour and Honore Parent, director of City services, as well as his assistants, were not available for any comment on the situation.

The white collar workers voted to strike last night, turning down an offer from the provincial government, through the Quebec Municipal Commission, for an arbitration board to investigate their wage demands.

It was just a week ago today the employees of the police, fire and public works departments staged a 14-hour strike that won them union recognition for the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Those striking today were members of the National Syndicate of Municipal Workers and two smaller unions who have joined forces with the syndicate following recognition by the city of the syndicate as bargaining agent for the white collar workers.

Vote 950 to 40

The vote was 950-40 to strike at last night's mass meeting that came after a day of conference between city, commission and government officials on the demands of the workers for wage increases "comparing" favorably with those promised policemen and firemen before their strike last week.

In last week's walk-out, wage increases averaging $500 a year were turned down when the city offered them as a substitute for union recognition. The strike brought union recognition, and the matter of wage

Utilities Find Good Surplus At End Of Year

COBOURG, Dec. 21—(ENS)—Cobourg Public Utilities Commission wound up its activities for the year last night announcing a substantial surplus.

"Five years ago when Mr. Skidmore took things over the commission faced a deficit of $30,000 plus cost of meters and other items, today all bills are paid and there is a surplus, it speaks well for the commission. I want to extend the season's greetings to the chairman, Mr. McGuire and his family and to our manager Mr. McIntosh and his staff. I would suggest that we send an air mail letter conveying our best wishes to ex-Mayor Jack Ewart and the other Cobourg boys overseas. Chairman Harry McGuire expressed his best wishes to the members of the commission, the manager and staff.

"It is good to see all the old debts wiped out and a substantial surplus for the year. Future commissions will find an efficient and conscientious staff both in the electrical and water departments," Chairman McGuire stated.

Arthur McIntosh, manager of the Utilities, thanked the commission for their kind words and assured them the continuance of their interest in the welfare of the Utilities and the community.

Civic Airport Studied By Committee Of City Council

The letter written to the Examiner by Hy Wood, who incidentally was reeve of North Monaghan for several years, was discussed at last night's meeting of the city council in a spirit of approval of its concern for the establishment of an airport in this area, but also with a reservation that Mr. Wood was turning attention to a project which had been extensively considered by the council but disproportionately publicized.

"I think the day before that letter appeared," said Alderman Gordon, "the chairman (Alderman Bradburn) of that committee had held a meeting. Mr. Wood complains in his letter that there has been lack of action by this council. I have had the opinion that there has been no committee more active in laying a foundation for a commercial airport for Peterborough. I wish to say that Alderman Bradburn's committee has done everything it could do; but this is a question that will involve a large outlay of money, and it has been felt that it would be dangerous to go into it without obtaining adequate advice. One reason for delay has been our desire to find out whether any assistance will be forthcoming from the federal government for a project of this kind."

Alderman Glover said he heartily endorsed Alderman Gordon's reference to the airport committee.

"We have had ten or twelve different sets of engineers here," said Alderman Glover, "and the committee has been over various areas which it was thought might be suitable for military purposes, but none of them was approved. More recently the committee has been taking up this question from the standpoint of the commercial airport. I am sure the committee has been functioning well, getting information. It is something that will have to go before the public, and we will need all the information it is possible to get as to the costs of establishment, operation and the making of both ends meet. The committee must first get the facts, and that is what it has been trying to do."

"We have had engineers here from time to time," Alderman Bradburn stated, "and we have had many meetings, but this work has not been publicized as much as it might be. We have felt that there was no use in building up false hopes, and then having them let down. An area must be approved by the Department of Transport to get a license to operate a commercial airport. That is one reason why we have not thought it wise to divulge the information we had."

Alderman Swanston said he considered Mr. Wood ought to be complimented for taking a constructive interest in this question. "We haven't been saying much about what has been going on, but things have not been advanced far enough."

"Mr. Wood is entitled to information and we should give it to him," Alderman Gordon remarked.

Alderman Dutton defended the course the committee had followed. It had devoted a great deal of time to investigating airport details, and it was now becoming evident that it could not be built without the expenditure of a very considerable amount of money.

"I think it is wise that we have gone along carefully," said Alderman Dutton. "We have been told that we cannot determine at present what may be the effect of the helicopter plane after the war. We have also learned that the present plane used by Trans-Canada Airways will be the small plane of the future, and that it will necessitate runways of 3,000 feet with 300 feet at either end. Some time ago we were told that provision should be made for a landing speed of 60 miles an hour, but now we are hearing that it should be for 120 m.p.h.

The citizens have to be considered, especially with a large sum of money to be spent. We might be well advised to see first whether the helicopter is going to be used to any general extent."

Alderman Sullivan recalled one of the engineering proposals that probably the best Peterborough could hope for a feeder and not for a main line airport.

"If that is the case we might well wait until we see how some other cities get along."

These were some of expressions in the discussion that rallied to the defence of the committee. One of the reasons all the meetings of the airport committee were not published was because the question of location and site was being considered. One of the more recent possibilities mentioned related to the potential effect of the helicopter. If the machine of vertical flight as well as horizontal, was to be developed for general use, it was obvious that the cost of an airfield and port would be greatly reduced.

Another phase cropping up in committee deliberations was an estimated cost of around a million dollars. That was not mentioned because the information was not exact, and it was felt that nothing could be gained by publishing a round figure which tend to be generally discouraging. And that consideration was accentuated by the lack of definite statement of policy by the Dominion government toward assisting such municipal enterprises.

These are several points of explanation of Alderman's reference to publicity incommensurate with the committee's actual work and efforts.

Fleas Bugbear Of Nurses Across Sicily

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 21 (CP) — Blood, sweat, tears and fleas—and the time of their young lives—awaited the Canadian Nursing Sisters in North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

Nursing Sister Rae Adams of Toronto, invalided back to England after shrapnel shattered her foot in Sicily, is straining at the leash to be back on active service at the front.

"See, I don't limp at all," she said, "but they won't let me work yet." An ack-ack shell, fired at German planes swooping low over Catania, ended an exciting chapter of adventure for her on Sept. 2.

"The day before the invasion of Italy—so I missed that show," she said wryly.

The shell, which didn't go off until it exploded on the penthouse mess of the Canadian hospital, wounded 12 nurses and three mess boys. And Miss Adams was the most seriously injured. None of the other girls was invalided back to England.

Guessing Game

The nurses, with a Canadian General Hospital, landed on Sicily July 19, much to their surprise. They hadn't been told their destination when they left England, so the trip down was a guessing game of "where?"

"We guessed everyhere but Sicily," Miss Adams said. On the trip between Algiers and the invaded island a German plane dive-bombed their ship. 'But our ship's ack-ack got it and we weren't the least bit afraid."

The nurses landed at Augusta with the sound of gunfire from the frontline, seven miles away, in their ears.

Syracuse was their first stopping place. "That was a trip for the book," said Miss Adams. "We drove 25 miles down the hottest, dustiest and roughest road I've ever seen in my life. It took us four hours because we had to stop every little bit and climb into the ditch to let the troop convoys pass."

At Syracuse the nurses hadn't been expected quite so soon and there weren't enough sheets to go round. "Most of us were pretty badly bitten by fleas and bedbugs and most of us got dysentry," Miss Adams said.

Their equipment had been sunk en route so for the first few days everything was makeshift with the girls collecting things from the British Service Corps and using captured Italian medical supplies. The work, Miss Adams said, was backbreaking and, sometimes, heartbreaking.

"But it wasn't long before the invitations started to roll in from men posted around us—teas, cocktail parties, dances, dinners, swimming parties. Our social life got so strenuous we had to cut down on it."

Summer Home Changes Hands

GORE'S LANDING, Dec. 21—(ENS)—"The Willows," a large summer residence owned by Mr. Duggan of Toronto was recently sold to Harry Blezard of Toronto. Situated on the shores of Rice Lake, "The Willows" has been a beauty spot of this neighborhood for many years. It was built about 40 years ago by the late Gerald Hayward, well known painter of miniatures who lived in it for a short time.

The building is of clapboard construction, with a tower in the northeast corner and verandahs, upper and lower, surrounding it. A feature of the living room is a huge fireplace which opens also into the dining room. The latter room has paintings of Rice Lake executed by the late Mr. Hayward painted on the upper part of the walls.

In pioneer days, this property was the site of a sawmill known as "Daley's sawmill" and Mr. Daley lived in a house built close to the site of the present residence. Later a Mr. Tom Hearn lived in this old home and the late Mr. and Mrs. William Fowlie and their family lived here for many years.

SERVING THE UNITED NATIONS WITH WAR ALCOHOL

TARGET FOR TO-NIGHT

Films Made With War Alcohol—The last aerial photograph fits snugly into place—and there lies the blueprint of another German target due for a pasting by our fighting airmen. Pictures taken by aerial reconnaissance are vital links in the chain which will lead to the ultimate destruction of the Axis war machine. Another link is the camera film on which these pictures are recorded. In making this special film alcohol is used, just as it is used for many other essential war purposes—for plastics, explosives, anti-freeze and navigational instruments. In the factory, on the field of battle itself, Alcohol is making a direct contribution to Victory. Because it is so urgently needed in such fabulous quantities, our plants are operating at peak capacity.

If you find you must make a Christmas call to out-of-town relatives, try to do so as many days before the holiday as possible. And especially avoid 'long haul' calls to far distant places.

Australia's Compulsory Vote

A correspondent who is interested in the matter of compulsory voting asks us for further information about that scheme as it is used in Australia, remarking that he has only found evidence of it in reports of elections in New South Wales, where it worked very well. Compulsory voting has been in force in federal and provincial elections in Australia since 1924; we are not certain that it is also compulsory to vote in municipal elections, and we have not yet been able to get definite information on this point, but our impression is that voting in all elections is compulsory.

A careful check is made to see that compulsory voting works. Forms are sent to defaulting voters, asking them to state why they failed to vote. On the information gained in this way, decision is made whether to prosecute or not; if the excuse is not adequate, a fine is imposed.

Although this system solves the problem of getting the voters to the polls it does not settle all difficulties. People who care nothing about public affairs can either vote for whatever group happens to be in power, or they can spoil their ballots; in the latter case the vote is recorded as "informal". The election machinery relating to polls, ballots, electoral officers and so forth, is unusually good in Australia, as might be expected in the country which originated the secret ballot in 1856, and spread it to the other democratic countries of the world; many elderly people still call the modern voting-paper "the Australian ballot". Australia uses the preferential system of voting, which makes the marking of the ballot a somewhat complicated business. This is especially so as democratic peoples are more inclined to vote against a man or a measure than for one. A favourite Australian story tells of a blind man who was taken into the polling booth by an election officer who was going to help him with his ballot: "Is so-and-so running?" asked the blind man, naming a famous politician; the officer said he was; "Then put the b—— last!" said the blind man. Often election results show that more care has been taken to "put the b—— last" than to put the best man first.

All parties in Australia have their staunch supporters, but they can rarely count on enough support to win an election unless a careful appeal is made to the floating vote. This circumstance has served to tone down the High Tory feelings of the Conservatives, and also to mitigate the revolutionary zeal of the labour groups. The floating vote must be well informed and thoroughly convinced if its support is to be won, for it must know the names of the men it wishes to support (no party affiliation being mentioned on the ballot) and it must know the order in which to rank them on the preferential ballot.

We hope that this brief explanation answers our correspondent's query and gives our readers some further light on the matter of compulsory voting.

Joseph Stalin's Birthday

Joseph Stalin is 64 today; he is three years older than Mr. Roosevelt and five years the junior of Mr. Churchill. We mention these figures for the consideration of those who feel that men shouldering great responsibilities should not be past middle life. Everyone who has the welfare of the United Nations at heart will unite, we feel sure, in wishing Mr. Stalin many happy returns of the day.

Stalin came to power the hard way. The son of a peasant shoemaker in Georgia, he was chosen as a boy to be given an education in a religious seminary, but when he was 15 or 16 he was expelled for 'unreliability', whatever that vague charge may have meant. He at once became a member of a revolutionary workers' group and it was not long before he found himself in prison. In 1903 he was exiled to Siberia as a dangerous character, but he escaped after a few months of exile and continued his revolutionary work under a number of assumed names. In 1908 he was captured and exiled again but once again he escaped, only to be recaptured and exiled for a longer period. But a third time he escaped, and a third time he was captured. In all Stalin has been exiled, has escaped and has been recaptured five times.

He worked for a time as a revolutionary journalist on the papers Sviezda and Pravda, both of which are now powerful papers in the U.S.S.R. After the revolution he became commissar for nationalities in the new Soviet government. He fought against the Poles in 1919-20, and afterward became a member of the revolutionary military council. The death of Lenin brought him to the top of the Soviet Union, a position which he has retained, not always easily, ever since.

Stalin has been called almost everything in the democratic press. He has been labelled as an opportunist, a snake in the grass, a bandit chief, a dictator of the utmost ruthlessness, and everything else. The Communist press on this continent, of course, has invariably exalted him as all-wise and all-benevolent. The fact of the matter is that very few people know anything about him. It is significant, however, that when he finally abandoned his own name of Joseph Vissarionovich Djugashvilli he chose the name of Stalin, which means 'steel'; apparently he thought that the name fitted him, and it certainly seems to have been well chosen. He is described by those who have met him as a man of small stature, engaging and affable manners, humour and courtesy; he can also project a feeling of terrifying disapproval when he is not pleased.

Recent events have shown us as conclusively as anything ever will that Premier Stalin is ready and anxious to join with the English-speaking democratic leaders in a plan to bring a lasting peace to Europe and to the world. Understandingly, he means to guard the interests of his own people and his country; so do Messrs. Churchill and Roosevelt. But he is ready to play the game. If he plays it as well as he plays the game of war we shall be fortunate in our ally.

Mrs. Roosevelt Rubs Noses

We have been fascinated by a news picture which has appeared in many of the papers in the past week, which shows Mrs. Roosevelt rubbing noses with her Maori guide in New Zealand. Mrs. Roosevelt wears an expression of pleased concentration; the guide, a handsome and amiable Maori, has that look of agreeable benevolence which Canadian hostesses assume when they say, 'Won't you have another cucumber sandwich?' Clearly he is delighted that the lady has chosen to rub noses with him, instead of shaking his hand in the Western fashion; Maoris think that hand-holding is somewhat indelicate. The picture is an object lesson in politeness, and it would take a woman of Mrs. Roosevelt's courage and fine feeling to make it possible.

Everyone is familiar with the story about Queen Victoria, who once entertained a somewhat uncultivated man at tea; seeing that her guest had left his spoon in his cup, the Queen unobtrusively put hers in her cup; whatever the Queen does is court etiquette, and in this way she put her visitor in the fashion, whatever the rest of her guests might think. Such small acts of courtesy are characteristic of great women.

Still, we are glad that we are not likely to meet a Maori; we could never rub noses with a sang-froid which Mrs. Roosevelt displays. At best it is a ticklish business, fraught with danger for the wearer of spectacles, and the tendency to snort in an unseemly manner in the midst of the greeting would be very hard to control. Shaking hands can be painful, and when meeting a stranger with a clammy hand it can be disgusting, but we prefer it to rubbing noses. The Maoris are a great people, and fine warriors, but if we meet one of them we shall bow from the waist saying, "Excuse me, you wouldn't like my nose; it's false".

NOTE AND COMMENT

Well, at least that spell of cold weather put the boots to the 'flu germ.

A fourteen years old boy in Chicago is charged with deserting his wife. Iniquitous! At that age he should have a greater sense of his responsibilities.

A lot of careless sneezers, coughers and spitters today seem to be interested in how to lose friends and influenza people.

A man interviewed by the Dundalk Herald says that he saw "the unusual sight of an old fox crossing the road and entering the government-owned gravel pit". What, may we ask, is unusual about seeing an old fox enter any government project?

In the lush prose of his kind, a radio commentator has described the Dardanelles as "a thorn pointed at Germany's Balkan rear". Let us hope that the rising tide of warfare will drive that thorn, like a bolt from the blue, right into Germany's Balkan bustle.

Controversial Broadcasting
(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

THE question of political broadcasting in Canada has been opened anew by Mr. Bracken as a result of the refusal of the CBC to carry his Hamilton speech, and it is beyond doubt that the existing regulations governing what is called controversial broadcasting need overhauling. It is a year now since Mr. Meighen attacked the CBC on this score and at that time it was confidently expected that something would be done. The board of governors of the CBC however has, as usual, done nothing; and now Mr. Bracken has returned to the attack.

The reason why the Meighen-Bracken criticisms should be adequate cause for a thorough revision of the present policy is that its original merit lay not in the wisdom of the board of governors and management of the CBC, but that it had been agreed upon and accepted by the political parties themselves. All that the CBC did was to formalize the carefully thought out proposals of the Radio Committee of the House of Commons in which all political parties were adequately represented. This is a fact very often forgotten by those who now discuss it, and should clear the CBC of any charge that it is playing favorites in its allocations of network time.

THE history of the present regulations go back to the report of the Radio Committee of 1939. Its suggestions were codified by the CBC and incorporated in a White Paper issued on July 8 of that year. It was then deemed to represent satisfactorily the views of all political parties. Three sections of it (31, 32, 33) laid down the policy on "party political broadcasting in the periods between election campaigns." The parties were to be permitted to purchase the networks of private stations always subject to considerations of fair distribution and program planning; free time was not to be available. This arrangement was continued until Jan. 22, 1940, when the board of governors set the White Paper aside for the duration of the war. The political parties protested and, following negotiations with the CBC, the White Paper policy was in part restored. The parties resented the banning of political broadcasts during a general election campaign; but they were not then opposed to the ban during periods between election campaigns. The upshot was that the White Paper policy with respect to election campaigns was restored.

The between-election-campaigns policy was modified: controversial broadcasting in such periods was to be over private stations only and, of course, by purchase. That is, the CBC was closed to this kind of broadcasting, but the parties, if they wished, could hire individual stations. This policy, agreed to in 1940, was thoroughly debated in the 1942 Radio Committee, but no serious suggestion was made by any party to open the CBC network to controversial broadcasting between elections.

THE difficulty, it seems to us, lies partly in the nature of broadcasting itself and partly in the fact that no group of men, be it a CBC board of governors, or a radio committee of the House of Commons can at any one time clearly envisage all the possible circumstances that can arise in the future. Public opinion changes, personalities change, the public interest in politics rises and wanes like the tides of the sea. What was perpectly suitable to everyone, for instance, as late as the summer of 1942, may become satisfactory to none a year later. Since the Conservative convention, certainly since the Ontario and federal by-election campaigns last summer, the political pot has been boiling, and the opposition parties doubtless feel they should have a voice on the network and resent and dispute the contention put forward somewhat unwisely by Dr. Frigon that the permitted broadcasts of government spokesmen represent policy, not politics. The border line is being hotly disputed.

It must be said for the government that it has been meticulous in its broadcast utterances. These have maintained a very high non-partisan level. But it is difficult not to feel some sympathy for Mr. Bracken who naturally never forgets that these non-partisan government statements of policy all emanate from men who are prominent members of the Liberal party. He doubtless asks himself whether it is possible to maintain absolutely a Jekyll and Hyde separatism of function, and he answers his own question in the negative.

NOBODY wants the CBC network to be flooded out by the politicians. No cure along that line should be sought. But, since it has been possible for the CBC to get together with the political parties in the past and hammer out a policy unanimously acceptable, it should be possible, in the light of present circumstances and needs, to do it again. The White Paper of 1939, as amended in 1940, should not be regarded as tables of stone engraved with the final words of wisdom on an admittedly difficult problem. Policy should be kept fluid and adapted to the varying needs and requirements of the listening audience as these manifest themselves in fuller experience. What is important is that the CBC should not lay itself open to the charge of being a creature of government, and mutual agreement of all political parties should in this aspect be the basis of its policy.

Mr. Jolliffe's Labour Bill

Mr. E. B. Jolliffe, the Ontario leader of the C.C.F., has been in Detroit, telling the people just what he and his party propose to do, in Ontario. The C.C.F., he says, has its own labour bill nearly completed and hopes to see it introduced at the coming session of the Legislature. According to Mr. Jolliffe, it will make provision for "true compulsory collective bargaining," as compared to the theoretical compulsion in the present bill.

Mr. Jolliffe likes to talk about compulsion. It seems to be a favorite theme of all C.C.F. leaders. We have recently heard from Mr. Winch of British Columbia something of the compulsory power the C.C.F. would wield if it ever got into power at Ottawa. Mr. Jolliffe's bill will define company unions, outlaw them, and provide penalties for the organizers and the companies permitting them; it will define in specific terms what are known as "unfair labour practices" and provide penalties for violations—something the present Act does not do, according to Mr. Jolliffe.

We have no doubt Mr. Jolliffe will approve of policemen and firemen being under the direction of union organizers, as opposed to the great body of taxpayers whose interests they are sworn to serve. So far as Mr. Jolliffe's Ontario Labour Bill is concerned, there is just one thing he forgot to tell his Detroit audience, and that is that he is not in a position to put it on the statute books of Ontario, for he happens to be leader of the Opposition and not of the Government.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AUSTRALIA'S COMPULSORY VOTE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In your editorial in The Examiner of Dec. 16, headed as above, you state that compulsory voting has for some time been the law in Australia. Further definite information on this point would be useful when the small percentage of electors exercising their franchise in Canada, particularly in municipal elections, is causing unfavorable comment.

How long has compulsory voting been in force in Australia?

Does it apply to all elections, viz., Commonwealth (our Dominion), State (our Provincial) and Municipal Elections?

From such limited sources of information available to the writer it would seem only to be in force in the State of New South Wales, and it certainly has produced results in that state. In the election for the Legislative Assembly (our Provincial Parliament) held in March 1938 there were 1,607,833 voters listed and including some acclamations 1,216,494 voted, being 95.8 per cent of the eligible electors.

POLICE AND FIREMEN'S PENSIONS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I have read your article regarding the Montreal strike with a great deal of interest, perhaps I should mention the fact that I was born in Montreal and spent the first thirty years of my life there. I am sure everyone will agree with you that being a policeman or a fireman is something more than just a job, we surely do depend on them for protection of life and property too. Instead of going afield to blast the Montreal set up let's you and I start a local campaign to get a pension benefit for our Police and Fire Departments here in Peterborough. They are a fine crowd of men I know them all personally.

It is far easier to be critical than correct so, how about a little constructive advertising to help this pension plan along.

In closing I would like to mention that the "Montreal Fire Department" rates very high in the efficiency tests for the North American continent. They also have a splendid "Pension Retirement Fund" for both the Police and Fire Departments, so may be we should take a page out of their book and start the ball rolling right here at home for our Police and Fire Departments. They are worthy I assure you.

Thanking you in anticipation of this letter making print.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR MISS DIX: In one of your articles recently you said that it was a pity that there was not some way in which boys and girls could test their feelings for each other before they married so as to find out whether they just had a passing fancy for each other, or the love that endures.

I would suggest that a good way to meet this situation would be for the marriage law to be amended so as to make every marriage binding for five years. During that time no divorce should be granted for any cause whatsoever. I think this would solve the problem of hasty marriages and thus eliminate a lot of trouble by putting a quietus on puppy love.

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

ANSWER: It's an idea. Certainly it would cause the most impetuous and romantic of Romeo to stop and think before he asked Juliet to climb down from her balcony and hasten to the Marriage License Bureau if he knew that he would have to stand her for five long weary years, no matter if she came up to expectations or not. Nor would Juliet be so eager to scramble down off of her perch into Romeo's arms if she knew there was no getting out of them for five years, even if she did see somebody who looked better to her than he did.

It is the ease and comparative cheapness of divorce that makes swapping partners such a common and popular pastime. When you can get rid of a wife for whom you have lost your taste, or a husband whose way of eating eggs has gotten on your nerves, easier than you can of a pet dog or a canary, it is human nature to feel that you don't have to give the matter much thought or consideration. If you don't like your current mate, there is always Reno, or Florida, where you can be relieved of your incubus and be free to try it over again.

But five years! That is something else yet again. That is a long stretch, and it seems longer if you have to pass it in the enforced companionship of a wife who is a bore, or who nags, or who poisons you with her cooking, or who runs up bills that keep your nose to the grindstone. And it seems an eternity to a woman who is tied to a husband who grouches and grumbles, or passes into the silence whenever he is crossed in any way, or who is a tightwad who has to have a major surgical operation performed on him to get the price of a hat out of him, or who is finicky and fussy about his eating and who always throws his Mother's biscuit in his wife's teeth, or who drinks, or gambles, or philanders.

Many a man and woman who marry almost at first sight would pause long enough for thought before they signed on the dotted line if there was that five-year clause in the marriage license. They would have their hearts x-rayed and fluoroscoped and their blood pressures taken and a psychiatrist to analyze their emotions to try to find out if what they felt was real love, or just that last cocktail, and whether the remedy for it was marriage or bicarbonate.

Moreover, there is no doubt that if people had to stay married for five years it would increase the permanence of marriage, not only because they would go into it more cautiously, but because they would get used to each other's faults and peculiarities and they would no longer rub them the wrong way, as they did at first. They would get over expecting perfection in their mates and learn to take what they have, and like it.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman of a very selfish, jealous disposition and when I am angry I do not care how much I hurt anyone. My husband and I have been married over thirty years and I have made his life a hell on earth. Mine has been, too.

For the past fifteen years my husband has had companionship and pleasure with other women. I have broken up two or three of his affairs, but now there is one that I will not be able to break up because he is very fond of her and could be very happy with her, and he just stays with me because of family and position and what we have accumulated.

Would you advise us to divide equally what we have and for me to go on with my profession (it is really the only thing that I have cared for) and give him a chance to have a wife who will be a real wife to him and make him happy; or for us to go on living with him dreading to come home, and me knowing always that there is someone else?

ANSWER: There is nothing holy or sacred in a marriage like yours, and I cannot see how any good end is served by keeping on with a relationship that is a mockery of all that God intended marriage to be. I can think of nothing more demoralizing to the characters of both than for a husband and wife to dwell, day after day, year after year, under the same roof, facing each other across the same table at every meal, filled with hatred of each other that poisons the very air they breathe and that brings out everything that is worst in their natures.

Such husbands and wives are murderers at heart, for they are hoping and praying for death to free them from the mates they loathe, and it seems to me that they are just as wicked as they would be if they actually took the lives of those whose happiness they have slain.

Second Verse, Please

There was a time, and not so very long ago, when many people had a certain squeamishness or objection in regard to including in the National Anthem, "God Save the King," the words:

"O Lord our God arise,
Scatter his enemies
And make them fall,
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks...."

Yes, in our revised opinion of matters as they stand today in the world, we would say, sing this once supposedly offensive and odious verse—sing it with every ounce of fervor we can put into it, and instead of rendering just the familiar opening verse of "God Save the King," which sounds mainly a personal note for His Majesty's well-being, let us have the entire fine anthem sung in our schools and churches, with all due emphasis on the "Scatter His Enemies" petition.—Summerside Journal.

A Bible Message

Now after that John was put in prison, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel.

Now as he walked by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers, and Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me and I will make you to become fishers of men....

And they went into Capernaum; and straightway on that sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught. And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority and not as the scribes.

And there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out, saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God. And Jesus rebuked them, saying Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the unclean spirit had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him

And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him. And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region round about Galilee. (Mark 1: 14-17, 21-28.)

He Liked His Jam

Quite in the manner of Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes, a true detective story is told in the Canadian Police Gazette.

The widow, Mary Ennis, lived alone. She was found murdered in her London, England, home. Search of her house showed that the cupboard had been "jimmied" open. An empty cash box lay on the floor. There was the motive. Scotland Yard was notified. An inspector arrived, accompanied by a fingerprint expert. They examined the whole house. In the kitchen a piece of dry clay was found. "This is our clue," said the inspector, "this and the jam jar."

Back in Scotland Yard laboratory the piece of clay was subjected to analysis. From their tests the experts learned that the clay was not London mud but a type only to be found in Dorking.

Records revealed the name of a "jam-loving thief by th ename of Jim Sully." He had a sweetheart living in Dorking. Dorking was the place where the laboratory had determined the piece of clay came from.

Sully was arrested and convicted on a murder charge. "He was sent to the gallows because of his love for jam and because of the mud which came from Dorking." — Sarnia Canadian Observer.

Henry M. Gains Of CNR Retires

MONTREAL, Dec. 21—After 46 years of service with the Canadian National Railways, H. M. Gain, superintendent, St. Lawrence Division, has retired under the Company's pension regulations, it was announced today by R. C. Johnston, general superintendent, Montreal district. Mr. Gain's assistant, A. M. Shea, has been named to take over the duties of superintendent, the appointment being approved by F. L. C. Bond, vice-president and general manager of the National System's Central Region. The St. Lawrence Division extends from Portland, Me. to Brockville, Ont., being approximately 900 track miles.

Henry Martin Gain is a native of Lindsay, and began his railway career at the age of 18 as a messenger with the Canadian Express Company. After working on various train routes handling express traffic, he was promoted in June, 1904, to route agent, at Richmond, Que. Six years later, Mr. Gain transferred to the Transportation Department of the Grand Trunk Railway, at Montreal, as a conductor, afterwards serving as a trainmaster here, Belleville, Ont., and Richmond, until May, 1924, when he was named assistant superintendent in the Operating Department. He returned to Montreal in this latter capacity in December, 1927, and was appointed superintendent, St. Lawrence Division, in February, 1939, from which position he now retires. Mr. Gain was well-known throughout his territory and was always found on the scene where trouble had developed. In recent years, when heavy rainstorms struck in the Eastern Townships area, Mr. Gain was often referred to as "the washout expert," as he quickly made arrangements to replace damaged sections of line, restoring service with little delay.

Mr. Shea was born, educated and commenced railway work in Montreal, his first job being as a brakeman in the Transportation Department of the Grank Trunk Railway, in June, 1911. Five years later, he was promoted to conductor and, in January, 1942, was named trainmaster. Mr. Shea became assistant superintendent, St. Lawrence Division, in June of that year, from which position he is now appointed superintendent. For a term, Mr. Shea was chairman of Division No. 75, Order of Railway Conductors.

Troops Guarding Bolivian Mines

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 21 (AP). —Troops guarded Bolivia's tin ore mines today as a Nationalist Junta which yesterday overthrew the government of Gen. Enrique Penaranda announced it was firmly entrenched and discounted rumors a counter-revolution had begun.

The troops were stationed at the mines, producing a large portion of the tin ore used in the manufacture of British and United States arms, in one of the first acts of the new government which pledged, however, to live up to Bolivia's commitments to the United Nations.

Victor Paz Esetensoro, leader of the coup and new finance minister, told an interviewer that "the Atlantic Charter and other obligations of Bolivia will be respected and maintained" and "the new government in no case will alter the international situation at the side of the United Nations."

An executive decree of last April, declaring war on the Axis, was affirmed by the legislature December 4.

Dispatches from Santiago, Chile, noted that the nationalist revolutionary movement, from which most of the new leaders are drawn has long campaigned against control of the mining industry by the three major producing companies. These advices said the coup could hardly fail to affect the production of tin.

Couple Take Trans-Canada Airplane Trip As Part Of Golden Wedding Anniversary

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (Special). — We have been looking forward most keenly to this trip and would have been terribly disappointed if anything had happened to prevent it. While we have travelled to the West numerous times by train, this is our first plane trip and we expect to get an entirely new view of the countryside from the air.

Youthful Boxer Dies After Bout

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP)—Al Reasoner, 23-year-old lightweight boxer, died in Columbus hospital today, five hours after he suffered a technical knockout in a 10-round boxing bout last night with Freddie Dawson of Chicago.

Reasoner, who had been boxing professionally since October 1942, was unconscious when he was carried from the ring in the 10th round and died without regaining consciousness, said Dr. E. J. Buchan of the Illinois Athletic Commission.

Dr. Buchan, who said the cause of the young boxer's death was cerebral hemorrhage, announced an inquest would be held. He termed death "an accident."

Dawson outboxed Reasoner in the first nine rounds of their headline bout at the Marigold Gardens, and at the start of the final round, the Chicagoan sent the Hines, Ill., lightweight to the canvas with a left hook. Reasoner, who weighed 137½ to Dawson's 135½, arose at a one count and Dawson peppered him with a two-fisted attack, sending him to the canvas for the third time in the round.

By FRED D. CRAIG

The impact of war upon baseball is effectively illustrated by the pitching and batting average of the American League, just officially released. Many of the loop's best hitters are included in the almost 200 big leaguers now in the armed services and their absence from the game is reflected not only in the anemic batting performances of last season but in the effectiveness with which the pitchers kept the hitters under control. You could not expect to see so many power houses depart without expecting to find the batting average of the entire league dropped eight points from .258 in 1942 to .249 for the last campaign, nor that the Detroit Tigers were able to lead the loop in club batting with a .261 average as against an average of .276 for the Boston Red Sox in 1942. Although the veteran Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox won the individual batting championship with the low average of .328, Detroit grabbed off most of the other batting honors. Rudy York led the sluggers with 34 home runs and led in runs batted in and in total bases. Only five American League regulars managed to hit .300 or better during the season.

* * * * * *

When you come to the pitching records the story is the same. Not only did Spud Chandler of the New York Yanks lead the league with the lowest earned run average allowed by any pitcher —1.69—since Walter Johnson came up with a 1.49 performance away back in 1919 but no fewer than 29 American League pitchers who twirled 45 innings or more managed to stay under the 3 earned run mark. That was the greatest number to turn the trick since 33 twirlers managed to do it in 1918. It was distinctly a pitcher's year and the flingers were boss all the way through. Chandler had a wonderful season. The Yank veteran won 20 games and lost only four during the season, pitched five shutouts, finished third in the strikeout column, twirled 20 complete games, of which 19 were victories in which he was on top of the batters all the way. At that in spite of the dominance enjoyed by the American League gunners over the hitter, Dizzy Trout was the only other pitcher in addition to Chandler to come through with twenty wins. The Tigers right-hander had a record for the season of 20 wins and 12 defeats.

Says C.A.H.A. Asked For It

Jack Koffman, Ottawa Citizen sports commentator blames the C.A.H.A. for the present hockey situation. He writes: "The explosion which hit hockey circles in the form of the R.C.A.F. no-Allan Cup ruling leaves the hockey promoters staggering. Any person, though, who figures the situation hardly can become much worse would be well advised to sit tight and await further developments. We'll hazard a guess the Army authorities will follow suit in the very near future. When that blowoff comes, Frank Sargent and his Canadian Amateur Hockey Association confreres should have no trouble discovering where they made their mistake. They fairly begged for grief when they allowed so much elasticity in their military replacement rules. It reached the stage where various Allan Cup-contending teams merely dug in at playoff time and came up with a serviceman or two to bolster their lineups. As one Ottawa and District A.H.A. official commented: "It was bound to reach this end sooner or later." Hockey's governing body may, as it did in pre-war days, continue to rule as it pleases. The service authorities, however, have decided they have had enough. In these times, with no service teams, the Allan Cup firing can be little more than an echo. The C.A.H.A. was so busy catering to the service teams it gave the civilian clubs little attention. Not only were the civilian clubs ignored, the situation left them with absolutely no chance of a fair shake in the playoff hunt."

* * * * * *

"Men anxious to foster civilian teams threw their arms up in complete discouragement," continues Koffman. "A civilian team was forced to abide by residence rules, deadlines for bringing in players and the like. Service teams, on the other hand, just about made up rules to suit themselves as they went along. Civilian managers and promoters were scared from the scene. Now, with service teams leaving them flat, the C.A.H.A. has nobody to turn to. The C.A.H.A. isn't the only group to blame for the present mess. Various promoters and managers throughout the country can thank themselves for killing the goose that laid the golden egg. They fought openly for the right to transfer "name" players to their own rinks. Most people knew plenty of the service-hockeyists were getting extra money; the boys in service drawing nothing but their ordinary pay were fully aware of the fact. Then, when the Broda incident hit the headlines, the end was in sight. Service authorities, possibly investigating the matter of paid hockey players even before the Turk was shanghaied, went the whole route in clearing up this matter."

* * * * * *

Not In Our Case

The laxity that Bre'er Koffman complains of on the part of the C.A.H.A. has been demonstrated frequently but it certainly was not in sight so far as the Petes were concerned last winter. In spite of the fact that the local team was entered as representing the Military Training Centre Brother Dudley failed ot grant any favors to the Peterborough outfit. In fact they were the victims of one of the most drastic rulings of the season when the authorities suddenly decided that because Hub Macey and Perce Nicholls had played senior hockey at the beginning of the season with Kingston they were not eligible to play intermediate here despite the fact that as soldiers they had been legitimately transferred to Peterborough. That adherence to red tape in the face of the general slackness with which C.A.H.A. affairs were operated has always been a mystery to this column. As we said before we are waiting to see what Dudley and Company will do when players who saw senior action with Kingston at the beginning of this season make application to play intermediate hockey in Camp Borden, Petawawa or wherever they may be stationed. Our bet is that last year's decision, which virtually robbed the Petes of a championship, will be forgotten completely.

Hamilton Majors are no doubt quite satisfied with the fact that after the 6th of January Toronto R.C.A.F. will be out of the hockey picture. The Fliers were cooking with gas last night when they handed the Majors a smart 6 to 2 trimming in Toronto. The Air Force power-packed crew ran in six goals in the first two periods without any comeback on the part of the Hamilton outfit and only two quick goals in the final period by Conick saved the Majors from being shut out. The game was costly to the Hamilton outfit in more ways than one because Dillon Brady crack left-winger of the ace line crashed into the boards and came up with torn shoulder ligaments. He will be out of action for some time. Incidentally the Majors will have to dig up a few more players because the Air Force ruling means the loss of some of their roster.

The Associated Press' annual poll for the selection of the most outstanding woman athlete of 1943 resulted in the crowning of Miss Patty Berg, women's estern open golf champion and now a lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. Miss Berg, who previously gained the honor in 1938, received the first-place vote out of the 52 sports editors in the poll, for a total of 118 points. It was only last June that she had returned to competition after suffering serious injuries in an automobile accident down in Texas in December, 1941.

The runner-up, with 76 points, was Pauline Betz, who defended her national tennis title at Forest Hills, N.Y., in September. Third in the list was Gloria Callen, prominent as a competitive swimmer. In the 13 years of the poll, only one woman athlete had previously captured the award for two years, this being Alice Marble, tennis queen, who headed the list in 1939 and 1940.

Wally Kilrea of Hershey Bears maintained leadership in point standing in the American Hockey League during the past week, compiling a total of 33 on 11 goals and 22 assists, according to statistics issued last night from circuit headquarters in New Haven. His teammate, Gaston Gauthier, was second with 31 points, while Cunningham and Burlington, both of Cleveland, were tied with 22 for third place.

Under the sponsorship of the Philadelphia Nationals, the Bradford, Pa., Club will re-enter the Pony Baseball League next season, and it is expected that Erie, Pa., will also join the circuit which operated last season with six teams in New York State.

Buys Stable.

Elmendorf Farm, near Lexington, Ky., with its stock of racing thoroughbreds was bought yesterday from the estate of the late Joseph E. Widener by his son, P. A. B. Widener. The latter announced the whole crop of 1944 yearlings would be offered at the Keeneland Sales next summer, but would send the pick of the two- and three-year-olds to the races.

Despite the protests of State Governor H. M. Adkins, the Arkansas Racing Commission yesterday granted a permit to the Oaklawn Jockey Club to conduct a race meeting at Hot Springs February 28 to April 1. The club's franchise expires in 1944.

Scout Johnny Nee of the New York Yankees said yesterday at St. Petersburg, Fla., major league clubs were breaking in new players on U. S. Army teams for the future supply of big league timber, many youngsters in the armed orces having had the opportunity of developing as diamond performers in the camps.

$500 Cheque.

Two days after he had become a private in the Army, Luke Appling, shortstop of the Chicago White Sox has been sent a $500 cheque as the 1943 batting champion of the American League.

Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers, announced yesterday he had acquired Tony Demers from Montreal Canadiens for the balance of the National Hockey League season. Demers has just been discharged from the Canadian Army and comes to the Rangers as part of the Phil Watson deal. Watson, unpermitted to give up his Montreal residence because of his war work, has been loaned to the Canadiens for the season in return for four players sent to New York. Patrick said that in return for Demers' services, he has granted the Canadiens permission to use Watson in games in New York. Demers is not in shape for N.H.L. competition immediately, Patrick said, and will report to Providence, R.I., of the American Hockey League for seasoning, subject to recall to the Rangers on 24-hour notice.

MONTREAL, Dec. 21—(CP).—The Gazette says today that Jerry McNeil, 17-year-old sensation in the nets for Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, "may be going to play with Toronto Maple Leafs on the lend-lease basis this Saturday."

McNeil tried out at the beginning of the season with Montreal Canadiens, but was sent down to Royals for seasoning.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 — (AP). — When such a basketball expert as the Oklahoma Aggies' Hank Iba grudgingly admits that a suggested change in basketball "might work," this dept. feels safe in popping off about it...Our idea was to hoist the basket up out of reach of the extra-tall boys and to make it larger so that shooters would have a reasonable chance of hitting their mark without getting into those traffic jams under the bucket.....Iba, who contends that basketball will see a lot of post-war changes, agreed that anything that tends to produce more outside shots will give the spectators a chance to see what's going on inside.

Coincidence:

Harry Lumley, the 17-year-old hockey goalie who made his big league debut with the Detroit Red Wings here Sunday, has the same name as the old Brooklyn outfielder who clouted nine home runs to lead the National League in 1904...And the way the Rangers fired pucks at him, Detroit's Harry probably thought he was playing his first big league game in one of those Ebbets Field pop-bottle showers.

Sportpourri:

The two lightweight champs, Sammy Angott and Beau Jack, lively will meet in an over-weight scrap at the Garden January 28....Wonder what good that'll do?...Emery Hresko, outfielder-pitcher of the Flint, Mich., American Legion baseball team, has been offered $2,500 to sign with the Giants but decided to wait until he heard from the Tigers' Egan before taking it...Allie Stolz's kid brother, Stanley, made his debut as an amateur boxer last week in the same Newark A.C. ring where Allie started as a 105-pounder. Stanley weights 125....Steve Warga, who won the Miami open golf tournament, is an air line radio operator, and Johnny Bulla, who tied for third, is an air line pilot. Perhaps they're used to hob-nobbing with birdies.

ROSE BOWL BOUND—Bill Stern will be at the mike for the National Broadcasting Co. when Washington and Southern California collide in the Rose Bowl game, January 1.

Quebec League Will Carry On

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 — (CP).— The Quebec Senior Hockey League decided last night to attempt to carry on after the loss of the Montreal R.C.A.F. with the possibility put forward that Valleyfield Braves of the Montreal Intermediate League, and the University of Montreal C.O.T.C. might enter the league.

At a meeting lasting almost for three hours last night, a committee was formed to investigate the two teams and report back at another meeting Thursday night as to whether the Valleyfield squad and the University team were considered strong enough to enter the league.

Last night's meeting was called after the R.C.A.F. regulations forced withdrawal of Les Alouettes and left the league that started the season with six teams, faced with the possibility of folding up for the duration after being cut to three teams—Ottawa Commandos, Quebec Aces and Montreal Royals. Montreal Army and Cornwall Army had been forced to drop out earlier in the season.

At the same time, Tommy Gorman, general manager of the Canadian Arena Company, told delegates that Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League would be willing to play exhibition games against Aces and Commandos at Quebec and Ottawa respectively, to aid the finances of the league, providing permission for the exhibition contests could be arranged.

Toronto Fliers Humble Hamilton Team

By The Canadian Press

In one of the few remaining games of their shortened Senior O. H. A. season, Toronto R.C.A.F. last night at Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens humbled Hamilton Majors for the second time in the campaign with an impressive 6-2 victory in which the airmen registered all of their counts in the first two periods. The visitors finished with a flourish but the Fliers held them off after Johnny Conick found the net for Hamilton's brace of goals in the first three minutes of the third period.

R.C.A.F rolled up a 4 to 0 lead in the first stanza with scores by Peanuts O'Flaherty, Wilson, Bud Poile and Bobby Laurent and it was 6-0 before the second recess after Red Heron and O'Flaherty found the range, the former Cornwall Army puckchaser registering his second goal at 16:56 in the second period.

It was the third toss-back of the season for Majors and the fourth victory against six losses for the Fliers. Hamilton still occupies first place in the standing with 15 points, one point up from Kingston Frontenacs whom the R. C.A.F. next meet Wednesday night at Kingston. Air Force is now only one point down from St. Catharines in third spot. R.C.A.F. will have only four more scheduled games in the senior O.H.A. before withdrawing from the circuit on January 6.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

TORONTO, Dec. 21 — (CP). — The last "incident" to raise a howl from press and public before the R.C.A.F. withdrew its senior hockey teams was transfer of three outstanding players from the Army at Cornwall, Ont., to the Air Force in Toronto just in time for them to score three of the four goals as Toronto R.C.A.F. beat Toronto Navy 4-3 in an O.H.A. senior game.

The three players involved were Bud Poile and Peanuts O'Flaherty, former N.H.L. men, and Bobby Laurent. When the trio arrived in the Air Force dressing room they were still wearing their Army uniforms. There were rumors that the great Neil Colville might also be transferred from the Army to the Air Force in Toronto.

Just the day before R.C.A.F. Headquarters clamped down on hockey completely there was some pertinent comment on the Laurent-Poile-O'Flaherty deal from their former headquarters, Cornwall, where Jack Park of the Standard-Freeholder wrote: "There are still a lot of people who believe men who were hockey stars before enlisting have not changed their vocation since joining the services....A lot of fellows are seeing more action in the rinks than in the ranks."

Silencing of such criticism of services hockey was as important to the individual players involved as to the service generally.

Moxy by Mervyn:

Mervyn (Red) Dutton, N.H.L. managing director, told Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson how he signed his first N.H.L. playing contract. Dutton had a hunch not to sign a contract in the summer of 1926 when he heard Lester Patrick was on his way to see Red at the construction camp where he worked. So Red climbed aboard a horse, rode out of camp leaving word that he would be away several days. Patrick didn't wait and a few days later came word that the old Western Canada League had blown up and that Dutton, formerly with the Calgary Tigers, was automatically a free agent.

Manager Eddie Gerard of Montreal Maroons then visited Dutton's camp and offered him three-year contract at $5,000 a year plus a bonus of $5,000 for signing. Red's previous top was $3,000 for a season and he was so dazed by the offer he put his hands over his eyes and tried to think. Gerard thought Red was figuring a counter bid and upped the offer to $6,000 all around, or $24,000 for three years. "I just came out of the trance and yelled: 'Where's that contract and where's the pen?'" says Dutton. He signed on the spot.

Bruins Unbeaten On Home Ice

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs invade Boston to-night for the National Hockey League's only encounter of the evening. Having a three-point margin over the third-place Bruins the Leafs cannot be ousted from second place, but a bitter struggle is in prospect.

The Bruins are still unbeaten on their home ice this season, and that record includes a convincing 8-5 victory over the Leafs. At Toronto, the Bruins have won one and lost one.

The re-shuffled Leafian pack to-night will again have Benny Grant in the nets where Turk Broda cavorted for so many seasons. The Leafs were advised yesterday that Paul Bibeault, former Canadiens' goalie, now in the army, is likely to stay there. Leafs had had hopes of getting Bibeault as a permanent netminder when they heard he was likely to be discharged from the army.

Benny hasn't been doing so badly at that. The Leafs have won five and lost two since the start of the month, with a total of 37 goals for and 24 against.

To-night's tilt is the first of three week-night games before the Christmas rush. On Wednesday Detroit plays at Chicago, and on Thursday Rangers are at Detroit.

Hockey Interest At New High In Hectic Year

By CHARLIE EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

War's impact hit hockey with full force in 1943 as the armed services supplied most of the big moments on the ice and in committee rooms.

Spectator interest reached new peaks across the country. Junior and professional hockey established attendance records. The National Hockey League weathered the threat of collapse to become more popular than ever. But, still, service hockey provided the fireworks.

For the first time, civilian clubs failed to figure seriously in Allan Cup play-offs. Enlistments had loaded service teams with former professional stars and, of the nine clubs entering interprovincial competition, only Port Arthur Bearcats were civilians. Bearcats faded in the first round.

Ottawa Commandos, an army team featuring 11 former N.H.L. players, won the championship by beating Victoria Army in the final. As they were presented with the Allan Cup at Calgary, the boos of fans foreshadowed a wave of opinion which seriously curtailed service hockey before the current season began.

Criticism of policies which had permitted service athletes to remain in Canada playing hockey brought defence department action in October. It was announced participation in sports would not be allowed to interfere with "normal training and duties of soldiers" and that those qualified would be sent overseas immediately on completion of training.

Clubs Withdrawn.

Results were startling. Within a few days, loss of players forced withdrawal from senior leagues of army teams in Halifax, Montreal, Cornwall, Ont., Toronto and Regina. Calgary R.C.A.F. Mustangs folded and later combined with Calgary Navy to form one team. Air Force teams in Ottawa and Yorkton, Sask., collapsed.

The most extensive curtailment of service hockey came December 17 when the R.C.A.F. announced that, after January 6, no Air Force members will be permitted to play in any organized league, the champions of which would be qualified to compete for the Allan Cup or Memorial Cup. This meant the break-up of R.C.A.F. teams in Halifax, Cape Breton, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, and Vancouver and withdrawal of Air Force players from Calgary Tecumseh-Mustangs.

Where possible, service teams are continuing but in most cases are not so super-charged with stars that civilian clubs are outclassed.

Increasing popularity of the seniors reduced attendance at junior games, particularly in Winnipeg, where the youngsters had long been favored. But the juniors made a stirring comeback in the Memorial Cup final at Toronto, where Winnipeg Rangers beat Oshawa Generals before a six-game paid attendance of 73,839, a record for any hockey series in Canada.

Detroit Red Wings won the N.H.L. championship and the Stanley Cup in a season which saw a new league attendance record of 1,446,827. Then dozens of professional players were called into the army during the summer and collapse of the league was threatened by player shortages.

Finally, the new season opened in November with 'teen-aged youngsters and military-exempt veterans filling the gaps. Continued N.H.L. popularity was proved by Mervyn (Red) Dutton's announcement that attendance is up seven per cent. over the same period of last year. Dutton, who succeeded to the N.H.L. throne when Frank Calder died in February, had safely leaped the chasm between fiery player-manager and shrewd businessman.

New York Yanks Nose Out Top Rugby Squad

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP)—It's the New York Yankees doing the rags to riches routine to move from the biggest disappointment of 1942 to number one team of 1943 but Joe McCarthy's clan had to go hard to nose out Notre Dame's Irishmen.

For the twelfth straight year the annual poll of sports writers conducted by The Associated Press has produced a baseball winner but football might have broken the string this time if Notre Dame had been able to get past the Great Lakes Sailors in the last game.

Final tabulations show the Yanks and Irish received the same number of first place votes, 32 each, but the world champs got their winning margin in total points, 168-166, through the balloting for second and third.

If the upset by Great Lakes cost Notre Dame the title, the fact that the Yankees bounced back to beat the St. Louis Cardinals in the World Series won the crown.

Once again it was the World Series that counted most with the voters just as last year's top award had gone to the Red Birds from St. Louis after they had dazzled the baseball world with their speed.

Of the 27 teams mentioned in the poll, 13 were football clubs with the remainder divided among basketball with five, baseball with four, hockey with three and swimming with two.

Illinois' Whiz Kids, who won the Big 10 basketball title without losing a game, surprised with 11 first place ballots and enough points, 57, to give them third place by a comfortable margin over the Chicago Bears who placed fourth with 18 points and only one vote for first.

Rotarians Bring Gifts For Orphanages

Christmas music featured the annual Yuletide luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel on Monday.

There was no speaker and the program was almost entirely of a musical nature.

Rotarian John Smith led in the community singing of a number of Christmas carols, including "Come All Ye Faithful". Miss Orma Lacheur's fine voice was heard to excellent advantage in the Christmas song "Jesu Bambino" and in a double number "I Hear a Forest Praying" and "In an Old Fashioned Town." Ben Smith, Salvation Army songster leader and bandsman contributed a number of the most enjoyable cornet solos and Rotarian Harry Northrop who was the accompanist for the program played "Mighty Like a Rose" as a finely executed piano solo.

Rotarian Fred L. Roy presented Miss Lacheur with a bouquet of flowers as a mark of the appreciation of the club for her contribution to the program.

The Rotarians each brought a gift which will be distributed to the children at the Children's Aid Society shelter and in St. Vincent's Orphanage.

"This is the best-fed Rotary Club on the continent," said Past President Fred L. Roy in moving a vote of thanks to Rotarian Chris. Graham for the service rendered during the past year. Rotarian Graham acknowledged the vote in a brief speech.

Lieut. David Rogers, R.C.N.V.R. was a guest and in welcoming him reference was made to his fine record in combined operations overseas. It was pointed out that wherever Canadians had landed on a hostile shore Lieut. Rogers had been one of the boys who put them ashore his experiences including Dieppe, North Africa and Sicily and Italy.

Lieut. Rogers who is a son of a former Rotarian Claude H. Rogers expressed thanks for the privilege of being present at the luncheon.

In a Christmas message President George A. Gillespie who presided said that former president, M. H. Riddle, had left word that the Rotarians were to be driven hard for the balance of the Rotary year of 1943-44. President Gillespie also impressed upon the members the importance of voting at the municipal elections.

There will be no meeting of the club next week.

Chinese Capture 4 Large Bases

CHUNGKING, Dec. 21 —(AP)— Chinese forces have smashed forward in the central China rice area, capturing the four main Japanese advanced bases of Lihsien, Tsingshih, Nanhsien and Ansiang, Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters announced today.

The victory, a follow-up to the smashing at Changteh of a Japanese offensive against the important Chinese base and communications centre of Changsha, effectively cleared the northern banks of Lake Tungting. It also made the position of the Japanese forces between the lake and the Yangtse River precarious.

The original Japanese offensive against Changteh and Changsha was launched from the four strongpoints capture of which was announced today.

During the evening an address was read and a purse was presented to each. Mr. Tedford thanked the family for their gifts and the evening's entertainment. Altogether there were 27 children and grandchildren present.

Board Requests Probable Cost Of Retiring Allowance Plan

After a three-hour discussion and studying of teachers' suggestions, members of the Board of Education at a special meeting Monday night made progress on retiring allowances to the point where C. S. Browne and Inspector Keith Wightman were appointed to work out a schedule on certain figures as a basis to give some idea of the probable cost of operating such a scheme. But it is an estimate only.

The motion moved by D. V. Canning and Alex Sollitt that Mr. Browne and Inspector Wightman make an estimate of the cost to the Board for retiring allowances based on the existing Ontario Teachers' and Inspectors' Superannuation Fund such that that principals of the Public Schools will have made up to the sum of $1,500 per annum, made assistants up to $1,250 per annum, and women teachers up to $1,000 per annum.

The Collegiate teachers' pensions will be made up to $1,500 per annum and women teachers to $1,200 per annum. The cost of the Board is in no case to exceed $400 a year, and it will be based on a teaching service of 2 years or more, and the estimate is to be made on the retiring ages of 62 and 65 for women, and 65 and 68 for men; the additional three years in each case is only for those who require that time to complete their 40 years of service. It was also decided that while these figures were being prepared, that the two men work out a schedule on a scheme of an annual allowance based on years' service in Peterborough. Since 90 per cent of the teachers are engaged from a period beginning in September it was decided to use this time period as a computing basis.

The memorandum prepared by Collegiate teachers brought in the question of dependents, and after some discussion the ramifications of such a clause decided members to leave that out of their considerations Changing conditions in a few years, they reasoned, might upset their entire calculations after a course had been definitely adopted.

Get Idea of Cost.

After discussing the proposals submitted by the teaching staffs, Mr. Browne suggested that they pick a basis of figures for comparison and make an estimate in order that they would have a foundation on which to base their figuring for a suitable scheme. From there, he pointed out that the Board would at least have some idea of the actual costs, and could plan its course accordingly. T. J. Carley declared that the Board would have to keep an eye on costs so that in a few years' time they would not become so exorbitant that a subsequent Board would have to break faith with the teachers who had put faith in the plan.

To add to the problem confronting the Board, they not only have the present staff to arrange for, but several teachers, who have completed their 40 years' teaching and who have retired in the past few years have submitted a request that they be considered under the allowance arrangement.

Fred Reed expressed the opinion of the members when he stated the Board would have to draw the line somewhere and the decision as to how far back the new setup could be made to apply was left for further study.

The members made it very definite that no plan had been adopted and that the calculations being computed for them were to be a basis of cost and nothing else. The two men are to present a report as soon as possible.

By the time the discussion had touched on married and single teachers, deaths, marriages, dependents, annuities and length of service, Mr. Canning remarked that someone would be going crazy over the calculations.

Two applications were received for the position of school nurse, which is open for only three months. On a motion by H. G. Walker and Mr. Carley, subject to the approval of the Deputy Minister of Health, it was decided to appoint Mrs. Donald Diplock at a salary of $100 a month, with no cost of living bonus.

C.W.A.C's Give Party For Children

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(CP Cable.) —It is hard to say who was having the most fun—Col. J. L. Ralston, Canadian Defence Minister, three-year-old Patty of the company of the Canadian Women's Army Corps giving a Christmas party for children of one of London's worst-bombed slum areas.

Crushing a rag doll with cheeks as red as her own, Patty kept saying in a singsong voice, "I've a dolly. I've a dolly."

"'Er never 'a done before. 'Er always asking for one," said George, Pattys brother, with eyes as bright as his sister's.

Col. Ralston squatted beside another boy, fair-haired Reggie, having as much fun as the four-year-old youngster who hugged a grey elephant. Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, senior officer at Canadian Military Headquarters, London, stood by, smiling.

"I don't know when I have had so much fun," said the Minister, laughing. "This is a wonderful party and in line with the grand service our girls are doing everywhere. It shows how extremely thoughtful they are, providing a party for the children."

Picking up the elephant he added, "think of the nights they worked making these toys."

The C.W.A.C. members worked hard and late but their reward could be seen in the eyes of Cpl. Mary Clegg of Levis, Que., playing with a little boy named Brian, and Margaret King of Hamilton, who held Patty close.

Long before the children arrived the Canadian girls were leaning from the windows of their barracks off the Strand, watching for their guests. When they arrived, each was whisked off by C.W.A.C. S. like Pte. Peggy Sheldon of Cochrane, Ont., who grabbed Michael, son of a member of the R.A.F. All those at the party were the children of servicemen.

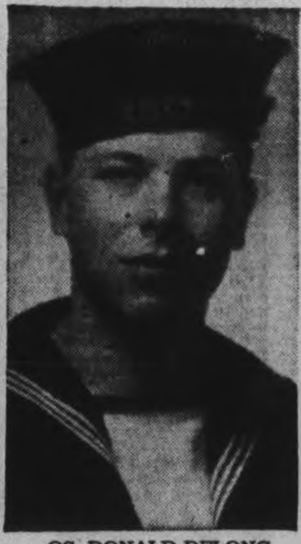
The children first saw movies, then had supper of sandwiches, soft drinks, cocoa and candy.

Pte. Pat Rook of Toronto, acted as Santa Claus.

Airmen and women of the R.C. A.F. also gave a party for children of a much-bombed neighborhood nearby. Cpl. Harold Pullen and Cpl. Burney Laddy of London, Ont., dressed as clowns, galloped around with shouting boys on their backs. Sqdn. Ldr. W. A. Davison, of Brockville, acted as Santa Claus.

PTE. HAROLD DELONG

AB. FRED DELONG



OS. DONALD DELONG

THREE IN FORCES—Three sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Delong, 219 Caddy Street, are serving in Canada's armed forces. Pte. Harold Delong, who is 20, joined the Prince of Wales Rangers (A.F.) and went overseas in September, 1942, and was drafted to the Hastings Prince Edward Regiment. However, he is still in England at a Canadian training school, acting as an instructor. Able Seaman Fred Delong has spent 13 months on a corvette, and has seen some action at a distance while on convoy work. Ordinary Seaman Donald Delong enlisted in February and he is now stationed in Canada, but was on a minesweeper for a time. All three boys were employed at the C.G.E.

adjustments is still under consideration by union officials and representatives of the municipal commission, provincial body that controls the finances of Montreal.

Today's walk-out differs from that of last week in that the white collar workers have already won union recognition and are concerned only with wage increases. Recognition of the union came last week—after a strike threat—when the city accepted the majority report of a conciliation board favoring the national syndicate.

Franco Frees Many Prisoners

MADRID, Dec. 21 (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, in a Christmas gesture in favor of national unity, decreed today the conditional release of all Republicans jailed under the law of military rebellion, and also freed priests, soldiers and Falangists imprisoned by his regime for political purposes.

Under terms of the decree, published in the official bulletin after last night's Cabinet decision, the prisoners' liberation will be made conditional upon reports of their good conduct, but it was learned that the greater part of 34,000 still said to be held exclusively on charges of military rebellion would be released.

The decree did not concern political prisoners held on criminal grounds.

Franco and Jose Luis Arrese, secretary-general of Spain's single political party, Falange, also announced the Falange militia no longer is needed. Presumably the powerful militia soon either will be disbanded or incorporated in the army.

Arrese asked for "a certain elasticity" in Spain's regime. He said this would be interpreted by the admission in the press of a certain amount of constructive criticism.

The Falange, Arrese said, does not aspire to a dictatorship, but to a system of government based on the rights of man.

Such phrases as these, which may be viewed abroad as a startling about-face in Spanish policy, really are only a continuation of a trend evident when Count Francisco Gomez Jordana took over Spain's Foreign Ministry in September, 1942, and when Spain's foreign policy changed from non-belligerency to official neutrality.

McIntosh Given Two Years In Penitentiary

Convicted by a jury on Monday of having broken into and stolen a large quantity of tea from the A. & P. Store on Charlotte street, January 22 last, John D. McIntosh was sentenced this morning by Judge Smoke to two years in the penitentiary.

"You have a record that is certainly not to be proud of," said His Honor. "Apparently you started out as a juvenile, and have spent several terms in the reformatory. It seems that nothing so far has had any effect on your outlook, and that the only thing for you is a term in penitentiary."

The term of the sentence begins today.

McIntosh was brought up from the cells at the noon hour after a jury had retired to consider the evidence in the case of Robert Blackwood who was tried for assault and causing actual bodily harm to Allan Edmison, Police Constable, at a dance in the Canadian Legion Hall on October 22.

Has Crime Record

Crown Attorney McElderry read the "crime sheet" comprising McIntosh's record, including several thefts and indecent assault. His counsel, John A. Bradshaw, made a plea on his behalf especially mentioning from his own knowledge, "and not from anything the accused told me," the disabilities of a home life that was not all it should have been. The prisoner interrupted his counsel with an expression that he objected to that comment and wanted it left out. Apparently that was all Mr. Bradshaw had to say for the prisoner, twenty-five years old, although he mentioned that McIntosh had volunteered for military service in 1940 but was discharged.

Jurors Dismissed

Jury duty for all but the Blackwood panel of twelve ended yesterday afternoon when the verdict in the McIntosh case was brought in at 3 o'clock.

Addressing the jury in the McIntosh trial, Judge Smoke said he considered "that you have reached a proper conclusion. In my opinion the accused is guilty of the offense charged, and in that verdict you have lived up to the obligation which you undertook. I notice that some of you have been on several juries. You have all shown a willingness to participate in the administration of justice, and I thank you all on behalf of the county for your assistance and deliberations. I cannot say that I have agreed with all the verdicts given at this session, but I have no fault to find except in one case."

Judge Smoke did not refer specifically to that case, but he was obviously thinking of the action in which Wm. Locke of Stratford was found not guilty of reckless driving in an automobile a ident west of Hastings July 18 last in which Grover Kerr of Hastings was killed.

Counsel Commended

"It is not my privilege to preside in my own county as often as I should like." His Honor said this morning in a little tributary expression. "I want to express my appreciation of the excellent manner in which all have conducted themselves, Mr. McElderry, Mr. Gordon, Mr. Bradshaw. They were always fair and it has been a privilege on my part to have had the opportunity to preside over sessions where there has been such conduct on the part of counsel."

Works Employees Get Holiday December 27

The employees of the Board of Works draw a holiday with pay on Monday, December 27, by the council's action last night on Alderman Cotton's motion, seconded by Alderman Bradburn.

Mayor Hamilton told the council that the post-Christmas Monday would not be observed as a public holiday. He said the stores are closing and he has directed the civic offices to lock the doors at the city hall for the day, but banks will be open with skeleton staffs.

Alderman Gordon inquired whether the downtown offices were closing. He mentioned the law offices and some one told him the Law Association surely could get together and agree on such a simple thing as a holiday.

"Some of them would like to close, but there are others that like to stick around to see if any business will come to them." Alderman Gordon commented.

Local Branch Of British Firm Supports Christmas Cheer Fund

There is far more truth than fiction in the old saying "that blood runs thicker than water" which has been proved oft and again in more ways than one. The Peterborough branch of the G. Whitaker Co., Ltd., of Bradford, in Yorkshire, England, is staffed to a considerable extent with people whose roots go deep in the best traditions of the Old Land from which they hail, some of whom did valiant service in the country's need some twenty-five years ago.

This branch's personnel has given excellent support towards efforts to assist the sufferers from air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, their per capita average donations taking a foremost position in the fund's operations.

Their latest contribution of $95 appears today in the receipts, being a special contribution towards the gifts for Christmas which must be cabled over within the next couple of days.

Main Office C.G.E. Co., Ltd.

Throughout the various departments in the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., special boxes have been placed for the last few weeks which were made specially for the occasion by William Howe, and today the first of these is listed for the special Christmas donations, and comes from the Main Office, first floor, where the box has been under the supervision of C. C. Mowry. This yielded $36, which gives a start that augers well for those that will follow.

Two other groups are also listed, with the Peterborough Workers' and unemployed Association contributing a further $24 to those they have given on former occasions, this being brought in by Mrs. C. Holland and Mrs. J. Post, while the Lucky Strike Bait Works who has never yet failed to be represented in the special donations for Christmas sent by the fund since it began to operate, is recorded as giving $15 which was brought in by Bill Edgar of War Savings Stamp sales fame.

Fourteen Personal Gifts.

Personal gifts take a lead over all others combined, there being fourteen to the credit of this part of the fund's activities which include Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Kingdon, Mrs. J. Comstock, Sr., Victor Sullivan, Harry Tinney of Cavan, who made two gifts, one of which was for the children's fund; C. K. Lech, Miss S. Taylor and A. W. Jones, while five others appear under a press name among which is one designed "Three Of Us."

The Kaleidescopes donated by the Roy Powell family have found a ready sale, in fact of late they have no sooner come into the Examiner office than they have been picked up by people anxious to use them as useful Christmas gifts. Already the sum of $5.25 has appeared in this column from this one source, and today a further $12 appears, and it might be added that of ten brought into the office on Monday at the noon hour, only three remained at 6 o'clock when the office closed for the day.

Three separate items appear from various classes in the public schools, Grade 4 at Queen Alexandra School, and Grades 5 and 6 at May's School, each contributing the sum of $2.25, while Room 3 at Central is credited with $1.25.

Help Still Required

How many people would care to have to move out of their homes five days before Christmas, yet such is the lot of three thousand people which will undoubtedly include many children in the southwest part of England. The special fund to provide Christmas cheer will no doubt be called into action to see that these youngsters at least get something for Christmas.

The fund is still short of its objective by a little less than $800 which with yours and your help it can still make up in the very short time before it must be cabled over, if you will only act at once. Do it now when that impulse for the better things of life comes over you, and be very happy about it over the Christmas season.

Through Mervin Kinsman at Cavan, much help has come to the fund through dances which have been held in the Community Hall at this place. On Christmas night, another dance is being held in the interests of the fund, a similar event one year ago being most successful from every standpoint.

Genelco Employee Wounded Overseas

A former employee of the Genelco drafting room, Sergt. James Gilbert, who was a member of the Canadian Paratroopers, is officially reported wounded.

Sergt. Gilbert, who lived for a number of years in Florida, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Gilbert of Toronto. He was employed at the Genelco far some eight months before leaving to enlist in the Lanark-Renfrew Regiment and train as a paratrooper.

A short time before he went overseas he was married to Mary Jane Reed, Spadina Crescent, Toronto.

Robt. Blackwood Fined $100 And Costs

A fine of $100 and $50 costs was imposed on Robert Blackwood, who was convicted by a jury of having assaulted Allan Edmison, causing actual bodily harm, at a dance at the Canadian Legion Hall, October 22.

In default of the fine Judge Smoke substituted a penalty of two months in the county jail, and, if payment of costs was also defaulted, the jail term is to be extended by an additional month.

"If the accused had been charged with assaulting an officer in the performance of his duty I should have convicted him," Judge Smoke told the jury in emphasis of his agreement with their verdict.

Edmison is a constable of the Peterborough police force, and on the night of October 21 he was directed by Inspector Reid to go to the Legion Hall on a general assignment in his off shift to see that order was maintained. However, the Crown's charge was not laid under the section pertaining to assault of a police officer in the execution of his duty.

The incidents of a fracas about 12.30 a.m. that night have been reported from police court hearings.

Robert Blackwood and three other teenage youths paid fifty cents each for admission to the dance on the night of the offence. He previously lived in Campbellford until about six months ago.

The jury was confronted with conflicting evidence posing to them a decision of believing the evidence of Edmison or of the accused youth and the young witnesses, including two teenage girls, who had also been at the dance. Blackwood and three other boys went together to the dance.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., was defence counsel.

During the Sicilian campaign he did work with the wounded and later resumed his duties with his own regiment. The telegram stated that Pte. B.C. Police Aid Spitfire Fund

The Canadian Police third Spitfire Fund has been considerably boosted by two large donations just received by Inspector James F. Reid, who is Dominion treasurer. One was a cheque from T. W. S. Parsons, commissioner of the British Columbia Provincial Police for $362.48, the proceeds of a dance promoted by Sgt. George Clarke and his staff of the Prince Rupert subdivision of the force.

The other was a donation of $375.35, a sum raised by the Port Colborne, Ont., police department with the assistance of subscriptions from a number of Port Colborne citizens.

The total from the two subscriptions have augmented the Spitfire Fund by $739.83, the largest one-day boost in a long time.

Cpl. Armstrong, whose experience during the three years which have passed since his enlistment includes two years spent in the Ferry Command, has charges of the maintenance of standard beam approach mechanisms in the area west of Souris, Man., out to Vancouver. Outboard Marine Has Party For Children

The happy cries of excited children filled the Collegiate Auditorium Monday evening, when the Social and Athletic Club of the Outboard Marine Manufacturing Company presented the first "Christmas Tree," for the kiddies of the employees.

The program for the evening included a series of pictures, presentey by the National Film Board, and, a visit from Santa Claus. The Outboard Marine Choristers were also present, and sang two groups of Christmas Carols. Larry Maguire was M.C. for the evening's entertainment.

The singing of "Jingle Bells" by the chorus, announced the arrival of Santa Claus, and he appeared, complete with reindeer, bells and a sleigh full of presents. Santa was played by Herb. Mullins, and he distributed a few gifts himself, and then handed them to a staff of helpers to distribute.

His assistants were Cliff Brien, Nick Demario, Walter Bannon, Dick Fuller and George Ruttle. Santa was welcomed, on behalf of the kiddies, by Hy Wood, and a few words of welcome were also extended by Don Douglas, president of the Social and Athletic Club.

Each child received a gift and a bag of candy, right from Santa's sleigh, and this event will be a feature of the holiday season next year, if enthusiastic children have their way.

Fireless Cooker Is Home-made

By MARY MOORE

NOTE: Anyone who has ever used a fireless cooker and knows the work and dishwashing and fuel they save will recognize these instructions as valuable, and requiring very little effort compared to their advantages.

I am giving you these instructions because one of our readers asked me how to keep her son's meals appetizing when she was at work. A fireless cooker will be a great help to anyone who has to be away from home yet have meals ready for other members fo the family at home.

Materials Necessary for Fireless Cooker

(1) Outside case which may be heavy wooden box, pail (such as candy bucket), or a No. 1 new galvanized ash can. (2) Sheet Asbestos (3) packing material such as sawdust, ground cork, excelsior, straw or hay, wool, cotton batting, fine shavings, paper torn small and crushed (4) inner container which should be straight-sided, fitted with a tight cover and of proper size that there is a 3-inch space on all sides and top and bottom for insulating material (5) cardboard or corrugated paper for "collar" to fit flush with top edge of inner container (6) pillow to use for the top insulation. (7) tight fitting cover.

To Make Fireless Cooker

Line outer container with sheet asbestos well fitted. Pack into the bottom of the asbestos-lined case a layer of whatever insulating material is used 1-3 inches deep.

Place the inside bucket or container on it squarely in the centre and pack the space between inner and outer containers with insulating material very tightly. Make and place a "collar" (shape of a huge doughnut) to cover the exposed surface of the packing material between the case and the cooking compartment. Make a cushion of unbleached cotton of a sugar bag stuffing it with the insulating material and of exact shape to fit over cooking compartment, and inside outer compartment—it should be 3 inches thick.

If a box is used it should be of sufficiently heavy material to permit the use of good hinges and fastenings for the cover.

Use of Fireless Cooker

The fireless cooker is admirably suited to foods that require long cooking in order to be made more palatable and to be more easily digested.

All foods cooked in fireless cooker must be heated through to centre before placing in cooker.

Meat must be seared over high heat for at least 15 minutes; vegetables must be brought to boiling point and kept there for at least 5 minutes; stewed prunes, applesauce, blanc manges, steamed pudding must all be preheated long enough to heat through before placing in fireless cooker.

Some Fireless Cooker Whole Meals

1. Shoulder of lamb or pork, steamed potatoes, creamed turnips, baked apples.
2. Baked beans, scalloped potatoes or corn, scalloped tomatoes, carrot pudding.
3. Boiled beef with turnips, potatoes, steamed fruit.
4. Veal stew with carrots, peas and potatoes, steamed maple custard.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: We weekly read your column and find it most helpful, but as there are just two of us and we have company often we find sugar a little bit of a problem. We bought a half gallon of excellent sorghum, but I can find no recipes for using sorghum in cakes or icings. Could you supply some of these or any other place to use sorghum.—Elizabeth J.

ANSWER: I will give you some recipes calling for sorghum and have sent by mail to you a recipe book using corn syrup, which you may replace with sorghum in any of the recipes.

Sorghum Cake

One-half cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 3 eggs, ¾ teaspoon soda, 2-3 cup sorghum, 2½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon mace, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, ½ cup raisins. Cream shortening, sugar, and egg yolks together. Add soda, mixed with sorghum. Mix and sift flour, cinnamon, cloves, mace and salt, and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Stir in beaten whites. Dredge the raisins lightly with flour and stir in quickly. Pour into greased loaf tin and bake in a moderate oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 or 60 minutes.

Sorghum Bran Bread

One teaspoon soda, ½ cup sorghum, 1½ cups sour milk, 1½ cups whole wheat flour, 1½ cups bran, ½ cup seeded raisins. Dissolve soda in molasses. Add milk, flour, bran and raisins. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven of 350 deg. in a loaf pan. This is good baked in muffin tins.

Sorghum Crisps

One-quarter cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, ¾ cup sorghum, 1 cup flour, ¾ teaspoon salt. Melt the shortening. Add the sugar and sorghum and bring to boiling point. Cool slightly. Add flour and salt. Drop by teaspoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 12 or 15 minutes. While still warm turn around finger to form a roll. These amounts make about 36.

Sorghum is used exclusively in the southwest on waffles or griddle cakes or cereal—where we would use either maple or corn syrup.

QUESTION: I should be much obliged if you would kindly send me recipes for Christmas cake and Christmas cookies (Wartime recipes for which it is possible to obtain all the ingredients).—Mrs. E. S.

ANSWER: Because I have received so many last minute requests for Christmas things I am printing them assuming that there are some of you who intend making them after Christmas—I know I am—for I've been busy moving when I should have been doing the bulk of my Christmas baking.

Good Dark Christmas Cake

Two cups shortening, 2 cups light brown sugar, 7 eggs, 4 cups flour, 2 teaspoons mace, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons baking powder, few grains salt 2 tablespoons fruit juice, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 lbs. currants, 1 lb. nuts if available, 2 lbs. raisins (preferably seeded Lexias), ½ lb. citron or mixed peel (and ½ lb. dates when available). Cream the shortening and add sugar gradually and beat for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks until, light and lemon-colored and whites until stiff and dry. Add these to the butter and sugar mixture. Add milk, fruit juice, chopped nuts if used, and fruit which has been dredged with flour. Last, add well sifted dry ingredients. Beat mixture thoroughly and place in deep round cake pans which have been buttered and lined with heavy paper which has been buttered. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr., for 3 or 4 hours. It is best to stand shallow pan of water in oven throughout baking. Cake may be steamed 5 hours and baked one hour.

The following cookies are given because I had them this week at a tea—they were the most delicious morsels anyone could hope for.

Filled Cookies

Made with sugar cookie dough: 2-3 cup shortening, 1¼ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 3 cups flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, grated rind 1 orange, 1 tablespoon orange juice. Cream shortening, sugar, and eggs together until light and foamy. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together and add to first mixture. Add orange rind and juice. Mix until smooth. Chill. Roll to ⅛ inch thickness on lightly floured board, and cut out in 2-inch cookies with fluted cookie cutter. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 12 to 15 minutes. As soon as done put together with 1 teaspoon red currant jelly or raspberry jam.

A KISS FOR THE SERGEANT—It used to be a joke, once upon a time for a private to sigh soulfully, "kiss me, sarge"—when the sergeant wasn't listening. But in these days of lady warriors the line has a new significance. Sergeant Hazel Wilson, Royal Canadian Air Force Women's Division, is planting a chaste salute on the receptive cheek of Private Stanley A. Flynn, U.S.A., as a reward for saving her life in Newfoundland, where Private Flynn is stationed. It was the soldier's second reward; he already wears the soldier's medal for the good deed.

U.S. Newspapers Facing Drastic Cut

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP).—The United States War Production Board to-day ordered deep cuts in the 1944 use of paper by newspapers, magazines, book publishers and commercial printers.

The restrictions are designed to save 1,250,000 tons of paper in 1944. Consumption of paper has been running far ahead of pulp production, the W.P.B. said, The new order will reduce consumption to match the estimated production rate and preserve present inventory reserves, which the W.P.B. said are dangerously low.

In all of the graphic arts industries, the reductions ordered follow recommendations made by the Industry Advisory committees.

The newspaper publishing industry's total allotment of paper in the first quarter of 1944 will be reduced 23.6 per cent., to effect a saving of 205,709 tons from the 869,296 tons used by the industry in the first quarter of 1941, the base period for estimating allocations.

As recommended by the Newspaper Advisory committee in November, reductions in use were ordered on a sliding scale which places the heaviest cuts on larger papers.

Internationale Banned By Russian Order

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(CP).—Russia is hailed as a "republic of the free" in a new Soviet national anthem which has replaced the famous "Internationale," a Moscow broadcast said last night.

The "Internationale" was abandoned by order of the Council of People's Commissars, the broadcast said, because it "does not reflect the basic changes that have taken place in our country as a result of the victories of the Soviet system." The old anthem begins: "Arise, ye prisoners of starvation, arise ye wretched of the earth," and concludes with "the International Soviet will free the human race."

The new song, music by Composer A. V. Alexandrov and words by Sergei Mikhalkov and E. L. Gisten, praises the victorious growth of the Soviet Union.

City Council Concludes Business On A High Note Of Friendliness

The members of Peterborough's municipal council concluded their administration of the city's business Monday night on a high note of friendliness and respect for one another, and also with the feeling that they were leaving the civic affairs of the people in a sound condition.

"This is likely to be the last meeting of the year," said Mayor Hamilton as the final adjournment loomed, "and I wish to take this opportunity of expressing to you my feelings of satisfaction and gratitude for the continuing spirit of co-operation and courtesy that has been so much in evidence this year. I would like to commend you all for the very diligent manner in which you have carried out your obilgations. I hope the citizens appreciate what you have done for them because I konw how you have given full time and thought in carrying on the work of the city in an efficient manner.

I wish to express my gratitude for your many kindness to me. I have enjoyed the work this year, and I may say that it is the co-operation which I receive from all of you that has made it so pleasant. I don't think there has ever been in my time the same feeling of friendship among the members of the council which has existed during these last two years. Naturally we have not always seen things alike, but there has been no jibing, no suspicion of one another, but there has been a feeling that we could trust one another 100 per cent, and that every member was interested in one thing, to do the best that each of us could to see that Peterborough has good civic government.

I sincerely hope that next year will bring us all a Victory Christmas, that the tragic conditions through which we are passing will be over, and that our 750,000 Canadian boys and girls will be able to spend their Christmas at home once again."

Ald. Gordon's Hint

As a member who might not be a candidate for 1944, Alderman Gordon said he felt free to express his agreement with Mayor Hamilton in regard to the competent and efficient civic government of Peterborough in the last two years.

"I think Mayor Hamilton lost his temper only once," Alderman Gordon laughingly recalled, "but he speedily regained his good nature again. I think the rates for 1943 were the lowest in the last twenty-eight years, and at the same time our social services and the Board of Education have been well extended. We have dropped nothing but work on streets and highway, and that had to be reduced because the number of men needed was not available and materials have been restricted. In that respect future councils will have extra work to do. I do not expect to be a candidate next year. If it will assist in avoiding the cost of an election I will not be one to precipitate it, If new men would like to be candidates I'll not oppose them."

Tribute To Staffs

Alderman Dutton said that the efficiency with which the city's affairs were conducted and performed was due not only to the council "but also to our efficient and faithful municipal staff, the department heads and those who work with them. In fact at this meeting I would like to move that the council go on record as expressing its appreciation to the heads of departments and to all other civic employees for contributing so much to the success of the city's work during the year."

Alderman Glover seconded the motion, and endorsed Alderman Dutton's commendation of the city's employees. "As chairman of the welfare committee and the special fuel committee I know that our staff is most earnest in the work they are doing. I wish also to thank Mayor Hamilton for the things he said about the council. I have found him most fair, and I hope the pleasant relations between himself and the members of the council will continue next year."

Alderman Glover said Alderman Gordon would be greatly missed if he was not a member of the council of 1944.

As one of the members of long service Alderman Cotton endorsed the commendation of his associates, and said he had been especially impressed by the regularity of attendance at the meetings of the council and its committees. "If you go back over the records you will find all have been in their places except a few times when some have been absent usually on city business. I trust that Alderman Gordon will be a candidate for next year, and that the people will elect Jim Hamilton again as Mayor."

Alderman Swanston, as one of the younger members, said he had learned a lot in the council, largely because the conditions encouraged the members to do their best. He thanked Mayor Hamilton for his consideration and patience and for his courtesy at all time.

The motion to adjourn by Aldermen Cotton and Swanston was the last minute of 1943.

Sailor Is Charged Assaulting Waiter

Seaman John Condin of H. M. C. S. Stadacona, Halifax, faced three charges in police court this morning as the aftermath of an incident in the Mayfair Cafe on Monday night.

The sailor was charged with assaulting a waiter, creating a disturbance and doing wilful damage to the plumbing at the police station.

On this last charge, to which he pleaded guilty he was fined $5.00 and costs, amounting in all to $9.75, including $3 to pay for the damage done in the cell block. The alternative was three days in jail.

Condin pleaded guilty to the assault charge and not guilty to creating a disturbance and on both counts was remanded until Thursday.

26 New Members Join The Legion

The monthly meeting of Canadian Legion Branch 52 was held in the hall on Monday night, with President George Gimblett presiding. More members turned out to this meeting, due no doubt to the proximity of the Christmas season and also on account of the turkey and chicken raffle held at the close of regular business. Happy smiles were seen on the faces of the lucky winners as they walked up to the stand to claim their turkey, and in those homes a happy Christmas should be participated in as their families gather around the festive table. Twenty-six members were initiated into the Branch, helping to reach the objective of 600, and from then on to the 1,000 mark.

Pension Cheques Brighten Yuletide

Old-age pensioners received a pleasant Christmas present through the mails this morning, their ordinarily month-end cheques arriving in advance of the holiday and including an additional ten dollars.

"The amount of the pension was $20 a month," one of them informed the Examiner. "A few months ago the Provincial Government added $3.00 as a cost of living bonus. Two months ago the Provincial and Federal Governments arranged to increase the pension $5 a month, retroactive from the first of November. The result was that pensioners to-day received a cheque for $23, the increased amount for December, plus $10 the more recent raise of $5 a month for November and December."

Roseneath News

Bobcaygeon Boy Sentenced For Selling Liquor

LINDSAY, Dec. 21 — (ENS). — Bruce Young of Bobcaygeon was sentenced to two months in the county jail by Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court here Monday on a charge of having liquor for sale. Young entered a plea of not guilty but following evidence by Crown witnesses, Defence Counsel A. T. Lacey advised the court the accused would plead guilty. A second charge against Young of procuring liquor unlawfully was dismissed. Both charges were laid by Constable F. W. McBrien.

Evidence was given in court by Nelson Woodcock, Mrs. Mary Junkin, William Welcher and Rita Junkin, that Young had obtained their liquor permits presumably to buy them liquor and beer while in Lindsay but had failed in delivery of any of the "wet goods." An order for beer signed in the name of Douglas Junkin who, the Crown contended was in British Columbia at the time the beer was purchased, was also produced in court by Crown Attorney J. E. Anderson. Witness stated that the accused had told them that he had not given them their liquor because part of it had been stolen and part taken by the police. Magistrate Gee dismissed a charge against the accused of procuring liquor under false pretences when his mother admitted in court that Young did not know his own age and that she had told him that he was 21.

Lindsay Parishioners Mourn Father Grant

LINDSAY, Dec. 21—(ENS)—Many mourners from Lindsay attended the funeral in Peterborough today of Rev. Father E. T. Grant, curate of St. Mary's Church in Lindsay, who died on Saturday. Fr. Grant was born in Peterborough and attended St. Peter's Separate and High schools. He was ordained at St. Augustine's Seminary in 1932 and served as curate in Bracebridge and Peterborough before coming to Lindsay. He took a keen interest in the social life of his parish and was responsible for the organization of St. Mary's Social Club. For Wednesday, December 22

EXCELLENT opportunities for promoting all interests and placing them on an enduring and solid basis, should be grasped on this day, with determination and perseverance. The mentality and initiative should be highly stimulated for splendid accomplishment in whatever direction the energies may be faithfully applied. Aim at consolidating the positions and support of those in power perhaps through diplomacy and tact, or through tacit agreements. Finances, credit and possessions should increase and personal popularity should be enhanced.

Those whose birthday it is may continue to enjoy a year of sound progress and satisfaction, with rewards for their own ability, initiative, cleverness and dependability in responsible positions. These assure the substantial support of those in place and power, best secured by finesse, diplomacy or subtle or behind scenes understandings rather than forcing issues. Increased credit finances and inheritance are probable, with personal popularity and happiness. Luck may play its part, but in all be vigilant against subtlety or intrigue.

A child born on this day may have excellent mentality for sound and enduring success, with talents supported by friendly influence and good luck. May inherit, but may also be deceived in business.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

KEEP THAT MOUTH SHUT

SILENCE IS golden when your opponents have landed in a contract you can surely beat, but have an escape in sight if you warn them by doubling. That is most clear-cut when they have reached a game or slam in a particular suit which is sure to break badly for them because you have the important missing trumps bunched against them. A double from you may impel them into seeking No Trump as a safe declaration.

North: ♠ K 6 4 3 ♥ K Q J 8 7 3 ♦ A ♣ A 3
West: ♠ 7 ♥ 9 2 ♦ K Q J 9 8 6 ♣ 10 8 6 5
East: ♠ J 10 9 5 ♥ 10 6 5 4 ♦ 10 5 4 ♣ J 7
South: ♠ A Q 8 2 ♥ A ♦ 7 3 2 ♣ K Q 9 4 2

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
7 ♠	Dbl	Pass	Pass
7 NT

That bidding was in a match-point duplicate game. If East had remained silent, his pair would have obtained top score for East-West pairs, with the only plus scored by anybody against the strong North-South holdings, as he was certain to beat the contract with his spade sequence, a positive producer of one trick when that was trump.

Against the No Trump grand slam, he didn't have chance, so his double caused his pair to get a tie for bottom and the particular North-South pair a tie for top. Six tricks in hearts, three in spades, one in diamonds and three in clubs gave the declarer his sweep.

Proper bidding would have been about as given, if North-North-South had the Blackwood convention in its equipment, except that North should have chosen 7-No Trumps for the contract, instead of spades, without having to be pushed into it by East's double. With the virtual certainty of six heart tricks after he learned about South having the A, and with South having shown five clubs by bidding the suit before spades, and a king in answer to the Blackwood, it was almost positive that 13 tricks would be in sight if either clubs or spades broke, and possibly even if they didn't, as proved to be the case.

17 ALLIED VESSELS LEFT BURNING—Thirty German bombers flew over the Italian port of Bari and set on fire 17 Allied cargo vessels, two of which are pictured here. Five American ships were lost and 1,000 killed and wounded were the casualties. It was the worst blow the Allies have received since they landed in Italy.

Original Carols Were Not Songs But Dances Produced Years Ago

The original carols, which were produced many years before the birth of Christ, were not songs but dances, and through the centuries they gradually became associated with the Christmas festivities until they acquired their modern form without which no Yuletide season is complete.

A carol is generally defined as a hymn of praise at Christmas sung in the open air with the common meaning derived from the word chorus or ring dance. The first carol was sung over the fields of Bethlehem by the angels when Christ was born—"Glory Be To God On High and On Earth Peace, Goodwill Towards Men."

The second carol did not make its appearance until 1,200 years later and it originated in the tiny Italian village of Grecia. Carolling was a combined exercise of song and dance among pre-Christian peoples. The Romans had their religious dances, also the Druids at Stonehenge. The records report the belief that religious dances found their way from pagan ritual into the Christian church. Once established, their use caused many scandals with the result in 589 Council forbade dancing in the churches on Saints Days. Even as late as 1209 authorities had to forbid dances and secular songs in the churches.

This was especially prevalent at the celebration of Christmas festivals. The crib of the infant Saviour was set up in the churches or private houses in the traditional setting with the stable and earthen figures of the Holy family. Carols were sung and danced around it. In England, Stonehenge was known as the Giant's Dance or carol with the stones in rings similar to the crib set up for the carol dance.

Organized Plays

St. Francis of Assisi saw the heresy in all this and attempted to lead the people to the true worship of Christ. He used the crib as a setting and had a type of religious play enacted with the surrounding of the occurrence of the first Christmas.

From this grew the "Mystery Plays." They depicted scenes from the Bible and from there many of the carols were gotten. Priests sang songs of worship and from this comes some of the most famous Latin Christmas music. Hymns were written to dance tunes, called reels. French carols.

Religious plays developed in England about the 15th century and children went around the street carrying "milly-boxes" (My Lady Boxes) containing figures representing the Virgin and Child. This was the beginning of the commercialization of carols, and the beautiful thoughts became buried under the greedy alms begging. The earliest collection of carols was about 1521, and some from the 14th century were really folk songs.

Found Unscriptured

Carols took another beating in the 17th century during the Reformation when the stern Puritans suppressed the songs, Christmas festivities and made an effort to wipe out Christmas itself. The last Wednesday in the month was kept by them as Fast Day and it happened that in 1644 Christmas day fell on the last Wednesday. The people were ordered to keep it as a fast. In 1652 Parliament went even further and ordered that "no observation shall be made of the 25th of December, commonly called Christmas day." No services were allowed in the churches and many were arrested for receiving Holy Communion that morning. In the 17th century few carols of any value made their appearance.

Not until years later, was any attempt made to revive the old custom. New songs were written and some of the best, like Adestes Fideles of the 18th century, were written for the music of Latin Christmas hymns. At the time of Oliver Goldsmith, author of the "Vicar of Wakefield," the carol "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen" was written for his parishioners to sing. "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" came into being in the same century written by C. Wesley as "Hark How All the Welkin Rings." He was walking to church one morning in 1730 when he heard the pealing of the bells and wrote the words. In 1840, Mendelssohn composed the music for it at a festival in Leipzig.

Carols Earn Money

A popular amusement at this time was called "going a-gooding." The poor called at the homes in the parish and begged a supply of money and provisions to procure good things to help them enjoy the festival of Christmas. Or children went on an a-gooding excursion Christmas morning carrying a Christmas tree as a badge of their mission. A third method was for village church choristers to go about Christmas eve making the rounds of the homes and the money earned was put together to help them celebrate Twelfth Day, two weeks later.

This Twelfth Day was supposed to represent the day the three Wise Men arrived after the birth of Jesus. The carol, "We Three Kings Of Orient Are" is based on an old Spanish legend which depicts the three Kings going to the Holy Land every year and on the way they visit children leaving toys for those who are good.

The First Noel, French carol, was sung by the Crusaders as they marched, sailed or rode to the Holy Land, being one of the oldest in the world, and it was sung in the streets of the French villages nearly 1,000 years ago and must have been a magnificent thing to hear hundreds and thousands of marching soldiers singing.

In England at one time it was customary on Christmas afternoon to sing carols in the churches in place of regular psalms; but in Scotland, there is scarcely any trace of carol singing, although it was common from time immemorial in England, France, Italy and other European countries. The Welsh custom was to leave the doors unbolted Christmas Eve, lest the Holy family wanted to enter.

Visit Reproduced

A visit to the village of Bethlehem at Christmas time produced the favorite "O Little Town of Bethlehem" written by Phillips Brooks, rector of Trinity Church, Boston, in 1868. His organist wrote the music. Brooks had attended a Christmas service in a church built where it was believed the stable in which Christ was born, stood. He walked in the field of the shepherds on the night before the great birthday and then he saw the Bethlehem children decorate their houses with little clumps of soft moss that grows between rocks called Jesus' Bed. The children place it on the hearth stone, a warm safe place for the child Jesus to sleep, and it takes the place of Canadian trees. They light no candles, but have only the bright stars which the rector says appear brighter in Palestine than anywhere else.

One of the few of the 19th century carols to contain a real Christmas message was "It Came Upon A Midnight Clear," produced by a unitarian minister in 1849. "Christians Awake." was written somewhere about 1700 and "Joy To The World" about 1600.

As a rule, carols are written in simple language, as sung by the shepherds coming to worship the Child in the manger. They express unified ideas. The tunes, also, are simple and melodious.

Canadians Slugging It Out At Close Quarters With Huns In Ortona Port

Nazis Use Flame-Throwers North Of Town Against New Zealanders Americans Reach Edge Of San Vittore

By JOSEPH DYNAN—Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 22—(AP).—Canadian 1st Division troops of the British 8th Army slugged it out with the Germans in the streets of Ortona, small Italian port on the Adriatic, yesterday, Allied headquarters announced today.

Canadians entered the port, eastern anchor of the German line guarding Pescara, on Monday following a heavy artillery bombardment and supported by tanks.

Fierce fighting developed in the running street battle, frontline dispatches said.

West of the Canadian position New Zealand troops who have crossed the Ortona-Orsogna lateral road fought off a heavy German counter-attack launched in an effort to dislodge the New Zealanders from north of the road. The Nazis used tanks and flame-throwers.

Further southwest British troops made slight advances after repulsing two strong counter-attacks.

Anglo-American 5th Army forces, bolstered by artillery and mortar fire, captured several new heights and reached the outskirts of San Vittore on the main western highway to Rome. San Vittore is four miles northeast of German-held Mignano and its fall would outflank that strongpoint.

American and French troops along the northern mountainous sector of the 5th Army front were reported attacking two villages, Acquafondata and Cardito, after occupying a high point in their push westward toward Cassino, another important town on the road to Rome. Acquafondata is 10 miles north of Mignano. Cardito lies four miles north of Acquafondata.

The announcement that French forces under Gen. Pierre Juin were participating in the attack in this sector was the first disclosure of the location of the French whose presence on Italian soil was announced last week.

Storm Pass

The French, who have been struggling for the past three days for possession of a vital mountain pass, were reported to have taken the southern half. Other short gains in this area were reported.

In their assault of San Vittore, the Americans were wiping out numerous pillboxes the Germans had built around the town. The enemy was using every house and every natural obstacle to slow the Allied advance.

In the air war, Allied fighter-bombers swarmed over the Yugoslav coast and attacked German positions in support of the Partisan forces of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito).

Fighters and fighter - bombers ranged over the battle area and near Rome, blasting transport and communications. Medium bombers, also struck at Terracina, 58 miles southeast of Rome.

One enemy plane was destroyed for a loss of one Allied aircraft.

A naval communique said that British motor torpedo boats captured two German schooners off the Yugoslav coast December 19 taking their crews prisoner.

Frontline reports had the German defence line in Italy bending back like an unlocked gate as Canadian forces of the British 8th Army continued to rip loose its eastern port of Ortona.

Hand to Hand Fight.

Smashing into the hotly contested town after two weeks of being held up by tough German resistance, the Dominion troops immediately brought up anti-tank guns, machine-guns, and mortars to clean out the Germans in house-to-

Mail Bag Used By Nazi To Escape Camp

NORTH BAY, Dec. 22 (CP)—A mail bag in which he had been hidden, presumably by his fellow prisoners, was the method used by Eckert Brosig last night in his third escape from the prisoner-of-war camp at Monteith, Ont., 40 miles east of Timmins. The 23-year-old former Nazi flier was recaptured early today in North Bay.

Skip Andrews, North Bay mail clerk who with Henry Berry, mail inspector, captured the German in the railway mail car said today the mail bag taken on at Monteith was "extremely heavy, a fact upon which we commented several times before we heaved it into the mail car. When we finally did load it, it took two of us to lift it into the car."

"We threw the heavy bag on the floor of the car and loaded the lighter bags on top of it, right up to the ceiling. When the train arrived in North Bay and was still moving into the station, I barged into the storage car, where the western mail was piled. I saw a swift shadow move across the car, ducking behind the mail bags. It was a man, obviously trying to hide from me.

Well Clothed

"I asked him where he was going and he replied he was going to North Bay. He pronounced North as 'Norss' and I began to get suspicious of him. He asked me then if I intended putting him off the train and I told him no."

Andrews said Brosig was dressed in a heavy sheepskin-lined windbreaker, a leather helmet with earmuffs also lined with sheepskin, and brown shoes. Andrews and a fellow employee, Bruce Marshall, asked Brosig for a registration card.

"He pulled one out without hesitation and handed it to me. It was a blue card with a Toronto address

Fire Destroys 5 Locomotives

POINT TUPPER, N.S., Dec. 22—(CP).—Five locomotives and other equipment were destroyed early today as fire razed the Canadian National Railways roundhouse here, causing damage estimated unofficially at $500,000. Three other locomotives were hauled to safety by a shunting engine before the flames halted salvage work.

Also destroyed in the fire, which broke out about two oclock this morning, was a new enginemen's rest house. Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

As flames roared through the roundhouse, explosions shook the building, impeding fire fighting efforts, as oil drums and other inflammable material ignited.

Super-Woman

GUYMON, Okla., Dec. 22—(AP).—C. E. Mates, soldier from Garden City, Kas., climbed out from under his overturned car and began a frantic search of the vicinity. Witnesses hurried up and asked what he was hunting. Almost as soon as he had explained that his companion, Louise Wisley, also of Garden City, was missing, she was found—she'd been tossed atop the porch of a nearby house and was sitting there virtually unhurt.

Two Boys Die In Explosion In Candy Factory

TORONTO, Dec. 22.—(CP).—Two teen-aged boys were burned to death and four others cut and scorched about the head and face to-day in an explosion and fire at Kerr Brothers, Ltd., candy manufacturers, on Wolseley street in West Central Toronto.

The two youths, who started work only yesterday, were identfied as Steve Hrychuk and Michael Hudy, both of Toronto.

Twelve workers were trapped on the top floor but rescued and more than 60 other employees fled from the building.

Damage was estimated at $30,000.

More than 120 firemen from every downtown hall fought the blaze for an hour before getting them under control. Bodies of the two youths were found near a staircase. They were given artificial respiration for more than an hour and then taken to hospital where they were pronounced dead on arrival.

Three other boys dove headfirst through plate glass windows to escape being trapped. Gerald Oliver, 16, and his 15 year old brother, head and face injuries and Dan Jack, were taken to hospital with Dannunzio was treated by firemen on the scene.

Steve Wasyleck, 19, chopped his way through a wall partition to make good his escape.

Jack Lynett, plant superintendent, was overcome by fumes while searching for the two new employees of the plant but managed to crawl to a window and was rescued by firemen. Another employee, Ralph Stevens, was thrown against a wash basin in the washroom by the explosion and escaped through an air vent window to the roof.

Cause of the explosion was not known.

Chinese Report Japs On The Run

CHUNGKING, Dec. 22 — (AP).—The Chinese high command announced tonight that Japanese forces had been cleared from the area south of the Lin River, thus restoring half of the rice growing district to China.

Enemy remnants on the north bank of the Lin also were said to have been cleared. The communique indicated the Japanese withdrawal was continuing with the Chinese "pursuing the fleeing Japanese on various routes, making considerable progress."

Vitebsk Almost Encircled Reds Nearing Polotsk Entire Nazi Front Menaced

Russians Tear 50-Mile Gap Below Nevel Ease Leningrad Pressure Attack On Kherson To Come Soon

LONDON, Dec. 22—(CP).—The Russian Baltic army, surging forward unchecked, has advanced another five miles and now stands 15 miles from the Nazi fortress city of Vitebsk, Reuters News Agency reported today from Moscow.

Encirclement of this enemy stronghold thus became hourly more imminent.

This thrust and a companion drive toward the important rail junction of Polotsk, 60 miles to the west, threatened the stability of the entire German line defending the Baltic States.

A Russian communique earlier had reported the forces of Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian within 20 miles of Vitebsk from the north through capture of Gribaldi and less than 25 miles away to the East.

His troops storming down from Nevel yesterday, blasted their way through a 50-mile gap in deep German defences, capturing more than 100 villages.

Other columns in an operation swinging out to the west, were within 35 miles of Polotsk, fall of which would seriously weaken communications between the German northern and central armies and possibly force retirement of the Nazis' left flank along the shores of the Gulf of Finland from the Leningrad area.

At the exertme southern end of the 800-mile - long battlefront, meanwhile, Russian armies liquidated the Nazi bridgehead on the south bank of the Dnieper opposite Kherson, near the river's mouth, and dispatches said a full-scale attack against the city itself was expected momentarily.

In the centre of the line, the Germans were said to be counter-attacking in three key sectors. The Moscow war bulletin said the Nazis struck in the area between Zhlobin and the Berezina River in White Russia, south of Korosten in the Kiev Bulge, and in the Kirovograd sector in the Dnieper River bend.

All attacks were repulsed with heavy losses, Moscow reported.

Kherson's capture would render untenable the German position in Nikopol, manganese centre in the Dnieper Bend, Krivoi Rog, and Nikolaev, north-west of Kherson on the Bug River, together with large German forces scattered throughout the area. Freezing of the Dnieper along the southern front was expected to facilitate the Russian advance, advices said

Some of the heaviest tank fighting of the war was reported raging as the Germans vainly tried to regain the initiative in central sectors. The Nazis were said to be using as many as 2,000 tanks in some areas.

Germans Threaten Reprisals For The Kharkov Trials

By H. W. HERCHER—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 22—(AP).—Dark threats of reprisal against Allied war prisoners came from Germany today as Nazi propagandists worked up indignation against the Kharkov trials and Paul Joseph Goebbels called British and American aviators "huns of the air."

D.N.B., German news agency, said in a broadcast statement on the Soviet trials that Nazi military courts would "soon deal with those British and American prisoners who are guilty of a serious breach of international law."

Goebbels told Berlin police and air raid protection officials that further attacks on the German capital must be expected but that "one day our ever-growing anti-aircraft defences and future retaliation will make an end to the activities of the huns of the air."

Ugly hints of measures to be taken against captured airmen were closely connected with a German press campaign against American fliers imprisoned after the November 20 raid on Bremen and accused of having "murder incorporated" written on their uniforms.

The bombed and battered Nazis are screeching that the names of some of the planes prove that gangsters control the American Air Force.

A Foreign Office spokesman claimed the trials were agreed upon in principle at the Teheran conference, so the "British and Americans share the responsibility," Swedish press reports said.

D.N.B.'s statement specifically accused Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt of associating themselves with the Kharkov proceedings and likened those proceedings to "medieval witch trials."

Three Germans and a Russian traitor, who admitted at their trial before a Kharkov military court that they had committed and witnessed numerous acts of atrocities against Russian civilians and soldiers, were hanged Sunday in Kharkov's public square.

The three Germans, convicted under a Soviet decree of April 19, 1943, were Wilhelm Langheld, a Gestapo captain; Hans Ritz, vice-commander of a storm troop company, and Richard Ratzlaw, Gestapo auxiliary police corporal. The fourth member of the quartet was Mikhail Bulanov, a Russian who served as a Gestapo chauffeur.

Jap Sportsmanship

TORONTO, Dec. 22—(CP).—Men who sail on Allied merchant vessels would rather be torpedoed by the Germans than the Japanese because the latter "never give you a chance," Chief Steward Herbert Tuck, 23, of the Canadian Merchant Navy, said here today.

"It is the usual thing for Japanese to machine-gun lifeboats when they sink a ship. I have talked to a lot of men in the South Pacific who have been torpedoed by both the Germans and the Japanese and they all say they'll take the Jerries every time."

Bombers Renew Raids On Coast Gun Positions

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 22—(AP).—For the fifth time in two weeks American heavy bombers supported by fighters ranged into northwestern Germany in daylight today, while a constant stream of medium and light bombers poured across the Channel for the third straight day headed for mysterious targets in northern Fance.

Big bombers of the U.S. Air Force, after a one-day layoff, headed back for the same section where on Monday 500 bombers attacked Bremen, submarine and shipbuilding centre.

In addition, wave on wave of Allied bombers swept out in what looked like one of the greatest sustained cross-Channel assaults of the year toward the Pas de Calais region, presumably to attack the same targets which have been hit successive blows in the two preceding days and which have been described only as military installations. Neutral reports have suggested that the Germans may have extensive rocket-gun emplacements in that French area.

Lots of Fighters.

All morning and during most of the afternoon big formations of medium and light bombers, escorted by masses of fighters, flew through the brilliant sunshine across Dover Strait, returning on average 30 minutes later.

Today's activity followed a series of blows by R.A.F. Mosquito bombers against unspecified targets in western Germany last night.

The U.S. Air Force announced its planes unloaded approximately 900 tons of high explosives and incendiaries on Kiel December 13, causing severe damage to shipbuilding yards. The target for that day's attack previously was unidentified.

Eastern Train Slowed By Wreck

MONTREAL, Dec. 22 — (CP) — Canadian National Railway officials announced today that four persons suffered minor injuries when the second section of the Ocean Limited, Montreal - Halifax Flyer, collided with a local four miles east of Levis, Que., shortly after 8 a.m.

The trains were moving slowly at the time, and no cars of either train left the rails. Traffic was held up on the main line for two hours.

Japs Use Suffocating Gas On Chinese At Hunan Claim Results Not Fatal

Tear Gas, Sneezing Gas and Mustard Gas Also Employed, Experts Report 3,500 Japs Killed, Only 10 Prisoners

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH—Associated Press Staff Writer

HEADQUARTERS OF A CHINESE ARMY SOMEWHERE IN NORTHERN HUNAN PROVINCE, Dec. 18 (Delayed)—(AP).—Cylinders of tear and sneezing gas which the Japanese are accused of using on this front were exhibited today to visiting Allied officers and correspondents.

As interested as any correspondent was Lt.-Col. P. P. Voronin, assistant military attache of the Soviet Embassy at Chungking, who jotted down details in a notebook as Lt.-Gen. Liang Han-Ming, commanding this army, talked about the cylinders.

Among the samples was a yellow-marked, two-foot-long cylinder, resembling a fire-extinguisher, which Liang's chemical warfare expert said once contained mustard gas. There was no claim, however, that the contents of this particular cylinder ever were used against the Chinese.

The tear and sneezing gas was used recently in the Hunan front, the chemical expert said. The most violent form of gas used by the Japanese in this theatre, according to Gen. Hsueh Yeuh, governor of Hunan and commander of the 9th war area, and his subordinate, Lianga, was suffocating gas, from which no fatalities were reported. The effect of this gas is to incapacitate for an hour or more.

Lianga disclosed yesterday that this army had taken only 10 Japanese prisoners since fighting started October 29, but estimated that his forces had inflicted 3,500 casualties on the enemy.

Asked about disparity between the casualty claim and his report on the number of prisoners, the general replied simply, "It's not easy to take Japanese prisoners."

Quarter Million Yugoslavs Block Germans

LONDON, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Marshal Josip Broz (Tito's) Partisan Army of 250,000, battling German and collaborationist forces twice its size, has taken to the offensive on every sector of Yugoslavia's irregular battlefront, a communique from the Yugoslav Army of Liberation announced today.

The German forces, spearheaded by the German 373rd Division, struck back with large-scale assaults in Croatia in an effort to regain the intitiative, the war bulletin disclosed, but Tito's 7th Patriot Division decisively thwarted the enemy thrusts.

With Yugoslavia developing into a battlefront of broadening scope, a recapitulation of Hitler's losses in his efforts to clear his Balkan flank shows that he had 40,000 casualties in October and November alone. These figures were given in a Moscow broadcast, which said the casualties included 16,000 killed and 11,000 prisoners.

Capture Jajce.

German broadcasts heard in Cairo claimed the capture last Sunday of the Bosnian town of Jajce, described as Tito's headquarters. The report said Tito and his government were in flight. There was no confirmation of this enemy report.

A Transocean dispatch, also broadcast by Berlin, took cognizance of the considerable amount of war material being ferried across the Adriatic from Italy to the Partisans when it reported that Hitler's puppet forces in Eastern Bosnia had captured 27 tanks and two anti-tank guns from Tito's forces.

The dispatch listed Tito's losses since the opening of the present Bosnian campaign as 2,926 killed,

"2. To those who have been overseas for at least six months but less than two years and who have not served in a theatre of operations—14 days' leave and one additional day's leave for each completed month served overseas in excess of six months, up to a maximum period of 30 days' leave."

Bulgars Close Port Of Varna

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 — (AP).—The BBC said today that the Bulgarian staff ordered the port of Varna, across the Black Sea from the Crimea, isolated completely on Sunday. No explanation was given.

Persons living in Varna and its vicinity were ordered to remain indoors and away from doors and windows on pain of being shot for curiosity, the report said. Burials, marriages and Saints' Day celebrations were banned. All but the military traffic was halted. Trains departed empty. Telephone and telegraph service was suspended.

Several German and Rumanian divisions are trapped in the Crimea.

Lack of Planes Slowing Pacific Drive

MacArthur May Come To States To Appeal For More War Equipment

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Analyst

The conferences Gen. George C. Marshall has just concluded with Allied commanders in the Pacific inevitably call to mind the statements of Gen. Douglas MacArthur about the men, equipment and supplies he needed and wasn't getting.

The tempo of the war against Japan has stepped up importantly in recent weeks in both the Central and the Southwest Pacific. Marshall's conference with MacArthur in New Guinea coincided with the landings of U. S 6th army forces at Arawe on New Britain.

But the apparent promise of this operation, as well as the seizure of the Gilbert Islands and the mounting air attacks on the Marshalls in the mid-Pacific, is tempered some-by the recollection that only a month ago a spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters declared that the forces reaching that combat zone were not sufficient to mount a large-scale offensive.

No Political Reason

Within the last few days there have been published reports that MacArthur would go to the United States in the spring. Those reports were linked with MacArthur-for-President moves, but it seems highly unlikely that the General, who has said his only ambition was a United Nations victory, would make such a political journey.

There has been, however, considerable speculation that MacArthur was planning the trip, but for the purpose of presenting once more—and this time in person—his demands for greater supplies of men and equipment, particularly air strength, for his theatre. This speculation has persisted despite lack of anything approaching official confirmation.

If such a trip were planned, Marshall's conferences with the big man of the Philippines defence may have given him sufficient detailed information about present war plans to head it off.

For Marshall was at Cairo with Churchill-Roosevelt-Chiang, at Teheran with Churchill-Roosevelt-Stalin. Cairo produced the promise that Japan would be stripped of the last shred of her stolen Empire. Teheran presumably fixed the timing of the European show that must be played out before the cast can be shifted in sufficient numbers to get real results in the Pacific theatres.

Solomons Get More Troops

Estimate 25,000 Japs Oppose Allies

A SOLOMONS BASE, Dec. 21.—(Delayed) — (AP). — Additional troops as well as thousands of tons of military supplies and equipment are arriving in forward areas of the Solomons in the American campaign to capture Bougainville Island.

This was disclosed to-day by Rear Admiral Theodore S. Wilkinson, commander of South Pacific amphibious forces, to provide still another indication that the battle of the Solomons may be almost over.

(The Japanese have shown signs in recent days of evacuating the southern half of Bougainville. Navy Secretary Frank Knox said in Washington Tuesday the migration was an obvious Japanese effort to concentrate their forces in the north of the island.)

There are estimated 25,000 Japanese troops on Bougainville which, together with Buka Island, just off its northern tip represents the northernmost enemy holding in the Solomons.

The Solomons air force has completed the job of neutralzing enemy airfields and has turned its striking power against New Britain, 250 miles from the new American air strip on the Bougainville beachhead.

Franco Honors Blue Leader

General Who Fought Reds Gets Medal

MADRID, Dec. 22—(AP).—Gen. Esteban Infantes, commander of the Spanish Blue Legion which has been fighting beside the Germans in Russia, has been awarded the Military Medal, one of the highest decorations of the Spanish army, it was announced today.

The general returned to Spain last week along with a large part of the Legion.

The award was disclosed in a long communique covering five sessions of the Cabinet over which Gen. Francisco Franco presided.

The announcement said the Cabinet had approved an unspecified number of "pardons for the Christmas fiestas" and that 3,200 political prisoners had been given their conditional liberty.

Franco had decreed earlier that all Republicans imprisoned under the law of military rebellion might be freed if they show "exemplary conduct and absence of malice."

A recommendation also was sent to the Cortes (Legislature) providing for re-establishment of the right of Spaniards to appeal decisions of the government.

Another decree announced today dealt with reorganization of the powerful Falange militia which, it was indicated by an announcement two days ago, either will be dissolved or incorporated in the regular army.

Gen. Marshall Visits Pacific Area

Aerial Opposition From Japs Being Stepped Up

ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Central Pacific, Dec. 22 — (AP).—The long Pacific battle line was tense with expectancy today after a visit from Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Army chief-of-staff.

Marshall, participant in recent Allied military councils held at Cairo and Teheran, flew along the entire line from the Southwest Pacific to the Central Pacific, but only the generals and admirals, Australian and American, knew what he had said.

Gen. Douglas McArthur announced today that Marshall had been at advanced Allied Headquarters in New Guinea December 15 when United States 6th Army units invaded New Britain, at Arawe.

Marshall also conferred with the staff of Admiral William F. Halsey, South Pacific Commander, and Lt. Gen. Willard F. Harmon, chief of army forces there, whose ground, sea and air forces are driving the Japanese from their last Solomons Islands holdings, on Bougainville.

The chief-of-staff stopped for two days at Honolulu to see Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, United States commander-in-chief in the Pacific, and Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., United States commander of Central Pacific army forces.

Nimitz' and Richardson's army and navy units took the Gilbert Islands from the Japanese November 20 and their air forces have been hammering enemy airdromes and bases in the Marshall Islands, 300 miles north of the Gilberts, ever since.

The attacks on the Marshall Islands at first attracted little Japanese aerial opposition, but the latest reported attack, Sunday and Monday, by United States 7th Army air force heavy bombers, met a heavy enemy air counter-attack and on Monday three of the big bombers were lost and a number of others damaged.

The bombers, however, in striking at the Taroa airdrome on the Maloelap Atoll touched off fires and explosions among hangars and storage depots with 25 tons of explosives. They were met by 20 enemy Zero fighters, downing four and probably destroying five others.

Marshall flew to the Pacific stations by way of India, Ceylon and Australia. His stops in India and Ceylon took him into the new Southeast Asia Command of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, established to prosecute the war against the Japanese in the Burma sector.

Second Network To Start On January 1

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — More Canadian radio programs featuring more Canadian artists will be in store for listeners from coast to coast when the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation inaugurates a second net work January 1.

Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting chairman of the CBC, told The Canadian Press today the Corporation will spend more money than ever next year on programs and artists, with artists fees alone amounting to $1,000,000, an increase of $100,000 over 1943.

The new network will be inaugurated on schedule but will operate on a temporary basis only until next autumn when most of the program contracts expire. The net work then will operate on a permanent basis.

Under the new set-up, the CBC will operate a "trans-Canada" network and a "Dominion" network.

The Trans-Canada network, now known as the National network, and made up of 35 privately-owned stations and six CBC stations, will include 28 privately-owned stations and six CBC stations which will operate 16 hours daily.

24 Private Stations.

The new Dominion network, to be made up of 24 private stations and one of the six CBC stations now in existence, will operate for three hours every day until it is established on a permanent basis next fall.

All the private stations will not remain continuously on the CBC networks, nor on the same network. Some which carry National network programs during the day will switch to the Dominion network at night and at other times may carry their own features.

"We plan to encourage and help private broadcasters to build up local programs good enough to be carried over the CBC networks," said Dr. Frigon. "We know that most artists converge toward big centres, but if there are good pianists, singers, or musical units in our smaller cities we would like to have them heard over our networks.

"In fact, we would like to get good artists anywhere in the Dominion on our networks through local stations."

Darlan Slayer Vindicated By His Father

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALGIERS, Dec. 22 — (CP). — An anguished father, seeking to clear the name of his son who a year ago Christmas Eve ended the life of Admiral Jean Francois Darlan in a flurry of gunfire, has lifted some of the secrecy thrown over the death of the little man who tried to be all things to all men.

One year of untiring effort by Eugene Bonnier de la Chapelle, newspaperman, has won partial vindication of the name of his 20-year-old son, Fernand Bonnier de la Chapelle, a frail university student who died before a firing squad.

As the result of the father's appeal, the Justice Ministry of the French Committee of National Liberation has issued a communique saying a re-examination of the case revealed that the youth had not been connected with the Axis.

If leaders of the French underground movement have their way, the youth soon may be hailed as a martyr in the fight to liberate France.

Gradually through the year, these facts have become self-apparent, although the full story may not be told until the many persons involved in the plot are dead:—

1. The fierce emotional idealism of the young student, who was an ardent follower of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, was used by older men who never have been brought to trial.

2. These men supplied young Bonnier de la Chapelle with a gun and the opportunity to shoot Darlan.

3. The youth was tried hurriedly and shot within 48 hours of the assassination.

4. A story spread around Algiers, to the effect that the assassination was a royalist plot to install the Prince of Paris, a Morocco pig farmer, as the king of North Africa, was a smoke screen raised to confuse the situation.

In a letter to Gen. De Gaulle, Gen. Henri Giraud and French Minister of Justice George Catroux, the father protested the implication that his son was the tool of the Axis.

Asking that his son's name be restored to a place of honor, the father

Brosig had Japanese books and papers he carried with him in a large parcel. In addition, he had numerous sheets of paper on which he had been practising making Japanese characters, with the German equivalent written in an adjoining column.

He also had a German-Russian lexicon, but there was no evidence he had been practising writing the Russian language.

Brosig's registration card was similar in the type faces used in its printing to others carried by prisoners-of-war captured in North Bay in the past, but sufficiently different from the regulation card to be immediately noticeable.

He was well supplied with cigarettes and also carried a razor and a number of snapshots of individuals and family groups.

It was Brosig's third escape from the camp since June, 1942. North Bay police said to-day he was handed over to the Provost Corps who released him after questioning but later picked him up again. He was held in the city jail.

Mosquito Planes Continue Aerial Sweeps

LONDON, Dec. 22 —(CP)—Swift R.A.F. Mosquito bombers, maintaining the round-the-clock offensive against the Nazis, blasted unspecified objectives in western Germany last night, the air ministry announced today, and shortly after day-break new streams of Allied planes headed across the Channel in the direction of northern France for the third consecutive day.

The latest Mosquito blow was carried out without loss, a communique said.

Their load of explosives was added to the approximately 4,000 tons of bombs dropped by more than 3,000 Allied planes on key Nazi targets in Germany and Occupied France Monday and Tuesday in the greatest combined air operations carried out in 36 hours against any country since the war began.

Yesterday hundreds of British and United States bombers made massed daylight attacks on military targets —possibly "secret weapon" installations—in the area of Pas De Calais. Monday night the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. used a force which the London Telegraph said possibly was 800 to 1,000 planes to hit Frankfurt and the twin cities of Ludwigshafen and Mannheim, following the 500-plane United States blow against Bremen.

Two thousand tons of bombs were dropped on Frankfurt and 1,200 on Bremen, it was disclosed. The London Herald said 300 tons probably were dropped on the Mannheim diversionary target and the remainder was dropped in Tuesday's sweeps.

St. John's School Gives Concert

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 22 (ENS) —After a two-year interval the annual Christmas concert for pupils of St. John's Sunday School was resumed here this year and drew a record attendance. The entire program was well presented and reflected considerable training and work on the part of both instructors and parents who assisted both in this phase of the program and in the Yuletide decorations which adorned the hall.

Chairman was Sunday School Superintendent Harold A. Twigg, who at the outset voiced a hearty welcome to the gathering and in so doing seized the opportunity to emphasize the value of religious instruction in the upbringing of young people. He also spoke in praise of those who were responsible for the program and particularly commended the pianist of the evening, Miss Patricia Ironside, and the caretaker, Mr. Ed. Bates.

Recitations and musical numbers keynoted the program which was presented by the pupils from the various classes under the direction of the teacher. The following recitations were heard from children in the Junior Department headed by Miss Doris Mason and Mrs. A. D. Bennett:—"Merry Christmas to All," David Bowen; "So Small," Allan Nicholls; 'I Love Santa," Joanne McArthur; "The Best of All," Verne Bullock; "Our Tree," Murray Sayers; "A Lament," Paul Gracon; "Why," Wayne Post.

Christmas choruses and recitations by the school included, "Welcome," Janet Sills; "Merry Christmas," Lola Petherick; "A Fisherman," Donny Nicholls; "My Best Playmate," Douglas Underwood; "A Gift," Margaret Nelson; "Bedtime Bravery," Ronald Pierre; "A Modest Desire," Billy Fink; "Christmas Cookies," Gay Bonsteel; vocal, "Fair Christmas Tree," Gayle Meyers and Bobbie Bleecker; recitations, Jane Cairns and Jane Stewart; "Santa at Home," Barbara Fox; "To Santa's Home," Donnie Carr; "Being Good," Hilliard Jones; "An Alteration," Bobbie Barnum; music, Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," Gayle Meyers, Bobbie Bleecker, Maxine McArthur, Jane Stewart, Jane Cairns; recitations—"Letter to Santa Claus," Arthur White; "How Old is Santa?" Labrash; 'Old Friends Are Best," Barbara Hay; "A Candle Shone," Wilfred Jones; "Wishes," Gayle Meyers; music by three girls, "Santa Send My Daddy Back To Me," Jane Cairns, Jane Stewart and Maxine McArthur; drill, girls of the Sunday School.

Numbers by intermediate and Senior pupils included a pantomime entitled "The Christmas Story" by a group of girls directed by Mrs. W. F. Scott; drill by combined classes of Mrs. J. D. Mills and Mrs. W. A. Kingston; playlet, "The Christmas Idea" by Mrs. Scott's class; Motion song by boys of Mrs. R. E. Fox's class; recitation, "Father Present", Donald Kilbank; playlet, "Santa Claus", by Mrs. Harold Pierce's class; Maypole Dance by pupils of Mrs. J. D. Mills' and Mrs. W. A. house fighting and press on after the retreating enemy.

Facilitating the advance that gave to the 8th Army a toe-hold in the prize German stronghold was a shattering artillery barrage in the tradition of El Alamein that cut a path through the heavily-mined approaches to the city on Tuesday afternoon.

Only 41 miles south-east of the important port of Pescara, Ortona has been a main objective in Sir Bernard Montgomery's drive up the Adriatic coast.

Meanwhile, observers on the 5th Army front expressed the opinion that German troops there were running short of artillery. One said that supply roads behind the Allied front in range of enemy guns were not being shelled, although they offered excellent targets, and said the only way to explain that was shortage of ammunition.

Another development in that area was the announcement by Headquarters that operating with the 5th Army was a specially trained mixed unit of Americans and Canadians.

Sources in Ottawa speculated that this might be a "special service" force set up months ago and trained at Helena, Mont.—a sort of super-commando unit.

From London, Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, wrote that the Canadians in this unit went to Italy directly from the United States. The Dominion soldiers are believed, he said, to be wearing United States field uniforms with Canada flashes on their shoulders.

Free Overnight Hun Recaptured

NORTH BAY, Dec. 22 (CP)—Eckhert Brosig, 23-year-old German prisoner-of-war in the prison camp at Montieth, nt., was recaptured here early today after his third escape from the camp since June, 1942.

He made his third break from the camp 40 miles east of Timmins last night.

North Bay police said today the former German airman reached North Bay hiding in a railway mail car, where he was captured by Skip Andrews, mail clerk, and Henry Berry, mail inspector.

He was turned over to the Provost Corps, police said, who released him after questioning but later picked him up again. Brosig was held in the city jail.

Brosig first escaped in June, 1942. He was nabbed in New York and returned to Montreal after travelling more than 50 miles through Canada and the United States wearing his German air force uniform, which is similar to that of the R.C.A.F.

During his initial period of freedom Brosig passed through North Bay and spent several hours with a family. He was brought to North Bay by a relative of the family who picked him up on the highway. Brosig claimed then he was a Greek airman.

A statement later by Miss A. E. Smyth that North Bay police had been informed Brosig was in the city but took no action brought on two investigations into the police department.

On Aug. 8, 1943, the Nazi escaped for the second time, authorities describing him as the ringleader of a plan for a mass break by prisoners.

Alertness of an Ottawa detective led to his recapture in the capital Oct. 3 when the detective saw Brosig eating in a downtown restaurant and followed him to the Union Station, where he was arrested.

School To Open 30 Minutes Later In Morning

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec 21 — (ENS). — Public School pupils here will have an extra half hour to sleep in the mornings at the beginning of the next term. The Board of Education took this action at its meeting Monday night following a request made on behalf of township pupils by Cecil Dainard.

It was the old story of it being still dark in the morning when many had to leave their country homes for school and although this fact was recognized by Board the decision to make the change was not unanimous. It was recalled that when the plan was first put into effective and 15 minutes was taken off the noon hour and another fifteen added on after four there were "too many came in late at noon." However, the plan had been more satisfactory when the half hour was added on after four o'clock, so with this in mind a motion was passed postponing school's opening till 9:30 in the morning. The new time will only effect the public school and the change in hours will remain in effect till March 15.

High School principal E. H. Greig revealed they were having the same trouble at the school as they had a year ago. With the completion of Christmas exams last Friday, pupils had lost interest and attendance was already down nearly sixty per cent with two more days to go. He revealed the attendance was 62 in the morning (Monday) and 57 in the afternoon and said it was impossible for teachers to take up any new work under such conditions as several classes had only two to four pupils in them. Mr. Grieg asked the Board what action he should take, but being powerless to close the school they did nothing.

Becoming Habit

"The closing of school is getting contagious with a few extra days at Christmas and the proposal to give three months holidays in the summer how many school days are we going to have left?" declared E. H. McKeel.

Mr. Greig explained it had been planned to take up examination papers during the remaining days of the term but with so many away several of whom were working during the week—it was not practical. Mr. Russell was of the opinion that if more of the parents understood the situation the pupils would be back at school. It was agreed that it was too late to do much this year but it should be kept in mind to avoid a poss-

Militia Action Annoys Franco

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(AP).—Further clarification of the position of Spain's General Francisco Franco is expected here as a result of United States representations over Falangist vandalism in the United States Consulate in Valencia.

The incident, reported by Ambassador Carlton Hayes from Madrid, was the latest of a series of actions against Allied representatives in various parts of Spain.

The news came almost simultaneously with announcement in Madrid that Franco had dissolved the Falange militia and granted an amnesty to all political prisoners except those held for murder. About 8,000 will be freed by Christmas, one dispatch estimated.

Hayes said two persons, later identified as Falangists, entered the United States Consulate at Valencia Saturday, tore pictures off the walls and made speeches to visitors at the Consulate. They were arrested by Spanish police. It was the first time, as far as is known here, that the Spanish Government had moved against anti-foreign demonstrations by members of the Falange, only official party.

The unusual publication of Ambassador Hayes' report was regarded as an indirect warning to Spain that the United States Government takes a serious view of the disturbances.

Last week, the British Government in a strongly worded statement refused to accept the Spanish answer to its protest over an insult to the British Consul at Saragossa. Spain had said the Government was not responsible for the Falangists' actions, but the British officials said that since they were uniformed members of the official party, Madrid should account for them.

One source said Franco is apparently trying to appease the generals and anti-Falangist elements in Spain in an effort to circumvent possible overthrow of his regime.

Persistent rumors of an impending coup have been circulating.

Cannot Illuminate Outside Trees

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Illumination of outdoor Christmas trees is banned again this year in "dim-out" areas of Ontario and Quebec, power control officials said yesterday.

Private householders may light Christmas trees in their own homes but it is illegal for commercial establishments to use electricity for the lighting of trees.

The ban, imposed last year, applies in the power shortage areas of the two central provinces where store windows are blacked out under the power-conservation program.

ALLIES DRIVE ON TOWARDS ROME—Canadian, New Zealand and Indian troops of the British Eighth Army have tightened their grip on the vital lateral road between Orsogna and Ortona, in Italy, anchors of the German line. Some reports say the British Eighth is fighting in the streets at Orsogna. U.S. troops of the Fifth Army have captured Mount Spinuccio, 2,600-foot peak looking down on the inland road to Rome. Their drive is to dislodge enemy forces entrenched on the high ground north of Cassino highway.

Arrears Of Taxes Reduced $201,310 In Peterborough In Seven Years

City Treasurer Shaver has been browsing among some tax figures which, although they usually seem dusty and dull, tell an interesting story to the citizen payers of taxes who are conscious of their joint proprietorship in the municipal property.

In seven years the city's outstanding and uncollected taxes have been reduced from $264,971 at December 31, 1936, to $63,661 at November 30, just passed.

Briefly, that is the account of the collection of arrears of taxes which needs no interpretation to the ratepayer. In the meantime the Council has been accumulating reserve fund to cover loss on taxes and that special fund stands now at $61,077. Assuming that December collections will considerably reduce the outstanding balance of $63,661 (the amount uncollected at the end of November), the city will have more than sufficient to square tax arrearage in the financial accounting.

Although record of tax collections prepared by Mr. Shaver spreads itself over considerable newspaper space, it is reproduced herewith as information for the ratepayers.

The left hand column shows the amount of the current tax roll in each year. That means the amount of taxes to be levied from the taxpayers for all civic purposes such as Police and Fire Departments, Board of Education, Board of Works, principal and interest on debenture debt, Public Library, and so on. The next time you get your tax bill, look on the back and you can see for yourself the entire details.

The amount of taxes to be collected in 1936 were $925,026. That yearly levy has declined steadily in the last eight years to $788,636 this year. As it was stated at a recent meeting of the Council, the tax demand on the citizens has fallen steadily although the social services and Board of Education have been thoroughly maintained at standard levels.

That column at the extreme left should be of interest to the citizens. The next column shows the amount of taxes actually paid in the respective years, and beside it is the percentage column. That shows the percentage which the amount paid by the taxpayers in each year was in relation to the amount of taxes levied.

The ability of the people to pay their municipal taxes is reflected in the increase in that percentage from 87 per cent in 1936 to 96.1 per cent at the end of November this year. That span reached from the subsidence of the depression to this present year of wartime employment.

The next column "Balance at December 31st," explains itself. The next column to the right shows the amount of the arrears at the beginning of each year, and on January 1 of any year you are looking, on this sheet, at the outstanding arrears up to that time.

The next column to the right, "Reduction for the Year," indicates as it suggests, and the amount of arrears of taxes paid during the year; and the next column, another percentage list, shows the percentage which the reduction is of the amount of arrears.

The final three columns to the right present a summary of arrears. "Current" means the taxes of a year still unpaid at the end of that year. The next column "Arrears" means arrears other than current. And the final column at the right is the total or arrears at the end of each year. For 1942 the figures were available only up to November 30.

For example, the total arrears at November 30 was $63,661. That amount is obtained by adding the "current" year's arrears with the arrears for the previous years — $30,669 plus $32,992. Total $63,661.

Probably it was Alderman Gordon who suggested special committee sessions several years ago to examine the tax roll item by item, and put a little pressure on taxpayers who were falling gradually behind but who, it was thought, could meet their tax obligations by a special effort. The Council also engaged S. H. Mitchell as an assistant in outside collections, and generally kept a close eye on the state of tax collections as shown in the annual tax roll and also the annual financial statements.

Army Requisitions Tons Of Turkeys

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP). — The Telegram says to-day that thousands of turkeys have been requisitioned from Toronto Department and Chain stores in the last few days by the Ministry of Munitions and Supply in order to ensure a sufficient supply for members of the armed forces over Christmas.

A spokesman for one store said that "one requisition order alone amouted to 10,000 pounds" and that the store did not have enough birds left to meet the demands of its customers, the paper said.

Refugees From Gibraltar Live In London

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 22 — (CP). — London, in her detached disinterested way, knows there are a lot of people from Gibraltar in these parts and she hears they are crazy about movies.

She vaguely recalls that the kids haunt Kensington bus drivers with their chattering Spanish energy and that the dark, young women are working here and there.

Otherwise her knowledge about them is no greater than her knowledge about the other communities of Europeans which have made this a wartime home.

It is more than three years since these chips off the old Rock fell on London in the blitz, waited in vain for the Atlantic shipping crisis to permit passage to the West Indies, and finally grew into a fixture. London, unruffled, simply absorbed them as she has absorbed Netherlanders, Czechs and Poles.

Canadians Get 21 Enemy Tanks

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 22 (CP Cable)—The fine showing of tanks under Canadian command was one of the highlights of the Canadian 1st Division's two-week drive from the shallow Moro river to the Adriatic town of Ortona.

(Yesterday William Stewart, Canadian Press war correspondent, reported that under cover of a terrific artillery barrage Canadian troops and tanks entered Ortona, eastern anchor of the German defence line in Italy.)

According to the latest compilations 21 enemy tanks were destroyed during this period despite the fact that the weather and the condition of the ground were not suitable for armored fighting. Biggest obstacle was the muck that cemented itself to the tracks of the Canadians' Sherman tanks.

There were no large clashes between opposing tank forces and most of the Canadian victories were marked up in day to day patrols and during special tasks, and infantrymen claimed at least one of the enemy giants, a Mark IV destroyed by mortar fire.

Wherever the infantry went during the last two weeks they received support from their armor. Tanks crossed the Moro river as soon as engineers could build them roads and they led the way into San Leonardo when it was captured by Western Canadian infantrymen who first cut the lateral road at the western end of the Canadian front, opening the way for the push on Ortona.

Institute Buys Bonds To Purchase Building

BETHANY, Dec. 22—(ENS)—The December meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Mason Monday with 15 members present. The treasurer reported $10 sent to Hospital for Sick Children at Toronto and $10 to be used for British children. Mrs. Armstrong also reported purchasing another Victory Bond for $50. It is the hope of the Society to have a proper building erected to house the fire engine which was purchased some time ago, after the war. In the meantime country has the use of the money from these bonds.

Mrs. Price gave a report of work accomplished by Red Cross sent to headquarters, and a bale of goods of used clothing sent to Navy League. The Institute decided to buy supplies for first aid kit at the public school. Miss Eunice Strong to be in charge.

Miss Staples gave an interesting report of Institute convention held in Toronto recently. Mrs. Mason gave the story of Handel's Messiah and two contests were arranged, viz, a possible Christmas banquet, another on music.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Bristow at the close of the meeting.

Cobourg Briefs

COBOURG, Dec. 22 — (ENS).—Dye Works are heading the Cobourg Men's Bowling League with Scougales in second place and Williams third. In order of standing are Imperial Oil, Baltimore Hotel, Dunham Hotel Dark Horses and Cobourg Cleaners.

John Timlin, age 83, was buried this week in Centreton Cemetery. He died in Cobourg General Hospital at the age of 83 years. Born in Haldimand township he farmed in this district until his retirement about 12 years ago. He is survived by several nephews and nieces.

Window Prize

Scougales Men's Store won second prize in a competition for show windows conducted by a men's clothing company. It was photographed by Murray Smith of Cobourg and the photograph sent in. The window display competed with windows all over Canada. Mr. Alan Knight is manager of the store.

The Post Office staff is coping successfully with a very heavy Christmas mail. A number of collegiate students are working during the Christmas rush. On the whole the people responded to the appeal to co-operate with postal staff by mailing early.

Skating propects at the Cobourg rink are still rather vague due to the difficulty of getting some one to look after it but good outdoor rinks have been made at the Collegiate and Public and Separate schools.

To Install Officers

Rev. E. W. B. Mackay of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of Cobourg was guest speaker at last night's meeting of the Cobourg Kiwanis Club held at the Baltimore Hotel. The newly formed club will install its officers January 4th and Charter Night will be on January 12th.

Efficient Local Tax Collection

We should like to draw the attention of the ratepayers of this municipality to a fact which we do not believe is widely known. In 1936, which was a depression year, this city ended its year with a total of outstanding taxes owing amounting to $264,971; on November 30 of the present year that sum had been reduced to $63,661. These figures speak for themselves; in seven years the tax arrears have been reduced by more than $200,000. What is more, the city has a reserve for loss on taxes of $61,077, so that we were suddenly called upon to close our municipal books we should be able to do so with a very small loss.

How was this accomplished? By the hard work of a few men whom we shall not mention by name, because in such a connection it might appear invidious to do so. Collecting taxes is a very hard job, if it is carried on with reasonable humanity and discretion. But there are men in this city who have spent scores of hours of time working on this problem, and their work has had the excellent results shown by the figures.

This is one more proof that the finances of the municipality are in good hands and that the city is being well managed. Very often the council and the city officials are sharply criticised for the stand which they take, or fail to take, in public business, but we think that every citizen realizes that there are many routine jobs which are being handled in a most able and faithful manner. The knowledge that everything is in good order with the city's finances gives a feeling of pride and security to the community which is of the utmost value to it, and speaks well for the future. Those responsible for dealing with the city's taxes during the past seven years deserve, we think, the hearty thanks of every ratepayer.

The Raid On Bari

The German raid on the Italian port of Bari, which sank seventeen ships of an Allied convoy, is a blow which we shall not forget in a hurry. The people of the United Nations, we think, will expect to hear more about this raid. It was accomplished, we know, by thirty German bombers which swept over the harbour and dropped their bombs at very low levels. Was there no warning of their coming? Were no airplane spotters on the job? Were there no fighter planes to defend the port? The whole story sounds rather like a smaller version of Pearl Harbour; was there anyone at Bari who should have been on the job and was not?

We are constantly warned these days against complacency on the home front? The war is far from won, we are told. The enemy still has great striking power, and the fact that he is in retreat will sharpen his wits. Can it be that some of these warnings should be returned, with compliments, to the fighting fronts? Is there complacency there? The loss of seventeen ships is a heavy price to pay for complacency. We have been told that most of the ships were unloaded when the raid came, but it is also admitted that it was the explosion of two ships filled with munitions which caused a great part of the damage. So far as we can judge from the report on this disaster, the harbour was ill-defended, and such defenders as there were were caught off guard.

Clearly it is not much use to boast that we have beaten the U-boat menace if ships which have successfully crossed the ocean are to be sunk in port by thirty German planes which escape without any loss to themselves. The lesson of Bari has cost us dear, and it is to be hoped that it will be heeded in the proper quarter.

Backwash Of Montreal Strike

The successful strike of the policemen and firemen of the city of Montreal was a great victory for the Canadian Congress of Labour, and that organization is already anxious to scale new heights. Mr. A. R. Mosher, the C.C.L. president, has already written to Premier Adelard Godbout of Quebec suggesting that the attorney-general of that Province be instructed "to withdraw the ban on the organization of the provincial police in a labour union". Perhaps Mr. Mosher is simply canvassing for business in this letter; perhaps he has more complex aims. If his union controlled all the police of the Province of Quebec it would be in a very strong position politically, and could put the squeeze on the provincial government whenever it wanted to do so.

The Ottawa Journal has asked a question about the Montreal strike which Canadians would do well to ponder:

> "There is one aspect of it, a grave aspect, which the Canadian people should note. The union which these Montreal policemen and firemen have formed is affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labour, the C.C.L. The C.C.L., in turn, is affiliated with the C.C.F.; is a part of the Socialist setup. In the light of that confederacy, it is proper to ask: Where do the leaders of the C.C.F. party stand with respect to this Monteral strike? Do they approve of police officers being false to their oaths? Are they in favour of policemen and firemen abandoning their posts, endangering the lives and property of a whole community, for any cause whatsoever"?

The C.C.F. leaders, we are sure, will hasten to deny that they are in favour of any of these things, but the fact remains that the C.C.L. provides them with a shady means of exerting power in defiance of the provincial government. If the police in Quebec are trade unionists before they are policemen, and if the C.C.F. works hand in glove with their union, the C.C.F. is undeniably powerful. But its power will only last until it becomes a government itself; then it may find the demands of the C.C.L very difficult to meet. It is not hard to imagine a situation in which the C.C.F. will have to do what the C.C.L. tells it to do, or lose the union support. We do not imagine that the C.C.F. leaders like dictation from union organizers any better than other politicians.

Renewing The Bus Franchise

At the approaching municipal elections the voters will be called upon to make a decision about renewing the franchise of the local bus service. We do not anticipate that there will be any objection to this move. The bus service in Peterborough does an excellent job. It is true that the buses are often crowded and that the service is sometimes slower than complete efficiency would demand, but that is so in every Canadian city today, and usually the condition is far worse than anything which has happened in Peterborough. Gas rationing, increased business and employment, shortage of drivers for new vehicles, impossibility of increasing the number of buses in commission—all these and many other factors have to be considered. Upon the whole the wartime bus service in this city has been excellent.

The agreement which the City has with the bus company is a good one and has saved money for the ratepayers. A number of Ontario cities, London and Kitchener among them, operate their own transportation systems, and they have found it troublesome and expensive to do so. The local service is good and the fares are reasonable; there is no reason to suppose that we should be able to do better with a different system.

For some time the bus company has paid nothing to the city, and the Council has been content to let it operate on that basis. A change of circumstances, however, and the establishment of the bus service in popular favour, has brought about a change in this respect as well, and beginning next year it is estimated that the bus service will contribute between $5,000 and $6,000 to the city funds—a very useful sum.

Between now and the election we hope that the voters will think over the matter of the bus franchise; anyone who has an objection to its renewal will, of course, vote against it, but we cannot imagine that many people will take that attitude. We have a good service and we shall be wise to keep it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Some scientists claim that men are descended from fish. Well, if so, that takes a heavy load off the monkey.

Contrary to general belief, the Germans are said to be well fed at present. Even at that, they won't be having Turkey for Christmas.

Men drafted for military service but found unfit for army training will in future be sent to Canadian penitentiaries as guards. Of course, any medals they get will be awarded 'with bars'.

A Government bureau states; "Our forefathers did without sugar until the 13th century, without coal until the 14th century, without buttered bread until the 15th century, without potatoes until the 16th century, without coffee, tea and soap until the 17th century, without pudding until the 18th century, and without gas, matches and electricity until the 19th century". And without Government bureaux until the 20th century!

A Pre-Christmas Diary

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY, Dec. 12: Hard at work this afternoon preparing and addressing Christmas cards. There are several ways of dealing with the card problem: one can choose a card and have several dozen printed with one's name and special greeting, or one can buy cards to suit the taste of each friend; or one can rush out at the last minute and buy what other people have left in the shops. I chose the second method; in that way one can buy the 'modern' card for the determinedly 'modern' friend, the Jollie Olde Englysshe Carde for the Jollie Olde Englysshe friend, and the devout card—too often a feeble representation of the Adoration of the Magi—for the devout friend. But what about those dim and ill-defined characters who fall into none of those categories? Are they to have a Victorian couple riding a bicycle, or Mr. Pickwick on top of a stage-coach, or St. Francis feeding the birds? There ought to be special blank cards for people who have no decided character.

MONDAY, Dec. 13: Passed a foul day of petty annoyance. My fires would not draw; people interrupted me constantly at my work; I broke a cherished pencil; I discovered several unpaid bills under a heap of papers. At last realized that it was the thirteenth of the month; I am not superstitious but undoubtedly the imps of Satan paid me special attention all day. I wonder if anyone has ever investigated that superstition—the thirteenth, I mean, not Satan—in a scientific spirit?....This evening to the movies for the first time in six weeks, and saw Gracie Fields and Monty Woolley in "Holy Matrimony." Delighted to see a film which had no conventional love interest, and so much genuine comedy. Although the film was exceptionally good I saw that the theatre was about one-third full. Most film-goers, obviously, prefer those interminable sickly dramas about Young Love. Phooey on Young Love!

TUESDAY, Dec. 14: A man was talking to me today about the Canadian climate, which he maintained was very hard on all except the young and the robust. Probably he is right. The cold winters are said to be bracing, but I find that most people are fagged out by the time spring comes; there is such a thing as being too braced. Of course, it is simpler for those who have the luxury of oilheating in their homes; what a boon to be able to adjust a thermostat to any heat one likes, and then forget about it! No stoking, no ashes, no coal to fuss with, and none of the temperamental fluctuations of a furnace. ....Tonight saw National Film Board productions showing the paintings of A. Y. Jackson and Tom Thompson; very beautiful. The Canadian landscape is hard to beat, in its finest manifestations.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 15: At a meeting this evening where I had a chance to observe the audience closely. The hall was cold, and the speaker was unable to warm it with the fire of his eloquence. What is more, several women knitted vigorously through the whole proceeding. I cannot but feel that this is the gravest discourtesy to the speaker; what would women think of men who took sticks to a meeting and whittled them as they listened? Much knitting is mere nervous habit; these women were not knitting anything for the war, unless the armed forces have suddenly taken to wearing shades of pink. ....The war passed its 1566th day today, and every day from this time onward will make it that much longer than the First Great War. Shall we have peace, at least in Europe, by this time next year?

THURSDAY, Dec. 16: For me, this was what the courts call a 'non dies'; nothing seemed to happen at all. However, Mr. Churchill has pneumonia, and all the more timorous newspaper writers seem convinced that he will die. There is no escaping the fact that many Canadian journalists are the rankest pessimists; the Hon. C. D. Howe has told them so, and they have hooted him, but he is right. Churchill die, and the war only half won? What nonsense! He will live to blow cigar smoke right in Der Fuehrer's face.

FRIDAY, Dec. 17: Completed my Christmas shopping today. Of course, I had finished it before, but I find that if you do Christmas shopping early enough you become discontented with what you have bought, and rush out to buy more. Perhaps that is what lies behind the campaigns to make people shop early. Next year I shall wait until Christmas Eve, and then any buying I do will be irrevocable....This year there is a noticeable lack of pleasant but inexpensive things which make good Christmas gifts. In time of peace one can give people fruit cakes, or a few pounds of really good old cheese, but that is out of the question at present.

SATURDAY, Dec. 18: The battle still rages about the CBC keeping John Bracken off the air. And speaking of radio, there was an entertaining slip in the Metropolitan Opera broadcast this afternoon. A touching incident in "Rigoletto" was interrupted by a voice saying "Would you like a test now " Heads will roll for that, no doubt....I suppose it would be courteous to extend my wishes to my readers for a Very Merry Christmas, as they will not see another installment of this diary until after the great day. But would it be permissible, seeing that so many of them are utter strangers to me, and perhaps even people whom I would not wish to have a merry Christmas? Still, this is a season when we can all afford to be generous and let down the barriers a little. Merry Christmas, everybody!

Of Course, It's Difficult

The story of the creation of the world is told in Genesis in 400 words.

The world's greatest moral code, the Ten Commandments, contains only 400 words.

Lincoln's immortal "Gettysburg Address" is but 266 words in length.

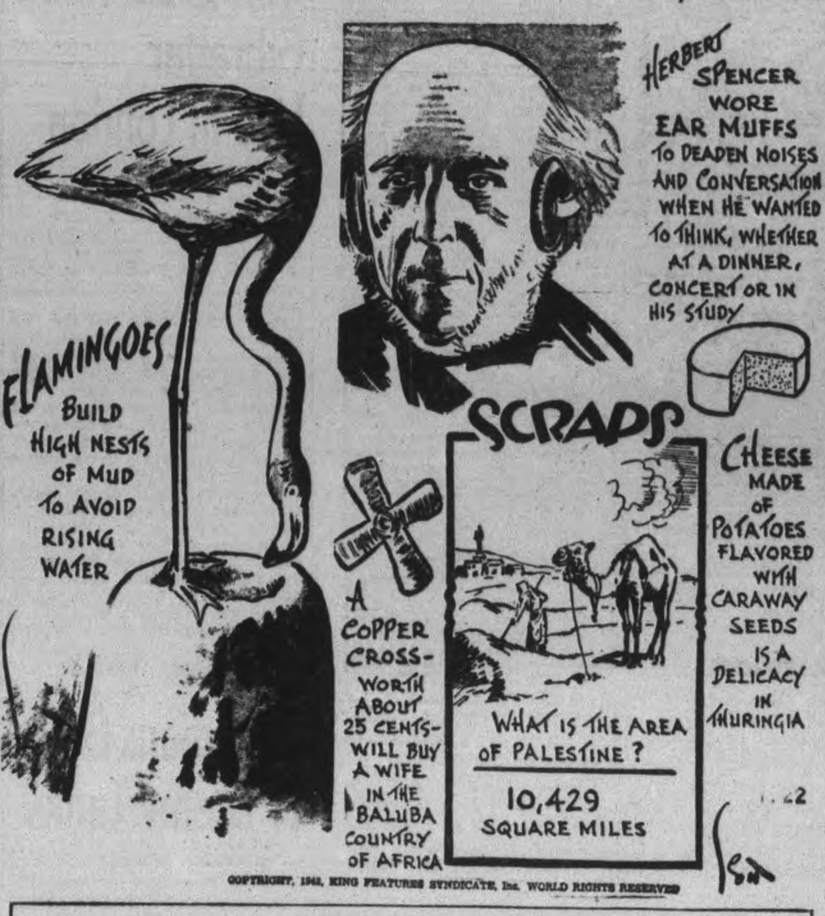
The Declaration of Independence required only 1,321 words to set up a new conception of freedom.

The Office of Price Administration uses 2,500 words to announce a reduction in the price of cabbage seeds.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

One Man's Guess

Our own guess, based on the assumption that a war in which our goal is unconditional surrender will have to be fought to a military finish, is that the war in Europe will be won around Oct. 31, 1944, and the war against Japan around March 1, 1946.—Minneapolis Star Journal.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott



For People Who Like To Be Alone

SWEDEN, indeed, is a tourist's paradise. The country is as well organized as it is beautiful. Everything is solid, practical, convenient.

The trains are perhaps the most comfortable in Europe, and they run on time. Hotel rooms are models of cleanliness, with gleaming white bed linen and towels, spick-and-span washbowls and bathtubs. Service is individual and efficient, without risk of overcharge as a rule. Casual acquaintances are friendly and helpful, though not exactly effusive....

The Swedish language presents few difficulties for those who know German. It is simple, though rich and melodious. To learn it was a real pleasure for me, and it did not take me long. I think I was able to read the papers after three or four weeks....

The Sweden I first came to was a happy, carefree land. Long ago the Swedes had put their house in perfect working condition. They had solved their economic and social problems in exemplary fashion....

Like nearly all foreigners who have lived in Sweden, I came to be very fond of the land and of its people. While it cannot compare with the majestic beauty of Norway or the picturesque charm of France, Sweden has a great and peculiar fascination, especially for people who like to be alone.

Stockholm is a marvelous place. I cannot think of any other metropolis where it is so easy to get away quickly from the city centre and find oneself in the utter solitude of a dark forest, or a sun-parched, humming heath, or of a little secluded beach studded with cliffs....

Among other Swedish delights that will stay with me forever is a patch of desolate heathland atop a steep height just off the Tyreso road. To get there, you had to scramble over gnarled stubs and deep crevices, and to penetrate some of the thickest undergrowth you'd find anywhere outside of the tropics. But when you got to the top, panting and perspiring, what a glorious view!

All around you were the wooded peaks of a rolling hillside. In the distance, the gentle contours of Stockholm. Still farther away, a glimpse of the Baltic. And there, just at your feet, a shimmering maze of creeks and lakes screened at intervals by projecting spruce, with hundreds of gleaming white sails dotting the waterscape.—From "Stalwart Sweden." by Joachim Joesten. (New York: Doubleday, Doran.)

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

IS it a misguided sense of humor, or just a lack of good taste and delicacy of feeling that makes so many mothers taunt their single daughters with not being married? Goodness knows why not having a husband should make a girl a stooge on which Mother sharpens her wit, but in thousands of cases it does, and most of Mother's merry quips and her stories that set the dinner table in a roar center around Annabelle's inability to get her man.

One of Mother's favourite gags is to pity herself for the prospect of having an old maid daughter left on her hands, and to appeal to all and sundry to help her marry off Annabelle. Or she may concoct a humorous yarn about her adventures in search of a mate for Annabelle, and how they wandered from winter resort to summer resort without finding one. Or she may just plain nag Annabelle about not having a wedding ring, as if it were her fault.

At any rate, all of us have assisted, in the French sense, at scenes in which a mother held her daughter up as a figure of fun, or else berated her for not being married; and as we watched the poor girl shrink and shiver at the jibes aimed at her and listened to her feeble attempts to turn them off as pleasantries, we have wondered if the mother realized how cruel she was being. And we have wondered still more at why women, whose own marriages have been none too happy, are so anxious to get their daughters married off.

If every husband was a prize package and every marriage license a security certificate that made the girl sure of a comfortable home, three square meals a day, and a man to work and support her while she played bridge and belonged to clubs and took life easy, you could see why mothers would be keen to get their daughters married and settled as soon as possible.

But husbands who are good and kind and tender and faithful and go-getters are about as scarce as hens' teeth. Mother didn't get one. What she drew out of the matrimonial grabbag was a grouch who was hard to live with and not much of a money-maker, and marriage didn't prove the picnic she expected it to be. On the contrary, it was a life sentence at hard labour, of pinching pennies, of cooking and washing and baby-tending, and wearing basement bargains, and why she wants to wish such a fate on her daughters is one of the mysteries that is past all finding out.

Of course, in the days when a girl had only a choice between marriage and being the fringe on somebody else's family, marriage was the better bet; but now when every door of opportunity is open to women and what a girl can get for herself is limited only by her brains and brawn; marriage is no longer a necessity. It is a luxury that a girl can take, or leave, as she pleases.

It is understandable that when girls had to be supported their parents were anxious to transfer the burden to George and let him do it, but nowadays daughters are not liabilities. They are a family asset that enables Father to knock off work as soon as Fanny and Sally get jobs, and that provides Mother with better clothes and better times than she ever had before.

Viewed realistically, an old maid daughter or two is about the best old age insurance a mother can take out, and one would think that she would tout the advantages of single blessedness to her girls rather than urge them into matrimony. But such is the force of custom and tradition among women that mothers still cling to the belief that for their daughters not to marry is a reflection upon them. They think it shows that their girls are not as attractive as other girls and have been passed over by them.

No one can explain why mothers are so eager for their daughters to acquire husbands, unless it is that deep down in every woman's heart is the knowledge that a successful marriage is the rounding out of a woman's life, and that in it she finds a joy and a contentment that no career or success in the outside world can bring her. And with unquenchable optimism Mother hopes and prays for his luck to befall the daughters she loves.

Unconsidered Trifles

Jones: "I hear you bought a car cheap the other day. How are you getting on with it?"

Smith: "I'm just realizing how hard it is to drive a bargain."

Travelling on a bus route strange to her, the old lady was very anxious not to pass her destination. Suddenly she leaned forward and poked the conductor in the ribs with her umbrella.

"Is that the Bank of England, my good man?" she asked.

"No, ma'am," replied the conductor coldly, "it's me."

Doctor: "My dear sir, nothing but an operation will save your life."

Patient: "What will it cost?"

Doctor: "About five hundred dollars."

Patient: "But I have only a hundred dollars."

Doctor: "In that case, let's see what pills will do."

Leadership From Virginia

The Richmond Times-Dispatch advocates in an outspoken and calmly reasoned editorial the repeal of Jim Crow laws for street-cars and buses in Virginia as "the truly conservative course." The repeal would be, it says, "the greatest single step toward better race relationships taken in any Southern State for decades." The reason it is deemed conservative is that otherwise Southern Negro leaders, who earnestly desire that relationship problems be settled in the South itself by the people who live there, white and black, will be forced to surrender to radical spokesmen "demanding the complete abolition of all discrimination over night."

The leadership of Virginia, one of the greatest of Southern States, which itself has nearly one-fourth Negro population, would weigh more in the South than all outside efforts from whatever source to force change. And who, cognizant of the unreal achievement resulting from post-Civil War attempts to abolish all discrimination by fiat, can believe that it would not result in more real achievement?

No critic from the North could state the case against white do-nothingism better than does the Times-Dispatch: "The time has come when the white South must do more than issue pious statements about loving and understanding the Negro if it wishes to build a firm foundation for amicable race relations in this region."

For Virginia to take the first great tradition-breaking step would, indeed, be a heartening thing.—New York Herald Tribune.

A Bible Message

I lifted up mine eyes again, and looked, and behold a man with a measuring line in his hand. Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said unto me, To measure Jerusalem, to see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof. (Zech. 2: 1, 2.)

And the angel that talked with me came again, and waked me, as a man that is wakened out of his sleep. And said unto me, What seest thou? And I said, I have looked, and behold a candlestick all of gold, with a bowl upon the top of it, and his seven lamps thereon, and seven pipes to the seven lamps, which are upon the top thereof: and two olive trees by it, one upon the right side of the bowl, and the other upon the left side thereof....

Then answered I, and said unto him, What are these two olive trees upon the right side of the candlestick and upon the left side thereof? And I answered again, and said unto him, What be these two olive branches which through the two golden pipes empty the golden oil out of themselves?

And he answered me and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord. Then said he, These are the two anointed ones, that stand by the Lord of the whole earth. (Zech. 4: 1-3, 11-14.)

Policy and Practice

James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians and popularly known as czar of the music world, has informed the NAACP that it has never been and never will be the policy of the A.F. of M. to discriminate against Negroes.

This is extremely comforting news, indeed, and we hope that it is true.

We have heard so much to the contrary from Negro musicians, members of the A.F. of M., and we think it would be interesting to have their present views on the matter.

The discrepancy between what Mr. Petrillo says and what some Negro musicians say may arise from the fact that Mr. Petrillo is talking about policy as set down in official pronouncements, while the Negro musicians are talking about practice as encountered from day to day.

It would be helpful to have these matters cleared up.—Pittsburgh Courier.

Why Not Free Medicine?

The argument has been advanced that if one believes in a free public school system, one should not object to "free medicine" controlled and paid for by the State.

There is considerable difference between a public school system to give every individual a chance for mental equipment with which to earn a living and care for himself, and furnishing the necessities and luxuries of life.

"Cradle to the grave security" sounds appealing, but a nation which accepts that plan sells its independence and admits that its people cannot care for themselves.—Keene (N.H.) Sentinel.

Fish Mystery

Walthamstow firemen are still mystified about how two fair-sized roach succeeded in finding their way into an emergency water supply tank.

Like the little fishes in the song, they swam and they swam and the firemen realized that something would have to be done about it or the fish would attract children to the water's edge.

So the roach were caught and transferred to a lily pond in the grounds of a nearby fire station. —London Evening Standard.

Petroleum Jelly Combats Sea Exposure

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (CP)—Stocking impregnated with petroleum jelly has proved effective in combatting immersion foot, swelling and gangrene caused by prolonged exposure to salt water and often suffered by the victims of torpedoings far from shore, the Royal Canadian Navy Medical Research unit reported today.

The condition of immersion foot was produced experimentally in Albino rats by immersing the hind feet in cold water.

Woollen stockings impregnated with white petroleum were successful in preventing the immersion syndrone in 83 per cent of the animals. A spiral stocking was developed for similar use in humans, and the first 5,000 pairs for use on Merchant Navy ships have been donated by the Navy League of Canada.

Packages containing the stockings bear printed instructions that they be put on immediately after abandoning ship, and the boots then replaced.

The effect of diet in the incidence of immersion foot also is being investigated.

New Research

Other research activities reported on by Surgeon Capt. C. H. Best and Surgeon Cmdr. D. Y. Solandt, both of Toronto, were:—

1. Work is continuing on the preparation of fresh water from salt, with most of the studies concentrated on the design of a hand-operated pump for freezing salt water and obtaining relatively fresh water for use.

2. A new life-saving jacket has been designed which, in addition to providing filtration and warmth, offers considerable protection against under-water blast caused by nearby explosions. These new Jackets now are being manufactured and it is hoped some 30,000 men will be equipped with them by summer.

3. In collaboration with the R.C.A.F. a lamp to be built into life-saving jackets has been designed which can be seen for a much greater distance than any other lamp of similar power, thus facilitating rescues at night.

4. A variety of glass filters are being examined to determine the filter best suited to permit visualization of tracer bullets when fired into the sun.

5. An apparatus has been developed to test night vision of Navy men.

Mine Workers Win New Gains

SUDBURY, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP).—The International Union of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.) won an Ontario Labor Court vote in the nearby Falconbridge Nickel Company mine with 765 votes compared with 191 for the Falconbridge Workers Council it was announced early today.

Court officials said that 88 per cent of the 1,095 eligible voters cast ballots in the vote which was held yesterday under Court order in connection with an application of the smelters union for certification as collective bargaining agent for the company's employees.

It was the second Labor Court vote victory for Local 598 of the Smelter workers in the Nickel Belt in four days, as they obtained the majority in voting among International Nickel Company employees last Friday.

Christmas Trees Are Plentiful But Prices Somewhat Higher

By The Canadian Press

Despite labor shortage, transportation restrictions and other widespread dislocations of war, Santa Claus probably will find just as may Christmas Trees in Canadian homes this year as he ever has.

A nation-wide survey conducted by The Canadian Press indicated today that almost every Canadian who wanted to make the white bearded fat man's job a little easier by marking the spot for deposit of his booty has been able to do so. And, in addition, a large export trade to the United States sent out of the country almost 1,000 carloads of trees from the Maritimes and more than a million trees from British Columbia.

All through the nation, householders have been able to pick their trees from stock-piles on corner lots—at a price quite a bit higher than that of peacetime, but little increased from last year. Towns and cities have been supplied by almost every possible means, from the large-scale dealers of Canada's coastal provinces to the farmers who cut only a few dozens, or few hundreds, of trees for this annual market.

Regulations were unchanged from previous years. The orders governing commercial trucking prohibited shipment of trees by truck for more than 35 miles, but many farmers hauled their trees to market on sleds and other horse-drawn vehicles. Railways could not carry trees in flat or open-top cars, or box-cars suitable for other purposes, but the export trade was maintained at its reduced wartime standard. The railways did not issue statistics on the exact quantities handled.

Up to $3.00.

Prices generally ranged from 50 cents to $2 or $3 (for the biggest ones), but the common price for a good home tree was about $1.00. Quality was about the same as in other years.

In the Maritimes, the prices on Prince Edward Island started at 25 cents, lower than in most other parts of Canada. But on the island, as in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia—and, indeed, all over Canada—people in rural areas usually cut their own. Dealers in Montreal and Quebec reported a fall-off in quality, but Ottawa said both quality and quantity were about normal.

In Toronto, education authorities thought at first there would not be enough trees to supply kindergartens, as usual, but changed their minds later when it became apparent plenty of trees were available Throughout Ontario, there were scattered reports of children cutting trees in parks—a highly illegal, but traditional, procedure—although the supply was normal throughout Ontario cities.

Winnipeg reported the usual supply, and the usual demand, with prices from 40 cents to $1.00 for the most popular sizes. The trees were plentiful in Regina, Edmonton and Calgary, too—with prices just slightly higher.

Toronto To Have Mayoralty Contest

Controller Duncan, twice defeated for mayor, has been vice-chairman of the Board of Control for the last three years.

Nine men were nominated for controller, four to be elected.

sible recurrence in 1944.

Another annual question was raised by public school caretaker C. McComb who declared he required extra help during the winter months and asked the Board to make the necessary financial appropriation. Though they had provided $50 for the purpose last year the board boosted this amount to $100 on Mr. McComb's complaint that help was scarce and that he would have to pay 40 to 45 cents an hour and this year could not call upon the services of one of his sons as he had previously. On motion the amount was made payable over the next four months.

Letters Received

Communications included a letter from the Department drawing attention to routine medical check-up now provided for all the school teachers to be conducted at a time and place set by the Minister, and requesting the Board's co-operation in the matter, received from the inspectors of Home Economics and Shop Work at the High School re their routine inspection, received; from Mr. Richard Weston of Haileybury, a member of the Library Board on appointment of Board of Education since 1911, asking that he be not re-appointed, laid over for consideration by the board at its January meeting; from the Underhill Coal Company, explaining a mistake in shipment of a car load of coal due to an error.

It was explained that 47 tons of 4-inch bituminous coal had been ordered from the company located in Buffalo. When it reached Belleville, according to an admission contained in a letter from the C.N.R. Freight offices, the load had in error been dumped into chutes there. When the mistake was discovered the car had been re-load-with egg-size bituminous and forwarded to Campbellford. The board had previously written the coal company complaining of the quality of the shipment and now a motion was passed authorizing Chairman Locke to appoint a committee to go into the matter with power to act. The probable outcome indicated was the board would claim damages from the railway.

Gibraltar Refugees

In three years, 12,000 women, children and old men exacuated from Gibraltar have grown into a community all their own, probably the most concentrated community among London's multitude of minorities.

The others came individually or in small groups. The Gibraltarians came in one excited mass.

They survived the blitz and slowly worked into the London way of life.

Get Good Care.

The Ministry of Health took them under its wing, established 34 centres, some in hotels, some in blocks of flats, provided each centre with a sick-bay and child-care reserve nurses, and put over it a manager responsible to the Ministry.

The Women's Voluntary Service made itself responsible for extra clothes for the needy, libraries and other amenities. The British Council, an industrious organization which fosters relations between Britons and other peoples, took over the educational problem.

It pays for the education of boys and girls at Secondary and Technical Schools of the London County Council and at evening classes in the centres organized by the L.C.C.

At Technical College, the boys often specialize in engineering, carpentry, and the like. When they leave school they find work within the wartime British economy easy to obtain.

The British Council and the Ministry of Health sit with representatives of the Gibraltarians on an entertainment committee. The people have their own symphony orchestra and have given concerts at Westminster's Central Hall.

By FRED D. CRAIG

Stoker Les Ascott, R.C.N.V.R., is home for the Christmas season on furlough. The big boy who now wears the blue of the Navy is best known in his home town by his prowess as a lineman in football. Starting out with the Collegiate football squad he broke into senior rugby with the local Orfuns in the O.R.F.U., then played with the Toronto Argonauts, was one of the stars of H.M.C.S. York's rugby squad a year ago and this past season gave a good account of himself as a member of the Halifax Navy rugby machine. Since he was last home in Peterborough Les has been seeing a bit of the world. He has seen service on both coasts, going first to the Pacific and later turning up on the Atlantic coast with a long sea voyage in between. The big fellow looks the picture of health and apparently life in Canada's Navy agrees with him. His only regret is that the Halifax football squad couldn't get a crack at the Gray Cup series. They were all set for a trip to Toronto but the Canadian Rugby Football Union ruled that the entry of the Halifax team was made too late and therefore the club was not eligible ot compete for the Dominion honors.

The Boston Bruins maintained their unbeaten home record last night when they defeated the Maple Leafs 8 to 5, the ninth game in Boston this season in which Dit Clapper and Company have missed defeat. Clapper started the Bruins on their way to victory with a goal in a little more than a minute. The battle not only demonstrated the superiority of the Boston club on its own ice but gave more proof for the advocates of Bill Cowley to use in support of their claim that the Ottawa boy is one of the greatest centre players in the history of hockey. Cowley did the hat trick by slapping in three goals and he set up a fourth, adding four scoring points to his season's total and materially increasing his first-place margin. One feature of the game was the fact that Babe Pratt drew a match misconduct penalty for tangling with Referee Norman Lamport who doesn't stand for that kind of thing.

A Good Defensive Year

The American League fielding averages, released today, show that the Boston Red Sox, once noted for their batting power, substituted defensive finesse for oomph during the past season. In fact the Cronin club led the loop on defense with a club fielding percentage of .976. That was just a percentage point better than the St. Louis Browns and the Cleveland Indians but after all first place is first place. The Red Sox handled 6,323 fielding chances and were guilty of but 153 errors. The Brownies had one misplay less but handled fewer chances than Boston. In the fielding department one of the freak features of the season was the game played by the St. Louis Browns and the Cleveland Indians when the former set a new major league mark by going through an entire game without an assist. As the Indians only had seven themselves the contest also established a new record for the lowest number of assists ever made by two clubs in one game. The old record for a single club was one assist and for two clubs the previous mark was eight. It was a good season all round defensively for mark set by the whole league was .973, two points better than the loop record the previous year. The Boston club's percentage of .976 equalled the mark set the year before by the Yanks.

There has always been a feeling in Boston that the ball critics were all wet when they named Joe Gordon as the greatest of second-sackers. The Boston fans claim that that distinction should be awarded to Bobby Doerr and certainly the fielding performance given by the great Red Sox second baseman entitles him to a lot of credit, especially when it is remembered that he did a lot of timely hitting as well. Last season Doerr not only led the second-sackers in fielding with .990, just a percentage point below the all-time record but he also established a new major league mark for consecutive chances accepted by a second baseman without an error. From the second game of a double-header on May 20 until the first game of a twin-bill on July 23 Doerr accepted 349 chances without a bobble. The previous record in that respect was 271 chances set by Oscar Melillo of the St. Louis Browns in 1933. Bobby played 155 games during the season and handled 914 chances with only nine fumbles, a really remarkable defensive performance. A notable fielding feat was that achieved by Milton Byrnes, rookie outfielder for the Browns who made only one error in 114 games and led the American League with an average of .997.

Homebrews Lacking

Apparently the absence of homebrews from the lineup—a feature that does not bother the Oshawa fans in the least—is cutting into the attendance at junior games in some of the Western Ontario cities. Thus we find Chick Appel of the Stratford Beacon-Herald writing as follows: "Galt arena officials reported that the crowd was the smallest of the season, possibly not more than 600 fans being present, which is rather astonishing in view of the fine team they have to support. Kists are right in the thick of the fight for a playoff berth, and one would naturally think Galt fans would rally to their cause. Perhaps it is the lack of homebrews on the team which is keeping them away. Galt Kists had but one local boy out there Saturday night, but they aren't much different than the rest of the clubs in junior company today, with perhaps Port Colborne and Stratford being able to boast of having the most homebrews on their squads, the latter with five players, including sub-goalie Hesse, who can be classed as non-imports. And while Galt must be considered as title contenders, you still dare not count Stratford Kroehlers out. Not after Saturday night's performance. They played much better together, especially Ken Rohfritsch and Frank Sicoli, and the other front line composed of Tindal, Stoddard and Solisizzi."

Says Doug. Vaughan in the Windsor Star: Raymond (Hap) Dumont, president of the National Baseball Congress, has popped up with an idea that would really do something to baseball if adopted. His suggestion is that batters be allowed to take off for either first or third base after hitting the ball. It's a plan that is hardly likely to be adopted but at least it is worthy of consideration. At any rate, here is his explanation of the proposal: "A batter would have the choice of running to third or first but would have to continue his advancement around the bases in the same direction he left the plate. If the batter hits the ball toward first, he can take out for third. If the batter, with a runner on first, figures his ground ball will result in a double play, he can go to third. Thus the runner on first would not be forced to advance. With the possibility that runners from third and first might attempt to steal second from opposite directions, there would be double action for the fans, with the two runners, coming from opposite directions, sliding into the same base on the same play. Infielders would have to be on their toes all the time. In the case of a sacrifice, they would have to outfigure the batter, who could race either to first or third." Dumont is going to try the idea at the 10th annual national semi-pro tournament next August.

Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—Americans and Britons in the Chapel Internment camp near Shanghai had a pretty good time playing against each other in softball (the Americans generally won), so the Jap guards decided to get in on the fun . . . Royal Arch Gunnison, the foreign correspondent and radio commentator who recently returned on the Gripsholm after a year and a half of internment, tells what happened. As a member of the camp committee, Gunnison had to arrange the ball game.

Page Mr. Webster

The Japs, proud of their baseball ability, insisted on playing against an all-star team and they brought in some 30 or 40 officials from other camps to see them win . . . After the first inning the score was about 27-0 in favor of the Americans and the internees decided that they'd better not win too easily or they might lose the few privileges their captors allowed them . . . so they began muffing easy flies, booting grounders and making wild throws . . . That only made things look worse and the Japs were losing "face" faster than you can lose your bank-roll in a crap game . . . The score was about 28-12 after six innings when the captain of the guard, a big hard-boiled husky who was playing centre field, approached Gunnison and suggested: "Maybe it more better that we do not keep score, that we just play this game for sportsmanship."

A Matter of Timing—

"The Japs didn't make it hard for us to get equipment for sports." Gunnison explained. "Frequently someone had to go into Shanghai to buy extra food or medical supplies, and they's usually let us stop and buy a few softballs or bats. The Japs never objected to our sports except when they interfered with their work projects. They tried to make us work for them, setting up fences and contruction camp buildings. We could play seven innings of softball at twilight, but somehow we'd get a post-hole half dug and it would be too dark to finish."

Settled in Advance::

Gunnison also managed to get a look at the sports activities of the Japanese troops . . . Sumo wrestling was one of the big events. It's a special kind of wrestling between big, bulky fellows who twist their hair into heavy pads and butt one another around . . . SMITH FALLS, Ont., Dec. 22.—(CP).—Town league hockey will be revived in Smith Falls this season with a four-team loop virtually assured, it was learned last night. The league has not operated since about 1936 but a Smith Falls-Perth team last year operated in the district intermediate play-offs.

OshawaGenerals Defeat Dukes

By The Canadian Press

Oshawa Generals continued to hold their slim edge over Toronto St. Michael's in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A's group 1 after their 7-4 victory over Toronto Marlboros last night at Toronto. St. Mike's pressed close to the leaders with an 8-4 triumph over Hamilton.

In other games last night, Toronto Young Rangers earned their first victory of the season over Galt Kists with a 1-0 shutout, while Port Colborne swamped Brantford 8-2. St. Catharines, idle last night, held onto first place spot in Group 2.

Chambers scored three for Port Colborne while Gravelle added two with the other three counters coming from Kaiser, Simpell and Piper. Evanshen and McQuire scored for Brantford.

Toronto St. Michael's led throughout the game at Hamilton, with Joey Sadler getting four goals for the Irishmen. Bob Schnurr, Marzalik, Lindsay and McLean each counted one. Hamilton goals came from Tomiuk, Whitworth, Zuk, Laidlaw and Comfort.

In the doubleheader at Toronto, Frank Rutledge provided the surprise of the evening when he whipped a shot past Bill Brennan in the Galt nets to give the Young Rangers their first victory of the season. The goal came midway in the second period.

Barker was the only Oshawa player to register two goals. Others were scored by Smith, Curry, Love, Taggart and Batten. Shewchuk got two for Marlboros with Junkin and Harding adding the others.

Saskatoon Navy Still Unbeaten

SASKATOON, Dec. 22.—(CP). —Since hockey league competition began this season in Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Saskatoon Navy sextet is the only senior outfit yet to be defeated.

The Sailors from H.M.C.S. Unicorn—a gang of veterans and youth —are making the Skatchewan Senior League a one-team affair, having five straight wins compared with one win each for Moose Jaw Vics and Flin Flon Bombers.

In Alberta, Calgary A16-Currie Army and Red Deer Army Wheelers are in a neck and neck struggle in the senior division, while Calgary Tecumseh-Mustangs have one victory in five starts.

Among leading snipers in the Saskatchewan loop are Harvey Fraser of Moose Jaw, former Yorkton Terriers veteran; Bob Wiest and Freddy Bowman of Flin Flon Bombers and Lundy, Couture, OS. Tony Leswick and OC. Clayton Lavell of Saskatoon. Lundy sniped five goals and assisted in two others as the Sailors downed Vics 10-5.

Calgary Army, with three wins and one loss, have been paced by Pte. Max Bentley, formerly of Chicago Black Hawks in the Natonal League. Max has seven goals and eight assists to top league marksmen.

Regina Navy have become favorites in the five-team Southern Saskatchewan Junior League with five wins, most easily triumphs, in six starts. At present they are pressed by Regina Commandos who have lost one and tied one in as many contests. Notre Dame Hounds and Moose Jaw Canucks are within striking distance while Regina Abbotts have just a single victory in seven games.

In Alberta, the Edmonton Junior League play is expected to begin shortly between Edmonton Athletic Club, Canadians and Edmonton Navy.

Boston Smears Leafs 8-5; Cowley Adds 3

By The Canadian Press.

If the teams in the National Hockey League could only get together for a concentrated ganging-up on Montreal Canadiens somebody might get a bit closer to the league-leaders.

Instead of that, of course, they keep batting each other down, and every time Toronto Maple Leafs, Boston Bruins or Chicago Black Hawks get settled in second spot for a drive on the leaders, one of the other teams pulls them back into the thick of things. Detroit Red Wings take a hand at the pulling down process on occasion too.

Tommy Gorman summed up the Canadien feeling last night with the remark, "That's what we like to hear," when informed the Bruins had polished off the Leafs 8-5 at Boston in the only scheduled league game.

Almost Second.

The result put Bruins within a point of the second-place Leafs. Bill Cowley led the Boston attack. He scored three of the goals himself, and drew a single assist, instead of following his usual tactics of setting up the plays and letting his line-mates score the goals.

Bep Guidolin with two, Dip Clapper, Don Gallinger and Flash Hollett were the other scorers for the winners as Bruins marked up their ninth straight game on home ice without defeat.

The Bruins functioned smoothly under Defenceman Clapper, who took over for Manager Art Ross who was ill.

The Leafs spread their goals among Lorne Carr, Jackie Hamilton, Bob Davidson, Elwyn Morris and George Boothman.

Tonight, in the only Wednesday night fixture of the schedule Detroit Red Wings invade Chicago in an effort to pull up within striking distance of second place.

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Return of 35-year-old Norm Smith to Detroit Red Wings goal after five years' absence from hockey inspired Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara to recall how Normie's pretty wife used to drill him on low shots in their apartment in Windsor in 1930-31 when Smith was in the minors. The Smiths occupied the top apartment and tenants below were of ten startled by thudding sounds from above. One evening a lower tenant decided to make a social call. The door was open and there was Normie in pads and equipment with the chesterfield piled against the window while his wife shot pucks from the living-room floor.

Puck patter:

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll quotes Coach Dick Irvin of Canadiens as stating Glen Harmon is one of the National Hockey League's top rearguards although he is underpublicized.....After Army Service Corps bowed 3-0 to Maher in the Toronto Hockey League at the Varsity Stadium the other night, one of the Army team's officials and a crowd of angry fans chased Referee Pearcey Allen from the ice but Allen showed nice early foot and beat them to the officials' dressing room where he waited behind locked doors until the mob broke up.

Long road:

When Dalton (Nakina) Smith played centre for Detroit Red Wings in Toronto last week it was his first appearance in the National Hockey League although he turned professional in 1935. Nakina was the most publicized player with the Sudbury Wolves who won the Canadian junior title in 1932 at Winnipeg. That Wolves team included the present Canadiens star, Toe Blake, Max Bennett, and the two smooth-skating Lafrance brothers.

Incidentally:

Porky Andrews, former Victoria Dominoes basketball star who helped Saskatoon R.C.A.F. win the Saskatchewan hoop title last season, has been posted back to Vancouver Island....Bill Klepper, business manager of Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, visited Vancouver last week, and got the newspaper boys all steamed up over prospects Vancouver may get the Sacramento franchise after the war. Jim Lander, former Kansas State, Regina and Winnipeg football star, has been playing semi-pro football with Los Angeles Bulldogs. Lander works in a California war plant....All 13 members of the Bentley family of Delisle, Sask., played hockey. The youngest is Max, 23, last year with Chicago Black Hawks and now with the Army at Calgary. The oldest is Ruth, 50.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

The Philadelphia Phillies are in the market for baseball scouts and "big and rangy" players.

"We don't want any midgets on next year's team," said General Manager Herb Pennock at Philadelphia. "We want the big, rangy fellows who pack a punch when it is needed and are no powder puffs at the plate."

Pennock said the Phillies also are on the prowl for scouts who can be depended on to bring in the material to build up the club farm system. A capable group of ivory hunters will get busy looking for talent as soon as the Phillies select the men they want, Pennock said.

Pennock admitted that the Phillies will "probably get some midgets" for the next season's team, but added "if they they are little fellows we want them with speed and plenty of power."

"I guess I am partial to big players because I was with the Yankees," Pennock said. "Every time I turned around there I bumped into men like Bill Dickey, Lou Gehrig and Bob Muesel."

Connie Mack will be 81 tomorrow. In his office at Shibe Park in Philadelphia yesterday the grand-daddy of the Athletics talked old times with the newsmen, told how he could have had Babe Ruth and Ernie Shore for nothing how he actually got Chief Bender for only $100. He thinks Jimmy Foxx was his greatest bargain. As for next year— "You can't figure on anybody," says Connie.

Gene Venzke, one of the great milers of the United States said at Reading Pa., yesterday that he has definitely quit the cinder-track and is taking up golf. Venzke is working as a tool-maker at the Army air field at Reading. He has been golfing regularly and and recently had a three-under par.

All the football bowl games in the United States New Year's Day will contribute something to the war services. Largest contribution will come from the Rose Bowl, where $45,000 from receipts of the game between Washington and California will go for improving recreational facilities for troops overseas.

Remember When—

William T. Tilden refused an offer of $60,000 to turn professional and play a series of exhibition matches in the United States and Canada, 17 years ago today. However, he finally entered the "money" tennis ranks in 1931 at the age of 38.

Sports Writers Select Alonzo Stagg

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 M (AP). — Amos Alonzo Stagg, venerable football coach at the College of the Pacific who was too old for the University of Chicago a decade ago, to-day was named the person who staged the greatest comeback during 1943.

And while Stagg was engaged in a rugged vote-battle with golfer Patty Berg for the honor, virtually every one of the 77 sports editors who competed in the annual Associated Press poll mentioned the two comebacks of Lieut. Tommy Harmon.

Harmon, former all-America football player at Michigan, twice came back from almost certain death in a pair of aerial incidents during the year in his new career as a United States Army pilot.

But in the voting restricted solely to sports, Stagg triumphed over Miss Berg by a mere five points although the young golfer, now a lieutenant in the Marines and already voted the year's outstanding woman athlete, drew 15 first-place votes to 12 for the veteran coach.

Bronko Nagurski, former Minnesota and Chicago Bear fullback, ended a five-year athletic hibernation at his International Falls, Minn., home to bolster the talent-shy Bears through another National Football League season and gained third place among the comebackers.

The New York Yankees, victimized by the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1942 World Series, regained the laurels in the 1943 classic, and grabbed fourth place in the poll with most of the praise for their comback going to Manager Joe McCarthy. Luke Appling, veteran Chicago White Sox shortstop whose 1943 feats included winning the American League batting title, was fifth.

Henry Armstrong, former triple champion boxer, was the 1942 winner, with golfer Craig Wood the 1941 king.

MONTREAL, Dec. 22.— (CP). — George Slater, president of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, said last night a committee will report to the league Thursday night on the advisability of allowing Valleyfield Braves and Montreal University O.T.C. into the league to enable it to carry on since it lost Cornwall Army and Montreal R.C.A.F.

Cowley Retains Top Position

MONTREAL, Dec. 22 — (CP).— It seems as if it's going to be quite a chore for somebody to blast Boston's Bill Cowley out of the leadership in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Official figures released to-day, and not covering last night's Toronto-Boston game, show Cowley still maintaining the three-point margin he held the week before, with his 36 points comparing with the 33 of team-mate Herbie Cain. Each picked up three points during the week.

Trailing the leaders are Chicago's Bill Mosienko and Lorne Carr of Toronto with 30 points each or two more than Doug Bentley of Chicago.

Cain continued to lead the goal column, his 19 red lights giving him a comfortable margin over Mud Bruneteau of Detroit who had 15, one more than Mosienko and Gerry Heffernan of Canadiens. Cowley stayed nicely ahead in the assist department with 25, compared with 21 for Carr and 20 for Buddy O'Connor of Canadiens.

Mike McMahon continued as the penalty leader with 40 minutes, two minors more than his Canadiens' team-mate Murph Chamberlain. Pat Egan of Detroit was third with 34 minutes in the box.

December Vote Left To 1944 Council

To their successors next year the city council recommended Monday night consideration of a bylaw to advance the date of the municipal elections from New Year's Day to the first week in December.

The resolution by Alderman Gordon, seconded by Alderman Cotton, proposes the adoption of a change which has already been put into effect in many of the cities of Ontario, and linked with it is a digest by City Clerk Outram of replies which he received from fourteen of those cities, all but one of which hold their civic elections on the first Monday in December.

The exception is Oshawa which is still in the same position as Peterborough, although its council is reported to have prepared a bylaw to bring its local elections into line with the general trend.

The cities from which City Clerk Outram received replies are generally in the same population brackets as Peterborough: London, Sarnia, Kingston, Kitchener, Windsor, Welland, Brantford, Niagara Falls, Chatham, Hamilton, Belleville, Ottawa, Fort William and Oshawa.

Reasons summarized by Mr. Outram for the December voting date are as follows:—

(1) The festive season of Christmas and New Year's is no time for an election, and it is difficult to awaken interest.

(2) The weather is milder on the earlier date, and is thereby an encouragement to bringing out a larger vote.

(3) On the first Monday in December voters are about their usual business, not celebrating, "or recovering from," New Year's, and go to the polls in larger numbers.

Schools For Polling

In most cases the schools are used as polling places. Kingston this year introduced a plan "worthy of consideration." The schools are used for polling, and on election day the children go to school as usual. For fifteen minutes they are given a talk by their teachers on civic duties and the importance of voting, and then are sent home with instructions to tell their parents about the election.

The following is a further quotation from Mr. Outram's report:—"The clerks in all cities suggest opening the polls not earlier than 10 o'clock in the morning, since voting in the morning is light, and keeping them open until 7 o'clock in the evening.

All cities report a decided increase in the interest in the election and in the number of votes polled since the election date was advanced. Some cities, particularly Belleville, report 60 per cent of the electors voting in the last election.

Election issues, particularly a mayoralty contest, are the main factors usually causing the electorate to vote in large numbers.

As returning officer for the municipal elections I strongly recommend that the Council give serious consideration to changing the dates of nominations and election in Peterborough.

Council's Authority

The Council's authority in this matter is set out in the Municipal Act, as follows: "The Council of any local municipality may by bylaw, passed not later in the year than the first day of November, provide that the meeting of electors for nominating candidates for mayor, controllers, aldermen, reeves, deputy reeves, councillors and in urban municipalities the local Public School Board and the Board of Education, shall be held on the Friday preceding the last Monday in November, and that polling shall take place on the first Monday in December, and the bylaw shall remain in force from year to year until repealed."

It is also recommended that the Council approach the Board of Education and the Roman Catholic Separate School Board in order to arrange for the use of the schools on election day, and in particular to adopt the program recently introduced and used successfully in Kingston. I suggest the hours of voting be 10 a.m. until 7 p.m."

Nearly all the fourteen cities hold their nominations on the Friday preceding the last Monday in November. London's nominations are on the second last Monday in November; Sarnia's on the Thursday preceding the last Monday in November.

Niagara Falls has a special Act for nominations on the last Monday in November. All the cities, except Oshawa, votes on the first Monday in December. Half of them use schools for polling places, and the more general period of voting is from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Economy

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 22 — (AP). — In 1930 Maurice Luther, St. Louis, sent an expensive Christmas card to H. E. Pope, Tulsa. The next year Pope scratched out Luther's name, signed his own and mailed it back. Luther returned it to Pope the third year. By 1938 the card was a bit battered and so jammed with signatures that they began writing on the back. They figure someone will have to buy a new one by 1953.

Extortion Trial Embraces 6 Capone Yeggs

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Defence counsel interrupted the summation of the prosecution today in trial of seven men accused of conspiracy to extort more than $1,000,000 from the motion picture industry, to object to allegations that the defendants had underworld connections.

Special United States Attorney-General Boris Kostelanetz, describing the demeanor during the trial of several government witnesses from Chicago and Newark, had said to the jury:

"You have seen how they took the stand. After sitting down, they placed one hand over the other so that they would not shake."

After the defence objection Judge John Bright remarked:

"Unless the members of the jury observed these things for themselves, they will be disregarded."

Kostelanetz has described six of the defendants as former members of the Capone gang in Chicago. Those defendants are Louis Campagna, Paul de Lucia, Phil D'Andrea, Francis Maritote, Charles Gioe and John Roselli, all of Chicago. The seventh defendant is Louis Kaufman, business manager of Newark Local, International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees.

The defence concluded its summations yesterday in the 11-weeks' trial, and Judge Bright announced he expected to make his charge to the jury tomorrow.

overtime formula, and expenses away from home.

The operating groups last night rejected a plan put forward by President Roosevelt which would have given them a four-cent hourly increase in the form of overtime pay or expenses, in addition to the straight four-cent rate increase recommended by an emergency board.

The operating brotherhoods would settle for the supplementary four cents (a total of eight cents) as a straight rate increase, one official sadi, but to call it overtime, or anything else, he argued, would impair their future bargaining position too much.

The operating brotherhoods' original demands were a 30 per cent increase or $3.00 a day, whichever was higher.

Blame Pedestrians For Many Accidents

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Contending that pedestrians were responsible for more than 50 per cent of the traffic accidents in Toronto this year, Inspector Edward Dunn of the City Police Department yesterday appealed to citizens to adhere strictly to traffic regulations and signals during the Christmas season.

He said the the death in hospital on Monday night of Anthony Bwaitka, 52, from injuries suffered in a collision with a street car last Saturday night, brought to 87 the number killed on city streets since last January 1.

Ceiling Price Placed On Veal

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (CP) — The Prices Board announced last night an order bringing veal under the price ceiling by establishing standard cutting and pricing for veal sold at retail—a policy already in effect for beef and lamb.

The new order, effective next Monday, lists the cuts in which veal may be sold at retail and sets the maximum price per pound or each cut in each of the 15 zones in Canada.

In zone six, including Toronto and Southwestern Ontario, for example, prices will range from 15 cents a pound for hind shank to 34 cents for a long cut leg, 48 cents for loin chops or roast, tenderloin end, and 51 cents for cutlets or fillet roasts.

Accompanying the order, which has been sent to retail meat dealers across Canada, are a veal pricing chart and a cutting chart to be displayed in stores and a general letter of instructions.

The board said this was the first pricing order to include an appendix urging retailers in the national interest not to retail at the ceiling price, if they do not need to do so, to maintain their proper margin of operation.

Peterborough Sailor Took Part In Allied Landings At Dieppe, Oran, Sicily And Italy

LIEUT. DAVE ROGERS

By GRAHAM WHITING
Examiner Staff Reporter.

He was at Dieppe, he took part in the landing operation at Oran in 1942, he helped bring troops ashore near Syracuse during the early weeks of the campaign in Sicily and his flotilla of mechanized landing craft ferried Canadian and British soldiers across the Straits of Messina when the invasion of Southern Italy began. Now at home on two months' leave, Lieut. Dave Rogers of the Royal Canadian Navy told some of the story of his experiences to the Examiner Tuesday.

A student at the University of Toronto at the time of his enlistment in 1941, Lieut. Rogers, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rogers, 11 Fleming Place, joined the Navy as a sub-lieutenant and trained for eight months in Canada before going overseas at the beginning of 1942. He volunteered for service in the section of combined operations, and was attached to the Royal Navy in an all-Canadian flotilla.

His first experience of actual combat was the raid on Dieppe, which already stands as a memorial to the bravery and sacrifice of Canadian manhood. Lieut. Rogers' flotilla engaged in the transporting of commandos to that French harbor and his own craft remained in the battle zone for nine hours. "We were able to see a good deal of the action from the water," Lieut. Rogers said, "and we knew that things were not going so well. It was our

Careless Driver Is Fined $15

"I am satisfied that he was driving at a far greater rate of speed than he should have been under the conditions" said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning in registering a conviction against Williard Westman, 21, of North Monaghan on a charge of reckless driving, arising out of a recent accident on the Warsaw road.

Westman was fined $15 and $6 costs with the alternative of ten days in jail.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who defended him intimated that there would be an appeal against the magistrate's decision.

O. W. Jardine of Lindsay was the first witness called by Provincial Constable Price Morris who prosecuted the case. Jardine said he had parked his car outside the office of Curtis Brothers brickyard on the afternoon of December 9.

It was on the south side of the highway, entirely off the travelled portion and facing east. Shortly afterward witness said that a car driven by Westman travelling west came along at a rate of speed he finally estimated at 50 miles an hour, skidded and crashed into the front of the car owned by the witness.

To Mr. Gordon Jardine said that his insurance claim was for $350 damage done to his car. He said the road was icy on the day of the accident.

Skidded Sideways

Provincial Constable Morris testified as measurements he had taken at the scene of the accident. He said the marks showed that Westman's car had been on the south side of the road for a while, veered over to the north side and then skidded sideways across the road into Jardine's automobile.

Constable Morris told Mr. Gordon that he himself had laid the charge. He said that the insurance investigating firm of Ephgrave and Elmslie had not seen his report in connection with the accident and had had nothing to do with the charge being laid. As to the road conditions the officer said that the highway was covered with soft snow but was not icy.

Mr. Gordon moved for a dismissal without the defence being called upon but his motion was rejected.

In the witness box Westman stated that he had been out the Warsaw Road looking for a Christmas tree. He said that when he came down the hill east of the scene of the accident and put on his brakes they had no effect and his car skidded across the highway into the other machine.

"What caused the accident?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"The slippery condition of the road at that spot" said the accused, adding that further west on the Warsaw Road the surface had not been slippery. He said he was travelling at 30 or 35 miles an hour.

To Provincial Constable Morris Westman said that he had been over the road at the scene of the accident a short time previous on his way out.

Beatrice Dolman who was a passenger in Westman's car corroborated his evidence.

In registering a conviction Magistrate Langley said that he thought it was a clear case of driving without due care and attention. The evidence indicated a high rate of speed and the damage done to Jardine's car was further indication of that fact.

City Discusses Plans For Rehabilitation

Plans for a capable committee to look after the needs and welfare of men returning to civilian life from the armed forces were further discussed at a meeting Tuesday night of the Rehabilitation and Reconstruction Committee with D. G. H. Melton presiding. Assistance for the men immediately upon their arrival and not some time afterward is an objective combined with further aid in returning to civilian occupation.

With Mr. Melton at this meeting were Mayor Hamilton, Chief Gimblett, Gordon S. Matthews, J. A. Girven, Fred Hills, and H. L. Garner.

The committee heard for the first time from the chairman all the details of the meeting called by the Hon. Ian McKenzie for the purpose of organizing similar committees from coast to coast. As outlined by the chairman, the conference in Ottawa stressed the needs of plans for re-establishing soldiers on farms and in industry and also providing where advisable, university and vocational training. In connection with university and vocational training, the length of service and the age of the applicant will have a very definite bearing on the admission of students. Provision is also made for the examination of records and statistics to determine the aptitude and desire of the applicants for university and vocational courses.

Another item mentioned in the Ottawa program was health and occupational and reconditioning therapy centres in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, and Vancouver, with 400 beds in Toronto and Montreal, and 200 each in London, Ottawa and Vancouver. These centres will be more in the nature of reconditioning centres and will provide not only necessary treatment but also recreational and entertainment facilities during the period of confinement. There were some of the items discussed at last night's meeting together with the necessity of immediate organization of the necessary committees and the appointment of a committee chairman.

Mention C.C.F. Slate For City Council

Municipal nominations gossip has been chiefly confined to the hollow question: "Well, what do you hear?"

And the answer has generally been some light and surmising opinion to the effect "that there doesn't seem to be much doing."

For several months a persistent rumor has intimated that the C. C.F. was going to turn its attention to the municipal field, after a test of its strength in the provincial elections.

From that quarter no official statement has been forthcoming. One of the officers apparently wishing to be helpful in the news survey admitted in a general way that "something was cooking," and subsequent inquiry comes up somewhat vaguely with the information that the C.C.F. will be represented by a slate of four candidates in the aldermanic field, that Dr. Lorna Cotton Thomas will be one candidate for the Board of Education, and that some further extension of activity may develop.

However, that is not official, but it carries sufficient substance to indicate that the C.C.F. is going to take off its coat and stir things up before the 1944 Council is decided.

Nominations open on Thursday night at 7:30 in the Council Chamber, with City Clerk Outram presiding.

Omemee Lady 70 Years Church Worker

A record of service to the church and community unparalleled in the history of Omemee village came to a close this month with the passing of Miss Louise Susanna Curry, who had spent her lifetime of almost one hundred years in the little village in Emily township.

She was the oldest surviving member of one of Omemee's most prominent pioneer families, and her long existence was full and rich, unbounded in its interests and good works. The passing of time did little to dim the brightness of her faculties, and up to a short time back she continued many of her interests in the church.

For almost three quarters of a century she taught Sunday School classes at Christ Church, setting an example in Christian living and teaching that has enriched the memories of several generations of pupils, who profitted by her teaching and were influenced by her radiant spirit.

She was a life-long member of Christ Church and for forty-nine of the fifty years since its inception was Dorcas Secretary of the Women's Auxiliary, in which position she gave unstintingly of her time and ability.

In her passing Christ Church has sustained a profound loss, and the community is bereft of a highly respected citizen. Her sister Miss Edith Curry survives.

The funeral service took place at Christ Church with interment at Emily Cemetery. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. F. W. Pooley. The lesson from scripture was read by Rev. G. I. B. Johnson and the address was delivered by Rev. G. H. Johnson the previous rector. In paying tribute to her life, Mr. Johnson characterized the many years of devoted service and beneficient influence as the best witness to the faith of one who was readily recognized as one of the saints of God. The memory of her life and service, he said, would long remain with those who had been privileged to know her.

Although freed on the false pretences charge, Young was convicted of having liquor for sale and sentenced to two months in jail.

Council Limits Garbage To Be Collected

Regulations affecting the receptacles and weights of garbage to be moved after January 1, as adopted by the Council Monday night on the recommendataion of its property committee:

"The garbage collector shall not be compelled to remove at any one collection more than four receptacles, each containing two cubic feet and which with contents shall not weigh more than 75 pounds, from a private dwelling; or six such receptacles from any other premises at any one collection, and to each container above the limiting number stated above which is set out on collection day or garbage collection there shall be attached a tag or ticket. These tags must be purchased at the City Clerk's office, at ten cents each, thus paying for the removal of the contents of one extra garbage container, as described above, over the limiting number stated; and each additional container shall have attached to it such tag or ticket before its contents shall be removed by the Garbage Collector."

The garbage collector shall be required to adhere to the provisions of the by-law and make three regular collections weekly from hotels, restaurants and fruit stores, and the Sanitary Inspector shall name for the collector the premises to receive the service and the days on which collections are to be made."

These changes relate only to garbage, and do not apply to ashes. It is expected that few citizens will be affected.

Quaker Worker Italian Casualty

An employee of the Quaker Oats Company for thirteen years, Pte E. A. Nicholas, who is attached to the Princess Pats in Italy, has been wounded while at the front, according to word received by his wife at 342 McGill street.

Mrs. Nicholas said that she had had some letters and a Christmas card from her husband on Saturday, and following on the heels of this came the official War Department telegram announcing that he was wounded December 9.

Enlisting in March, 1942, Pte. Nicholas joined the Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) and went overseas in February of 1943. Since that time he has seen service in England, North Africa, Sicily and then in Italy. A brother Earl, has been overseas for some time and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicholas of Campbellford.

Boxes Throughout C.G.E. Co. Ltd. Yield $303 For Christmas Fund

A story of just what co-operative effort can do has just been unfolded, through the collecting from boxes placed throughout the various departments in the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. a few weeks ago. These boxes specially made for this purpose by William Howe, head of the carpenter shop in this company, the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund have yielded the splendid total of $303.33.

Of this, the sum of $36 was reported in Tuesday's report as coming from the main office, first floor supervised by C. C. Mowry and the other are listed below.

Pass $6,000 Mark

This splendid co-operative effort now puts the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., and Genelco Ltd. employees way over the $6,000 mark in money contributed to the fund, of which a total of $1,787.45 has been given this year, and as far as the Christmas donations are concerned, gives them a $975.37 share in the gifts that will be sent to London.

It should be noted that exceptionally good work through the whole of this year has been done on behalf of the fund by the Punch Press, Industrial Control, Maintenance and Industrial Service departments, the latter of whom had charge of the distribution and collection of the boxes which entailed much work in which Mrs. Kay Warren played quite a part, while the Maintenance Department under H. H. May sent in over $80 last week, and the Machine Repair Department under D. Menzies deserve special mention for the part they play in this particular effort for the fund.

Mrs. Payne Another $29.70

About two weeks ago, Mrs. Rufus Payne of Water street efforts on the market netted a total of $15.80 for the fund. Not being satisfied with this, she again took the stall on the market last Saturday, where from articles knitted and supplied by herself she raised another $19.95, and then from another draw for two prizes donated by herself, she raised and additional $8.75, making a total of $29.70 credited in her name today, giving a total credit in the Christmas fund of $45.50.

The draw for these prizes was made by the secretary of the fund at The Examiner office Tuesday morning, and resulted in the first prize going to A. Mather of 133 Benson avenue with ticket No. 33, and the second prize being won by Mary H. Ferguson of 170 Edinburgh street with ticket No. 89.

A fine personal donation is listed for $25 as coming from "A friend at Norwood," and D. B. Cutcliffe of that place, who represents the fund there, also sent in $1.32 collected from the box at the Royal Bank of Canada, while another personal for $1 is given "In appreciation of this" in reference to the morning broadcast from the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

Seven other personal gifts are

Buyers Search For Turkeys On Farm Market

Farmers arriving with turkeys at the market this morning could have used body guards to get upstairs through groups of buyers who buzzed around them with something like a miltiant demand to make sure of their favorite birds for the Christmas dinner tables.

The first of the sellers were waiting for Market Clerk Cowling when he arrived at 7 o'clock, "and before I could get the fires lit the buyers were right on the heels of the farmers."

From then on the business became a scramble for turkeys and ducks. Groups of women surrounded automobiles pulling up at the big doors, and quite a number of the birds were sold on the spot at ceiling price. One man said he hurried upstairs with an armful of turkeys and when he got back to his car "some people had opened the door and were dragging them out, waiting to pay me." Somehow he reclaimed them, and locked the car door while he continued to get his load to his table upstairs.

Another farmer who had landed his stock upstairs intact was surrounded by a score or more claimant buyers, and he was so bewildered by the swirl around him that he hardly knew what to do. His story was that he was afraid of some of his geese disappearing in the turmoil without cash coming to him across the counter.

And a woman, after counting her morning's receipts, was convinced that the total was less than she had expected to have after selling out. Her opinion was that she must have lost one or two geese without payment.

Upstairs and down stairs the milling for turkeys was persistent and noisy with prices 45 cents and an extra cent a pound for top quality. Geese were 34 cents a pound and ducks 36 cents. At the noon hour the market had almost forgotten its excitement of the opening two hours. Some chickens were left at 35 cents, but prices had reached up to the ceiling of 38 cents during the brisker period.

A South Monaghan woman told the Examiner she had a struggle to get her turkeys up to the hall. "I wasn't concerned about selling them, because I had orders for every one of them, and it was simply a matter of getting them upstairs and waiting until my customers came. She clocked in around nine o'clock.

Top grade white eggs sold at 50 cents and browns at 48. Other sizes were 45 and 43 cents a dozen.

Quaker Oats Co. Entertains Veteran Workers

A holiday banquet of pensioners and members of the Quarter Century Club of the Quaker Oats Company of Canada, Ltd. was held in the Empress Hotel Tuesday night. It was the first occasion on which employees who have served the company for 25 or more years and those who have retired at their 65th birthdays met together as a group, and over 100 in all were present at the dinner.

James Wharry, vice-president of the company, remarked that the gathering represented the largest group of Quaker employees ever assembled together for a social evening in the history of Quaker Oats in Peterborough. He made mention of the recent incorporation of the company as a Canadian unit and expressed the hope that the new subsidiary would come to stand for something of significance throughout the Dominion.

Telegrams received by Reginald Faryon, president of Canadian Quaker Oats, who was also present at the dinner, were read. They were sent by John Stuart and George A. MacDonald from the head office in Chicago and congratulated the pensioners and members of the Quarter Century Club on the plan of this get-together.

Following the turkey dinner presentation of service emblems to employees of long standing was made by John E. Sullivan. A second diamond, representing 35 years of continuous service with the company was awarded to W. M. Lauder. First diamonds, 30 years, went to E. H. Crofts and J. Vitarelli. The 25-year emblem or rings standing for an equal number of years service was awarded for the first time to two women employees, Mrs. Myrtle Sproats and Miss Florence Marshall. Others joining the ranks of the Quarter Century Club were D. B. McLean, E. A. Taylor, W. I. Hill, T. J. Galvin, William Eason and Kenneth MacInness.

A program of music and songs was given for the entertainment of the Quaker men and women, with solos featuring Adam Hawley and Mrs. Dorothy Goldie. The trio of Harry Northrop, piano, Stan Northrop, violin, and Thomas Smith, cello, played selections during the dinner and accompanied the soloists.

Chairman of the committee which arranged for the banquet, planned the program of the evening's entertainment, and arranged transportation for a number of the diners was William Brook. Others on the committee were Harold Throop, Verne Morphet, Alex Butcher, Howard Kirn and Clark Thackeray.

Honor Miss Rachael Young With $100 Honorarium

In recognition of Miss Rachael Young's work, and to give her some tangible proof of its appreciation, an honorarium of $100 was voted to her by the Children's Aid Society at its regular meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the society's rooms.

Mr. James Dutton, the president of the Society, was in the chair, and spoke of the growth of the Society in the past years, and attributed a great deal of this growth to the efforts of Miss Rachael Young, whose good judgment and good common sense made her ideal for the position of superintendent. Her understanding of human nature has enabled her to advise wisely and for the best interests of all concerned, he went on.

The plans for the party to be held Tuesday evening at the Children's Shelter was completed, and all members were asked to attend. The president extended the thanks of the Society to those who had given so generously for the Christmas cheer for the Shelter.

A letter from the Wartime Prices and Trades Board was read, naming an increase in the cost of living, and consequently in the monthly allowance given to boarding homes.

Many Interviews.

In the superintendent's report, Miss Young told the meeting that 147 office interviews had been conducted during the previous month, and that 327 visits had been made. There were 8 cases in the unmarried parent work, and one of the babies was placed in a private home.

Miss Young also mentioned an article in the September issue of the Ontario Medical Review, entitled "A Problem for the Doctor and Social Worker." This article, she said, emphasises the seriousness of the placement of a child in a home unsuitable to that particular child. It shows the unhappiness which results both to the child and the adopting parents.

Better Health.

Mrs. J. R. Marshall reported that 80 articles had been mended during the month, and a total of 16 new articles had been made. She also mentioned that a large box of articles had been received from Mrs. Keith Lech.

In the Shelter report, the improving health of the children in the Shelter was stressed, and this improvement was noted with pleasure by the members.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Dutton thanked the members of the Society for their support and interest, and said that he appreciated the privilege of working with such a fine board, and that he had faith that the Society would continue in its fine work for the community and for the country.

Carol Service Is Held For Boys, Girls

The Queen Alexandra School choir sang beautifully Tuesday evening in the Collegiate Auditorium at the Christmas Carol Service for the children of all the public schools of Peterborough. The choir, made up of pupils from Grades 5 and 6, was conducted by Mrs. C. C. Pilon, and rehearsed by Mrs. Pilon, Miss Fern Rahmel and Miss Musa Cox.

The songs presented by the group were, "Whence Oh Shepherd Maidens" and "Bring a Torch, Jeanette, Isabella." The voices of the children were sweet and true, and the diction was excellent—every word could be heard plainly.

This is the first presentation of a Christmas Carol Service, and the Y.M.C.A., the Boy Scout Association, the C.G.I.T., the Girl Guides, the Y.W.C.A and the public schools of Peterborough had representatives on the committee which planned the service.

The representatives were: Scout Association, Ernest Wolff, Scout Commissioner; the Girl Guides, Mrs. R. Whalon; the C.G.I.T., Mrs. Leo Copp; the Y.W.C.A., Miss Roberta Kiefer; the Y.M.C.A., J. M. Singleton, Boys' Work Secretary; and Miss Musa Cox, instructor of music for the public schools, who represented them.

Miss Cox was at the paino for the presentation of the Queen Alexandra choir. Miss Lattice Drope accompanied for the singing of the carols, and George Gatfield played the violin.

Mr. Quirt McKinney, instructor of music at the Peterborough Normal School, was in charge of the musical program, and led the children in the singing of carols from beautifully decorated slides, depicting scenes from the Christmas story. Mr. McKinney read the Christmas story, and appropriate carols were sung for each event.

Miss Drope also read a part of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," to the great delight of the 400 children who attended the service. The idea of the service is to stimulate an appreciation, and to develop those personal qualities and social values which Christmas represents, and it is hoped that this idea will become an annual event.

The evening was made possible by the co-operation of all the boys and girls organizations in the city, the teachers of the public schools, and the children themselves, who enjoyed getting together and singing the well-loved carols.

The Experts Say . . . .

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Dec. 23—(CP)—Husband Savers: One or two precautions in the kitchen while the Christmas or New Year's dinner is being cooked will keep the man of the house happy while carving. First on the list is to have the bird cooked to a turn. Second, the platter should be large enough to give the carver sufficient room in which to work. Other essentials include a sharp, long-bladed carving knife, a steel for sharpening, a carving fork, serving spoon for dressing and a small side platter on which to place legs and wings.

TURKEY STRETCHER: The home economists of the Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture have found that several extra well-formed slices of breast meat from turkey or chicken can be obtained if the wishbone is removed before the bird is stuffed. The bone should be removed from the inside to keep the outside skin unbroken.

DAGWOOD HIMSELF: never made a sandwich that tasted better than this one. It's one of the many good things that come from the testing kitchen in the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Nothing could be better to serve to a hungry party of holiday skiers or skaters.

To make it for six you will need 6 lightly buttered slices of toast (bread cut half an inch thick); 6 slices of cooked ham, at least ⅛ inch thick; 6 slices of cranberry jelly ½ inch thick, and 2-3 cup shredded cheese. The ham is grilled or sauteed lightly, laid on the hot toast, covered with the cranberry jelly and the jelly topped with the shredded cheese. Then into the top of a hot oven or under the broiler—just long enough to melt the cheese. Served at once with crisp celery, it's extra special.

ROSY RED: Take full advantage of the coolrful red of rosy-cheeked apples, say Nutrition Services. In fruit cup or salad, unpeeled apples have a decorative contribution to make. More than that—serving apples in their skins means added nutritive value.

COD FISH BALLS: The Fisheries Department contributes the following timely recipe for cod fish balls but any cooked, baked fish may be substituted. One cup cod, 1½ cups mashed potatoes, one egg, beaten, one tablespoon melted butter, ¼ teaspoon onion juice, pepper and salt to season.

Mix the ingredients well and beat until fluffy. Form in balls or cakes and roll in finely sifted dry bread crumbs. The fish balls may be chilled until time to cook. Saute or fry in mild-flavored fat. Drain and serve hot, with or without sauce. Serves four or five.

To prepare salt coldfish, tear it in shreds and freshen by covering with water. Change the water several times; then cover with water and just bring to the boil, or simmer. This will cook and further freshen the fish.

Hot Food on New Year's Eve Should Be One Essential

By MARY MOORE

Christmas Dinner is still a thing of the future, but we have done our best by you for getting a glamorous one for your family and now New Year's party plans have to start simmering.

Because I own a silver soup tureen of heirloom vintage I lean toward serving soupy mixtures such as oyster stew or lobster bisque or Brunswick Stew or Chicken Chow Mein at New Year's Eve parties, and find that ladling them out is fun and that they are always welcome.

But regardless of texture DO SERVE HOT FOOD New Year's Eve.

The obvious things, Christmas cake, shortbreads, cranberries, celery hearts and olives and pickles, etc., I am leaving to your own discretion. I want to tell you how to make a good oyster stew, a genuine chop suey or chow mein, and an excellent dessert that can be made ahead of time.

Oyster Stew

One quart Jersey milk, ¼ teaspoon cayenne, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons butter (or you may use ½ cup fried chopped side bacon as you would in chowder), 1½ pints oysters, 1 cup fine sifted cracker crumbs. Heat milk in top of double boiler. Add pepper, cayenne, salt and butter or bacon drippings. Heat oysters until gills curl, then add to milk. Sift in the cracker crumbs when all is hot and stir until smooth. Taste to see if there is enough salt. Serve very hot with crackers, or Melba toast.

Chicken Chop Suey

One pound shredded chicken or chicken and veal, traditional shape of meat is 2 inch strips ¼ inch square), ¼ cup oil—sesame oil is proper, but cooking oil or butter will do, 1 cup peeled and sliced mushrooms, 1 cup shredded celery (shredded diagonally is most attractive), 1 onion sliced very thin, 2 cups bean sprouts—these may be bought from proprietors of the Chinese restaurants, 2 cups white stock—if no chicken broth is available hot water may be used, green peppers are a nice addition when they can be had. Saute the meat in oil or butter until lightly brown. Strain. Return fat to pan and add mushrooms, celery, onion and peppers if used; Saute five minutes. Add cooked meat and the sprouts and stock. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Serve with fluffy boiled rice. Pass soy sauce at the table.

Chicken Chow Mein

This is merely Chop Suey served over fried noodles instead of with rice.

Fried Noodles

To make the noodles mix and sift together ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 cup flour. Add this gradually to one well beaten egg while beating and form into stiff dough. Knead a few minutes on floured board, then roll out paper thin—1-16th of inch. Let stand ½ hour. Cut in long ¼ inch wide strips. Dry thoroughly over clothes rack or on back of chair. Fry in hot fat at 375 degrees Fahr. for Chow Mein. Noodles made like this may be boiled too.

Nesselrode Pudding (mock)

As soon as you read over this recipe you will see why I am giving it to you. It looks and tastes Christmas-y and you can get the ingredients.

Two and one-half tablespoons of gelatin, 1 cup cold milk, 4 egg yolks, ¾ cups scalded milk, ¾ cup chopped raisins, 10 crumbled macaroons, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon almond extract, 2 tablespoons sherry flavoring, 4 egg whites. Soak gelatin in cold milk five minutes. Beat egg yolks and sugar together and pour scalded milk over them. Put in double boiler, or over hot water and cook stirring constantly until custard coats spoon. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Take from heat and add raisins, macaroon crumbs almond extract and sherry flavoring. Mix well. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Stand in pan of ice water and beat until thick. Pour into a mould which has been dipped in cold water and chill it thoroughly. Turn out of mould onto plate when set, and decorate with whipped cream (top from jersey milk) and maraschino cherries. This is a good, standby dessert that you should add to your cooking repertory.

HAPPY PARTY!

By PRUNELLA WOOD

SHIRTWAIST SUB-DEB—The drawstring blouse is white rayon crepe, the skirt with its slight front fullness gray flannel. Simulated pockets are edged and appliqued with green and white felt cutouts. You don't have to wait until you've grown up into a great big, beautiful Gibson Girl to wear a shirtwaist and skirt. Here is a practical and becoming model designed for girls from eight to fourteen sizes. The skirt being good gray flannel, it can take a lot of wear and tear without looking soiled or tired; the blouse, of course, can be laundered easily and quickly . . . be changed off with other shirtwaists and pullovers . . . whenever necessary for good grooming.

Children's Aid Has Yule Party

A musical program and a visit from Santa Claus were features at the annual Christmas party given at the Children's Shelter by the board of directors of the Children's Aid Society, with Mrs. J. S. Fanning as convener. Mrs. Keith Lech convener for the Children's Aid Society from the Junior Welfare League, was in charge of the arrangements for the program.

Mr. James Dutton was chairman for the evening and announced the program, which was as follows —A story, by Miss Lillian Wesley; Mr. H. I. SLENDERIZING!

Every woman knows the slenderizing magic of princess lines.... especially when, as in Pattern 9543, they fit faultlessly at the waist. There's no fuss or bother to this simple frock, either from the wearing or sewing angle. Stitch it up in all one fabric or use gay contrast.

Pattern 9543 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards 35-inch fabric.

Health Discussed By Radio Forum

The radio topic discussed at the seventh meeting of Central Smith Radio Forum, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Clarke, was the "Canadian Federation of Agriculture Health Plan." Two groups were formed, one in charge of Mrs. Roland Scott, secretary of the Forum, and the other in charge of Mrs. Lorne Reynolds.

A general discussion followed the merging of the two groups, and the decision of the members was that the present system was far from being adequate, and that the method should be changed completely. Preventive medicine should be made of primary importance, because, as the old adage says, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

The meeting closed with a "pot luck" lunch. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. McMullen, with the topic for discussion, "Who Owns Our Farms," a review of the farm debt situation, outlining sources of credit available, and the limitations of present facilities.

Trent River Girl Weds G. J. Cleugh

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 22 — (ENS). — A pretty wedding took place in the Pentecostal Tabernacle, Havelock, recently when Letitia May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bound of Trent River was united in marriage to Gilbert John Bedford Cleugh, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Cleugh of Campbellford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Stirnall. The wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. H. McMillan.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of white brocaded satin with the sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves coming to a point at the waist, a full skirt, and fastened from neck to waist at back with tiny satin buttons. Her finger-tip tulle veil fell from a headdress of tulle caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of Better-time roses.

Miss Violet Bound, sister of the bride was bridesmaid, wearing a floor-length gown of sheer pink taffeta similar to that of the bride with Peter Pan collar and carried a bouquet of 'mums and sweet peas. The groom was attended by his cousin, Colin Collins of Toronto. Ushers were Donald Ellis of Trent River and Gordon Mack of Stanwood.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. R. E. Stirnall sang "Together Life's Pathway We Trend."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received dressed in black triple sheer and corsage of pink mums and yellow statice. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a blue silk crepe dress with corsage of pink 'mums and yellow statice.

Following the reception the couple left on a trip to Lindsay, North Bay and Ottawa. The bride wore a two-piece dress of rose wool jersey with brown accessories and English wool tweed coat with honey beige wolf collar. On their return they will reside in Campbellford.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, December 23

THE FORECAST is for a most excitable and pleasantly active day, with good nature, generosity, and youthful spirits pitched to a very high degree, with entertainment, social, domestic and romantic functions relegating other interests into the background. Any business with publicity, contracts, changes, dealing with agents and publishers should be successful. But in other affairs there may be danger through violation of rules and regulations, also from overdoing. Keep within bounds, and be moderate.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves leaning toward the festive, pleasant and more sociable interests and avocations of life, rather than hard business pressure. The latter if on a sound and reasonable basis is likely to succeed, by conservation of assets, energies and resources rather than over-generosity, prodigality and abridgement of rules. This may apply to all activities, which may be exaggerated by excitement, indulgence or a tendency to swerve from accepted regulations or codes. Be conservative, even watchful, in domestic or sentimental relations, lest jealousy, selfishness or peevishness undermine happiness.

A child born on this day may have definite business or professional talents, with versatility and cleverness, but may be disposed to the pursuit of pleasure, and be clouded by jealousy or unconventionality, with disregard of accepted codes.

War Workers Elect Officers

SELWYN, Dec. 22 — (ENS). — The regular meeting of the War Workers was held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Reg. Bell when the election of officers for coming year took place as follows:

Past president Mrs. Gilbert McIlmoyle retired from office in the favor of Mrs. Stuart Sanderson, who was not present. The matter was left over for another meeting.

Vice-president, Mrs. Carmen Whitmore; secretary, Mrs. Reg. Bell; treasurer, Mrs. George Mathisen; quilt top conveners, Mrs. Marcus Dean and Mrs. Clarence Elliott; Delivery quilts to Peterborough, Mrs. Whitmore and Mrs. Bell; Wool convener, Mrs. Gordon Fitzgerald.

There were twelve ladies present and four quilts were turned out in the day's work. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $60. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, January 26.

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Canadian servicemen and women overseas will receive 440,000 cigarettes this Christmas, through a gift of President Elie Lescot of Haiti.

Following a visit to Canada this fall President Lescot sent $1,000 in American currency to Prime Minister Mackenzie King suggesting it be used for Christmas gifts for Canadian troops.

Defence headquarters said today the money — $1,100 Canadian — was used to buy 440,000 cigarettes for distribution among Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen overseas.

Union Demands Enquiry Report

Immediate relase for publication of the findings of the National War Labor enquiry into labor relations was demanded in a resolution passed last night by the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union.

Another resolution of protest asked for the immediate repeal of the recent wage control order, which, it was said, virtually places a ceiling on the cost of production and leaves superprofits untouched, instead of eliminating the "present gross inequalities of wages."

One of the clauses of preamble in this resolution says: The merging of cost of living bonuses with basic wages makes payment an injustice which existed in the spread of bonuses being paid," and "some sections of the order are in opposition to the fact that under British law all persons are presumed innocent until proved to be guilty."

The resolutions, it was said, represented the objection of some 1,400 workers.

HENRY SHOLER

There passed away Tuesday after a very brief illness Henry Sholer of 173 Edinburgh street. Mr. Sholer was born in Cavan township near Bethany but has spent the greater part of his life in this city. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Sholer and is survived by his wife.

The funeral will be held on Thursday at 2.00 p.m. from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons, with interment in Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Elder Olson of the Latter Day Saints will be in charge.

THOMAS HENRY SEENEY.

HAVELOCK, Dec. 22 — (ENS)— Another of Belmont's lifetime residents passed peacefully away in the person of Thomas Henry Seeney in his 76th year. He was the son of the late John W. and Margaret Seeney and was born in the Rush Point vicinity, and was the last surviving member of a family of six children.

Mr. Seeney was educated in Belmont and then took up farming, at which he continued until failing health forced him to give up. He was married to Janet McGill, who predeceased him three years ago. Left to mourn him are two daughters (Mabel) Mrs. John Toms of Belmont with whom he resided, and (Nellie) Mrs. Charles Mitchell, U.S.A.

The funeral was conducted by Rev J. W. Wilkinson from the family residence in Belmont, thence to Maple Grove Cemetery for interment. Pall-bearers were Ben Newton, Robert Buchanan, George Keating, Robert McCutcheon, Gilbert Wright, and Wesley Petherick.

Severe Terms

CHATHAM, Dec. 22 (CP).—Judge Henry E. Grosch last night sentenced five Windsor men to penitentiary terms after a county court jury had found them guilty of armed robbery in the $34,000 hold-up of the Royal Bank of Canada at Wheatley last September 10. Allan M. Baldwin received 15 years in addition to a four-year term imposed last fall on a charge of receiving stolen tires; Peter Devlin was sentenced to 13 years and Vernard Gates to nine years, while Leo Dubroy and Franklin F. Smith each received seven years.

Started "Who's Who"

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—Albert Nelson Marquis, 69, the man who was credited with getting a new definition of "who's who" into Webster's dictionary, died yesterday in his home in suburban Evanston. Marquis was originator of "who's who in America," which began as a compilation of 8,602 biographies in 1899 and grew to a tome of 32,800 sketches in 1942.

Ontario Faces Turkey Shortage

"Most consumers wil have to be satisfied with chicken, duck or goose for their Christmas dinner." That is a Lincoln county comment in the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Lambton casually remarks that "turkeys are in good demand." In Prince Edward the whole range of poultry is scarce and "demand is very keen." Frontenac is likewise in the scarcity belt, and Glengarry-Stormont observes: "Local meat shops report only about one-half the usual supply of turkeys is being offered with plenty of chickens."

Lennox-Addington: "The second day of the Napanee Poultry Fair was held last Thursday with about ten tons brought in. There were very few turkeys." And further east: Prescott-Russell: "There is a great demand for poultry. Turkeys are scarce, as well as capons, but there is a fairly good supply of dressed chickens."

Over at the far west side of the province Manitoulin says: "The annual turkey pack was down 30 per cent."

That's a swift survey of the outlook for Ontario's Christmas dinner and if many Peterborough homes have to forego turkey at the weekend they may find some slight consolation in the fact they are of a numerous company.

Tempting Picture.

Jopling's store presents a fine array of turkeys, but they are all sold, and have been left hanging until Friday by the forehanded customers who put in their orders early.

A major factor in the shortage of turkeys for civilian use is that authorities have commandeered thousands of tons for the men and women of the armed forces. The Examiner was informed of one carload destined for Peterborough that was intercepted for the tables of men and women of the army, navy and air force who will have to spend either of the approaching holidays at their posts.

Vegetable Men Elect Officers

John Kitney of the Vegetable Growers' Association, was elected president of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture at a meeting of the directors last night. He succeeds George Mullen, of Smith, who expressed a wish to retire after a year's service which was gratefully acknowledged by his associates.

The other officers for the coming year are: Gordon Hancock of the Crop Improvement Associaton, first vice-president; Lorne Reynolds of the Jersey Breeders' Association, second vice-president; Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, secretary-treasurer.

The executive directors are: Elmer Milburn, Reeve John McColl, of Asphodel; Milton Clark of Smith; Harvard White of North Monaghan, Reeve J. A. Gifford, Ennismore; Alex Houston, Otonabee, and A. B Mann, Smith.

Mr. Kitney is the fourth president of the Federation, preceded by Mr. Mullen, Melville Johnston and James Gifford.

Delegates to the annual provincial meeting in Toronto on January 11 and 12 are Mr. Kitney as county director, and Elmer Milburn and Lorne Reynolds, with Gordon Hancock an alternate. Delegates named for the Young People's Organization are Alan Drummond and Reg. Hunter. The young women of that group were asked to nominate their delegate.

The directors instructed their secretary to write to each township chairman suggesting that when the canvass on the question of the method of financing has been completed he ask his township council to pass a by-law endorsing that proposal.

Reporter Hit

LONDON, Dec. 22—(CP).—Lynn Heinzerling, Associated Press war correspondent with the British Eighth Army, suffered a weal under his left arm Monday when a bullet pierced his jacket and shirt during fighting in the Ortona section, the Manchester Guardian said yesterday. A dispatch from Cyril Ray, correspondent for the Guardian, told of the incident.

GNR. TIM CROUGH PTE. URBAN CROUGH

IN MEDITERRANEAN AREA—Pte. Urban Crough, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Crough of Otonabee, cabled his parents that he had recently been attached to the Mediterranean forces. He enlisted with the R.C.A.S.C. in August, 1942, and went overseas in March of this year. Before that, he was employed at the De Laval. His brother, Gnr. Tim Crough, R.C.A., has been overseas for two years and was formerly with the Eastwood Construction Company.

Fliers Anxious To Get Home Soon

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Anxious to be home by Christmas a group of more than 100 R.C.A.F. repatriates arrived in Ottawa Tuesday from overseas.

At Union Station they were greeted by Air Marshal Frank McGill and Mayor Stanley Lewis gulped a cup of coffee provided by Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion, then bustled off to the repatriation pool at nearby Rockcliffe air station.

"It is going to be hard job but we will do our best to have you all home by Christmas." Air Marshal McGill told the men.

One of the officers, Flt. Lt. John Todd of Saskatoon, was one of the first graduates of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan to go overseas. He finished his tour of operations as a gunner in July, 1942.

Peterboro Sailor

job to stand ready to evacuate the Canadian fighters, but," he added, "there weren't many to evacuate."

Easy Job.

Lieut. Rogers was in on the first day of the landings at the Mediterranean port of Oran in Algeria, and about this operation he said that opposition was very light and that only two obsolete enemy planes took to the air against the Allied forces. By the beginning of the second day resistance from the shore had completely crumbled and landing of troops went on without interference.

His part in the North African invasion—that of helping to get the land forces on the beaches—over, Lieut. Rogers went back to his base in England, and during the next three months engaged in extensive landing exercises with the Army. His next trip took him around the Cape of Good Hope to Egypt, whence he set sail for the invasion of Sicily.

"After the initial landings had been effected, we were billeted for four weeks on Sicily near the harbor of Syracuse, and as the transports came in in relays of convoys we assisted in the disembarkations," the Peterborough sailor said.

Italian Landing.

From Sicily to Malta for rest and regrouping and then up the coast of the captured island to the Straits of Messina at the beginning of September were the next steps in Lieut. Rogers' itinerary. The landing craft of his flotilla went over in the first wave, advancing behind a creeping barrage set up by the giant guns on the Sicilian shore.

"We operated a constant ferry service for four weeks to Italy," he told the Examiner. "On the first day we took the Carleton-Yorks Regiment across, and our section handled all the Canadian troops. We handled a good many British too. Our day of work was between dawn and dark, about 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. I enjoyed it and was sorry to find myself on my way out of the combat zone and headed back to England."

Lieut. Rogers, who is 23 and expects to go back overseas to the combined operations section eventually, was full of praise for the work of the crews who manned the landing craft that he had served on. "Success in our landings was always due to them," he said modestly. "They did all the work." He mentioned the names of four Peterborough sailors with whom he has been under fire, including A. S. Bill Moore, Stoker Fred Fowler, OS. Francis Kennedy and Ldg. Stk. Walter Farr.

There were several Peterborough boys in the services whom Lieut. Rogers mentioned having met in England. He ran into FO. Ken Gadd before returning to Canada, and PO. Al Marshall and FO. Bill Robinson were others he chanced to meet in England. Ordnance Artificer Don Howell of the Navy he met in Scotland, and he saw Lieut. Al Park of the Hastings Prince Edward Regiment, now in Italy, when he was in London. Lieut. Rogers explained that there were several particular rendezvous in the city of London where Canadian servicemen tended to congregate.

He expressed his appreciation of the hospitality of the English people and told how men were often invited to homes in the country when they got leaves. He referred to the Knights of Columbus Canadian Hospitality Service as one of the organizations that arranged for the entertainment of men overseas and saw to it that those on leave would be sure to have a good time on their time off.

dotted through the list, two of them evidently coming from one who hails from Sussex in England, the largest of which was designated for the Children's Christmas Fund, all others appearing under their initials or as "A Friend."

Parkhill Fellowship Group

This, as its name implies, is an organization formed recently among those who have come to live in the Parkhill group of wartime houses. They sold tickets for a draw on a daisy name quilt for the Christmas Cheer Fund, which is being made in the Dixon house today. From this the sum of $32 is listed in their name, showing just how well they have gone to work.

Then the teacher, Miss Ruth Telford, and her pupils of S. S. No. 3, Douro, are to be complimented on the donation of $25 which they made, also for the Children's Fund, and a contribution of $5 from the North-end Workers through Mrs. S. Kingdon, completes the list for this day. This latter group has helped on a number of occasions.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

PARTNER MUST HAVE IT

WHAT A PLAYER did not do, in either the bidding or the play, can be just as informative regarding his holding as something he did. In a case where neither defender had made any bid, if one of them plays about a trick and a half of high cards on early tricks, and an ace remains still out against you, it is virtually a sure thing his partner holds it. If the man who already showed pretty good strength also had the missing ace, he probably would have stuck in some kind of a bid.

After East led the heart 3, the Q going on from dummy and the K covering, losing to the A, the declarer took stock. He was Herbert Crossby House, manufacturer of woven felts, of Unionville, Conn., who plays what he calls "ordinary commonsense bridge." It stood him in good stead. Ruffing out the heart 10 with the club 9, he then scored the club A and the J to the K, ready for another round if necessary.

He sent forth the diamond K, which West ducked, and the 4 to the Q was taken by the A. West thereupon led the spade 7, to confuse the issue, and the crisis of the play was at hand. Who had the spade A? If West, then the winning play would be the K, and diamonds would make possible a spade discard to produce an extra trick. But, if East had it, the best play was the J. Then, if East did not also have the Q, that would force the A, and the K would be good.

Mr. House reckoned correctly. Since West had already shown the diamond A and heart K, the odds would have been 10 to 1 he would have bid, holding nine cards in the major suits, if he also had the spade A. So Mr. House counted East for the A and played the spade J. Sure enough, it forced the A and the contract was assured, as West had the Q.

Canadian Army Gets Into War On Two Fronts

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — The fourth year of war gave the Canadian Army concrete results to show for three years of mobilizing, training, waiting and massing men and materials.

The results in which the Army shared glory and sacrifice with the British and American forces were the conquest of Sicily, the surrender of Italy, and occupation of a large part of the Italian mainland, and occupation of Kiska, last Japanese-held outpost on the American side of the Pacific.

Landing of the 1st Division in Sicily with the British 8th Army marked the opening of long-awaited, big-scale offensive operations for the Canadian Army. The division had been training from its mobilization in September, 1939, but the fortunes of war and decisions of the High Command assigned it —with the larger Canadian Army growing around it—to a defensive role in Britain.

In the Kiska operation units from Pacific command joined with American troops. They encountered no opposition because the Japanese had slipped away under cover of fog, but the operation freed Alaska and North-west Canada from a danger.

For the Army as a whole the year marked passing of the "expansion stage" and a consequent shaking-down and readjustment of organization.

With a two-corps Army of three infantry divisions, two armored divisions and two Army tank brigades overseas the authorities decided no further expansion was in order. That meant a gradual slowing-down ow training operations. Men will still be needed to replace battle casualties and those who drop out through age, sickness and accident, but not to fill new divisions and formations.

Reductions At Home

The improved war outlook also made possible reduction in the home war establishment. The 7th and 8th Divisions were disbanded and the 6th was reorganized into independent operation. These changes threw more men into the reinforcement stream for overseas and helped compensate for a gradual decline in recruiting since the first of the year.

Call-up of men under the National Resources Mobilization Act continued, the only changes being a lowering of the callable age to 18 and inclusion of married men up to 30.

On the basis of experience, and in light of the civilian manpower shortage, the Army late in the year set a top limit of 38 for new recruits except for special cases. Before that volunteers had been accepted up to 45 and single men had been called up to 40.

With the introduction of the "Pulhems profile" system of medical grading, a more accurate method of testing physical fitness was adopted. Now men are graded on seven counts and must average Grade 2 on all to be acceptable.

Changes in divisional commands overseas and in some high commands in Canada occurred. The most notable was the shift of Maj.-Gen. Guy Simonds to an armored division—presumably the 5th Division—after landing the 1st Division through Sicily and into Italy, and promotion of youthful Brig. Chris Vokes of Kingston, Ont., to head the 1st Division with the rank of Major-General.

MRS. MINIVER—Judith Evelyn, Canadian, who played with the Hart House Little Theatre, Toronto, has the title role of "Mrs. Miniver," new radio network dramatization of the further adventures of the fictional British family. Judith Evelyn is now starring on Broadway.

Russia Controls Venereal Plague

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 — (AP).—Russia, on the word of spokesmen here, has solved one of war's oldest problems — prostitution and veneral disease.

Prostituation is said to be virtually a forgotten profession, except for a small number of girls in Moscow; veneral disease is said to be almost non-existent in the Red Army.

The given explanation of Russias progress is the Soviets' public health policies. Professor V. V. Lebedenko, in the United States to present the Russian Red Cross, summarizes it.

"The present generation of the young Russians has not had an oppoRunity to know the meaning of prostitution," he says.

"Factors in this are universal employment, the fact that sex knowledge is taught to all young people in Russia by the age of 15 and to a legal penalty for transmitting veneral disease.

"In the last war, I was accustomed to seeing batches of soldiers being sent to hospitals, each man tagged for veneral disease. Only occasional cases appear now. The average soldier feels that veneral disease disgraces him among his fellow troops."

Penalties Severe

The legal penalties catch the employer who forces his attentions on a woman in his employment. The penalty is three years' imprisonment, and the legal clause does not specify that venereal infection is required.

Anyone who infects another with veneral disease is liable to three years' imprisonment; anyone knowingly exposing another to the risk of infection is liable for six months; physical or mental compulsion to practise prostitution draws a three-year penalty; procurement and maintenance of brothels draw three years and partial or total confiscation of property.

If the persons forced into prostitution are minors, or under the care or the authority of the accused, then the penalty is five years.

A report from Russian war relief says that in 1928 there were about 3,000 prostitutes in Moscow, less than 200 in 1937, and now they are almost non-existent.

Chiefs Dressed In Sober Khaki

ALGIERS, Dec. 22 (CP)— Three African chiefs—one from Kenya, one from Uganda and the other from Tanganyika—on a tour of inspection of East African troops in the Middle East recently flew to Tripoli to see transport units. The chiefs were: Paul Agoi (Kenya), Yunusu Wandera (Uganada) and Adam Supi (Tanganyika).

An army cameraman, who had helped to make "Desert Victory" was disappointed to find the chiefs dressed in khaki and sun helmets—he hoped for flowing robes and ostrich feathers!

To Keep Round Peg From Square Hole

LONDON, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Anthropometry, a branch of anthropology, may play an important part in the adjustment of man to unemployment in the future and every labor exchange may have its anthropometrist whose job will be to save "round pegs from square holes."

That is one side of the future developments of the science seen by Sir Ernest Graham-Little, M.P., a consulting physician, who will ask Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons:

Whether his attention has been drawn to the advances made in anthropometric science and its value in the service of war and reconstruction and whether he will establish a National Anthropometric Survey Board.

Anthropometry, said Sir Ernest, goes further than medicine and psychology in arriving at a complete summing-up of a man in that it takes into account the whole history of the individual as an animal.

Canadian Fliers Start Farm Project

WITH THE R.C.A.F. BOMBER GROUP OVERSEAS, Dec. 22 — (CP).—A farming venture that started out in a small way and developed into big business is going to provide a tasty Christmas dinner for Canadian airmen and airwomen at this heavy bomber conversion unit.

Here's the stock from which the cook will choose his menu: 240 pigs, 21 chickens, 15 ducks, 15 geese, six cows and potatoes, carrots, turnips, parsnips and corn from 30 acres of varied production.

It began, the R.C.A.F. said today, in an overseas press release, last May when the Canadians, commanded by Group Capt. F. A. Sampson of Ottawa, found they had about 130 acres of spare land tucked in odd corners of their airfield. They also found an R.A.F. corporal on the station with a reputation for farming.

"Joe," the corporal, was given a half-dozen pigs and £50 from the station's funds — subscribed by all ranks—to start him off. Station funds got its £50 back in short order, with a tidy little profit, and the latest estimate values the farm at £5,000.

Nazis Launch Great Tank Drive

Reds Crack Defences Near Vitebsk Block Counter Jabs

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 23 — (AP). — Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's Baltic Army is fighting its way through thick barbed - wire entanglements forming the northernmost defences of Vitebsk and at the same time is reaching westward for a stranglehold on the Vitebsk and Polotsk railway, Soviet dispatches from the front said today.

Cutting of the railway to Polotsk would sever Vitebsk's main communications to the west.

To the south massed Russian heavy artillery and mobile guns blazed against a gigantic German tank offensive, one of the greatest of the war.

The large-scale enemy attack was sprung yesterday on a 400-mile front stretching from White Russia to the Dnieper bend, but front reports said Red Army forces were holding firm on all sectors and that concentrated artillery fire had destroyed at least 148 of the attacking tanks during the day.

The new enemy counter-attack came as an 11th hour effort as Russian pressure increased on the Nazi Vitebsk-Polotsk defence wall further north where Gen. Ivan Bagramian's 1st Baltic Army was said to be driving steadily ahead.

The Germans massed their heaviest assaults in the Korosten sector of the Kiev bulge, where despite the fury of the Nazi onslaught, troops of Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukraine army held firm and actually improved their positions, dispatches said.

In the drive toward the Latvian border Bagramian's veterans closed in on Gorodok, a lake town on the Nevel-Vitebsk railway and an important strongpoint in Vitebsk's northern defences.

Russians succeeded in bringing

3 Officers Win DSO's In Italy

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent.

LONDON, Dec. 23—(CP Cable).—Three officers whose heroism in one of Sicily's hottest campaigns won them the Distinguished Service Order top a list of 33 Canadian soldiers decorated for valorous service with the Canadian Army. One award was posthumous.

Lt.-Col. Harry McLeod Hague, 44, of Montreal, a Royal Canadian Artillery officer, was cited for gallantry in making a daring reconnaissance in the Nissoria area following the fall of Leonforte.

The information he obtained was vital to the success of attacks later carried out on the eastern outskirts of Nissoria where fighting raged for three days before the Canadians broke through, leaving the battlefield littered with German dead.

One Died In Action.

The other D.S.O. winners, Maj. William G. Bury, 45, and Maj. Archie Scott Donald, 36, were heroes of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment. Both were Edmonton residents. Bury was killed in action.

It was for gallantry in leading an assault on a cemetery hill outside of Agira that Bury won the D.S.O. and it was near the summit of the hill that he was killed.

Bury died instantly but he had given the attack momentum and the Edmontons surged into the enemy machine-gun nests to avenge their leader. Troops who participated in the attack said Bury's leadership was one of the most gallant exploits they had seen.

Earlier, Bury saw action at Leonforte where he and a company were cut off all one night in the centre of the town while the Germans attacked through the streets and from houses on all sides. They were finally relieved in the morning when the Princess Patricia's Canadian light infantry smashed into the town with guns and with tanks.

Bury also led two Edmonton companies on the Spitsbergen raid in the summer of 1941.

Grey-haired Archie Donald won his D.S.O. on Hill 736 in the thrust of the Edmontons through the mountains northeast of Regalbuto on the way to Aderno. The Germans were holding the top of this precipitious cliff and Donald organized an attack with two platoons with a few field guns, some mortars and a single Vickers machine -gun. The enemy was driven from the hill.

This successful attack opened the way for the assault on Aderno and was considered by Canadian field commanders as one of the most skilfully handled actions of the Sicilian campaign despite the small scale on which it was fought.

Canadian Casualties Heavy In Battle-Scarred Ortona

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 23—(CP Cable).—The Canadian 1st Division that has been growing gradually battle-wise through some five years of war achieved military maturity during the two-week campaign for the Moro River and Ortona—but in successfully fighting through what will probably be ranked as one of the most important Italian engagements paid with fairly heavy casualties.

Hurled against crack German divisions when the British 8th Army wished to splinter the German winter line with a drive across the Moro River, the 1st Division bumped into the toughest fighting of its history. It carried through magnificently, smashing across the Moro and continuing its drive until it now occupies parts of Ortona, eastern anchor of the enemy defence line in the peninsula.

Resistance was fanatical, though, and could have resulted only in comparatively high casualties. Battles that were fought through muddy hills and gullies from the shallow Moro to the smashed streets of Ortona must have taken the lives of many Canadian soldiers.

As the fighting swirled through the tortuous terrain of eastern Italy it broke up into isolated engagements and often turned out to be a tedious, dangerous task whereby enemy snipers and machine-gunners had to be routed out one by one.

It was strictly a job for the bayonet-wielding infantrymen, and close fighting like that fattens casualty lists.

Too, latest reports said the Germans defended Ortona house by house and street fighting would

Parachutists Land In Latvia

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 23 — (AP). —A great many Russian parachutists have landed in the Baltic states and leaflets have been dropped asking the population to take up arms against the Germans, the newspaper Afton - Tidningen said today.

The dispatch quoted newspapers in the Latvian capital of Riga that a number parachutists had been seized, including 20 who had mingled with a church crowd. Intense air activity over the Baltic States also was disclosed.

Landings by Russian parachutists in the Baltic States have been reported from time to time over a period of months.

Ortona Fight Continues In Third Day

Hand-To-Hand Battle Rages In Streets Against Stubborn Hun

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 23 — (AP). — Canadian tanks and infantry fought bitterly in the streets of Ortona for the third straight day with German forces who were turning the tiny Adriatic port into a minature Stalingrad, an Allied headquarters announcement said today.

On the 5th Army front to the west, American troops captured snow-covered 3,000 - foot Mount Cavallo, 3½ miles northwest of Venafro and near Viticuso, and French forces advanced in a mountain pass where a struggle had raged for several days.

Other American infantry attacking in the rain seized a hill near Monna Casale.

The heaviest fighting surged back and forth in Ortona.

The German 10th Army threw new parachute troops, tanks and infantry, into the battle in a desperate effort to retain its hold on this anchor to the present line across Italy. Ortona guards the main road leading north to Pescara, and its capture would cut the German main supply line to troops inland as well as along the coast.

Canadian tanks and infantry advanced from house to house, and everywhere were met by fierce opposition.

Inland, troops of the 8th Army continued to push north of the Ortona-Orsogna road toward the next lateral highway six miles away, coming up against the fortified village of Ariella, eight miles inland from Ortona. Here another house-to-house battle appeared in prospect.

Swarming up the slopes of Mt. Cavallo in a drenching rain, Americans now overlooked the village of Viticuso, eight miles east and a little north of Cassino, and placed it under shell and mortar fire. The Germans tried to recapture the mountain, but failed.

The systematic cleanup of pillboxes around San Vittore, a heavily fortified village six miles southeast of Cassino, continued, but there was no indication that a full-scale attack had yet been launched on this strong position guarding the road to Rome.

Although air activity in Western Italy was greatly reduced by the weather, fighters patrolled the Adriatic and shot up a schooner and radio station near Zara on the Yugoslav coast and bombers supported the attack near Orsogna.

British and United States fighter-bombers destroyed three trains near Tortoreto and Civitanova along the Adriatic.

Two Allied planes were lost.

Flames Drive Guests From Blazing Hotel

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HULL, Que., Dec. 23 (CP). — An early-morning blaze destroyed Central Hotel and damaged adjoining buildings today and as the last flames were buried under tons of ice and water some firemen estimated "two or three" guests might have perished.

Mastal Pichette, 60-year-old night clerk of the hotel who was slightly injured, said it was possible "five or six" died. He said he believed the blaze started in a third-floor washroom.

Fire Chief Emile Bond, however, said at 12:40 p.m. EDT., that he believes it quite likely all the 36 persons in the hotel when the fire began managed to escape.

Sixteen Missing

At that time, 16 of the hotel residents were unaccounted for, but both police and fire authorities emphasized this was not to be taken as an indication they were casualties.

"I don't want to commit myself" said Police Chief J. A. Robert, "because it is very had to locate the guests now. I have men out checking and a report will probably be made public about 3 p.m."

"By late afternoon firemen will be able to start digging in the ruins for a positive check.

"My men are finding guests all over the place. Some have registered at other hotels, some have moved in with friends. We're checking the trains to see if some might even have left town."

M. Pichette, night clerk at the hotel, and Alex Gray, former resident of Toronto, were located in hospital. But their condition was not considered serious.

No Bodies Found

At 12:50 p.m. EDT no bodies had been found.

"We know some guests got away by the fire escape, others by the front door, others were helped from windows by firemen and still others jumped from windows," said Police Chief Robert.

Fire Chief Bond said his men rescued five persons from windows of the burning hotel and saw others jump to safety.

Some firemen, however, said they did not know how the hotel's 35 guests could all have reached safety. It would be several hours before they could begin a search in the twisted, ice-coated ruins.

The intense cold caused persons driven from their beds to run to

French Coast Near Britain Believed Chosen By Huns For Powerful Rocket Guns

Week-Long Raids By Heavy Bombers Devastate Northern France Important Targets Believed Spotted

By E. B. SULLIVAN—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 23—(AP).—British and American bomber forces have been thrown into attacks against the "rocket gun coast" of France, it was disclosed today, with the R.A.F.'s heavy raider fleets for the first time diverted from such targets as Berlin for smashes at targets in northern France.

An R.A.F. blow at the French coast last night made it evident that targets of great importance had been spotted and marked for destruction in northern France and along the coast. Today a big force of high-flying bombers crossed the British southeast coast apparently bound for daylight blows at the same targets.

The Pas de Calais area, the part of the French coast nearest England, has been battered incessantly since Monday and the daylight forces evidently were stretching the offensive into a four-day affair.

The R.A.F.'s armadas hit targets in western Germany last night, as well as in northern France, and suffered no loss.

Mines also were laid in enemy waters.

All this week Allied planes have been hammering Nazi installations in northern France in practically day-long assaults, but apparently this was the first time the R.A.F. heavy bombers had turned from great Nazi targets such as Berlin to join in this drive.

Some quarters in London believe the boasted German rocket gun emplacements in France are the objective of these concentrated raids.

The great forays by day and night yesterday raised to perhaps 4,000 or more planes the attacking force that has battered Nazi targets in the last three days.

The United States heavy bombers—striking an undisclosed location in Northwest Germany—shot down 38 German fighters while losing 21 heavy bombers and four fighters. Crewmen said they hit the objectives on the nose despite clouds and intense cold.

Mosquitoes Active.

At the same time, formations of R.A.F. Mosquitoes, Bostons and Typhoons with fighter escort hopped the channel in great strength to hit "military objectives" in France. Four planes were lost.

The R.A.F.'s first photographs of scarred Berlin after the six heavy bombings started Nov. 18 showed at least 70 great factories, government buildings and other important structures damaged, the Air Ministry announced.

The pictures "leave no doubt that the damage during these six attacks goes far beyond anything done before the night of Nov. 18," it declared.

London morning newspapers interpreted the damage reported to mean that 40 to 50 per cent. of the German capital had been destroyed, with the area of utter desolation already exceeding that of Hamburg. Western Berlin was ravaged the worst. The R.A.F. announcement showed severe damage to the Rheinmetal Borsig armament plant, the largest plant of the Reich's second greatest armament manufacturer, to the War, Interior, Justice, Food and Propaganda Ministries, and many areas of Berlin, including the Tiergarten, Mitte and Charlottenburg sectors.

The Germans sent a few raiders over Southeast England last night in retaliation, dropping a few bombs and causing a small number of casualties, it was announced.

Secret Weapon No Bluff Experts Report

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Allied officials regard Germany's rocket secret weapon as "no bluff," says Allan A. Michie of the Reader's Digest magazine.

Arriving here by Trans-Atlantic clipper yesterday, Michie said:—

"Allied officials in London have been gathering information from refugees and agents for five months on the secret weapon the Germans are talking about. They have enough information to know it is no bluff."

He said the Allies are reasonably sure of the broad outlines of the weapon. "It is a rocket-type projectile weighing approximately 50 tons," he declared, "it can be shot from the French coast into England."

Michie said that after a recent R.A.F. raid on Peenemund, agents reported that 5,000 workers, including skilled technicians, had been killed and many blueprints and much machinery destroyed.

"The secret weapon has not yet been used," he added, "you must draw your own inference."

Road To Rome Well Fortified

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE ALLIED 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, Dec. 22 (Delayed)—(CP)—The 5th Army's advance on the road to Rome is going to be the same bloody, slow, costly battle it has been all the way from the beaches of Salerno.

This is becoming more evident as the days pass and the army is able only to inch forward against the Germans entrenched in strong mountain positions which flank highway No. 6 running up the valley through which the army must pass.

The 5th Army has stormed one mountain stronghold and wiped out an enemy dug into caves with hidden machine-gun nests, only to find another on the next ridge.

There can be no blitz warfare here to sweep the army forward in a great smashing drive. There is no terrain suited to tank warfare. Tanks must travel roads covered by anti-tank guns and our artillery is being hit without being able to hit back.

Thus the fight for Rome is strictly infantry warfare. The Germans must be dug from their caves one by one with hand grenades in close-range fighting. Head-on assaults against such positions are costly and slow.

New Allied Command Complex Affair

Gen. George Marshall Appears Destined To Hold Staff Job At Home

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Analyst

The complex structure of the Allied command is showing up again, pointedly so in the case of Gen. George C. Marshall, who was—but now is not—to take the field command of European invasion forces.

Instead, he seems destined to remain as United States chief of staff, possibly to assume even greater responsibilities in some Allied "super-staff" assignment, as hinted at in dispatches from London and suggested in Washington's much quoted informed circles.

It is an open secret in Washington that Marshall's capacity for responsibility and his personal qualities—forthrightness, common sense, an encyclopedic memory, unassuming manner, an ability to use with great skill such instruments, human or material, that are on hand—have made him the dominant figure in staff councils.

The men working with him in the U. S. joint chiefs of staffs and the Anglo-American combined chieffs of staff probably are no less able than Marshall as strategists or tacticians. But in some subtle fashion, having nothing to do with brilliance or learning, Marshall has become the catalyst of their thinking.

That being the case, it should occasion little surprise if President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have decided they could not spare his advisory services in a war that, from the Allied side, lacks a supreme commander.

The Anglo-American forces have two commanders, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt. It may be that they think as one, but it's hardly likely. their joint decisions are compromise opinions of a combined staff. Not only are those recommendations of the combined staff comprised after study of completing demands of field commanders, but they are probably accompanied by "minority opinions" from those whose requests have been denied or whose judgments have been overruled. Such a complicated and unwieldy arch need a keystone, and the two chiefs of state apparently have concluded that Marshall is that keystone.

Take the case of Marshall's trip after Teheran and Cairo as an example. There seems little reason to doubt now that its chief purpose was to give Gen. Douglas MacArthur a complete explanation of the situation, and to head off the trip home which MacArthur is reported to have planned.

Christmas Divorce

Moscow, Ind., Dec. 23 (AP)

A 10-year-old girl softly sang "Silent Night," as she waited in an adjoining room—while her mother and father stood before District Judge A. L. Morgan to obtain a divorce.

At home was the family Christmas tree, holding gifts for all.

Judge Morgan granted the mother a divorce and custody of the child. But he added a proviso: the family must remain together over Christmas.

Organized Resistance Gone

Japs Retreating Fast On New Britain

With the American 6th Army at Arawe, New Britain, Dec. 23 (AP)—Organized ground resistance in the Arawe sectors has been smashed and American patrols are enlarging the outer perimeter of their 8-day-old invasion front virtually unmolested.

The main beachhead consists of the Arawe peninsula, on the southwest of New Britain, from Cape Merkus to a position a few miles inland beyond Umtingalu village, which was captured several days ago.

Patrols are digging into coral caves along the beaches, killing the few Japanese stragglers still in the vicinity.

(This is the first dispatch directly from the beachhead since the American landings of Dec. 15, when Eunson rode in with the first wave.)

American casualties to date have been light, Brig.-Gen. Julian Cunningham, commander of the American force, told us.

Cunningham said the only remaining difficulty seemed to be the Japanese night bombing which has been very heavy.

We spent most of Tuesday night deep in a foxhole while enemy raiders swooped over the tiny peninsula one at a time in about 15 sorties.

Gurkhas Start Burma Drive

Haul Field Guns Over Jungle Trails

NEW DELHI, Dec. 23 — (CP).—Sporadic clashes of land patrols, from Northern Burma to the middle Chin Hills, and widespread air fighting in which both British and American forces participated were announced by the Southeast Asia Command today.

In the Tidveim area Gurkha troops, supported by field guns hauled by hand over jungle trails, stormed Japanese positions on an important supply road and drove them back for more than a mile, inflicting heavy casualties. The Gurkhas then withdrew to their original positions.

Japanese ground forces launched a surprise dawn attack against a famous British regiment on the Arakhan front in Eastern Burma where R.A.F. formations have been strafing enemy villages for the past two days. The attack was repulsed, with the Japanese leaving 24 dead on the field.

In the air, Allied bombers were active over a two-day period beginning December 18. R. A. F. bombers blasted objectives at Maymyo in Central Burma on the night of December 19 and the next day a large formation of American bombers dropped 30 tons of explosives on enemy gasoline stores and other targets at Monya.

Yugoslav Partisans Demand King Peter Stay Away Until Country Liberated

Tito's Council Denounce King's Attitude
Refuse To Recognize Acts
Claim Criminals, Traitors Decorated

LONDON, Dec. 23—(CP).—Denouncing the "hostile attiture" and acts of King Peter's Yugoslav government in Cairo, Marshal Josip Brozj (Tito's) Council of Liberation has ordered Peter's regime deprived "of all its rights" and has "forbidden" the young King to return home until after Yugoslavia is entirely liberated.

The strongly-worded declaration came as the Allies were giving military aid to Tito in his war against the Germans and attempting to settle differences between the two Yugoslav factions.

After Yugoslavia is freed, "the problem of the King as well as the question of the monarchy can be decided," declared Tito's council, recently established within the strategic Balkan nation.

The council's statement, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, levelled three accusations against Peter's government sitting in Cairo:

"Of maintaining a hostile attitude toward the struggle for liberation in which the Yugoslav people have been heavily engaged";

"Of abusing the hospitality of our allies by spreading lies and slanders about the struggle of the Yugoslav army of liberation";

Of organizing, through War Minister Gen. Draja Mihailovic, "civil strife in Yugoslavia and through him and his subordinates concluding a lasting agreement" with the Germans and their satellites.

It therefore declared "null and void all international treaties and obligations' undertaken by Peter's Government, and asserted "the so-called Yugoslav Government abroad is deprived of all rights of a legal government, and also of the rights of representing the peoples of Yugoslavia in foreign towns."

This also concerns "all other governments which may in the future be formed abroad against the will of the Yugoslav peoples," the statement added.

The Council charged that Peter had "showed full confidence" in the exiled government and Mihailovic, and had "decorated traitors and criminals."

The broadcast said the manifesto was agreed upon by the Council November 29, and that its decisions "are to enter into force immediately."

On the military front Tito's forces were reported on the offensive in every sector, after throwing back German counter-attacks in Croatia.

Munition Costs Soar To All-Time High

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—(CP).—Canada's war production, reported by Munitions Minister Howe to now be at its peak, increased by $753,000,000 during 1943, it was revealed to-day by preliminary figures released by the Munitions Department.

Based on actual figures for the first 10 months of the year and an estimate of November and December, production for 1943 is placed at $2,776,000,000, compared with $2,023,000,000 in 1942. In 1941, production was $805,000,000 and from the start of the war to the end of 1940 it totalled $307,000,000.

The 1943 production figures are further augmented by expenditure of $217,000,000 on defence construction and capital assistance, apart from the wartime housing program, of $186,000,000—making a grand total for the year of $3,179,000,000 against $2,452,000,000 in 1942.

Slowing Down.

Indications that wartime industrial expansion tapered off in 1943 is found in a slight reduction—$2,000,000—in defence construction and to a greater extent in the expenditures on capital assistance, which were $24,000,000 below last year.

Largest increases were reported in shipbuilding, instruments and communication equipment and small arm ammunitions, output of all of which was almost doubled during the year. In only one item listed in a breakdown was there a reduction—gun ammunition, including bombs. Value of the 1943 output was placed at $195,000,000, $28,000,000 below last year.

The figures compiled by the Department report war production since the outbreak of war as follows (in millions of dollars):

Strange Story Told By Deer Hunters

The story of how three days after his appointment as Fish and game overseer, Vernal Windsor, former reeve of Burleigh, had watched a boat pulled up on the east bank of Eel's Creek for six and a half hours on November 19, was told in police court this morning when a charge against Ernest Lean, Haultain, of carrying a loaded rifle in the Peterborough County Game Preserve was held before Magistrate E. A. Gee.

Windsor, the only witness for the prosecution, said that the east side of the creek was the west boundary of the park. He said that he watched the boat until he finally saw four men carrying rifles come down to the east bank, put two deer in the boat and then paddle across the creek to the west side where he accosted them. One of the men, he said was Ernest Lean who got out of the boat and started to pull it up.

Windsor said that when he challenged the party, the two men in the middle of the boat jumped out into the creek and ran into the swamp. He lost some time he said because the fourth man Percy Edwards, Haultain, refused at first to give his name.

Windsor stated that he had seized the rifles carried by Lean and Edwards and also the two deer.

For the defence Lean said that on the morning of the 19th he had shot and wounded a deer on the west side of the creek and the animal had crossed the creek into the game preserve. Late that afternoon he had seen two strangers in a boat and they had given Edwards and himself a ride across the creek to look for the wounded deer which was found in a short time. Lean said that the strangers already had a deer in their boat. On reaching the east side Lean stated that one of the party remained in the boat and the four rifles were left there while the other three went into the woods to look for the deer.

Percy Edwards, Haultain, corroborated Lean's evidence and Mrs. Lean said that Overseer Windsor had told her the day after that he had not seen the men in the game preserve.

This statement was denied by Windsor when he was called in rebuttal by the prosecution.

W. J. Arthur Fair who defended Lean said that it was the case of a newly appointed game warden trying to make good on the job and out to get a conviction under any circumstances.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who prosecuted said that the mysterious strangers who in the O.T.A. days used to put the liquor under the sidewalk had turned up in a new guise to furnish a boat to take people across Eel's Creek.

Magistrate Gee reserved judgment in the case until this afternoon when a similar charge against Edwards was to be heard.

Cut Up 90th Division

on the job of chopping up the Gero nthe job of chopping up the Germans' Adriatic defences Dec. 8 casualties were quite light. Figures covering the period from landing at Reggio Calabria Sept. 3 to Nov. 23 showed 238 dead, 811 wounded and 45 missing.

But whatever the cost, the Canadians can look back on a campaign that will rank with the battles for the Sangro and Volturno river and the grim fight by the Allied 5th Army for the passes leading to Cassino and Rome. Too, Canadian soldiers cut to pieces one of Hitler's crack divisions, the 90th division, and badly mauled the elite German 1st Parachute division.

Wounded in Italy are assured the best of care. At least one General Hospital is on the mainland while others are in Sicily where casualties may be evacuated quickly by air. The 8th Army medical services, which also help Canadian wounded, are considered in the field a model of efficiency.

Further purchases of Canadian wheat by the United States Commodity Credit Corporation were reported during the session with more than 2,000,000 bushels of No. 2 Northern believed to be involved.

American interests were also in the market for cash coarse grains and approximately 125,000 bushels of oats were taken direct from the country elevators.

TORONTO POULTRY

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP). — Turkeys are scarce on the local market, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported today. Receipts of Ontario grown turkeys are practically nil. The situation has been helped somewhat by the arrival or scheduled arrival of seven cars of turkeys from Western Canada. But the volume from the west is small compared with other years, dealers here being abue to procure only a percentage of the quantities usually bought at this time of the year from Western Canada.

The fresh dressed poultry maris firm with an exceptionally good demand, as was expected at the Christmas season. This demand is for all grades of poultry with the exception of fowl. Receipts of the chickens are plentiful but fowl supplies are light. Geese are arriving in limited quantities and are clearing well. Some dealers report good supplies of ducks.

Turkey Buyers Swamp Farmers On Market

Mayor Hamilton expressed regret to-day that many farmers had been "jostled" by too energetic buyers at the special market Wednesday. He said he would ask Chief Constable Newhall to assign sufficient constables to maintain order to see that the farmers coming to market even in these days of the Yuletide scarcity of the dinner birds were not shivvied about as they were Wdnesday.

Stories persisted along main street tending to confirm the market reports that some nimble fellows of no conscience made off with geese without paying for them. In other words they stole them. Actually, such reports indicated only a few such losses, if they did happen, and the evidence indicates that some of the super-gimmes got a few geese by boldly walking off with them while the owner's attention was attracted by buyers nearer to him, or to her.

Pope To Celebrate Mass In Private

LONDON, Dec. 23.—(CP).— The Vatican radio broadcast an announcement that Pope Pius XII will celebrate Christmas eve mass privately at 5 p.m. to-morrow (12 noon E.D.T.) instead of at 7 p.m. as he originally planned.

The change was made because of the curfew in Rome, which is under German occupation.

The announcement said the mass would be "strictly private," but will be broadcast and be relayed through the Italian radio along with an earlier Papal radio message. This message to the world is scheduled for 12.15 p.m. (7.15 a.m. E.D.T.)

NBC and CBS plan to carry the Papal message at 7.15 a.m. to-morrow, followed by an English summary. Whether the Christmas eve mass would be re-broadcast in North America was not known immediately.

Christmas Tree Prices Take Decided Drop

TORONTO, Dec. 23 (CP)—Christmas tree dealers here today found themselves considerably overstocked and prices dropped to as low as 40 cents.

Jack Clark, wholesaler, said he expected to be selling trees at 25 cents each by tomorrow. "Anything at all is going for 40 cents today."

Dealers had believed shortage of labor and transportation would reduce supply to a minimum this year, Clark said. "Then when trees began to come in....They bought them up fast until the market was saturated." Now "the market is cracking."

Sentence Commuted

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Dec. 23—(CP)—The executive council yesterday commuted the death sentence of Sydney Robey Leibrandt, former South African heavyweight boxing champion, convicted of treason, to life imprisonment. Leibrandt, former policeman and Olympic boxer, became a lance corporal in the German parachute corps and returned to this country in a U-boat. He was charged with trying to organize armed resistance to the government.

Christmas Mail Sets Record; Peak Now Past

A volume of parcels and letters, unprecedented in the history of the Peterborough Post Office has been handled in recent Christmas rush, it was revealed to-day by Charles Lacheur, postmaster. "Parcel mail was the heaviest we have ever experienced, and an idea of the number of letters that went through this office may be gathered from the fact that there were approximately 114,000 pieces of outgoing mail on Monday, peak day of the holiday rush," Mr. Lacheur stated. He added that the rural route couriers, in delivering mail to the country during the past 10 days, had also handled the largest volume of mail in their experience.

All this unusually heavy business had been dealt with promptly and all the mails despatched in time. Mr. Lacheur went on to say. He praised the co-operation of the public in abiding by the notices advising early mailing, and said that its uniform response in this regard had been of great assistance to the Post Office and was heartily appreciated. "As a matter of fact, the peak load of business handled here was reached two days earlier than it was last year, and that was no small help to us in our work here. All Christmas mail will be delivered in time for the holiday, and a delivery will be made on Christmas Day," the postmaster said.

In revealing that Monday, deadline for mailing for local delivery in order to ensure arrival by Christmas, had been the busiest day for workers in the Post Office, Mr. Lacheur pictured the heavy rush as getting under way December 13, and that each succeeding day thereafter had seen it climbing steadily until the peak load occurred on Monday last.

He said to-day that additional workers had now been reduced to a skeleton extra staff, but that during the height of the Christmas rush the Post Office had employed 59 extra hands. These were all High School and College lads; the work of 42 of them was spread out over the 24 hours of the day on inside jobs, principally the "simplified sortation" method of sorting letters alphabetically and the use of the cancelling machines; the other 17 assisted the letter carriers at their work and helped make deliveries of the mail.

During the rush, Mr. Lacheur added, an extra truck for delivering parcel post was used, and a large volume of mail was taken care of in this manner. In addition, extra premises on Hunter Street were employed as quarters for the handling of incoming parcel post mail, and this was of great assistance in relieving congestion at the main office.

New Archbishop Lauds Social Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 —(AP)—Development of a new super-bomber was disclosed today by Rep. John Sparkman (Dem. Ala.), chairman of a House of Representatives military aviation sub-committee, on his return from a 10,000-mile inspection tour of aviation plants and army air force installations in the United States.

Other than that it will "surprise and hurt" the enemy and soon will be in large scale production, Sparkman said he could disclose no details of the new bombers because the United States army itself has not yet made any announcement about it. It probably will be used extensively in the Pacific theatre, he said, because of its long flying range.

Witnesses said the flames spread quickly through the hotel and guests were able to escape in only light attire.

Firemen said it might be days before they could ascertain for certain whether anyone had been trapped.

Ortona Is Costliest Fight For Canadian Troops Nazis Fight To The Death

Western Troops Bear Brunt Of Battle Against Tough Paratroopers
Hidden In Solid Houses Of Town

By WILLIAM STEWART—Canadian Press War Correspondent.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 21 (Delayed) — (CP).—Western troops of the Canadian 1st Division, overcoming frantically-resisting German paratroopers, have occupied the southeastern half of the Adriatic coast town of Ortona, gateway to the key port of Pescara which is 11 miles up the coast and terminus of an important highway to Rome.

These Canadians, who blasted their way Monday into the town, objective of the Canadians since they crossed the Moro River Dec. 8 occupied the southeastern section Tuesday after an all-day battle with the paratroopers. Established with machine-guns in the solid buildings, many Germans stuck to their guns until the last bullet was fired and the Canadians took only 10 prisoners.

With this encounter the Ortona battle drew to a bloody climax, although it was expected to go for another day at least until the enemy suddenly retired. It would end the bitterest, costliest two weeks for the Canadians since they invaded Italy Sept. 9.

The Westerners (presumably men from the Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver, the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry and the Loyal Edmonton Regiment named by Ross Munro, Canadian Press War Correspondent in London, as taking part in the Ortona street fighting) gradually drove the Germans toward the northwestern exit on the coastal road to Pescara.

Meantime, the Allies were giving the German rear no rest. Fighters and fighter-bombers attacked anti-

16 Jap Planes Lost In Arawe Raid

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Dec. 23—(AP)—The Japanese have lost 16 more planes in their heaviest attacks so far on advancing United States forces at Arawe, New Britain.

Field commanders of troops which Allied headquarters said today were extending and consolidating positions past the beachhead seized Dec. 15 reported nearly 100 enemy divebombers and fighters in three attacks Tuesday caused only slight damage.

Fighters downed 12 divebombers and four fighters, and probably destroyed another divebomber and two fighters, the communique said.

It was the first return in force by Japanese aircraft since the early days of the United States 6th Army invasion.

The United States 5th Air Force returned the Japanese Arawe visit with another pounding of the enemy's Cape Gloucester airdrome and supply base on New Britain 60 miles northeast of Arawe. Nearly 100 heavy and medium bombers, divebombers and fighter planes, dropped 205 tons of explosives and strafed the area, starting many fires and damaging two coastal vessels.

The Australians on Huon peninsula pushed the Japanese farther north of the Masawang River, occupying Hubika, 15 miles northwest of the Allied coastal base of Finschhafen.

Catalina bombers sank a 6,000-ton enemy merchant ship and scored hits on another off Kavieng, New Ireland. A heavy bomber damaged a Japanese destroyer in that area.

United States destroyers demolished buildings and set fires in the Tinputs harbor area on the northeast coast of Bougainville Island, in the Solomons, in the first announced surface action against this supply base located in supposedly enemy-controlled waters.

U.S. Expects Heavy Losses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—The United States was jarred today by a warning from a highly-placed though anonymous source that tremendous American battle caualties might be expected in the next 90 days.

The warning was tossed into an off-the-record conversation with newspapermen by an official whose position makes him privy to many state secrets but who stipulated that he was not be quoted by name. He predicted that total United States war losses will mount three-fold in the next three months. That would boost the present 132,000 casualty toll

Clarence Wiseman, overseas director of the Salvation Army war services department, arrived home from the Italian front with news that Canadian soldiers in the vicinity of "Canada Town" (Campobasso) in Italy will have a good Christmas—but probably the strangest one of their lives.

Wiseman, who was in charge of the Canada Town version of London's popular Beaver Club, said the Christmas party will be held in a building that was used previously by a Fascist youth organization. He said the meal would be cooked by Italians with Canadian supervisors, and the entertainment will be provided by a travelling group of Italians who are practising "O Canada" specially for the event.

Sailors Take Over In Shipyard Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23—(AP)—Uniformed U.S. sailors were being used today to complete work on a Navy vessel after a war committee charged that C.I.O. machinists refused to touch the ship unless their pay was boosted.

The charge was made in a formal statement by the Pacific Coast joint committee for shipbuilding and ship repair, headed by Vice-admiral John W. Greenslade, commandant of the 12th Naval District.

The statement said Machinists' Union Local 1304, Oakland, demanded the basic $1.34 an hour ship repair rate, instead of $1.20 an hour paid on new construction, and that since Dec. 10 the machinists have refused to work on the vessel, designed for war duty.

Catholic Union Seeks New Legislation

QUEBEC, DEC. 23 (CP)—A delegation of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor today presented Premier Godbout and members of the Provincial Cabinet with a memorandum containing suggestions for labor legislation to be submitted to the coming sessions of the legislature.

Following the meeting with the cabinet it was stated that the strike of white collar workers of the City of Montreal, was not discussed. Labor Minister Edgar Rochette, questioned by newsmen about the situation, said: "as the strikers will not accept the Arbitration Board I offered earlier this week, there is nothing to do."

The delegation of C.C.C.L., parent body of the National Syndicate of municipal workers, organizers of the Montreal strike, was headed by President Alfred Charpentier.

The memorandum to the government, read by general secretary Gerard Picard, stated that the C.C.C.L. agrees with liberty of Union affiliation "which does not imply a contradiction with freely approved closed shops, as long as they are sanctioned by a labor tribunal." It suggested that labor tribunals be easily accessible.

Students Present Christmas Program

GORE'S LANDING, Dec. 23—(ENS)—The annual Christmas concert put on by the pupils at S.S. No. 16 (Gore's Landing-Plainville) was held in the schoolhouse on Tuesday evening.

Rev. Lloyd Delaney was chairman and welcomed the audience in a brief address. Recitations were given by Bobby Gilpin; Viola Harris; Adrian Drayton, Robert Harris, Ronald Buttars; Helen Thackeray; Murray Eagleson. In the play "Santa Claus in Blunderland" Mrs. Meggs was accompanist for the various musical numbers. There were three acts with Garnet Thackeray as Santa Claus; Helen Thackeray as the dreamer and Joan Harris, the mayor of Blunderland, taking leading parts. All the children took part in the choruses and solos and a Rhythm Band gave a number with tin cans, horseshoes and other instruments beating time with the piano.

At the end, Santa Claus made his appearance and distributed gifts.

The program opened with Betty Jennings playing "Away in a Manger" as an organ solo; Ivan Lavender recited "Santa's Helper," followed by the hymn "O Come, all ye Faithful," sung by the girls of Mrs. W. D. Lavender's class; Jacqueline Leal recited "Jolly Bill"; Donald Davidson chose for a reading "Santa Claus is Almost Late"; and the girls of Miss Jennie Gray's class sang "Silent Night," after which Jean Mumby recited "A New Doll." The school sang "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing."

Then came the presentation of prizes to eight scholars for faithful attendance during the past year, the recipients being Gwendolyn Rundle, Audrey Lummiss, Dorothy Lummiss, Helen Lummiss, Glen Phillips, Bert Gray, Donald Davidson, and Ivan Lavender.

Before leaving each scholar received a bag of candy and an orange.

An Honour For Premier Drew

An unusual honour came to Premier George Drew, and through him to the Province of Ontario, on the 17th of this month when he was invited to speak to a private gathering of the members of the House of Lords and the Commons in London. Not many visiting statesmen are asked to address this great assembly; the British Houses of Parliament are very busy these days, and they have no time to listen to men from the dominions who have nothing to offer but pleasant generalities and compliments. Premier Drew, we are sure, gave them a solid fare in his speech, and presumably he devoted at least part of it to the tie which exists between Britain and Canada, a subject on which he is an enthusiast. We can be sure that he represented us well on this notable occasion, and increased the esteem in which the Parliament of the Mother Country holds this Dominion.

During the war many statesmen have been asked to speak to representative bodies outside their own country. Mr. Churchill has spoken to the assembled Houses of the United States, and also to the Parliament at Ottawa. Mr. Roosevelt has visited Canada and has spoken to our parliamentarians, although not exclusively to them. Mr. Eden has addressed the Canadian Parliament. This is a custom which, if observed moderately, should be of inestimable benefit in creating understanding and good feeling between friendly nations. It would be a pity, of course, if it became the custom for every visiting politician to speak to the legislators of the country he happened to be in: too many politicians have nothing of importance to say for that. But Premier Drew has plenty to say which is of interest and value to the legislators of Britain, and we are glad that they asked him to speak to them.

The Morning Carol Singers

We should like to say a word of praise for the carol singers of the Peterborough Outboard Marine Company, who give us fifteen minutes of Christmas music over CHEX every morning. The small choir sings well, the choice of music is good, and the whole thing has an air of genuine enjoyment about it which is pleasing and cheering to the hearer. We hope that the venture which has been so well begun this year will be continued in the future.

As a great musician put it almost four hundred years ago: "The exercise of singing is delightful to nature, and good to preserve the health of man. It doth strengthen all parts of the breast, and doth open the pipes." We cannot think of a better way of beginning a day's work than by singing for fifteen minutes. And when the singing gives pleasure to others, even though they are invisible, what a benefit is conferred! The choir at the Marine Company is doing a real service, not only to themselves, but to anyone who cares to listen.

Our Home War Establishment

How much do you know about Canada's Home War Establishment? Not very much, probably, unless you happen to have a friend or a relative in that quiet branch of the R.C.A.F. This is what the Hon. C. G. Power, the Air Minister, has to say about it: "I have always, when mentioning the home war establishment, endeavoured to pay my tribute to the pilots and other aircrew employed on this most forlorn, most lonely and most unglamorous, if I may use that word, of duties. Day after day they go far out to sea in all kinds of weather. There is little glory, little renown and, perhaps, very little credit given them, but I think the House should know that they are carrying on a very important work for the defence of Canada and the Empire". This is the service which keeps a constant watch along our coasts for submarines, or for anything of an unusual and menacing nature. It is usually dull work, but it has to be done; in praising our forces we should never forget the men who do the dull and necessary work.

The form of sentry duty which the home establishment performs not only protects our shores; it helps also in keeping the seas open for the transport of troops, supplies of war, and the food which is so important to our allies. This work is carried on in every kind of horrible weather, from stations which are lonely and distant from any of the distractions of civilization. The men in this service are not the second-raters, the rejects of the R.C.A.F.; they are excellent pilots, gunners and mechanics, and there is not one of them who would not prefer a more active theatre of war. But their job is on the coasts of Canada, and when that service provides a little excitement they know that they are not being wasted. Some of them, it is true, have already seen more exciting service; of the 10 members of the R.C.A.F. who wear the D.S.O., two are in the Home War Establishment, and some of them are veterans of the Battle of Britain. And for those who have gone to H.W.E. direct from their training there is always the comforting knowledge that they may be posted to overseas service any day.

Last spring the Air Minister told the Commons: "The year 1943 is expected to see a very pronounced increase in U-boat activity in the west Atlantic. To meet this menace the R.C.A.F. anticipates an overall increase of nearly 100 per cent. in aircraft, aircrew and hours flown". That meant heavy work for the H.W.E., for in 1942 it had carried out more than 1,900 patrols, flying some 25,980 hours. Perhaps it will not be long before the Minister tells us what this has meant to the men in H.W.E.

The 'Internationale' Goes

Moscow radio has announced that the U.S.S.R. is going to supplant the Internationale with a national anthem more in keeping with the spirit of the Soviet States. We are happy about this for a number of reasons. First of all, the Internationale was a somewhat menacing song, beginning

Arise, ye prisoners of starvation
Arise, ye wretched of the earth, and the present-day Russians are, unless we are grossly misinformed, neither starving nor wretched, but exceedingly vigorous and full of beans. Also, the Internationale had international significances which were decidedly impolite toward the non-communist world, and were directly contrary to the new spirit which exists between Russia and the democracies. And finally, the Internationale was the poorest national song, considered as words and music, that could well be imagined; the verses were soap-box rant, and the music would have disgraced a hurdy-gurdy; it was too long and too depressing to be useful as the national anthem of a fighting and progressive people. What the tune of the new anthem will be like we do not know, but we presume that it has been chosen for its enspiriting and wearing qualities.

A national anthem takes a lot of hard wear. It is sung in times of exaltation and in times of national stress. It is sung on occasions when no special national feeling of any kind inspires it. Many people have to hear it every day, year in and year out. Consequently the words and the music have to be of indestructible quality. In God Save the King the British peoples have a gem, and many other nations have borrowed the tune and have claimed it as their own. It is not a tune which will set the world on fire, but it never sounds cheap or shoddy, it is not too long, and it can be made to express a variety of moods. If Russia can find something as good for her new anthem she will be doing well.

Early Settlers In Smith

By
E. S. C.

AT the present time when a great deal of discussion is being carried on in regard to the settlement of British and European people in Canada, it is interesting to look back one hundred years and more ago and obtain a picture of the difficulties and hardships experienced by the first settlers of the Peterborough district. Many of these early settlers came out to this country unassisted financially by any government agency and hewed their homes out of the virgin forest. Such, for instance, was the experience of those who took up land in the Township of Smith, one hundred and twenty-two years ago. It was at that time the Waltons, Dixons, Lees, Milburns and Smiths settled in the township, which no doubt, was named after the latter family. The settlement, a few miles out of the present city of Peterborough, was that time, in fact, known as Smith's Town.

AND those early settlers had a grievance against the British Government. It would appear they were obliged to deposit certain monies with the Colonial Office before sailing, no doubt as a guarantee that they would not be a charge on the Government upon arrival in Canada. The monies were to be returned to them after they had become established, but evidently the Colonial Office was in no hurry to refund the amounts that had been deposited in England. So on January 25, 1821, after two years of patient waiting, a petition was sent to Major Hillier, Secretary to the Lieutenant Governor at York asking that the matter be taken up with the British Government and have the monies refunded.

THE petition reads as follows:

Smith's Town, Jany. 25, 1821.

Sir:

We, the undersigned, lately from Alston Moor, and that vicinity, in England and now settlers in the Township of Smith in the District of Newcastle and who came out to this country under the appellation of Thos. Milburne's colony having waited for a great length of time, far beyond the period promised to us, for the repayment of the money severally deposited by us in the Office of the Right Honble. Earl Bathurst in London, beg leave again humbly to inquire what can be the reason why this money is not paid back again to us according to the stipulation made with Government at home. Many of us are much in want of this money and it would be of essential service to all besides being the means of very materially benefitting the Township in which we reside. Such a length of time has now elapsed, upwards of 2 years, that we begin to be seriously uneasy for the fate of what is of most material consequence to us. We therefore, with all humility, beg to know when some of our members may go to York with the certainty of receiving our money.

The family names of Milburn, Walton and Dixon particularly have long been associated with the social, agricultural and municipal life of Smith Township, and it is interesting to note they were of English stock, a type of early settler who, with their descendents, have done their part in maintaining our connection with the Crown and the British Commonwealth.

A Partial List

I am always happy in Scotland. I love the cottage children with their soft accent and shy hung heads, the Scottish guards and porters, who make me so welcome and never make me feel I am only a "foreigner," as they do the entirely English—which I really am, if they only knew it—and, most of all, I love the wide, open moorland....

Yesterday I went for a long drive....I left my guests to amuse themselves, and motored for nineteen miles over rough countryside. It was a wild, lonely stretch of moorland. On either side the hills rose majestically, great hills, vast and serene, their sides dotted with heavy grey stones, like the montrous playthings of past-time giants. Dark clouds hung brooding overhead, casting grey shadows into green depths, and the air was filled with soundless sounds, a faint undercurrent of delicate humming as of bees and wind in distant heather. Above all the loneliness was the ineffable sweetness of this semi-silence....

Also I have within me a well-spring of gratitude for the lovely things that have been given to me free.

As I write these words, late in December, the wood-pigeon is still murmuring now and again his love song—and the rising sun is dispelling the darkness and mist of a cold and cheerless dawn. I love these free things: the winter sunset that glorifies an otherwise grey world; the ineffable beauty of leafless trees; the crisp sweet air and the acrid smell of somebody's bonfire. I love the wind in the heather on the Scottish moors, and the hum of bees gathering the heather honey, the sound of peewits sweeping across the sky, the flying spray from a turbulent sea, the first gay daffodils, still half hidden in the grass, and the wet soft wind in a gay spring wood. I could add and add to the list.—From "My Scottish Husband," by Lady Neish. (New York: Dutton.)

Red Tape at the Border

Charles Lungrin Shaw, writing in the November "Mining World," comments on the fact that for generations we have boasted both in the United States and Canada of the "imaginary boundary" that separates the two countries and asks if it is not time that our immigration restrictions have all but made a mockery of this often-quoted and high-sounding phrase.

In recent months, so this magazine contends, new mysteries, complications and confusions of border crossing have been introduced. It is viewed as "almost incredible" that such conditions as actually exist should be considered necessary, even in war time.

"Difficulties put in the way of intending travellers, especially from Canada to the United States, are little short of fantastic," in the opinion of this writer.

There is little evidence to support the theory that the U.S. and Canada will become one, but there also is little reason to jeopardize the splendid relations that exist between their people and their governments, by over-zealous protection at their borders.—Walla Walla (Wash.) Union-Bulletin.

One Boy's Memories

NEXT I begin to recall creeping downstairs by candlelight very early of a Christmas morning, to gaze spellbound at the presents spilling over the top of a pair of small pants, sewed up at the bottom of the legs, which I was encouraged to hang up as of more adequate capacity than a mere stocking. Following one of these Christmas mornings I began, and continued for years, to be awakened by the sound of music. Not by the notes of lute and recorder which Montagne's father, from a conviction of their salutary effect on character, provided to arouse his little Michel, but by an unique alarm clock which, instead of a buzzing bell, had a music-box attachment that, at the appointed hour, emitted a merry if rather tinkling tune.

My completest memories, those most closely interwoven with the fabric of my life, are of the reading of books. I cannot remember when I first mastered the art of using my eyes to create in my own mind, from black marks on white paper, the excitement and infinite wonder of the world. At five I went for a time to a Dame School kept by Miss Marion Chitty, who remembered Great-aunt Amanda's domestic modernism. After that, schooling was irregular and memory of it a blank. It is reliably reported that at eight I went to my mother, saying with obvious sincerity:

"I feel the charm that draws two beings together by delicious sympathies, making it happiness to be with each other, but misery to be apart."

On being queried as to where on earth I got that, I replied with a priggish precision, perhaps with the pride in timely quotation which sometimes leads to the overdoing of it:

"The Alhambra, by Washington Irving, Page one hundred and thirty-four."—From "Under the Bridge: An Autobiography," by Ferris Greenslet. (Boston: Houghton Mifflin.)

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married eleven years, but for the past five years my wife and I have been living apart. I am now in the service and the women I have met and the things I have seen have made me realize what an angel I had for a wife. I would murder the man who would mistreat her as I have.

I have tried to tell her how much I love her and how I repent my past conduct, but she says that she could never be a wife to me again as she has ceased to love me and does love someone else. This man has done so much to make her happy and they want to be married. She blames no one for our marriage being a failure, but insists that we married too young.

Our religion forbids divorce, and as she is the only support of her invalid mother she has agreed to let things remains as they are for a time. She offers a prayer every week for my safe return, but my prayer is to die so that she will be free to marry the man who can make her happy.

SOLDIER.

ANSWER: Few sadder letters have ever come to this column than this one, because it voices the futile regret of those who have had a priceless treasure in their hands and thrown it away, and who only after it was gone realized its value.

And there are so many of them. So many shabby, down-and-out people, cadging a living off of their families, who would have been prosperous and successful and respected if only they had not let all the opportunities of their youth slip past them. So many bitter and lonely people who might have had friends and companionship if only they had bound those about them to their hearts with little acts of kindliness and unselfishness. So many parents who have driven their children from them by their harshness. So many homes that wrecked as carelessly as a child knocks down a house of blocks.

And saddest of all human tragedies is the one that we see happening about us every day, husbands and wives wantonly wrecking their marriages. They know that there is no other earthly happiness so satisfying as the companionship of the man and women who love, trust and respect each other and who share every joy and sorrow. They know that nowhere is such contentment to be found as in a peaceful home, and that no other effort brings such rewards as keeping the home fires burning.

Every marriage should have the old story book ending "and they lived happily everafter." But, instead of this happening, one marriage out of every six ends in divorce, and how many others are just a long drawnout misery, only the Recording Angel, who keeps track of our follies and weaknesses, knows.

Perhaps the husband gets a little fed up with domesticity and takes a roaming. Or he thinks that home is a place where a man is free to give rein to his temper, and his grouchiness, and has the privilege of saying things to his wife that he would not dare to say to any other woman.

Or maybe it is the wife who thinks that marriage gives her the right to go slouchy and eat onions, or to nag and fret, or perhaps to do a little philandering on her own account. But between them they pull down their house of happiness over their heads. They kill love. They throw their happiness to the winds, and when it is too late they repent their folly.

But they can't undo what they have done. You can't make the vase you have broken whole and beautiful again. You can no more revive a dead love than you can breathe life into a corpse. And that's the heartbreak of it.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a married couple in our early thirties and have been very happy together. Our only trouble is that we cannot have any children of our own, and as we both love children very much I have suggested that we adopt a baby, but my husband is adament in his refusal to take anyone else's child. This has caused many tears and much heartache on my part as I want a baby more than anything else in the world.

Is there anything I can do to change my husband's point of view, since it is only the fact that he would not be the father of the child that prevents us from adopting one and bringing sunshine and happiness into our lives?

SAD BUT HOPEFUL

ANSWER: Why don't you offer your husband a compromise? Tell him that you know you are making yourself a grief to him by your continual arguing with him on the baby proposition, and that you suggest that you take a baby on probation, so to speak, for six months. If at the end of that time he is not willing to adopt the child, you agree to give it up, and drop the subject.

Inasmuch as he is fond of children, the chances are largely in favour of your winning out, because babies are cunning little creatures who have a very subtle way of tangling their tiny hands in our heartstrings.

If, however, on the other hand, he still isn't willing to take someone else's child to rear, get a grip on yourself and do not let your baby mania wreck your whole life. A baby in the house may be a wellspring of joy, as the old proverb says, but a husband is also a desirable adjunct in one. Don't forget that.

Just now when there are so many thousands of war babies being born, whose mothers will be unable to take care of them, offers a large choice for anyone looking for a child to adopt. These babies, the children of young and strong parents, should at least be healthy, and certainly no one could do a more patriotic duty than to take one and give it a name and a home and a conscientious rearing.

Dieppe Made Salerno Easier

Canadians have heard from so many quarters, so often, that Dieppe was a failure and a disaster that many had accepted the statement as fact. It was a bitter acceptance for those who lost relatives in that action, and for those who still await the return of men taken prisoner there. Their feelings may be soothed to some extent, however, by the news recently that the raid on Dieppe saved hundreds of Allied lives in the assault from North Africa. L. S. B. Shapiro, Montreal war correspondent recently returned from Italy, said that the Salerno beachhead victory, one of the hardest-fought actions of the war, was made possible through the lessons learned at Dieppe.

Viewed from this angle, the Dieppe raid takes its place as a mass training action, comparable to those systems now being used which involve live ammunition and other conditions of actual combat. There is a percentage of loss—but a far smaller one than if men were sent into combat without that experience. We can only mourn our dead at Dieppe, but the mourning will lose its bitterness with the knowledge that they were not wasted, that they did not die in vain, that their courage and sacrifice has led and will lead to many brilliant Allied victories. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

A Bible Message

O thou afflicted, tossed with tempest, and not comforted, behold, I will lay thy stones with fair colours, and lay thy foundations with sapphires. And I will make thy windows of agates, and thy gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders of pleasant stones. And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord; and great shall be the peace of thy children. (Isa. 54: 11-13.)

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. (Matt. 5: 6.)

Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat. Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it....

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7: 13, 14, 28, 29.)

Suicidal Economics

By raising a barrier of customs tariffs the United States created at home a gigantic industrial expansion of industrial production. But it created at the same time poverty in the countries which furnished it with raw materials and were at the same time its customers. Deprived of an international clientele, American industry was smothered by over-production. Whoever erects tariff barriers puts obstacles in the way of the entrance of foreign merchandise and at the same time arrests the spread of national products. It exposes a whole people to famine in the midst of abundance. That is what happened between 1929 and 1939 in the United States, in Canada and in most other countries.—Le Droit, Ottawa.

Springfield Plan

Let the Mayor get on with establishing here, not only in Little Harlem, but throughout the city, the Springfield Plan for combatting racial antagonisms. It is a simple plan. It is designed to let the schools confirm for children what they already instinctively know—that the colour of a companion's skin or his national or religious derivation doesn't make any difference in his quality as a person and a friend. It teaches the children the simple facts of all the racial and religious strains which have gone into making this country a good place to live in, and an American a good thing to be. It recognizes that children usually become infected with prejudices and hatreds against other children from their parents and other outside influences. So it works with them, too. And it works effectively. It has been tested in Springfield, Mass. — New York Post.

Why Not England?

Local tribunals are to be set up in Scotland to fix fair rents for furnished rooms. Here is a remedy for one of the most heartless ramps of the war. Why cannot it be applied to England and Wales as well? Scottish houses, it is reported, have been rented for £40 a year and sub-left, furnished, by rapacious tenants to bring in more than £230 a year. This is shocking—but no more scandalous than similar cases in almost any large town south of the border. There are two reasons why the proposed measure is not to be applied simultaneously to England. It is stated (1) that an inter-departmental committee is to inquire into the matter; (2) that in England people may secure a fair rent through the local authorities and the county court. No new committee is really required to establish the facts. They are attested by hundreds of sub-tenants who are paying extortionate rents to profiteers and are aware that they can get no redress through the local authority or anybody else. Why not take a tip from Scotland? — London Daily Mail.

BEAUTY BY THE HEARTH—One way of staying at home and liking it night after night is via the fashion route. Fireside fashions these times are likely to be more decorative and delightful than clothes designed for wear out-of-doors or away from the domestic hearth. Lange designs this very glamorous outfit, which he calls "Christmas Eve." The oriental looking trousers are of Trianon gray jersey, the blouse of citron lame. Twisted gold jewelry adds to the picturesque costume.

Pupils Enjoy Entertainment At St. Andrew's

A musical and dramatic program was presented in the Sunday School room of St. Andrew's Church at the annual Sunday School social meeting, held Wednesday evening. The evening's entertainment was preceded by a supper, provided by a committee of ladies as follows: Mrs. James Heffernan and Mrs. F. W. K. Harris; and the members of Mr. F. E. Kerr's adult class as follows: Mrs. A. Weir, Mrs. R. G. Allen, Miss Edith Ferguson, Mrs. T. C. Crozier, Mrs. P. Vass, Miss E. Preston.

After supper, some time was spent in the singing of Christmas carols and hymns, led by Miss Donnell Heffernan, with Miss Marion Cox at the piano. Rev. Dr. E. W. Young presided for the program, and there was a large attendance of parents of the young people, who had come to hear the program.

The program was as follows: the beginners and primary classes, "Shepherds Are We" and "Away in a Manger"; Miss Ellen Murphy's class, recitations by John Hewitt, Barbara Harrison and Sylvia Brethour, a solo by Joe Matthews and a duet by Joan Hillier and Marilyn Cullen. In Miss Donnell Heffernan's class, a solo by Joyce Langton, "There's a Song in the Air," a duet, "We Three Kings," by Jean Crawford and Dorothy Watson, and a play, "First Christmas Night," were presented.

A solo by Marilyn Middleton and recitation by Marion Crawford, who are in Mrs. M. Fallis' class, was followed by the recitation of a hymn by the boys of Mr. C. W. Holman's class. Mr. A. Munro's class presented a sketch.

Fred Russel gave a recitation, and a group reading by Gordon Johnston's class was given. Miss Marion Cox, of Miss M. Rodney's class, played a piano solo, and Miss Mary Jane Wharry played two violin solos.

At the close of the program, Mr. C. W. Holman showed some humorous lantern slides, and gave a descriptive picture account of East Africa, where he spent several years.

Santa Claus paid a visit to the party, and distributed presents to the pupils in the Beginners' Division, of which Misses M. Emerson, Ailwyn Jones and Marion Chase are leaders and the primary division, of which Miss Betty Hughes is the superintendent.

A Christmas tree, beautifully decorated with electric lights, and colored streamers, was greatly admired. The decorations were the work of Dorothy and Marion Dewdney. Jean Crawford and Marion Crawford Gordon Johnston was property man and general helper for the program.

St. Andrew's WMS Meet at Church

A Christmas program was followed at the December meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church, held in the ladies' parlor. The program was taken from Missionary Monthly, with the subject, "The Light of the Knowledge of God," and Mrs. F. W. K. Harris and her group, who were in charge of the meeting, performed the candle-lighting ceremony.

The devotional part of the meeting began with studying the study book, which deals with the subject of "The Blessing of Health." Descriptive portions were read by various members. Mrs. C. Smith read about the mission hospitals and first-aid, Mrs. B. Mein told of hospital clinics, Mrs. B. Jones read about travelling clinics, Mrs. H. Porteous read a portion about public health and Mrs. A. Langton told about baby welfare. A portion of an article on health education was read by Mrs. Harris, and Mrs. R. Harrison read about medical supplies.

Mrs. C. M. Scott gave an interesting talk on the work in India, and Mrs. B. Fowler sang a lovely solo. Following the adjourning of the meeting, a lunch was served, and a social hour enjoyed.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, December 24

THE ASTRAL forces make for continued attention to the pursuit of pleasure with festivity, entertainment and the holiday spirit combining to vanquish all idea of serious or routine matters, although these would be moderately lively and successful if given attention. There may be lack of sound judgment, however, with an expansive tendency to indulge extravagantly and too generously.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of moderate progress and expansion, with the prospect of support from elders, superiors or employers, but a proclivity for indulgence, extravagance, reckless or erratic conduct, diverts from serious and ambitious engagements. The mentality may be keyed to excitement and pleasure and the impulses to lack of restraint or reason, perhaps to the peril of progress.

A child born on this day might enjoy a fairly productive life.

Heavy Traffic Spoils Chances Of Service Men

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 (CP)—Transport Minister Michaud said today he is hopeful Canadian civilians will respond to appeals made to them and avoid unnecessary travel on the trains around Christmas and the New Year.

"More members of the armed forces will be travelling this Christmas than last," the minister said in an interview with The Canadian Press. "And if there is not a corresponding drop in the number of civilians using the trains the railway companies will just not have enough equipment to handle them all."

The two railways were using all the coaches that could be made serviceable. They had planned to add new equipment during 1943 but scarcity of materials and manpower made it impossible.

The situation should be better in 1944, the minister said. Some plants which had been making munitions could switch back to some extent to making locomotives and freight cars. The Canadian National planned to add $25,000,000 worth of new equipment in 1944. And the Canadian Pacific was planning a similar program.

Long Wait

"It will be 15 months or more before they will begin making passenger coaches" the minister said, "because the demand for locomotives and freight cars is so urgent."

The railways had been doing a wonderful job and they were working to full capacity. Complaints had come to the minister of people being left on station platforms because there was no room aboard the trains. Fortunately this had not happened often; but unless civilians as far as possible avoided travelling during the coming holidays such situations might frequently occur.

"We have stopped the use of all railway passes during the holidays, except those of members of parliament and senators," the minister said. "Passes to members and senators are provided by statute and we did not feel we should change a statute by order-in-council."

Expressing Our Thanks

THE food business has faced—will continue to face—great and critical problems brought about by the war. As a major factor in the food industry, General Foods, Limited has had a large measure of responsibility and many problems.

That we have been reasonably successful in distributing our products fairly is not due to our efforts alone. We have had the invaluable help of understanding and patience from the grocery trade and from the public.

May we take this opportunity of thanking and applauding the Canadian housewife. Cheerfully, wisely, efficiently, she has met the thousand and one problems of the home. She has kept her family well-nourished in the face of food scarcities, difficult shopping, swing shift and night shift meals.

And our thanks, also, to the wholesale and retail grocers. Shortages of goods and of help have made it difficult for them to keep their businesses running smoothly. They have had difficulty getting certain products for you—including some of ours.

We would not miss this opportunity of also expressing our appreciation of the loyalty of the large group of General Foods employees who have worked untiringly and faithfully to help overcome our problems. To those of our employees who are serving in the armed forces we extend hearty greetings and look forward to their early return.

Along with our thanks for help in the year past, we ask from public and trade, continued patience with the shortage of some of our products. To all we wish as much happiness as possible . . . and a much brighter future, soon.

Detroit Wants Armstrong Centre Player

By VERN DeGEER
Sports Editor.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings continue to set the pace in National Hockey League marketing activities these days, with Jack Adams regarded as the most likely bargainer to succeed at an early date.

Can't Get Bouvrette.

Hap Day arrived home from Boston early Wednesday evening to learn that a bid for the services of goal-tender Lionel Bouvrette of the Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior League had been stymied.

In answer to a contract offer from the Leafs, Bouvrette messaged Day that he was "frozen" to a vital war-plant job in the Quebec City shipyards and consequently ineligible for border crossing privileges. Day might have pointed out to Bouvrette, regarded as one of the best goalies in Eastern Canada this season, that a number of Canadiens engaged in war work were able to arrange U.S. road trips satisfactorily, but said, "Well, that lets him out."

Dtroit's marketing promised to be more successful. The Wings are reported to be talking contract terms with Murray Armstrong, the former Syracuse, Leafs and Americans centre. Armstrong has just been given a medical discharge from his Canadian Army unit at Saskatoon. He had been commissioned as a lieutenant last September.

Last winter Armstrong was playing-coach of the Regina Army team that reached the Western Canada senior hockey finals against Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Armstrong and Don Metz of the Leafs were the only experienced pros with the Regina club, which, with a roster of only 10 players, made an impressive showing against all-star service opponents. Armstrong was named the most valuable player of the Saskatchewan senior league.

Snatched from Lester.

Al Ritchie, Western Canada talent slouth for Lester Patrick, shooed Armstrong to New York in 1935-36 with the Rovers. He was played on the reserve list of Philadelphia Ramblers as a "hidden asset" spotted by the eagle-eyed Conn Smythe and promptly drafted. Much, of course, to the chagrin of Monsieur Lestaire.

Armstrong never lived up to Smythe's expectations, and after commuting between Syracuse and Leafs (most of the time at Syracuse) for two seasons was dealt off to Red Dutton's suffering Americans.

With Amerks in 1939-40 Armstrong was an outstanding performer, ninth in the N.H.L. scoring caravan. His play fell off the next two seasons. Armstrong blamed the slump on a spine injury.

The Army called Armstrong in the fall of 1942 about the time the Brooklyn Amerks vanished from the hockey scenery. In the distribution of Amerk players, Armstrong was awarded to Detroit.

They will play in the world championship professional league playoff game against the Washington Redskins Sunday, however, because they are now on their three-week furlough, Brizzodara said.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Members of the Corvettes and the Westclox teams of the Ladies' City Five Pin League did quite well by themselves in the annual Christmas turkey roll which was held this week. No fewer than three members of the Corvette team, Jean Hare, Ruth Pearce and V. Watson were prize-winners while Marg Hawthorne and Mark Selkirk of the Westclox team carried off a chicken. The only other winner was B. Goldie of Outboard Marines. In addition to the Westclox success in the chicken roll Isobel Bullock of the same club shared with F. Margueratt of Outboard Marines the honor of winning the blind score prize. The blind score was 628 and the former rolled 610 and the latter 646. There will be no bowling in the league next Monday but the schedule will be resumed on the following Monday, January 3. So far the loop has had a fine season, with keen competition and some decidedly high scoring and there promises to be plenty of hard-fought contests before the honors are finally decided.

* * * * * *

Our old friend John Adams of the Detroit Red Wings must have had a tough time at Chicago last night trying to conjure up the Christmas spirit as he watched his hirelings take a shellacking at the hands of the Black Hawks. The Wings, using a new goalie, Hal Lumley from the Indianapolis farm, managed to keep the score down in the first two periods, Black Hawks getting a single goal in each session but in the final 20 minutes the Chicago crew stormed in around the Detroit goal so effectively that they rattled five goals past the rookie net guardian while the best the Adams' brigade could produce in the way of a reply was a goal by Don Grosso. Chicago tightened their hold on fourth place in the group race by their victory.

* * * * * *

Some New Records

The American League saw, strangely enough, the record for hitting into the most double plays in a season and the mark for hitting into the least number of twin killings both beaten during the last campaign. Jim Bloodworth of Detroit was the unlucky individual who walked out to the plate the most with comrades in a scoring position and promptly found himself involved in a double play, Bloodworth did the trick 29 times, six more than the old mark which was 23 for a season. On the other hand Tony Lupien, first baseman of the Boston Red Sox set a new American League record for the fewest times hitting into infield double plays for a season of 150 or more games. Lupien only had that embarrassment three times in the whole season. The old record in that department was five. So far as clubs are concerned Detroit set a new record for hitting into the most double plays, having 159 executed against them, the highest number ever registered in either loop, while on the contrary the Cleveland Indians only hit into twin killings 94 times during the season, a feat that tied the American League record for the fewest times hitting into double plays.

* * * * * *

Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers was one of the hitting heroes in a season that was on the whole marked by light batting. Capping a fine year which saw him capture the home run championship with 34 circuit clouts, the big York took the coveted runs batted in title by driving 118 runs across the plate. It was the fifth season in eight that Rudy passed the 100 mark in runs batted in, his peak performance being in 1940 when he drove in 134 runs to lead the Tigers to the pennant. York was eleven up on the runner-up in that department during the past season who happened to be Nick Etten of the New York Yankees. Etten drove in 106 runs, the first time in five seasons under the main top in which he was successful in supplying transportation for 100 or more markers. York and Etten were the only two American Leaguers whose runs batted in total ran into three figures. Bill Johnson, rookie third baseman of the New York Yankees who supplied the driving power that sent in 94 counters was third. In 1942 there were five American League players who drove in 100 or more runs as against the two who were able to perform the trick during the past season. Tops was Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox who drove in 137 runs, nineteen more than Rudy York hammered home during the last campaign.

It's Bound To Come

Joe Ryan, former western newspaperman and manager of the Winnipeg Bombers for several years has been making some pertinent comments on the trend in Canadian football. Writing to Eddie Armstrong of the Winnipeg Free Press Ryan says: "An interesting feature of the season just past was a swing of sentiment among both eastern coaches and fans toward extension of the interference zones. Both Warren Stevens and Lou Hayman (and they carry a lot of weight in these parts) are lately on record in the public prints as in favor of the 10-yard interference zone. Ottawa, Montreal, and I believe Hamilton, as well as all western high schools, have now been using extended interference for several years. The fans, players and coaches are enthusiastic about it. Just recently the Montreal schools decided to adopt the the American code in toto next year. That, we feel, is a mistake, as our game has many features I would hate to see dropped in favor of the American game. But as long as the rules commission refuses to see the light they can shoulder the responsibility."

* * * * * *

"The present rules will perforce remain for the duration, but when this more important ball game is over yours truly, for one, is serving notice that we intend to start that rules argument right where we left off," Ryan goes on. "We saw a lot of eastern football this year and it left us more and more convinced that improved line play, have and will continue to hog-tie the once famed eastern end run as a ground gainer, and that in order to open up the running game the moguls will have to open up the interference rules. Also the die-hard opposition to running interference is going to have a hard time trying to substantiate their ancient argument that extended blocking would send the football youth of the land to the hospitals in scores. The experience of the high schools has been, if anything, just the opposite."

Here and There in Sport

Amos Alonzo Stagg, "old man football" of the U.S. gridiron sport, was accorded The Associated Press vote among 77 sports writers as the outstanding sports comeback figure of the year, earning a total of 65 points against the 60 extended to Miss Patty Berg who had captured the Women's U.S. Western Open golf championship after recovering from a serious automobile accident. The vote went to Stagg because he had been rated "too old" to continue as coach of University of Chicago a decade ago, only to field a team for College of the Pacific last fall which went places until war's requirements riddled the squad.

Thirty-eight points, good for third place in the honor standing, went to Bronko Nagurski, pro footballer who came out of long retirement to spark the Chicago Bears in their ascent to the western division title of the National Football League.

The presidency of Empire City Association has been offered to Col. Matt Winn, director of the Kentucky Derby for many years, it was announced at New York yesterday. Winn, who is vice-president of Laurel track in Maryland, has not yet replied to the offer.

A coroner's jury at Chicago yesterday rendered a verdict of accidental death in the case of Al Reasoner, 23-year-old boxer, who collapsed after a 10-round bout Monday night with Freddy Dawson of Chicago. Death was said to have resulted from cerebral hemorrhage and a kidney hemorrhage, complicated by a fracture rib.

2 Horses Killed

In two accidents, 15 minutes apart, at Fair Grounds track, New Orleans yesterday, two horses were killed and four jockeys slightly injured in collisions with yearlings training on the track. The killed horses were Mrs. H. P. Bonner's White Bait and Robert McKeever's Ellen's Chance.

After playing with New York Rangers early in the season, Defenceman Tommy Dewar, 32, has returned to Moose Jaw to play the remainder of the winter with Moose Jaw Victorias in the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League.

Boxing Revenue Sets New Record

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 — (AP).—For the year's fanciest job of getting "mileage" out of manpower with a $1,000,000 touch, take a look at Mike Jacobs, the fight promoter.

Using just 21 headline scrappers and one championship in 22 fight shows, Jacobs has come through the hottest financial year Madison Square Garden's boxing ever has enjoyed. Without the benefit of any titleholder over the lightweight class, he is about to close his books on a year that saw the largest average gates and crowds in the history of boxing in New York.

Topping even the 1942 mark, when two heavyweight title tussles featuring Joe Louis swelled the pot, the industry averaged a crowd of 14,637 and a gate of $51,646 at each fight this year. The average in 1942 was 13,228 customers and $40,333.

So far, the grand totals for this year are $1,136,2228 in gross gates and 322,021 in cash customers, that the attendance total will reach last year's 383,621 for 29 productions there's a chance that Uncle Mike; with one fight still to go, might skyrocket past 1942's all-time high gross receipts of $1,169,571. He needs only $33,443 on the December 29 card to do it.

Rapid Robert Feller was selected by the New York baseball writers for their annual award to the "player of the year", three years ago today. Feller richly deserved the recognition, during the 1940 season. He won 27 games while losing 11, struck out 261 men, and had opened the season for the Cleveland Indians with a no-hit, no-run game. Feller is now in the United States Navy.

NEW YORK, Dec 23 — (AP) — Bud Palmer, last season's Ivy League basketball scoring champion who's pacing the North Carolina Pre-Flighters now after getting in some groundwork at Union (N.Y.) College, always wanted to be a baseball player, but couldn't make the grade...."Played" shortstop in amateur ball," Bud explained, "and always seemed to make the last-inning error to lose the game. That is why I gave it up."

Bob Doerr Sets New American Record

CHICAGO, Dec. 23—(AP)—Paced by Bobby Doerr, who established a new American League record for consecutive chances accepted by a second baseman without error, the Boston Red Sox led the junior circuit in fielding last season, official figures showed today.

From May 20 to July 23 Doerr handled 349 chances flawlessly, surpassing by far the previous mark of 271 set by Oscar Melillo of St. Louis in 1933.

The Boston second sacker also topped all keystone guardians in the league with a fielding average of .990, handling 914 chances in 155 games and committing only nine errors. This figure fell just one short of Melillo's major league record of .991, established in 1933.

In gaining fielding leadership the Red Sox made 153 bobbles in 6,323 chances, one more error than committed by St. Louis Browns, who tied with Cleveland for second place with a mark of .975.

The Browns' rookie outfielder, Milton Byrnes, topped all gardeners with a .997 average, which eclipsed the old record of .99593, set by Dick Porter of Cleveland in 1933. Byrnes, playing in 14 games, made only one error.

Joe Kuhel of the Chicago White Sox, and Mickey Rocco, Cleveland rookie, tied for top honors among first basemen with a .995 mark, while Manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland led shortstops with an average of .970. Boudreau also established a new league record for shortstops participating in double plays, figuring in 122. The old mark was 120, held by Frank Crosetti of New York.

Third basemen were led by Eddie Mayo of Philadelphia, who was released late in the season. He fielded at a .976 clip, although the Yankees' star rookie, Bill Johnson, handled the most chances, 527.

Lowly Rangers Seek 3rd Straight Win

By The Canadian Press

Tonight will be a big night at Detroit for the Red Wings but it will be a bigger one for the lowly New York Rangers who have won only two games in 17 starts this season.

The Rangers will be after their third straight win.

Now they face Wings again, this time on foreign ice. But if Bucko McDonald stands up against the opposing numbers the way he did at their previous meeting, Rangers stand a good chance.

Last night Black Hawks showed the way to a possible Ranger win by soundly thrashing Red Wings 7-1 at Chicago. Detroit showed a definite lack of scoring punch, and they failed to provide their new goalie—Harry Lumley of Indianapolis—with much protection.

Big Earl Seibert scored the first Chicago goal in the opening period and rookie Vic Heylinger added another in the second.

In the final period, Doug Bentley started the scoring at 2:26. Clint Smith counted on a fine passing network by Billie Mosienko and Bentley at 10:19 to signal a scoring spree which added up to three goals in a minute and a half.

Passes by Cully Dahlstrom and Mush March set up Jack Dyte's marker 20 seconds later, and then Dahlstrom tallied with Allen and Virg Johnson assisting.

Don Grosso's shot made the 6-1 margin before Bentley got his second and Chicago's seventh— goal of the night on Smith's and Mosienko's help at 16:52.

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP). — Promotion of hockey is enjoying huge success in Quebec Province under guidance of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association and Registrar Alphonse Therien estimates this season's registration will exceed 9,000 players and top Ontario for the first time in history.

Chiefly responsible for the large registration, almost double that of last season, is the work of the former Canadiens hockey star Georges Mantha, directing playground groups for the City of Montreal. Mantha has organized all the youngsters playing in city parks under the Q.A.H.A. wing.

A great booster for youngsters in sport, Therien has a proposal worthy of consideration by Montreal city fathers. Instead of putting all their funds into outdoor rinks, Therien suggests four or five covered rinks be built in each section of Greater Montreal. The rinks could be used for various gatherings in summer and for hockey in winter with scheduled hours given to schools and playground groups under proper supervision.

St. Mike's have a big following.

Hornets Upset Hershey Bears

By The Canadian Press

Hershey Bears — leaders of the American Hockey League—suffered one of their biggest setbacks of the season last night when the cellar-dwelling Pittsburg Hornets gave them a 6-2 lacing. Providence Reds and Indianapolis Capitals battled to a 3-3 tie in the circuit's only other game.

Right Winger Wendell Jamieson scored three goals for Pittsburg in the final period after Tony Hemmerling banged in two counters in the second period. Defenceman Chuck Shannon accounted for the other tally late in the second.

Hershey's Gaston Gauthier scored in the first round on a pass from Captain Wally Kilrea, and Bill Hudson added their second counter at 18.58 in the final after Jamieson's three-goal outburst.

In the Reds-Capital encounter Alex Ritson added the final tally for Indianapolis just two seconds before the whistle blew to end the game. Johnny Sorrell scored their second goal at 11.11 in the same round.

Hec Jozzo took Reds' first goal just 23 seconds after the start of the game, and at 10.38 Bullie Sherritt retaliated for Caps. In the second period Reds added their other two counters, one by Hal Cooper and the other by Jack Tousin

Kingston Army Regains Top Position

By The Canadian Press

Kingston Frontenac Army returned to the top of the standing in the senior series of the Ontario Hockey Association with a narrow 5-4 victory over Toronto R.C.A.F. last night on Kingston ice, snatching their eighth win of the season by coming from behind in the final period of the see-saw engagement with Fliers. The Soldiers now lead Hamilton Majors by a lone point. The Hamiltonians having registered seven successes and tied another game for a total of 15 points against Kingston's 16. In the other encounter of the evening at St. Catharines, the Saints took a 10-4 victory over Toronto Navy, thus raising their points' total to 12 in third place. Three behind Hamilton. The Sailors have taken only two games in 10 starts.

St. Catharines were well away with a 3-1 margin in the first period, on goals by Reynolds, Mundrick and McAtee, with Mann getting the one for the Tars. It was 6-3 at the close of the second frame and, after Buz Benson had counted for the Gobs, the Saints rammed home four more. Mundrick, McAtee and Mason each gathered two goals and the other scorers for the winners were Reynolds, Fritz, Adamson and Concessi. For the Navy, the goal-getters were Mann, Barlow, Thompson and Benson.

Rudy York Wins Two Ball Crowns

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 — (AP). — Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers a fellow who annually boosts his R.B.I. quota by sending himself across home plate with a liberal portion of home runs, won the 1943 American League runs-batted in title with 118, official averages showed today.

Hitting 19 less than Boston's Ted Williams did in taking the 1942 crown, York nevertheless was 11 ahead of Nick Etten of the New York Yankees, who grabbed runner-up honors with 107 R.B.I.'s. Those two players, incidentally, were the only ones to top the 100 level, whereas five did so last year.

York, who also won the home run championship with 34, marked this down as the fifth time in his eight major league seasons that he had topped the 100 R.B.I. level although his 1943 quota was considerably under his own high of 134 made for the 1940 championship Detroit team. This was Etten's first time in five seasons in excess of 100.

Charley Keller of New York Yankees was top man in drawing bases on balls with 106— again far below the 1942 high set by Williams of 145—but the Yankee outfielder was in a class by himself as no other player reached the 100 level. Joe Gordon of the Yanks walked 98 times and Roy Cullenbine of Cleveland 96.

Only two players topped the 100 mark in strikeouts, Laabs fanning 105 times and Joe Hoover of Detroit 101 times.

Detroit players grounded isto a record total of 159 infield double plays and Washington tied the all time low of 94.

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 — (CP). — James Kenniston Paisley, 85, a former manager of the Central Canada Exhibition, one of the founders of the Connaugh Jockey Club, and one-time proprietor of the old Grand Union Hotel, died on Tuesday within a few hours of his sister, Miss Jennie Paisley, 79, in the same hospital.

IS DEPUTY NOW—With the illness of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, it may be necessary for another British leader to assume at least part of Churchill's duties. Clement Atlee, above, is now deputy prime minister and may assume some of the prime minister's functions temporarily.

HE LIKES HIS FUR-LINED—Able Seaman Chris Dowling, R.C.N.V.R., of Winnipeg and North Battleford, Sask., slides his fingers across the inside of a fur-lined jacket donated by the Women's Naval auxiliary of Winnipeg. What a gift for a cold Atlantic gale!

well past the 500,000 mark.

Hours after the remark was out, unofficial efforts were made to lessen its impact by persons who pointed out that it came from a civilian and had no military substantiation.

The statement itself—openly intended as a jolt to civilian complacency—did not necessarily imply an immediate invasion of Europe or any other large-scale military undertaking. But it recalled recent disclosures that a high-pressure building program now is under way to turn out landing craft of the type used for invasions.

The 90-day period would leave two obvious possibilities: a winter rise in the pace of battle, or a springtime invasion with the Allies prepared to suffer terrific losses in the first lightning strokes.

their gun guns within range of Vitebsk, less than 15 miles away. Red Army columns fanned westward to within 20 miles of Polotsk, another key point in the German Baltic defences system.

Soviet ski troops played an important part in the Red Army's drive on Vitebsk, the war bulletin said, swinging in behind enemy lines and chopping defending units to pieces.

A Moscow radio commentator heard in London said the main defence line before Vitebsk—probably the most strongly-fortified German base on the entire front—had been cracked by Bagramian's army and that tanks and guns were pouring through the breach "like an avalanche."

Costliest Battle

aircraft posts and transport in the area of Tollo, about three miles back of the German lines on a secondary road paralleling the coastal road to Pescara, and Miglianica and Ripa, farther up the road from Tollo.

During the day there was little enemy shelling of the town, almost entirely deserted by its normal peacetime population of 9,000, but harassing machine-gun and mortar fire from an enemy position on high ground to the west swept along the main approach of the road from Orsogna, about 10 miles inland.

Tanks Effective

In the town, tanks silenced fire from a number of buildings with shells from their 74 mm. guns while anti-tank guns, brought up by the Westerners by nightfall Monday, were used to smash the houses in which the Germans were installed.

I walked to Ortona, which is perched on a shelf 200 feet above the sea, with a company of a Pacific Coast battalion (Seaforth Highlanders) that was going in Tuesday morning to join the fighting. Most of the men had been in their clothes for three weeks and some were bearded because there was no chance to shave.

A half-mile from the town, the sounds of battle could be heard and a little farther along the company was greeted by soldiers of another battalion digging slit trenches. Then they started in town but Sgt. Mirne Patriquin, a sapper from Moncton, N.B., warned us not to proceed farther north because enemy machine-guns covered a nearby corner. We entered from the southwest.

A few moments later a Bren gun began to stutter.

Lieut. P. R. V. Carr-Harris of Kingston, Ont., was talking to a few men around an armored scout car nearby and just beyond there was a Sherman tank, its crew watching smoke shells fired by another tank pass lazily over the tops of building.

I climbed to the tower of a building where I watched shells blast a big white house in which some Germans had taken up positions. Later I left and picked my way back along the same route.

Pick Top Liar

BURLINGTON, Wis., Dec. 23 — (AP)—Four officers of the Burlington Liars Club, Inc., gathered around a short wave radio set yesterday to listen to broadcasts from Tokyo and Berlin. They were, according to O. C. Hulet, originator of the club, "getting in shape to pick the 1943 champion liar—and boy there's nothing better than those Axis broadcasts to get us warmed up to our job."

Morrison Wins Great Battle In Parliament

By DOUG. HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 23 (CP) — Like a wounded little bear, Herbert Morrison stood before the House of Commons and growled and bit and grew sentimental and climbed over the newest and possibly the toughest obstacle in his turbulent political path.

This was the Mosley debate, the climax in parliament to an outbreak of feeling that had aroused the Trade Unions of Britain and the Empire to protest, drawing 30,000 to a demonstration in Trafalgar Square, moved workers through the country to a bubbling bitterness over the release of the sickly Fascist from jail.

This was the debate, and it was Morrison's.

Against the Home Secretary was mustered a minority of about 50 Labor members, a force whose approach was emasculated by the timid words of its spokesman. For when Rev. G. S. Woods got to his feet to move the amendment "regretting" the release of Sir Oswald Mosley he said, "This is no vote of censure. It does not suggest any lack of confidence in the government of Mr. Morrison."

To a House that had expected force, these were flabby words. The solemn hush was broken by a gale of laughter from the government benches.

The Home Secretary spoke with vehemence and emotion the House had seldom seen him turn loose. He stood forth as the champion of civil liberty; he offered to quit, threatened to if the House wished to draft new regulations detaining people on grounds of personal dislike or mob rule."

The House cheered Morrison and upheld him by 327 votes to 62.

Of those votes against him, the majority came from the ranks of Morrison's own Labor party. It was not the first time parliamentary Labor had split nor will it be the last. Of the views of just what it meant, there were these:

Manchester Guardian: "By no means could this Labor vote be regarded as threatening Mr. Morrison's position." The Guardian made the point that most of the Labor criticism outside the House had been couched in such terms as "regret" and "dissociate."

London Daily Mirror: "In securing this personal triumph, Mr. Morrison split the ranks of Labor so gravely the end cannot yet be forseen."

Cardiff Mail: "Mr. Morrison has emerged successfully and finally from the greatest crisis of his ministerial career."

To many the case looked like the biggest blow yet to the unity of a party which is finding unity under a coalition government difficult.

Barrymore's Dachshund Commits Suicide When Part In Opera Given To New Star

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23 (AP). — Gus, a dachshund who was the late John Barrymore's favorite pet, is dead.

John Decker, artist friend of Barrymore and custodian of Gus, said circumstances hint at the possibility of canine suicide, explaining:—

Annually Gus played a light opera role in which a woman carried him under her arm as she alighted from a cab. Gus loved it. He followed with his head the contortions of the orchestra leader. Spectators were convulsed.

This year Gus heard the producer say another dog had been cast in the role.

"Gus ambled out and a few minutes later was hit," Decker said. "He had never run in front of or after a car before."

Naval Officer Wins Tribute

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 (CP). — A 24-year-old Canadian naval officer who went without sleep for nearly 72 hours battling a gale and 60-mile-an-hour wind while towing an American rescue vessel in the Caribbean area has been cited by the United States Navy for an "outstanding feat of seamanship."

He is Lieut. John J. McLaughlin of Winnipeg, whose skill and devotion to duty were praised in a letter of commendation from the admiral, Gulf Sea frontiers.

McLaughlin was in command of a motor launch attached to a Canadian Fairmile flotilla, which was working with U.S. naval forces in the Caribbean. Third officer was Sub-Lt. Bob Graves of London, Ont.

The launch was assigned to accompany an American Diesel yacht carrying stores and the rescue craft gunner to the Cayman Islands. The storm rose after they had sailed from Key West, Fla., to La Fe, where they refuelled.

GORE'S LANDING, Dec. 23—(ENS)—Knitted articles turned in to the Red Cross convener, Mrs. Ames, for the last month included: 4 ditty bags; 16 pairs socks; 5 pair 27-inch seamen's socks; 1 sweater.

Meetings of the Red Cross members have been discontinued over the Christmas season and the next meeting will be held early in January when considerable knitted work and other materials are expected to be finished for this meeting.

Coast Attack Merely Practise Effort

VICTORIA, Dec. 23 — (CP). — R. W. Mayhew, Liberal member of parliament for Victoria said Monday he has received information unofficially that the shelling by a steamer off Vancouver Island on Saturday was arranged to permit a muster of service personnel and test alertness of coastal defences.

Mr. Mayhew said in a statement that due to conflicting reports concerning the shelling by the vessel of Canadian registry which caused a 24-hour alert he will ask the Defence Department for an official statement to clarify the situation.

He added he would not expect the department to issue a statement if release of the information would interfere with defence tactics on the Pacific coast.

Military authorities have declined to name the vessal which engaged in target practice and that threw shells within 100 yards of a military installation on Vancouver Island.

At a west coast Canadian port yesterday the master of the vessel generally suspected of being the one involved denied responsibility in connection with the shelling.

Meanwhile it was learned that members of the ship's crew responsible for the shelling will appear before a naval board of investigation.

Slugged Policeman Gets 15 Months

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP). — Convicted of wounding Constable Donald Black of the Toronto police force September 19, 1942, Harold McFadden, in a new trial was sentenced to 15 months and Ernest Raymond to two years less a day in reformatory, Tuesday.

The two were found guilty of beating Black, one hitting him a bottle and the other with the policeman's club. Howard Chard, now serving a sentence of three years for a similar offense, beat the officer with his fists. Both the officer and Chard were shot in the leg with bullets from Black's revolver.

The fire department reported two calls this morning caused by chimney fires. The first, at 7:45 a.m., occurred at the residence of W. R. Turner, while 15 minutes later the fire truck was called to the home of T. E. Barrie, 174 Wescott street. No damage was caused.

TURKEY SCRAMBLE.

"I never saw such a grasping and greedy crowd in all my life," said a professional man to the Examiner to-day in a comment on the mob scene at the Market Wednesday morning. At that he had missed the early stages, arriving between 9 and 10 o'clock.

SCHEDULES DISJOINTED.

Increasing holiday traffic on the C.N.R. through Peterborough went to work on the train schedules today, upsetting their orderly printed routine. The train from Belleville was more than an hour late leaving Peterborough for Lindsay, and the noon train from Toronto to Port Hope had not arrived at 1:10 p.m.

TRACTOR PLOWS.

Smith Falls has let a contract for snow removal from its sidewalks by tractor. The council "found it impossible" to get horses to haul the plows, and they expect the tractor power will be cheaper. Peterborough's council has talked of turning to tractors, but hesitated at the initial expense.

ALDERMANIC STIPENDS.

Remuneration of Ottawa aldermen is $500 a year, and one of the members of the city council has been suggesting that this honorarium be doubled. He would also raise the mayoral salary by $1,000 to $6,000, and each controller's by $500 to $3,000 a year. Peterborough's aldermen received $5.00 a meeting, but nothing for the committee meetings which run from five to ten a month. In the new year the council will meet bi-monthly.

2 Boys Rescue Stolen Present

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 23.—(AP). — Two 10-year-old boys, shopping for a Christmas present for the mother of one of them, bought a table cloth for $2.49.

They left the package on a counter while they looked around at other things that interest small boys. When they sought the package it was gone.

They saw a negress carrying a package that looked like theirs. "You take our package," they shouted.

The woman dropped the package and fled.

The boys went home and opened the gift. Instead of the tablecloth, they found a blouse, value $2.98. They took it back to the store, got a refund and bought another tablecloth for $2.49.

Net gain for sodas—49 cents.

CITY AND DISTRICT FUND SENDS CHRISTMAS DONATIONS TO LONDON — Above is pictured a copy of the cable which advised the Lord Mayor of London of the special gift of £1,000 for Christmas to give aid to air raid victims, besides £600 for the Children's Christmas Cheer Fund. This is the largest single donation to be ever cabled over by the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, and is £100 greater than the special objective aimed at for this purpose. (Cripps' Studio Photo)

Christmas Fund Goes Over The Top Extra Gift Is Sent Children

There is every reason to believe that a great many people in this city and district are going to be very happy and thankful over this Christmas season, for large numbers have and are still contributing towards the local and district fund that has been aiming particularly at shedding a ray of sunshine and good cheer for Christmas, into the lives of those in the British Isles, who have been afflicted through enemy air attacks.

With pride in the city and district's achievement, coupled with a sincere appreciation and thanks to all who have assisted, the fund management announces that not only has the objective set at £1,000 for the Christmas Fund, and £500 for the Children's Christmas Fund been raised, but an additional £100 was able to be added to the gift for the children, thus making a total of £1,600 cabled, the biggest achievement of its kind that has taken place in the history of the fund, and required the sum of $7,167 in Canadian currency.

This makes a grand total of £15,700 that has been sent on its mission of mercy from the residents of this city and district, and reflects a loyalty of heart to the Empire and its cause, which must find a very warm spot in the hearts of the people in the Motherland. Long after this season of Christmas has passed into history, stories of the good this latest gift has done will come through, and undoubtedly much satisfaction to all who so kindly assisted to make it possible.

City Hall Draw Makes $144.

The leading place among this day's contributions comes as a result of a draw sponsored by the city hall staff, with Miss F. M. Johnston playing a leading role as supervisor and in charge of distribution, etc., of the tickets. This was for five prizes: three turkeys, a goose and a chicken donated by His Worship Mayor Hamilton, V. J. McElderry, K.C., W. F. Huycke, K.C., G. S. Matthews and F. G. Mann respectively.

The secretary of the fund made this draw which resulted in 1st prize going to J. Burgess of 135 Sophia Street with ticket No. 608; 2nd prize to Miss Alma Blanchard with ticket No. 529; 3rd prize to W. Tinker of 266 Burnham Street, with ticket No. 6; 4th prize to Miss Freda M. Allison of 240 Prince Street, with ticket No. 557, and 5th prize to W. Jones of 490 Cambridge Street, with ticket No. 379. This effort raised the fine sum of $144.50, and much credit is due those who helped, and particularly Miss Johnston, who played a leading role in a very efficient manner.

Lakefield United Church.

For the 3rd time, the Lakefield United Church congregation and Sunday School, ministered to by Rev. G. F. Kelly, have made their annual White Gift service the occasion to help the Christmas Cheer Fund for children along, each and every occasion proving a real leader in this respect, for they have always reached the three-figure mark in money raised for this purpose, their contribution on this occasion standing at the fine sum of $100.50, an achievement which will cause both the minister and his flock

Sale To Wood Is Ruled Valid

TORONTO, Dec. 23 (CP) — Ontario Appellate Court today reversed a judgment of Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay, granting to James W. Gravestock, Lindsay manufacturer, a mandamus ordering the treasurer and warden of Victoria County to deliver to him the tax deed for 100 acres of land in Emily township. He had purchased the land in a Tax Sale for the amount of the arrears of taxes for three years $10.80. The judgment, in effect, finds that Hy Wood of Peterborough, who redeemed the property by paying $17.70 within the statutory year during which redemption was allowed, is entitled to the property.

Mr. Justice Kellock allowed the appeal against the judgment of Mr. Justice Mackay. The latter held that Hy Wood who was a complete stranger and not even a taxpayer in Emily township had no right to redeem, but the Appellate Court found that the section of Assessment Act which said that the previous owner or "any other person" might do so made the sale to Wood valid.

3 Tins Peaches Bring In $30

Three tins of peaches netted, $30 for the British War Victims Fund in the Sergeants' Mess at the Armouries following the parade on Tuesday night.

In the midst of things and proceedings a mystery parcel appeared. Its source was not explained, but Joe Jebson of Mason's was there and it sounds like something in which he might have a hand.

The parcel was put up for raffle and was won by C.Q.M.S. George Hutchinson. Instead of keeping them he decided to sell them off again, and so they kept going the rounds until their total returns for the evening was something like $30, thereby averaging $10 a can.

Given Picture

One of the members presented to the Mess a picture of Prime Minister Churchill which was accepted by the Mess president CSM R. Walsh. It was hung on a wall and the whole assembly drank a toast to him with a great hope for his speedy recovery.

The members of the Mess held a draw for poultry, which included a percentage of turkeys, and the winners were: Lloyd McClure and F. Jopling, turkeys; C. Boorman, a special prize; and the chickens went to the others: Charlie Graham, J. C. Broadhurst, H. Kennedy, D. Menzies, A. T. Brown, H. Hewitt, J. Gaskell, K. Shadgett, G. Hutchinson, H. Howarth, T. Griffin and F. Grant.

Peterboro Unit Gets Honorable Mention In Recent Fifth Victory Loan Contest

Winners of the various population groups follow:

Class "A" communities (under 3,000 population) — Baie Comeau, Que.

Class "B" (3,001 to 10,000)—Collingwood, Ont.

Class "C" (10,001 to 30,000) — Moose Jaw.

Moose Jaw conducted its drive along military lines, with its loan headquarters, constructed on a main street, camouflaged as an army field headquarters. From there, daily communiques were issued in military language and orders of the day were posted on the outside walls beside large maps of the war fronts. All sales teams were organized in navy, army and air force units.

Receiving honorable mention were Petrolia, Ont., Antigonish, N.S., New Glasgow, N.S., Renfrew, Ont., St. Thomas, Ont., Peterborough, Halifax Kitchener, Ont., Vancouver and Toronto.

Election Likely For Seats On School Board

If any new municipal action is stirring in North Monaghan for the nominations beginning at 7:30 o'clock this evening at May's School, the news of it has not percolated through the suburbs and uptown. Several township men were asked whether the annexation conversations were likely to have any effect, and his answer was simply that he had not heard even a whisper. Some one said John Barnes had been mentioned as a possible new candidate, but that is the extent of the information available this morning.

As for the Peterborough Board of Education prospects apparently had broadened out over night, listing the following as possible candidates for the five vacant seats: three present members of the Board, D. V. Canning, T. J. Carley and G. W. Craw, Dr. Lorna Cotton, Thomas, Mrs. W. Addyman, Charles J. Ray, G. H. Cutmore, Frank Edgar, Mrs. Florence K. Harris and Mrs. Ed. Wand.

Opposition to Mayor Hamilton continuing at the head of the city council appears to be entirely missing in the city, nor has the Examiner heard of any one planning to come out against Gordon S. Matthews for the three-year term on the Utilities Commission.

However, the civic nominations this evening beginning at 7:30 and closing at 8:30 o'clock will disclose something of the shape of municipal things to come.

Christmas is going to dissolve into his immediate past with memories of Kiska and the Behring Sea far too speedily for Gunner Neal Foster, whose leave of several weeks with his mother, Mrs. John Foster, 264 Hunter street, ends Sunday.

On that Kiska expedition he was with the R.C.A. unit, and in his recollection he was willing to expand the story if censorship and considerations of the opinion of militia authorities permitted.

Although the Japs had withdrawn from Kiska before the American and Canadian troops arrived to take it, they left booby traps around causing casualties, the number of which Gunner Foster declined to mention. His ship arrived within sight Kiska on a sunny day, but after that introduction it switched to its normal setting of fogs and rain and strong winds. The island looked just as bleak as all the stories had described it; no trees, nothing but tundra and lava rock.

From Kiska it was only 600 miles to the nearest Japanese possession the island of Paramoshirijima near Kamchatka, but from the old home spot young Foster was between three and four thousand miles away.

Weather Dips To 15 Below

Peterborough shivered this morning in the coldest weather of the season, 15 degrees below early this morning, and 6 below at noon.

The low peak in the temperature tabulation from across the province was 37 (below) at Lillaloe, near Pembroke, White River 33 and our own neighboring Bancroft close to the leaders with 31.

Toronto this morning reported 6 below, Ottawa 19, North Bay 29, Kingston 13 and Belleville 11. Hamilton and Brantford escaped with 2 below, and above the zero line in comparatively comforting warmth were Chatham 6, Windsor and Sarnia 5.

According to a Canadian Press despatch this afternoon the Georgian Bay area are assured of a white Christmas. Snow raging for three days in that district continued to block country roads and some highways.

Along Sparks street, Ottawa, Wednesday at 9 a.m., the thermometers registered 20 below.

Nip 3 Truckers

TORONTO, Dec. 23—(CP)—Three Toronto poultry dealers were fined $35. and costs each yesterday on charges of operating trucks more than 35 miles from Toronto. David Wingold pleaded guilty to driving to Peter's Corners, near Hamilton, and Joe Schwartz pleaded guilty to driving from Toronto to Dunnville. Isadore Urovitz, the third trucker charged, pleaded not guilty but was convicted.

Able Seaman Don Richmond Has Served In The Navy Four Years

Travelling the fabled seven seas has been the occupation of Able Seaman Donald Richmond during the past four years since he left the C.G.E. to enter the service of the R.C.N.V.R. and during that time, he has, as he describes it, gotten around.

For a good many months he has been attached to a commando unit and since September he has been taking a course in California. After AB Richmond was ready to put to sea, he was on active service in England for quite a period of time and while there, underwent some air raids which were too close for comfort, he reminisced.

Corvettes though have really been his favorites and he has done patrol duty both in the Atlantic and the Pacific at various times, having spent more than a year in the latter ocean. During his work his ships have encountered a number of submarines and they have been credited with three "probables."

Want To Forget

"The worst part of the action is not during the actual battle, but afterwards when you have an opportunity to think it over and realize some of the narrow squeaks you may have had and some of the things, which passed almost unnoticed at the time and which you would rather forget."

Included in his world itinery was a three-months patrol trip around Alaska and the Aleutians. AB Richmond heartily endorsed the opinion of soldiers there that a more desolate place would be hard to find, with the islands bare of everything, even vegetation.

Part of this sailor's work has been on sub detectors and he was enthusiastic about the way they operated and their accuracy. His new work is of an altogether different nature, which he said he was not at liberty to divulge.

Brother In Too

The Navy holds an irresistible appeal for the Richmond family, for the Navy man has a brother, AB Harry, stationed in Canada in the same service. Both boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Richmond, No. 1 St. Mary's street.

During his four years' service, AB Richmond was only able to get home very occasionally and he declared that he was ready to make the most of his home coming this time, particularly since it included Christmas.

Where to next? Well he's not worrying and going by his past record he hopes to see some more of the world before he retires to civilian life.

Women Played Big Part In Liquor Line

Here is a paradox of the wassail shortage which may seem incredible. More women and girls have been introduced to the interior furnishings of the George Street liquor store during the last month or two, than in any other corresponding period.

Less liquor than ever, intermittently at least, permits reduced to one "crock" a month, and that means forty ounces of Scotch if you can get it, and more women and girls buying it.

Maybe the Local Council of Women or the W.C.T.U. does not believe it. Well, this is how it comes about. One of the familiar downtown lads had used up his permit for the month, and he was trying to enlist the help of folks he knew who had never taken out a permit, were not interested in "skat," but were eligible as anyone else for the official card. He had used up his own "forty" but a friend had come across a permit for another one which was thrust away for the holiday season.

One morning the charwoman arrived. There is an overtone of the vocabulary of caste and class in that word charwoman, but it may pass for this reference. As ideas will spring up, out of strange crevices of the mind, this downtowner turned his best approach on the woman who was working for him, the holiday season and all that, and the scarcity of goods, and after a harrrumpp or two as he cleared his throat for the $64 question he managed to get around to the stage of asking her whether she was willing to get a permit at the liquor store. And the immediate reply was "Certainly, if you will tell me what to do." And, so to abbreviate she got the ticket, the man gave her the price of a bottle and he went with her to point out how she was to obtain it. And by that devious means he got an extra jar.

How many young girls who had never before been seen in the liquor store until the last few weeks have recently bought their first bottles of liquor?

No doubt most of these girls never had any intention or had thought of going to the vendor's shop until some man they knew suggested it to them, as a favor they do, you know, in the Christmas spirit and that cheap hokum. And the girls who fell for that corny line! In some instances you'd hardly believe it. Probably that feeling of surprise is just an old fashioned inhibition. But some of you mammas of those young ladies are also old fashioned, and you could readily imagine the shock it would be to them to meet the big dark-eyed daughter coming out of the liquor shop with a man and a "jar."

Trainman Has Narrow Escape

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 23. — (ENS). — Swinging on to the front end of the last coach of the C.N.R. evening train last night, east-bound from Peterborough to Belleville, the brakeman slipped and fell between the edge of the platform and the near rail. In that dangerous strip he quickly tried to rise to his feet, but Peter Monaghan, who was close by, pushed the C.N.R. man's head back toward the ground and out of the line of the rear steps which passed over his head. Mr. Monaghan's presence of mind and quick action manifestly saved the brakeman from more or less serious injury.

The train went on without him, and the spent the night here.

NOTICE

NOTICE OF BY-LAW TO BE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF MUNICIPAL ELECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH AT THE NEXT ANNUAL ELECTION.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH by By-law 4361, passed December 6th, 1943, is submitting to Vote of the Electors a proposed By-law 4360 to authorize the execution of an agreement with BORDER TRANSIT LIMITED.

To secure an expression of the Electors' approval or disapproval of the proposed By-law the following question will be submitted to the Electors:

"Are you in favor of the By-law granting a Franchise to Border Transit Limited to supply Bus Transportation in the City for the next Ten Years?"

The Votes of the Electors will be taken on this proposed By-law at the same polls and during the same hours as the Voting at Municipal Elections on New Year's Day. The City Clerk shall sum up the Votes given for and against the By-law at 11 o'clock in the Forenoon of January 3rd, 1944, at his Office in the City Hall.

If the assent of the Electors is given to the proposed By-law, this fact will be taken into consideration by the Council when it comes before the Council for passing at the Council's meeting on January 17th, 1944.

Th Mayor, or some member of the Council appointed for that purpose by resolution, shall attend at the Office of City Clerk for the purpose of appointing, if so requested, two persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk, and one person at each Polling Sub-Division on behalf of those interested in promoting the proposed By-law, and a like number on behalf of those persons interested in opposing the proposed By-law.

The Agreement between the Corporation of the City of Peterborough and Border Transit Limited which the proposed By-law, if assented to by the Electors, authorizes the Council to execute, contains certain clauses, summarized as follows:

1. Subject to stated conditions the Corporation of the City of Peterborough (the Corporation) grants to Border Transit Limited (the Company) an exclusive passenger transportation franchise for bus service in the City for the period of ten years commencing January 1st, 1944.

2. During the full term of the franchise the Company agrees to maintain and operate a fleet of not less than fourteen (14) buses for carrying passengers on certain scheduled routes in the City, and in North Monaghan Township, operating said buses daily, except Sundays, from at least 6 o'clock in the morning until 11:30 o'clock in the evening, and at certain stated times on Sundays.

3. The Company's buses shall be of reasonable modern design and type, and shall be kept in good repair, clean inside and out, and properly lighted and heated as required. The Company shall operate additional buses as deemed necessary.

4. The Company shall pay to the Corporation an annual license fee of $500.00 during the life of the agreement, and in addition the Company shall pay to the Corporation a percentage of its gross passenger and advertising revenue which exceed $50,000.00 per annum; the percentage of payments by the Company being as follows:

On gross revenue exceeding $50,000 00 and less than $75,000.00 — 2 percentum per annum.

On gross revenue exceeding $75.000 00 and less than $100,000.00 — 3 percentum per annum.

On gross revenue exceeding $100,000.00 and less than $125,000.00 — 4 percentum per annum.

On gross revenue all over $125,000.00— 5 percentum per annum.

Payments to be made in two instalments semi-annually, and the City Auditor shall audit the Company's gross revenue account and supporting records each year.

5 The speed and service necessary on each of the Company's bus routes and the number of buses required shall be fixed and altered as circumstances require by agreement between the Corporation and the Company.

6. The Company may charge and collect the following fares:

Adult Fare—8 cents cash or 4 tickets for 25 cents.
Student Fare—8 tickets for 25 cents.
Children under 12 years—Fare, 3 cents cash;
And such fares may be changed only with the consent of Council by By-law.

7. The Company must observe all Traffic regulations in the operation of its buses and keep its buses adequately insured.

8. The Corporation shall maintain its streets on which the Company's buses operate in a reasonable state of repair and reasonably free from snow and other obstruction, and shall provide such bus stops as the Company may properly require, and so regulate traffic that the Company's buses may operate efficiently.

9. If the Company desires to sell its assets or property, the Corporation has the first option to purchase, and if the Corporation does not desire to exercise this option of purchase the Company agrees not to sell its assets to any person or company who is not acceptable to the Corporation.

10. The agreement also provides for the arbitration of any dispute or difference or question between the Company and Corporation.

DATED at Peterborough, this Ninth Day of December, 1943.

I CERTIFY that this is a fair and reasonable synopsis of the proposed By-law 4360 and the agreement it authorizes.

Soviet Paper Lashes John L. Lewis

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 23.—(AP). —The Soviet labor publication, "War and the Working Class," n a discussion of Labor's split in the United States, has accused three American Federation of Labor leaders of anti-Soviet acts tending to suppress "hopes of the masses for national and international unity."

The article, published yesterday, also referred to John L. Lewis, who has led his United Mine Workers out of the C.I.O. and now is trying to return to the A.F.L., as "that Fascist sectarian."

Listed as "reactionary leaders" of the A.F.L. were Matthew Woll, A.F.L. vice-president; William L. Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters' Union, and Isadore Nagler, fraternal delegate of the A.F.L. Placed in the same category was David Dubinsky, international president of the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, an independent body not no waffiliated with either the A.F.L. or C.I.O.

Woll, Hutcheson, Dubinsky and Nagler were accused of making political war against both Soviet Labor Unions and the Soviet Union—"the country, which as an ally of the United States, is carrying on a war of liberation against the common enemy, Germany."

The article declared that Woll, Hutcheson, Dubinsky and others had tried to lead the United Mine Workers back into the A.F.L. "to strengthen their personal positions and break down all attempts by advocates of national unity of the A.F.L. and C.I.O."

"The reactionary top of the A.F.L." the article continued, "used this platform as an excuse for an open and noisy demonstration rapprochement and collaboration with Soviet labor unions.

"Nagler as a delegate of the A.F.L. used the platforms of the Congress of British Unions for the hostile attacks on Soviet labor unions. This was done with the purpose of preventing further rapprochement and mutual understanding between the Soviet and British trade-unions and to serve as a signal for a new campaign of the reactionaries inside the A.F.L.

"Indeed Nagler and the other reactionaries aim to make a political war not only against Soviet labor unions but against the Soviet Union . . .

"This hostile act of A.F.L. reactionaries against Soviet labor unions was followed by an open, wrathful anti-Soviet campaign in a number of publications."

The article said that "the progressive wing of the A.F.L. continues to make headway in its campaign for national and international unity."

Fire Destroys Grain Elevator

LINDSAY, Dec. 23—(ENS)—Fire completely destroyed the grain elevator and chopping mill owned by R. McCague, at Grasshill yesterday. The fire had gained considerable headway before being noticed and both buildings were completely gutted.

Farmers from the district rallied to the scene of the fire and aided by a volunteer fire brigade from Woodville made a gallant but fruitless effort to prevent the flames from spreading. A large amount of grain seed was destroyed. So intense was the fire that the C.N.R. telegraph wire were burnt through disrupting communication and several box cars on the siding had to be moved out of danger. The plant is one of the oldest in the county serving a large rural district and was owned for many years by the Hogg and Lytle Company of Oakwood.

The general told the probers that when the army launched the $100,000,000 project, it created a petroleum reserve for a third world war.

much satisfaction.

Two other church groups are listed, the tiny tots of Bridgenorth United Church Primary Sunday School Class adding another $3.00 to their splendid record of attainments for the fund, and Centreville Presbyterian Church Mission Band adding another $2.00 in this group.

One other group who spend much time laboring to do good for others is represented in this day's list, the Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E., of which Mrs. W. B. Gordon is the Regent, sending in the sum of $10 through their treasurer, Mrs. Max Comstock

Ten Personal Donations.

By air mail from Gimli, Manitoba, a contribution was received from one on active service who formerly worked at the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd., whose birthday falls on Christmas Day. The amount of $5.00 is given "In Memory of Christ," and the donor expressed his pleasure at the continuance of the good work being done for the fund by employees of the plant where he formerly worked.

Other personal gifts come from all three of the Hills family on Weller street, all of whom were represented in these lists a short while ago, while Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Strickland, T. F. Doughty and four under various press names are also listed, among whom is one given "In Memory of a Dear Mother."

Queen Mary Leads Schools

At the Queen Mary School, O. M. Steer, principal, they have a habit of going to work with a will for any object of better worth, their past and present record in this respect full testifying to that. With an attendance far below the average on account of the prevailing sickness, they realized the sum of $63.05 on behalf of the children's fund, for which all the boys and girls deserve a pat on the back.

Other city schools include Grade 4 taught by Miss D. Burgess and Grade 1 by Miss Charlton at the Prince of Wales School, and Grade 1 with Miss Bennett as teacher and Grade 3, Miss Beals as teacher, at the Central School.

Then two schools from the district take their turn at doing a good work, with School Section No 12, Otonabee, raising the sum of $17 through the sale of tickets on a towel, which was handed in by Miss M. Heffernan, their teacher, and through Rev. G. F. Kelly of Lakefield, Miss Doris Charlton sent in $5.00 on behalf of her students at S.S No. 14, Douro.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

NO ECHOES WITH HONORS

IF YOUR partner understands the experts' language of signals, his play of a queen on your opening lead of a king, from the ace-king, does not mark the start of a high-low or echo. Cards that high are almost never used for signaling, so when one is used in such circumstances, it is quite likely to be a singleton. Reading it that way may constitute the guide to winning defense for the rest of the play.

North: ♠ 8 6 4 3; ♥ 7 5; ♦ A K J 7 3 2; ♣ A

West: ♠ A 9 7; ♥ Q J 10 9 6 2; ♦ 9 6; ♣ K Q

South: ♠ J 10 5 2; ♥ 8 4; ♦ Q; ♣ 10 9 8 6 5 3

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣	2 ♥
3 ♦	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

When North saw the Q fall from his partner's hand on his lead of the diamond K, he promptly cashed the A also and then his club A. He just as promptly thereby gave up all chance to beat the contract. What he did thereafter was of no import, as the declarer took the rest of the tricks despite anything he could do.

How clear-cut the correct defense should have been to North. As soon as he saw that diamond Q from his partner, he should have realized that it was possible to put his partner in the lead by means of a ruff of a diamond. For the second trick, his play should have been the club A and to the third a small diamond. South would have ruffed that and then returned a club for North to trump as the setting trick.

Wouldn't it have been funny if East had landed in 3-No Trumps? That he might well have done if, after his partner's bid of 2-Hearts, he had tried 2-No Trumps with a possible stopper in each minor suit. West might have decided to raise it to 3-No Trumps instead of rebidding hearts. Such a contract could be set only by one exact defense—a lead of the diamond Q, a switch to a club and the running of diamonds by North. If North overtook the diamond Q the contract would get made.

South: ♠ K 10 9 7 5; ♥ K 3; ♦ 7 6 4; ♣ A K J

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

What is correct play by both sides on this deal, with North in 3-No Trumps, if the defenders had done no bidding?

Canada Grows As Nation Through Year

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 (CP)—Canada's place among the United Nations has been pointed up during 1943 developments in the fields of war, commerce and diplomacy.

Here are some of the year's highlights in the Dominion's growth as a nation:—

1. Canada's armed forces in action.
2. Provision of $1,000,000,000 in "mutual aid" to nations lacking enough Canadian dollars to fill their needs for Canadian munitions and foodstuffs; with mutual aid agreements completed with several nations and more agreements pending.
3. Increase of Canada's diplomatic missions abroad and establishment of additional foreign missions here; elevation of the Canadian legations in the United States, the Soviet Union, China and Brazil to embassy status and similar action by those countries.
4. Holding at Quebec last August of one of the Churchill-Roosevelt war conferences.
5. Establishment of a new decoration — the Canada Medal — with which to honor Britons and foreigners, as well as Canadians.

Widespread Activity

Canadian participation in the Sicily and Italy campaigns, in the joint occupation with United States forces of Kiska in the Aleutians, in the vast air bombardment of Hitler's Europe, and in the never-ending struggle against the U-boat brought pride to Canadians during 1943—and deep appreciation from the people of the United Nations.

As for supplies sent to the war fronts, Munitions Minister Howe said in a recent Montreal speech:

"The population of these countries (receiving mutual aid) will long remember that Canada came to their rescue at a time when help was sorely needed. Therefore, I say that mutual aid is a sound investment in Canada's future markets abroad."

While students of international law and practice in Ottawa do not regard the elevation of Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian Minister to Washington, to the rank of ambassador as having any great constitutional significance, they do say it has had a happy reaction among the American people.

Americans have clung to the idea Canada is still a colony, said officials here. The fact that each South American country had an ambassador in Washington while Canada was represented by a minister tended to bolster the view the Dominion was not fully independent. Now that Canada has an ambassador, it was said, Americans may come to regard this country as a nation.

Matter of Promotion

In regard to the elevation of the four Canadian legations to embassy status one authority said it required no more authority to appoint an ambassador than to appoint a minister. The fact that Prime Minister Mackenzie King's government changed the status of the ministers without consulting parliament was an indication he regarded the change as a simple promotion in the diplomatic service.

In February, 1942, there were six foreign diplomatic missions in Ottawa following closing of the Japanese legation. Now there are 14—and this will be increased to 15 when the new Turkish minister arrives from Washington. Most of the additions came in 1942, but the Turkish legation was added this year.

Canada's missions to Moscow and Chile date from Jan. 1, 1943. Canada also has opened a consulate-general in New York.

It is believed in some quarters here that the action taken by the government at the suggestion of the House committee in creating a decoration of its own will add to Canada's prestige. No medals have yet been awarded. Some awards are expected to be made in the King's New Year's Honors list.

Flying Fortresses Bulging With Mail Soar Over Atlantic To Soldiers In Italy

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 (CP).—Santa Claus has exchanged his reindeer for Flying Fortresses and his brilliant red costume for the blue of the R.C.A.F., to make sure that Christmas mail reaches Canadian troops in Italy and the Middle East on time.

A new R.C.A.F. air mail service was inaugurated Dec. 14, when two huge Fortresses —their bomb bays bulging withmail — took off from nearby Rockcliffe airport and headed for Britain.

News of the inaugural flights was withheld from immediate publication for security reasons. Completion of the first two flights was announced by the R.C.A.F., which said the planes were delayed en route by bad weather.

Santa didn't go along on the two inaugural flights. He placed the Cmdr. Bruce Middleton of Ottawa controls in the hands of Wing and Winnipeg and Flt. Lt. C. R. Knowles of Oshawa, Ont.

Wing Cmdr. Middleton, commander of the newly-formed R.C.A.F. mail squadron, and his crew were wished "God speed and a safe journey" by Air Minister Power, who watched the take-off in sub-zero weather.

The planes fly from here to Britain and then on to Italy and the Middle East.

A special effort was made to deliver Christmas letters and parcels on time. Later the squadron hopes to make regular flights at least once a week.

Air Minister Power wasn't around when the second Fortress took off, but before leaving the airport he met the crew and repeated his good wishes.

The second craft carried a second complete air crew which will be stationed in Britain to fly from there to Italy and the Middle East. Cpl. J. C. Trethowan, Alliston, Ont., was one of its members.

Red Cross Ships 5 Large Cartons

HAVELOCK, Dec. 23 (ENS). — In preparation for closing up the work room until Tuesday, January 4, the shipping committee of the Red Cross shipped 5 large cartons to the warehouse. These included 25 each of coats, jumpers, blouses and bloomers. There were nine quilts, 10 round-neck, long-sleeve khaki sweaters, 15 scarves, 30 ribbed helmets, and 30 pairs grey service sox. The treasurer reported bank balance of $285.89. Cash donations were received from the County Council of $90 and from the United Church $10. Four completed quilts were brought in from the Belmont Women's Institute. During the afternoon one quilt was quilted and a good deal of sewing and knitting was given out to be worked at during the Christmas season. Two car loads of blood donors had been to Peterborough last week and more are expected to go soon.

Bailieboro News

The Christmas service in Christ church took the form of a Carol Service, when many old carols were sung, interspersed with Scripture lessons read by Rev. A. E. Chevis.

The United church Sunday School had a special collection and contributed $10.50 to help British children.

OFFICIAL FIGURES LOW

On August 15, 1940 during the worst of the Battle of Britain, R.A.F. pilots shot down at least 181 enemy aircraft and on September 15, 185. The number of destroyed planes is almost certainly larger than the official figures.

Rundown Man Surprised With Syntona Results

Was Unable to Work or Sleep Because of Sore, Swollen, Aching Joints and Muscles. Condition Followed Years of Stomach Gas, Acid Indigestion, Headaches and Dizzy Spells.

"Because of the grand results I got by taking a treatment of Syntona, I am glad of this opportunity to recommend it to others," said Mr Victor Clouthier, 76 Hamilton Road, London, Ontario, in a recent statement:

"For years I had been troubled with sour stomach, cramps, gas and bloat. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells and I always had to be taking something for constipation. Then, these rheumatic pains set into my joints and muscles. The pains and stomach gas kept me from getting my proper sleep, so I had become very nervous and rundown. There was a bad taste in my mouth, my tongue was constantly coated and my skin was rough and pimply. I couldn't do any work because I felt so miserable all the time.

"I must admit I wasn't very hopeful when I began taking Syntona, for I had tried so many remedies without getting any real benefits. But right from the first it settled my stomach and I liked the way it acted on my bowels, so I thought even that much was well worth while. Now, after taking Syntona for a few weeks, I am surprised with the improvement in the way I feel. For the first time in four years I can enjoy my meals without all that stomach misery. I got relief from those rheumatic pains, my nerves are relaxed, and I get a good night's sleep once more. I don't have those headaches and dizzy spells like I used to and I feel better in every way than I thought was ever possible again."

The above are often common results of disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels. Syntona is compounded to act on these four organs at the same time and the results that it gives are vouched for by thousands of delighted men and women who have used it. Make up your mind to begin taking this pure herbal medicine to-day. See how much better you, too, can be feeling in just a short time.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

New War Scare Stampedes Turkish People

By FRANK O'BRIEN
Associated Press Staff Writer.

ISTANBUL, Dec. 21 (Delayed)—(AP). — A first-class "war scare" hit its full stride in Istanbul to-day as many families living in the European part of Turkey moved over to the opposite side of the Strait of Bosphorus.

Gold prices, which took a long jump upward when President Inonu went to Cairo for conferences with Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt and which dropped after his return, reached new highs to-day.

The widespread scare developed despite Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu's announcement that Turkey's foreign policy remained unchanged and newspaper advice that there was no reason for panic.

The sight of columns of troops outfitted for a field campaign moving in considerable numbers through the streets for the first time since the spring of 1941 may have helped crystalize public anxiety over the Cairo conference.

During the past fortnight, scores of new German faces have appeared in Istanbul, apparently with no visible occupation. In the words of one Allied official, they "look like the usual strongarm boys."

There were some evidences of food hoarding with consequent new increases in the already high prices of food here.

Owners of large apartments in outlying Anatolian districts of the city demanded and got from $500 to $700 rent from persons coming from the European side of the city apparently afraid of being caught on the wrong side of the Bosphorus and Sea of Marmora.

The old Ottoman Empire saying, "When the Balkan snows melt there will be trouble for Turkey," made the round of city's coffee shops.

Canadians Bring Joy To Invalids

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 23 —(CP Cable). —Soldiers of Canadian Military Headquarters in London to-day brought Christmas to children of a hospital near the dockyards—where there would have been no Santa Claus without them.

For the little out-patients at the hospital, all children of dock workers, and hospital patients who were able to leave their beds, it was a party any child would dream about.

There were movies, a clown, a puppet show, a Christmas tree and toys. There were tea, cakes, and candy for which men at C.M.H.Q. had given up their sweets coupons.

Col. Paul Resautels of Montreal was chairman of the committee that arranged the party. He was aided by Maj. A. B. MacLaren of Toronto.

The children were especially joyful over the icing C.S.M. Jim Dick of Winnipeg concocted for the huge cake and arrival of Santa—Lieut. L. A. Hunt of Edmonton—sent the children wild with joy.

Dolls made by members of the C.W.A.C. at Headquarters also were a big success. Caplin also made a huge dolls house which was presented to the hospital for the children in the wards. The sick babies were not forgotten, and with a sack of toys Hunt went around the wards where they lay in bed.

Succeeds Hinsley

LONDON, Dec. 23 (CP).—Pope Pius XII has appointed Rt. Rev. Bernard Griffin, 44, as Archbishop of Westminster, the apostolic delegation in London announced today. The prelate served in the First Great War in the Navy and Air Force, and since 1938 has been auxiliary Bishop of Birmingham. He succeeds Cardinal Hinsley who died last March.

ITALIANS BATTLE FOR HOMELAND — Italian troops, now fighting with the Allies on the Fifth Army front, against the Axis, are shown in firing positions on rocky Mount Lungo, Italy. These infantrymen know every inch of ground over which they are now fighting.

YO-HEAVE AND A HO IN ITALY'S MUD —These men of the British Fifth Army who are fighting the Germans on Mount Roccamonfine, northwest of Teano, Italy, are having a little trouble with the thick mud caused by pelting rain. Here a dispatch rider is trying to extricate his motorcycle, which is deep in the mud and most reluctant to leave the gooey mire.

Bolivia Cities Now Quiet After Recent Revolt

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 23 (CP).—Desire for "effective co-operation" between the United States and Bolivia and an early settlement of negotiations concerning tin and quinine was expressed today by a minister in the new government of President Gualberto Villarroel.

"I believe an effective co-operation aought to exist between the United States and Bolivia," said Economics Minister Gustavo Chacon, "and that within the shortest time possible we should face the matters left pending by the laxness of the former government, including tin and quinine. In the interest of both countries, these matters should not be further postponed."

The Villarroel government, which installed itself in a coup d'etat Monday, turned its attention to retributive measures for what was described as last December's "Catavi massacre" in which 19 were killed and 35 injured when troops fired on striking tin mine workers.

The government announced today a decree providing indemnities for the victims and said measures aimed at determining culpability for the shootings would follow.

Villarroel, the new president, emphatically denied a charge which Penaranda made at Arica, Chile, that the revolution was organized and carried out by Nazi elements.

"Gen. Penaranda mistakes the sense of the words democracy and Nazism," said Villarroel. "He states that his oppressive government, full of lawlessness, was democratic and calls us Nazis when our most firm intention is to attain full democracy."

The capital became comparatively quietly in the wake of the revolt and international air traffic was resumed, but spokesmen for the government said a state of emergency would be maintained for some days.

Wayne Lonergan Waiting Trial For Murder Sends Christmas Gift To Motherless Baby

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 — (AP). — Bay Wayne Lonergan was sent a Christmas gift to-day from his father, Wayne Lonergan, who is awaiting trial for first degree murder in the slaying of his wife, Patricia Burton Lonergan.

The 26-year-old former R.C.A.F. aircraftman, held in City Prison, sent his son an imported Swiss music box made of walnut. His lawyer, Edward V Broderick, said he furnished the $12 to pay for it and arranged for its purchase by a Red Cross worker. The gift was accompanied by a card reading: "To Wayne from Dad," the lawyer said.

Broderick said Lonergan had received more than 40 Christmas cards thus far in his prison cell.

Bobby Pin Supplies Increased By WTPB

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — Good news for the ladies: It's going to be easier to anchor those stray wisps of hair.

H. H. Foreman, administrator of fabricated steel and non-ferrous metals for the Prices Board, said Canadian women can look for "slightly increased supplies of metal hairpins and bobby pins."

"Supplies will still be far below pre-war levels," a Board official said, "but a slight improvement in the domestic wire supply situation permits Canadian manufacturers to increase production."

Reds Stall German Tank Attack

New Breaches Made In Enemy Lines Huns Admit Losses

LONDON, Dec. 24 — (CP). — Troops of Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's Baltic army were storming the outer defences of Vitebsk to-day as Moscow dispatches reported that a powerful two-day-old German tank offensive along a 400 mile front to the south had been stopped in its tracks.

Berlin admitted new breaches in German lines to the north and to southeast of Vitebsk after "heavy, fluctuating battles." Front reports to Moscow said Red Army units were less than 12 miles north of the heavily-fortified base.

Other Russian columns were streaking south and west to threaten the Vitebsk-Polotsk rail line, capturing several villages and additional advantageous positions en route.

A dispatch from Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press Moscow correspondent, said the German High Command was throwing more and more armor into the tank offensive, which presumably was launched as a diversionary attempt to weaken Bagramian's drive on Vitebsk. Gilmore said the Russians held firmly in all sectors.

Fear Submarines

The Moscow war bulletin said the fighting in the Zhlobin area in White Russia was exceedingly bitter.

The fighting in the Kiev bulge was second only in intensity to that southwest of Zhlobin. Marshal Fritz von Mannstein launched two strong tank and infantry attacks against Russian positions, but was forced to withdraw.

A Berlin broadcast, recorded in New York by The Associated Press said the Germans had spread a 50-mile-long anti - submarine net to prevent Russian submarines from entering the Baltic from the Gulf of Finland.

Another broadcast said the Gulf of Kronstadt, on which Leningrad is located, now has frozen, ending the possibility of the Russian navy reaching the Baltic for the remainder of the winter.

Partisans Storm Sarajevo City

LONDON, Dec. 24. — (AP).— Pressing "successful offensive operations" in Eastern Bosnia, Marshal Josip Broz' Partisans to-day reported their units closing in further around the town of Sarajevo, where the First Great War was touched off. The communique was broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio.

While the Berlin radio claimed that all organized guerilla resistance in Serbia had ceased, Tito's war bulletin reported that in the neighboring province of Bosnia, Partisan forces had occupied territory between Breza, a town of a branch railway 15 miles north of Sarajevo and Vares, northern terminus of the line. A power station was blown up and 50 Germans were killed n this action.

Other Partisan columns were reported approaching Sarajevo from the south, Tito asserted.

The Yugoslav communique said the Partisans were on the offensive in all other parts of Bosnia, turning back numerous German attempts to crack their lines.

SUBMARINE GRAYLING LOST

WASHINGTON — Loss of the submarine Grayling, the 16th submarine reported overdue and presumed lost since the start of the war was announced by the Navy Department today.

Lots Of Money

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 24—(AP).— One Norfolk citizen mailed to City Treasurer B. Gray Tunsall a cheque for $150 to pay his poll tax. Tunstall deducted $1.50, the tax, and mailed the balance back to the sender. The only explanation evident to the city treasurer was that the taxpayer didn't know what the "capitation" tax bill was for and misread the amount.

Canuck Snipers Decimate German Forces

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, Dec. 22 (Delayed)—(AP).— The Germans for some mysterious reason are staging a miniature "Stalingrad" in the hapless town of Ortona on the Adriatic and Canadian troops are busily and dangerously engaged in shooting them out of windows, battering down their barricades and chasing them from cellars and sewers.

Canadians were in firm possession of more than half the town at sundown and had infantry and tanks in the streets.

"You can hardly stick your head around a corner without hearing snipers' bullets zing by," one hardy Canadian rifleman said.

The Canadians play well at that sort of sport too and one sharpshooter said he had accounted for 14 Germans himself.

The Germans have a number of tanks still in the town and they apparently are propared to sacrifice them since there seems little likelihood they will be able to withdraw them with the 8th Army artillery blasting the northern outskirts and the R.A.F. on close watch.

Due to soggy condition of the ground, tanks are unable to operate to any extent across country.

German snipers are operating from behind barricades which had been erected all over town and while they were fighting it out in the centre of the town demolition squads apparently have been busy in the northern end since heavy explosions could be heard from there during much of the day.

(Since this dispatch was written Allied headquarters in Algiers has announced that the Canadians have pinned the Germans into the northwest corner of the town and word of its fall has been expected momentarily.)

Mines Plentiful.

Presumably the desperate stand is being made to permit the Germans to establish a line behind the town. It is expected they will withdraw ultimately to high ground in front of the Foro River. A good deal of

Chinese Retake Sungtse Port

CHUNGKING, Dec. 24 —(AP)— Chinese forces have recaptured the Yangtse River port of Sungtse, midway between Shasi and Ichang, and have made other advances by which now they have recovered fully four-fifth of the central China rice bowl, Maj.-Gen. C. C. Tseng, Chinese Army spokesman, said today.

He added that the bulk of the Japanese forces retiring eastward had crossed the Ungtse River which twists north from Tung Ting Lake to the Yangtse.

Advancing Chinese troops now have reached at several points along the west bank of the Sungtse the last barrier to the original bases from which the Japanese launched their drive on the rice bowl on Nov. 2 of this year.

96 Allied Fliers In Sweden Find Boredom Greatest Foe

By JOHN H. COLBURN—Associated Press Staff Writer

FALUN, Sweden, Dec. 24—(AP).—Ninety-six Allied airmen including 18 Canadians have discovered that internment boredom is as tough a foe as all the flak and Nazi fighters they ever encountered.

Interned by neutral Sweden, most of them perhaps for the duration of the war, they live in a fraternity house atmosphere in three former rest homes of the sleepy town of Falun, one of the country's scenic spots. All crashed or parachuted or made forced landings on Swedish soil after raids against Germany or Norway.

With few military restrictions and no routine they lead a life of vacationers. But, given a chance, all would go back tomorrow to combat operations.

This view was shared by every one of the 66 Americans, 18 Canadians—including seven new arrivals who parachuted into Sweden after their plane was shot up December 17 on a Berlin raid — seven Poles, three Welshmen, and two Englishmen.

Actually, their only chance of getting back is through the exchange of an equal number of Allied and German airmen who were forced down in Sweden.

A typical winter day for the internees starts around 9 a.m. when they form a breakfast line. It is just getting light then. After breakfast they hike or ski through the snow-blanketed woods. Hockey players and skaters get workouts on nearby lakes.

Shore Batteries Shell England

LONDON, Dec. 24 —(CP)— The German high command announced today its naval shore batteries had shelled targets at Dover, Deal and Folkestone, across the channel from Nazi-controlled France.

Translations of the Berlin radio's first accountof the action had led to belief the Germans had announced use of "rocket shells," but a recheck showed the phrase employed by the Germans—"Eluchtegranate"—meant "flare shells" or tracers.

Leucht-granate is a phrase which could reasonably be translated "rocket," but in the sense of a distress rocket because of current talk abroad of alleged German plans to use giant rocket guns to shell London, listeners here made their original translation in this connection.

There have been many Allied air attacks on a section of the French coast which has come to be known as the "rocket-gun coast" because of

8th Captures Vezzani Near Ortona

German Graves Numerous In Ortona Suburbs

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 24 — (AP). — Fighting in snow and rain, the 8th Army has driven northward and captured the village of Vezzani, three miles southwest of Ortona, and the Canadian 1st Division is digging the last Germans out of Ortona with bayonets, it was announced today.

The whole Italian front was blanketed by wet, wintry weather, which handicapped operations on both ground and in the air.

The most violent fighting continued in the Ortona area, where the Germans battled desperately to retain the eastern anchor of their crumbling defence line.

A military commentator said the enemy still held one corner of Ortona and that many of the Germans were fighting to the death rather than retreat. This had turned the Canadians' struggle for the city into a house-to-house campaign with bayonets and with small arms.

An indication of the fierce defence the Germans were waging was seen in one roadside cemetery near the town where there were more than 100 German graves.

Continue Advance

Other units of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 8th Army were pressing relentlessly northward despite the weather.

Vezzani, the village which British troops captured yesterday, is about a mile north of the highway between Ortona and Orsogna.

Other British troops fought their way into the outskirts of Villagrande, two miles southwest of Ortona.

Weather limited action on the 5th Army front largely to patrolling and in the only two decisive moves announced in today's communique the American troops gained some high ground a mile east of Acquafondata and lost a hill half a mile southeast of Viticuso which they had captured previously. This fighting was taking place in the mountainous area directly north of German-held Mignano situated on the main western road to Rome.

Clouds and storms kept heavy bombers and most of the other air forces on the ground, but American two-engined bombers struck simultaneously at three different points on the German rail artery along the Riviera in South France and Italy.

At Imperia, several miles east of the French-Italian border, railroad yards and bridges were bombed. At the frontier town of Ventimiglia railroad yards and approaches also were blasted. And at Antheor in France, a short distance from Cannes, the huge north viaduct and approach was hit despite heavy flak.

Only a small number of fighter-bomber sorties were flown over the front and in these two enemy planes were destroyed. Spitfires off the coast of Corsica shot down a Junkers-88.

The Air Force announced that Wednesday night Bostons had bombed Miglianico near the 8th Army front.

27 Nominated For Ten Municipal Seats

For Mayor Hamilton and Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Utilities Commission, the municipal nominations last night afforded, by acclamations, fresh and further evidence of the enviable place they hold in the appreciation and confidence of the people of Peterborough.

While these two decisions were being made with unanimous assent, the electors who crowded the council chamber proposed 16 nominees for the five vacancies in the aldermanic board and 11 nominees, including three women, for the five vacancies in the Board of Education.

The nominations attracted the largest attendance in years, and Mayor Hamilton and other veterans of the municipal service expressed their gratification by the display of quickened interest in civic affairs.

City Clerk Outram was in charge of the nominations and was appointed chairman of the ensuing period which is customarily arranged for the purpose of hearing addresses by the prospective or at least potential candidates. He announced that the time for declaring and qualifying for candidature expires at 9 o'clock tonight.

Three-quarters Of Capital Believed Demolished Plane Losses Lowest Yet

All Canadian Aircraft Returned Dominion Pilots Lead Dropping Flares To Light Target

By GLADWIN HILL—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 24—(AP).—A great fleet of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers struck a heavy blow against Berlin last night, its seventh big attack in five weeks.

The Canadian share in the raid was carried out by Lancasters of the bomber group and by R.C.A.F. Pathfinders who joined the R.A.F. aircraft in going ahead of the main force to drop flares to outline the selected target.

The night cost the R.A.F. 17 planes, lowest yet for a major raid. All Canadian aircraft returned safely. At the same time Intruder patrols were flown over the Continent by R.C.A.F. fighters, without loss.

The attack on Berlin probably brought destruction of the German capital near the three-quarter mark.

The Christmas Eve deluge of high explosives and incendiaries once more started great fires raging through the world's fourth largest city. It emphasized that the Allies are not going to let seasonal sentiment interfere with invaluable bombing weather in which to pave the way for the final invasion drive.

The giant four-engined planes, switching their usual tactics for onslaughts on the Reich capital, flew over the North Sea at midnight instead of following the usual southerly routes. Previous R.A.F. attacks generally have been in the early evening.

First German reports of the raid said workers' quarters had been hit. The broadcast claimed a considerable number of the attacking bombers were shot down by Nazi fighters and anti-aircraft fire despite the change in R.A.F. strategy.

The German International Information Bureau said the raid was a "terror attack" made "in the early hours of Christmas Eve."

Even before to-day's raid it had been estimated the German capital was half destroyed in six big raids carried out by the R.A.F. and the R.C.A.F. at a cost of 181 bombers.

In the campaign to obliterate this so-called "king of targets" the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. had attacked in great force the nights of December 2, losing 41 planes and dropping 1,500 tons of explosives; November 26, losing 32 planes in unloading 1,000 tons; November 23, November 22, and November 18.

The daylight campaign against targets on the Continent moved into its fifth straight day as waves of Allied bombers and fighters droned over the Channel coast toward northern France.

More than 1,000 tons of explosives were dropped on Berlin last night, the Air Ministry announced. It brought the total weight dropped

How Canadians In Italy Mark Christmas

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 24 — (CP Cable). — Canadian soldiers living in slit trenches, along with guns and the tanks and trucks, in mud-stained tents and in the bowels of shell-torn houses are planning to make the best of their first Christmas in action.

Many will spend the day right up at the front among the exploding German shells and mortar bombs while many more will be spread back through the Canadian area where they perform the jobs that contribute to the advances by the frontline fighters.

Taking advantage of what they can, all will attempt to better their immediate circumstances and so add a special touch that will make their wartime Christmas one to be remembered.

The Canadian commander has issued orders that where possible his troops will have "sitdown" Christmas dinners with their officers and non-commissioned officers waiting on them in the old army tradition.

Rations will be plentiful and include such extras as nuts, oranges and apples. Thousands of mince pies are being cooked all over the Canadian area.

Goebbels Says Huns Stronger

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(CP).—Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels in a Christmas eve speech to the German people asserted to-day that "we still have our hopes for a victorious future," and said a coming test of arms in the west was welcomed.

The Berlin radio quoted Goebbels as saying "we march to-day with lighter kit. Many of us have no longer much to lose.

"The loss of their belongings has made them harder and more resolute to fight. The enemy is not aware of this fresh strength of the German people.

"Perhaps this spring he will have occasion to pit himself against it in armed clash with our armed forces in the west."

Germans Have Failed to Smash Through

Lack The Punch Necessary To Pierce Russian Defenses

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Analyst

Despite the fury of German counter-attacks in some sectors of the long eastern front, there is nothing in the news from Russia to indicate the Nazis hope to do more than keep the Red Army at bay long enough to withdraw in orderly fashion to a new line farther west.

The Nazis have assaulted the Russian positions around Zhlobin, rail junction on the Upper Dnieper above Gomel; in the Korosten area, farther south in the Kiev bulge, and near Kirivograd.

None of these, unless it was the attack in the Kirivograd area, had enough punch to break through the Russian lines or even to gain ground, and there is little likelihood the Germans hoped for a break-through.

The Nazi commanders are past masters of the art of war, and they know better than anyone else that they dare not surrender the initiative to the Soviet Generals along the entire front. Repeated counter-attacks force the Russians to keep reserves scattered in several areas to meet a possible German success, and as long as that goes on, the Red Army cannot be massed for additional major offensives.

If it were not for the element of luck, an important element in most military campaigns, the Russians might be able to concentrate their forces anyhow, disregarding the Nazi counter-attacks. But luck might give one of the Nazi drives a break through, and the Germans—not expecting or even hoping for such luck—are thorough and canny enough to back up their spearheads with enough strength to exploit an opening if it should come.

Eventually, of course, attrition or planned withdrawals will so reduce German strength in a new sector that the Russians will be able to crack the Nazi lines and pour through in a new offensive, just as they have done in the north.

600 To Join 1 Day Strike

Believe Government Ignores Sacrifices

DARTMOUTH, N.S., Dec. 24 — (CP). — Some 600 marine slip employees here, members of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of Canada, voted yesterday to join the one-day "work holiday" called for December 28 in protest over partial closing of the Trenton (N.S.) Steel Works Limited.

About 25,000 Nova Scotia workers, including shipyard employees in Halifax, 12,000 members of the United Mine workers of America, and steel plant employees will lay down their tools for the day.

In a statement released last night the workers said, in part:

"The marine workers of this local maintain it is abominable that the corporate-monopolies and government of this country should allow the curtailment of all - out production in the hour of our greatest need . . .

"The workers . . . feel that after emerging from a 10-year period of depression, and wholeheartedly offering every sacrifice and applying every effort in this struggle for freedom and democracy, their sacrifices and efforts have been ironically turned against their hopes of a social order that would ensure them against recurrence of those conditions . . ."

Troops Arrive Overseas

New Army Show Also On Board

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Dec. 24 — (CP) — Accompanied by the new Canadian Army show, a large draft of Canadian soldiers and airmen, together with a small group of C.W.A.C.'s, and fighting men from other parts of the Empire and Allied Nations, have arrived in England after sailing from this port recently on board a British transport. Their arrival—just in time for Christmas—was announced last night in London.

The Army Show, second such type of entertainment to go overseas from Canada in this war — Air Force troupe having preceeded it by some months—boasted a personnel of 134, including 33 C.W.A.C.'s. In England it will be divided into five units and even now may be giving holiday entertainment at Canadian camps throughout the British Isles. Aboard ship, the troupe was under the command of Capt. William Wren of Timmins, Ont.

The show is ready to perform in basements of bombed-out buildings, drill halls, on wooden platforms in the field and in auxiliary service huts.

The show, first organized in October, 1942, drew upon Canadian theatrical and musical talent serving in the army and before closing in Toronto last September had played 45 cities and camps from the Eastern seaboard to Prince Rupert, B.C.

North Monaghan Re-elects 1943 Council

The electors of the township of North Monaghan, meeting in the May's School Friday night, re-elected by acclamation their 1943 council for another term, thereby avoiding the necessity of holding an election on New Year's Day. M. H. Johnson, reeve; A. W. Archibald, deputy reeve, and Gerald Cuff and Fred Stinson, trustees for the Public School Board, had already been brought in by acclamation.

Other council members are W. J. Grady, Harold Cassan and J. S. Roberts.

Two new nominees for the post of councillor. Harry Welsh and Walter Brown, had been proposed during the hour of nominations, but later in the proceeding agreed to have their names dropped from the slate of nominees in view of the acclamation of the candidates for the other posts. Any need for holding an election was thereby thrown out, and it suggested by H. B. Rye that the amount of election expense so saved be dedicated

No damage from last night's over-channel shelling was announced.

German shells that struck the Dover-Folkestone coastal area were "no different from the shelling we've had down here before," said Associated Press correspondent Carl Crowehurst, who has witnessed practically every cross-Channel shelling of the war.

British long-range guns in the Dover area opened up shortly after 8 p.m. last night, and hurled shells across the Strait for and hour and a quarter.

The action took place between Dover and Calais.

The latter area on the French coast has been heavily pounded for the last four days by Allied air forces, and is considered the logical location for rocket gun batteries.

Auto Hits Train Driver Escapes

Ralph Puffer, R.R. 2 Lakefield had a narrow escape from injury and had his automobile badly damaged when he drove in front of a C.N.R. passenger train Thursday night at Bethune and Charlotte street.

The Dummer man was driving west on Charlotte street and told police that his windshield frosted so badly that he failed to notice the wigwag signal and drove on to the tracks just as the train reached the intersection.

The automobile was struck on the right side at the front door which was pulled off. The whole right side of the car was wrecked but Puffer escaped without injury. The train was moving very slowly.

US Government May Take Over All Railroads

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP) — Government operation of the railroads instead of a wage settlement was the gift in prospect for the United States on this Christmas Eve, but a new offer by the 15 non-operating unions added a dash of last-minute uncertainty.

President Roosevelt ordered Attorney General Biddle to prepare the documents necessary for the Government to take over management's reins, presumably as a move to forestall the strike set for Dec. 30. The announcement said a date for seizure had not been set.

Rail Union leaders conceded the employees probably would work for the Government and an actual interruption of transportation thereby would be avoided.

The President issued the announcement after three of the five operating unions rejected his offer to referee the dispute and the 15 non-operating groups backed away from his proposal without actually saying no. Management spokesmen and two of the operating unions (Engineers and Trainmen) accepted the offer to let the President make a final and binding decision.

The 15 "non-op" chiefs, who represent more than 1,000,000 office, shop and track employees, responded to the President's offer with a request for a "settlement." They submitted this new proposition:—

An increase of six cents an hour in lieu of overtime rates after 40 hours a week, this sum to be added to the government-approved graduated increases of four to 10 cents an hour.

The President and James F. Byrnes, United States War Mobilization Director, told the 15 chiefs they could not commit themselves on such a proposition without talking to the carriers. The negotiations ended on this inconclusive note, and a renewal of the conference was set for Monday.

who have given their lives and for a victorious peace which the men who have been spared hope may bring them home by next Christmas.

The wounded in field hospitals will have tasty meals as well as band concerts or other special entertainment that day. The Canadian commander will call at their bedsides and the winners of the awards for bravery will be presented with their ribbons.

Every man will get extra Christmas cigarets and chocolate.

The postal service has concentrated on delivery of parcels for the last few days so that as many as possible will have had something from home.

Front-line troops have also made preparations of their own. Members of a Maritime unit which shared in heavy fighting, one of its companies having cleared a gully south of the Ortona-Orsogna road, plan to have fowl for dinner if German shelling and mortaring does not interfere. (This was a reference to New Brunswick's Carleton and York Regiment.)

Pte. A. W. Nason of Trace, N.B., whom Cook E. E. Thomson of Hampstead, N.B., calls "the unit's best scrounger" brought in six chickens Tuesday which he and Pte. Hawkins of Woodstock, N.B., "found."

Also the cook has at least two geese lined up, one cooped in a shell-hole.

Roast Calf

Western infantrymen had their eye on roast calf for a Christmas special but an eastern unit got in ahead of them. The calf was found wandering around the battlefield and the westerners decided to round it up. They waited a little too long and the easterners got there first.

Pte. Dick Kelton of Vancouver who took part in Ortona street fighting hopes to have a good Christmas dinner there. He says that if he can find a safe place to eat it he knows the cook will get it up.

Kelton declares his battalion's cook provided the troops with apple pie that "really hit the spot" when the fight beyond the Moro River was raging.

This Christmas, the fifth away from home for some of the troops. will have an unusual setting.

Grass in the battle area is still green and fresh though many trees along the valleys and river banks shows the bright colors of autumn in Canada.

The weather is much like Canadian Indian summer though the deep, blue Apennine mountains rising a few miles inland have snow around their peaks. The quiet Adriatic on which Ortona looks down is warm enough to swim in.

Soldiers Throng Roads To Bethlehem

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

JERUSALEM, Dec. 24—(AP)— Allied soldiers of all ranks—converging from battle stations in storied Persia, Syria, Egypt, Africa — thronged with other humble pilgrims to this shrine of Christianity today to pay homage to the Prince of Peace.

The drama that has lived for 2,000 years was reborn again with intense reality for generals and privates alike, walking with visitors of all ages, dress and tongue to Gethsemane, to Golgotha, to Bethlehem.

Jerusalem and Bethlehem, blacked out by war for three Christmases, burst into candlelight from 10,000 windows as authorities lifted the restrictions this year.

The climax of the Christmas celebration will come at midnight at the Church of Nativity with a special Mass and a pontifical procession to the grotto where Christ was born.

By the scores, the soldiers coming from all war theatres in this half of the world entered the old walled city and toured the hallowed "Way of Pain," which begins at the Praetorium where Pontius Pilate tried Jesus and ends on Golgatha where he died.

Step by step they retraced the 14 stations where Christ carried His cross. In little knots, they visited the Garden of Gethsemane where he walked in his agony. They stood solemn under the emotional impact of actually seeing the place where he was nailed to the cross.

Then in sixes, dozens, and half hundreds they followed the old Roman road to the holy little hamlet of Bethlehem six miles away across the Judean hillside. There in the grotto beneath the church they saw the place where the Redeemer was born, and touched the large silver star that marks the exact site of his birth.

the Canadians' time has been spent cleaning up—minefields sown with the usual German prodigality.

German troops engaged in the action are from the 1st Parachute Division which has been specially trained for this type of action. Few prisoners have been taken so far.

Canadian tankmen are dealing harshly with snipers operating from second-storey windows. They simply turn their 75-millimetre guns on the buildings and fire away until the buildings come down with the snipers.

Roads leading up to the front were pleasantly full of trucks and every military policeman on the job was unusually genial with the drivers. The trucks were taking Christmas to the 8th Army troops who must observe it while they fight.

Six hundred tons of pork, 300 tons of apples and commensurate amounts of vegetables, turkey, pork pie and whatever other delicacies are available were moving up. One of the most popular items was 400,000 bottles of beer.

Indian troops who do not celebrate Christmas will receive extra rations and an additional tot of rum.

Church services are being arranged wherever possible and chaplains are much in evidence on the roads.

G. S. Matthews Been Given 5 Acclamations

When Gordon Matthews concludes in 1946 the three-year term as Utilities Commissioner to which he was returned by acclamation in the process of the municipal nominations Thursday night, he will have served twenty-one successive years in that important branch of the civic administration.

He is now completing 18 years as a trustee of the Public Utilities, many of those years as chairman, and five of those six terms were handed to him by the electors with their acclamation. They did it again last night—six terms of three years each without recourse to the polls or any sign of opposition.

It is easy to say that Peterborough will be a long time producing another such lengthy period of uninterrupted service to the community as that which Mr. Matthews is now about to extend into his 19th, 20th, and 21st years.

Councillors Pleased.

Mayor Hamilton's acclamation was received more warmly by his associates of the City Council than by any one else. They frankly like their president, and they say so. They are convinced of his sincerity of purpose and are certain of his industry and diligence and willingness to "put himself out," as the saying goes, to do anything that promises help to the municipal cause.

His Worship is beginning his seventh successive year in the mayoral chair of Peterborough. Wartime conditions and the common sense of the public in their wish to get along with the least municipal disturbance account to some extent for the extension of the Hamilton term into its seventh year, six of them by acclamation. On the other hand, the public believes and the Council members, and reports assure them that their civic business has been thoroughly done all during the war epriod.

Does Fine Job.

On the Police Commission and the Board of Health as well as at the head of the City Council and in many other departments of service which are thrust in his direction, Mayor Hamilton has shown the same fine qualities of close attention to details, agreeableness and sense of co-operation, and generally does a full time job.

Mayor Hamilton was a member of the Council from 1919 to 1922 inclusive, was returned for 1928 and 1929, and then was re-elected in 1931 to the succession of years which is taking him through 1944 as Mayor of Peterborough for the seventh year without a break.

at the evening meal the one-time rest homes which once catered to old women take on a real fraternity house aspect as the boys clean up, don coats and are served at tables, in groups of two and four.

Except for the lack of eggs and the frequent fish dishes, the boys have no complaints about food. They were pleasantly surprised that they could get ice cream.

There is a bridge game nearly every day and a poker game or two going most of the time, especially after darkness comes at 3 p.m.

All wear nondescript uniforms. All were in flying togs when they landed and there is not a complete uniform in the outfit. They have purchased civilian attire but must use it sparingly because the clothes are rationed.

Purchased Skates

Falun merchants found in the airmen a good market for skates and hockey sticks. The Canadian fliers, headed by Flying Officer James J. McQuade of Toronto, are busy polishing their hockey game to play the Falun all-stars.

Training with McQuade for the game, feature of the Falun holiday season, are PO. Peter Davies of Montreal. PO. Hector Smith of Montreal, WO. Harry Read of Medicine Hat, Alta. Flt. Sgt. Lorne Cassidy of Regina, Flt. Sgt. John Gates of Calgary, Sgt. James Flick of Guelph, Ont., Flt. Sgt. Lloyd Kohnke of Dunblane, Sask., Sgt. Hector McLean of Star City, Sask., Sgt. Wilfred King of Gravenhurst, Ont., and PO. William Mainprise of Midale, Sask.

Names of the seven most recent Canadians to arrive were not available.

The townspeople like the airmen and regularly entertain many of them. Many of the boys will observe a colorful Swedish Christmas in Falun homes.

Generally there are few complaints but the internees would like more reading material and they wish the folks back home would write oftener.

on Berlin in seven raids to approximately 11,000 tons—about the weight loosed on devastated Hamburg.

18,000 Tons.

It made the year's total on the capital about 18,000 tons.

The raid was the second big blow on Berlin in eight nights, and bomber command's second big operation of the week. On Monday it cascaded 2,000 tons on Frankfurt and Mannheim-Ludwigshafen.

The casualties on the Berlin raid may have been even less than 17, since the figures lumpted losses from simultaneous small attacks on unspecified targets in central and western Germany. Berlin said one of the targets was Aachen—ancient city of Aix-la-Chappelle, industrial and rail centre in western Germany.

Germany's air defenders did not suspect Berlin was last night's target until it was too late for them to get fighter planes to the capital, returning fliers said.

"We had them absolutely foxed," one squadron leader commented. The R.A.F. and Canadian bombers switched their tactics for the onslaught, flying over the North Sea at midnight instead of following the usual southern route. Previous attacks on Berlin generally have been in the early evening.

Returning crews told of huge fires and a great smoke pall rising as high as 10,000 feet.

"We could see a deep red glow in Berlin from 120 miles away," one pilot said.

"The defences seemed to have no punch in them and I saw only one fighter during the whole operation," a Lancaster gunner asserted.

A significant fact of the new Nazi morale manoeuves was their putting on the radio a soldier home from the Russian front who expressed amazement at the horror of the devastation of Berlin.

This, in addition to being an obvious move to solidify the home front and the eastern front in their crushing reverses, also hinted a return to a "wailing" policy of frankly acknowledging bombing destruction. German propagandists have swung to this method when awful facts have belied their pooh-poohing efforts.

This was one of the first hints that the Berlin bombings had gnawed to the vitals of morale. Up to now the Nazi propaganda lines has been largely a "we can take it" theme.

Pte. G. Turner Suffers Wounds

Just as they were preparing for the Christmas festivities, Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins, 247 Hunter street, received a telegram Thursday night, informing them that their adopted son, Pte. Gerald Henry Turner (better known as Jimmy Higgins), of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, has been wounded overseas December 14. while serving in Italy.

Pte. Turner enlisted March 18, 1940, and went overseas shortly after. He took part in the Sicilian campaign and came through uninjured. Before enlisting he drove a taxi for Fawcett, Howell and Stinson. His father, Mr. Higgins, was overseas with the 93rd Battalion in the last war.

Ortona Battle Still Raging

ALGIERS, Dec. 24 — (AP). — U.S. Marauder bombers attacked the Riviera coast railroad line into Italy yesterday at three places, Imperia, Ventimiglia, and Antheor, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Aground, the 8th Army captured the village of Vezzani, the communique said, and heavy fighting continues in and around Ortona.

From Vezzani, British troops pushed to the outskirts of Villagrande, two miles south-west of Ortona.

On the 5th Army front, troops took a high point a mile east of Acquafondala, but were driven from a mount a half-mile south-east of Viticuso by a Nazi attack.

Last vestiges of German control in Ortona were disappearing to-day as front line reports told of Canadian infantry and tanks having cleared the Nazis from all but the north-western corner of the Adriatic coast town. Announcement of the fall of what once was the eastern anchor of the German defence line in Italy was expected momentarily.

(The German-controlled Paris radio admitted in a broadcast last night that German troops had control of only the north-western sector, adding that the town was

Firemen Seek 15 Guests In Hotel Ruins

HULL, Que., Dec. 24 — (CP). — Weary firemen were expected to begin to-day combing the ruins of the main street Central Hotel as they continued their search for 15 persons missing since fire swept through the 60-year-old structure early yesterday.

Clouds of smoke and steam, believed to be from flames still burning in basement of the hotel and adjoining buildings which also were destroyed, prevented firemen last night from checking through the blackened wreckage in their efforts to account for the missing, all of them guests of the hostel.

Preliminary reports yesterday indicated that 11 to 13 persons, occupying 11 rooms in the 28-room hotel, were unaccounted for, but the number rose to 15 last night after authorities had been able to make a further check.

44 Registered.

Forty-four persons were believed to have been in the hotel when fire reported to have originated in a washroom on the top floor, broke out in the early-morning hours and raced through the three-storey building

The flames quickly spread to adjoining buildings, including a cigar store and a shoe shop. A number of persons living in apartments above the stores fled their homes to safety.

The task of accounting for those in the hotel was made difficult because the hotel registry was destroyed and the intense cold caused those evacuated to seek other shelter immediately, some in hotels and some at the homes of friends.

Occupants of 20 of the hotel rooms had been accounted for up to last night—a total of 29 of the 44 guests.

Inspector J. M. Lavigne, in charge of the search, said no names would be made public until the investigation is completed because "some people probably registered under assumed names and we want to check on every name before making it public."

God's Great Love for World Shown in Gift of His Son

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 26 is Matthew 2 1-12, the Golden Text being John 3 16, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life.")

THE STORY of the birth of Christ, as told by St. Matthew, is brief, in one chapter, the second, although the latter part of the previous chapter tells of an angel appearing to Joseph and telling him that a child was to be born to Mary his wife, and they should name Him Jesus.

Our lesson is contained in 12 verses, commencing, "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, in the days of Herod the king, behold there came wise men from the east of Jerusalem, saying: Where is He that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen His star in the east, and are come to worship Him."

The phrase "wise men" is a translation of the Greek word magi, this being the reason why we speak of the "visit of the magi." The word magi is the root word of our word magic. "The wise men or magi were originally the priestly tribe or caste among the Medes, being the recognized teachers of religion and science. In the great Persian empire they wielded the highest influence and power."

Learned and Rich

They studied astronomy, especially in the form of astrology. They were not kings, as far as we know, but were undoubtedly learned and wealthy men. It was natural that they should go to Jerusalem, because it was the "royal city" where they would expect the Jewish king to be born.

Herod was a particularly wicked man. He was extremely cruel and had put to death his wife and his sons, and of course, while he pretended to be interested in the birth of this Child so that he might worship Him, his real purpose was to kill the child who might prove to be a rival for the throne.

Matthew tells us that the news the magi brought "troubled" Herod and all Jerusalem with him. He called together his chief priests and scribes and demanded of them where such a child was likely to be born and they quoted the old prophecy in Micah 5-2, which said the King should be born in Bethlehem. This prophecy was written in 700 B.C.

The hypocrite, Herod, then called the wise men and told them to resume their search for the Child and then return and tell him, that he, too, might go and worship. You know the magi were warned by an angel and never went back to Jerusalem, but travelled to their homes by another way.

The wise men continued their journey to Bethlehem, and as they went they were guided by the same star in the east, and they followed it, and at last it settled over a house or building in Bethlehem, and then they knew that their search was over.

They dismounted from their camels and entered the room where Mary and the Infant Jesus were, and these rich and learned men fell down on their knees and worshiped the Babe. They also brought gifts to the Infant, gold, frankincense and myrrh, which were appropriate offerings for a king.

Frankincense was choicest of all odors; myrrh was used in burials, preserving from decay, prophesying the mortal death, but incorruptibility of the body of Jesus; and gold was appropriate for the Son of David, the King.

It is thought that these men came to see Jesus some time after the birth, and that the humble shepherds were the very first to see their Master.

To You Is Born a Saviour

To you is born a Saviour,
The Holy Angels sang,
"In swaddling clothes you'll find Him
In royal Bethlehem."

And so the startled shepherds
Their search for Christ began.
And eagerly they sought Him,
The promised Son of Man.

They found the Babe with Mary
Within a manger bed,
No other place was offered
To house that Sacred Head.

And still the world refuses
To let the Saviour in,
They grovel yet in darkness,
In sorrow, pain and sin.

He came to end all sadness
Bring joy, and peace, and rest,
To fill earth's souls with gladness
And make them truly blest.

He lived our life in service
To all who needed Him
His loving heart of pity
Sought saddened hearts to win.

Again we hear His message
"I came to save the lost
My life I gave as ransom"
That was salvation's cost.

"Outside your heart I'm standing,
Before its fastened door,
And pleading now to enter
As oft I've pled before."

"In perfect peace I'll keep you,
If you will let Me in,
And cleanse you in My blood stream
That flowed for all your sin."

Oh! Won't you say, "Lord Jesus
Come, enter, and abide Withing this heart You died for
This blessed Christmastide."

Emmanuel--God With Us

By E. R. JAMES

They Shall Call His Name Emmanuel, Which, Being Interpreted Is, God With Us.
St. Matthew 1:23.

St. Matthew, the Jew, writes these words with deep feeling. He has been brought up in Galilee, the most nationalistic portion of the Holy Land. From his earliest days he breathed in the idea of the importance of his people in the sight of Jehovah. The Jewish race was a peculiar and separated people; separated by Jehovah Himself for the great work of revealing the One Living God to all nations.

The inspiring thought all the days of darkness was that "in the fulness of time" God would send a Man who would be called EMMANUEL, which, being interpreted, is God with us. How thrilling such a thought would be to every loyal Jew. St. Matthew is writing this Gospel—this "Good News" — for Jews who longed for "the consolation of Israel." The heart of many a Jew would warm with the emotion as he read that the day for the fulfillment of this ancient promise had come.

To Christians the word Emmanuel means that not only is God with us, but that In Jesus Christ He has taken upon Himself our complete human nature. Why? That God might know what a real man is like. This knowledge can only come through experience. In sheer contempt Pontius Pilate exclaimed: "Behold, the Man." We place a deeper meaning. We see in the Man God, Who had humbled Himself to the death of the Cross to show man what God is like. "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" is the tremendous claim of the Lord Jesus.

At this Christmas Season we believe that the Babe Jesus is God. This is the outstanding mystery. That Child in the manger is God. A famous modern theologian reminds us that God is not only great but He is little. We all realise that God is almighty. That God is a little Babe, helpless, depending upon others is a new revelation of God. That Babe Jesus has no earthly father. God is His Father, the Virgin Mary His mother. That Babe is no highly gifted child of human parents. If so, He could not be our Redeemer. We get nowhere when we speak of Jesus as the most spiritual Teacher of the ages and leave it at that. Many are quite willing to accept this statement. In the days of His ministry He clearly claimed to be the Son of God. "Therefor the Jews sought to kill Him because He said that God was His Father, making Himself equal with God." St. John 5:18. There are many similar statements and His enemies quickly recognized His claims. Before Pilate the Jews revealed their real charge: "By our law He ought to die, because He made Himself the Son of God."

For three years the Apostles associated with Him. Almost unconsciously they came to give Him the value of God. It was a slow process for they were Jews and hated idolatry. Yet gradually they put their whole trust and confidence in Him. It was not till after the resurrection and ascension that we read of the first Christian martyr, St. Stephen, praying to Jesus and dying with the cry:—"Lord Jesus, receive my spirit; thus commending his soul in to the Hands of Almighty God.

Emmanuel, God with us, teaches moreover that God is with us permanently. He came into this world to change human nature and recreate a new race of men, the new Israel of God. He is with us all the days through His Spirit. He dwells in the hearts of those who receive Him as their Lord and Saviour. And through them God reveals Himself to others. They see the change in the characters of men: a new love, purity and patience which can only be explained by the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. The primitive Christians proved to an unbelieving world that they had a joy and vitality which astonished them. Multitudes died for their faith. Tertullian, the noted Roman lawyer and writer of Carthage, was deeply impressed when he saw slave girls die calmly under terrible torture. This led him to accept Christianity.

What does the world see in us today? The writer prays that the Emmanuel may be in your hearts this Christmas season, blessing you and your families with the truest joys.

HE THAT LOVETH ME SHALL BE LOVED OF MY FATHER AND I WILL LOVE HIM AND WILL MANIFEST MYSELF TO HIM.

A Doctor of the Old School

By REV. A. H. McCONNACHIE

We left the village shortly after 4 p.m. Our farthest call was quite six miles away, probably more, as we went "across country." Our conveyance was a "covered in" cutter which I nicknamed "the pill-box!" The doctor drives one good horse, and he doesn't spare it!

About a mile from the village we leave the road and take to the fields. Thereafter we were mostly in the fields! The "going" was anything but good. The snow was deep. For the most part it had been well tracked by bob-sleighs, but the thaw had spoiled that and it was full of holes, with occasional pitch-holes.

The weather was moderate when we set out and we were fairly comfortable. As a matter of fact, the "pill-box" had been built for one only, not for two grown men in fur coats plus the doctor's outfit. Only the day before the worthy doctor had narrowly escaped serious trouble. In a farm yard, his horse had scared and bolted, and the "pill-box" came to grief at the pump! The windows were smashed, but no serious damage done. So we were without "lights." Card-board is a poor substitute! At the school-house we turn north to face some rough country for our first call. By this time it was blowing hard with snow "in clouds."

In order to see a blizzard "in all its glory" one must watch it sweep over a wide, open space. Well, that "joy" was mine! In the midst of the gale, we made our first call. What can a doctor do for a poor woman suffering from "lonesomeness" and consequent break-down. But assuredly his visit is a wholesome tonic! The country can be lonesome to an extent undreamt of by the city-dweller.

The visit over, the minister squats in the "pill-box" again and "the Doc" standing outside with "the lines" in his hands seeks to turn that "rigg." But it balks, and is just read to keel over when "the man of the house" grabs the uplifted runner and restores it to the level again! Somebody laughs, but not the minister!

We retrace our steps; rather the horse does, and it is marvellous how sure-footed a horse can be! Back again to the school-house, we turn east for our last call. Daylight is fading, the storm is still raging and, with sundown, Jack Frost takes possession again. In the farm house a devoted woman is nearing the end of the road. How devoted she has been! Nearly three score years and "a mother in Israel," beloved of the seven children in her brother's house. Her praise is in the whole community. Doctor and minister perform their last services for the dying. A few hours more and the worn-out heart has ceased to beat.

In that well-ordered farm house, the supper is on the table and we are pressed to stay. But we are anxious to be on the road before the pall of darkness comes down. The farmer does all he can for our comfort and safety. A lamp is lit and fixed on the top of the "pill-box." It helps to make the darkness more intense, but it also casts a light on the horse's rear-quarters and partly on the track. Again we are packed into that "pill-box" and set out for the village. To a city-bred man, it is a matter of wonder how horse and cutter escape disaster on such roads, on such a night! Joy-riding in a car is tame and unexciting compared with "cross-country" work in a cutter in winter-time, especially after dark! Skirting trees, skimming past gate-posts, pitching down into holes, "turning-out" in the midst of a field in deep snow for another cutter that you can hardly see! "One crowded hour" of thrilling life may contain all that! One admires the skill of the driver and the grit of the horse, that faithful friend of man!

Well, we are back in the village, and I crawl out of that "rigg" somewhat cramped and stif, but thankful! I bid the doctor "good-night" and in my heart I admire him more than ever, for I have seen something of the self-sacrificing work of a country practitioner. How few think of it! Like the sailor on the sea, the doctor and his night-vigils are forgotten.

The lonely trips by night, often in zero and below zero weather! The roads full, even the tracks across the fields wiped out by the storm! If there be no heroism in religious life in our day, there is heroism in the medical profession in rural Canada and Scotland too! The doctor who, in mid-winter, answers the call to help some poor woman in the hour of her trouble, or to bring relief to those who agonize in pain, is a hero. Often, in times like these, his only reward is a good conscience, for money is scarce on the farm.

All honor to the country doctor who stays with his job! Once on a time his praise was sung by Ian MacLarin in "A Doctor of the Old School" which W. E. Gladstone declared to be the finest sketch in the Scottish dialect.

God's Great Love and His Gift — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 2:1-12.

When Jesus was born in Bethlehem, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, "Where is He that is born King of the Jews?"

Herod called his scribes and chief priests and demanded of them where Christ should be born, and they said to him in Bethlehem of Judea.

Herod sent the wise men on their way asking them to search for the Babe; the star went before them and stood over where the Babe lay.

When the wise men came to the house and saw the child and his mother they fell down and worshipped Him.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed....And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David), to be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son; and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds, abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of God shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

St. Luke's Gospel.

For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

Isaiah.

Christmas Food

Any discussion of Christmas food in wartime is best carried on in a spirit of fond reminiscence, or perhaps as a form of post-war planning. What traditional observance has given rise to so many noble recipes? What recipes surpass the Christmas ones in richness, in substance, and in the care and time which they demand in preparation? There are people, we know, who eat turkey and plum-pudding on Christmas Day, and think that they have exhausted the whole gamut of Yuletide cookery; we do not despise such people, any more than we despise other heathen, but we pity them profoundly. As if one day could suffice for Christmas cooking! The full Twelve Days of Christmas are needed if we are to do justice to mince pies, beef-steak puddings, tipsy cakes, oilcakes, fruit and plum cakes, chicken pies and roast pig. Not only the great British recipes (including the George I recipe for plum pudding) but the great American ones must be honoured; Martha Washington's cook book makes splendid reading at Christmas time, and it would be as wrong to overlook her directions for roasting a turkey as it would be to flout the Melton Mowbray recipe for making mincemeat.

But at present these recipes must be enjoyed in theory only, as must those which deal with liquid refreshment. Not only because the ingredients are not to be had, but for fear of offending those who become as merry as they are capable of on a glass of cold water, we refrain from mentioning mulled cider punch, New Year's eggnog, and the great drink of wassail, composed deliciously of warm ale and apples. Commonly wassail is served in a bowl, though Dickens warns us "a bowl anywhere but on a shelf is a low superstition, fraught with cooling and slopping" and recommends an earthenware pitcher instead", suffocated with a coarse cloth".

But enough! At present these are mere visions, to be realized in the brave new world to come.

A Century Of Scrooge

It is a hundred years ago this Christmas since Charles Dickens published A Christmas Carol, the story which has delighted men of goodwill at this season ever since. The reason for the special appeal of the tale is not hard to find; is there not a touch of Scrooge in all of us? Let us admit it frankly, have we not all at some time denied a charitable instinct on the pretence of being business-like? Have we not all looked back to happier Christmasses? Have we not seen others enjoy themselves while circumstances compelled us to sit alone? Have we not looked toward the future with fear, seeing a dishonoured and friendless burial as our probable fate? In these things we have resembled Scrooge.

Have we not all been visited, on some Christmas Eve, by the Ghosts of Christmas Past, Christmas Present, and Christmas Yet To Come? Have we not, in some moment of spiritual insight, seen the chain of ledgers and cash-boxes twining about our legs as Scrooge did when he was visited by the ghost of Jacob Marley? He who can deny these things is either a lucky man or a remarkably insensitive one.

Great authors tear these secrets from our breasts and make immortal stories of them. Charles Dickens found the curmudgeon which lurks in the hearts of most men, wrote a story about him, and called him Scrooge. And as we all recognize in Scrooge a part of ourselves, so we rejoice in his conversion into the kindly old fellow who appears at the end of A Christmas Carol. The intimacy and universality of its appeal assures this great story of at least another century of popularity.

His Majesty's Christmas Message

On the King's birthday recently it was announced that His Majesty would broadcast to the people of the Empire on Christmas Day. There was nothing especially surprising about this, as the King has always maintained the custom of the Christmas broadcast which was begun by his father, the late King George V. Yet, when we consider the matter more closely there is something undeniably surprising about these broadcasts: in the fourth decade of the twentieth century a monarch will address a larger empire, and a larger group of subjects than any conqueror who has ever appeared on earth; his hearers live under every sort of government from the dependant state to the self-governing Dominion; though they all acknowledge his sovereign power as symbol of justice, not one of them is subject to his private whim. The British Commonwealth, and its monarchy, is the strangest political phenomenon of all history. The political theorists who see the world moving toward the establishment of vast republics fail utterly to see that the world is really moving toward the establishment of new monarchies; for what is a dictator but a monarch, and what are Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek but dictators,

But to return to His Majesty's broadcast: has anyone forgotten the words with which he closed that broadcast in 1939? "...I feel that we may all find a message of encouragement in the lines which, in my closing words, I would like to say to you: 'I said to the man who stood at the Gate of the Year, Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown. And he replied, Go out into the darkness, and put your hand into the Hand of God. That shall be to you better than light, and safer than a known way'. May that Almighty Hand guide and uphold us all". The year which followed that broadcast was a bitter one, full of disappointment and failure. But it passed, new allies were added to the strength of the Commonwealth, and now our most cautious leaders suggest that the end of the war is within measureable distance. His Majesty's broadcast tomorrow, we may be sure, will reflect that confidence. In this war it has been shown many times that the King is no less courageous than his subjects, and that the least subject may show a courage equal to the King; perhaps that is the essence of real democracy. As we listen to his voice, we shall be sure that we are in the presence of a man who has shared with his people the worst that war has brought—loss of a brother, destruction of his home, and threat to the safety of his wife and children—and who has fully earned that place of honour and affection in our hearts which he gave to his father.

The Christmas Waits

MARY VAN DER MARK in (The Christian Science Monitor)

OPPOSITE the cathedral stood the old house; No. 4 in a short, close-packed row. It was taller than the other houses and leaned a little as though listening for the pealing bells, to which we fancied it swayed in rhythm.

Four little sisters occupied the huge, drafty chamber on the third floor. I was one of them and I remember the long windows, wide open, and the close-up view of the square cathedral tower with its crocketed pinnacles. There were low window-seats, but we seldom sat on them because the windows opened only at the top and it was much more interesting to stand up, as we so often did, two at each window. We enjoyed the fresh air and the view of the High Street corner. The gray bulk of the old cathedral filled half the picture; that seemed to belong to us and we felt sheltered by its nearness and permanence.

EVERY quarter-hour the bells rang out. There were loud booming strokes for the hours, followed by the melody of some old hymn tune when it came to three, six, nine, or twelve. Those ever-chiming bells, the drifts of music, the night sounds and echoes through empty cloistered places, made profound impressions that the years have never effaced. I can still hear the clopping of a solitary hansom cab over cobblestones, breaking a well of silence; and then the Old Hundredth pealing out at midnight, reminding one that respectable folk should be abed. Early summer mornings have I lain, half-awake and halfasleep, aware of the perfume of horse-chestnut trees in bloom and of floating organ melodies from a master's hand; or, in bed at night with closed windows hammered by a big gale, felt the house rock and reverberate, clashing chimes thrown about with the battering rain.

One evening a week a band of bellringers gathered at the cathedral to practice their ancient craft. Annie often talked of chiming and ringing while putting us to bed, for both her father and her "chap," Alfred, were skilled performers. She washed us and brushed our hair downstairs in the big warm kitchen, and no dilly-dallying was allowed on Monday nights. We were soon upstairs and the candle quickly snuffed out, while Annie hurried off to get things tidied up because Alf Checkitts would be around for a word with her when ringing was done.

WE liked to hear the bells as we lay in bed. first, the preliminary uncoordinated strokes which meant that the bells were getting up, and then the dashing merry changes involving what Annie told us were bobs, plain and treble, Oxford singles, majors and minors; especially we loved the fascinating ripple of the velvety muffled peal practiced for some joyous occasion like a Jubilee or for Christmas.

Most enchanting of all music around the old house was that of the Christmas waits, singing carols in the night stillness of empty streets. They could be expected a week or so before Christmas and our only fear was that we might sleep too soundly and miss them. But one or another would surely wake and call excitedly: "It's the Waits! Kiki; Elsie!" and we'd all be listening in the dark, enraptured.

We never saw the mysterious singers, though they visited all the quiet corners around the cathedral. The voices came from different directions; hence we imagined them in the Close the College Green, or the little square in front of the Lichgate. Thrilled we were, lying in our deep feather-beds and wishing the singing would never stop. No songs were ever like those. How clear and piercingly sweet the carols sounded on a cold frosty night! No snow, just white moonlight on the tower and black shadows behind dusky archways and flying buttresses. Half a century and a few thousand miles slip aside. I hope the waits are still singing their joyful songs and the bells ringing again.

Fifth Victory Loan Record

Final figures just released show that Canadians set a new record of success for war borrowing during the Fifth Victory Loan campaign. A greater number of individual subscribers than ever before bought bonds worth $1,383,275,250—$183,275,250 more than the increased minimum objective announced for the loan. Every classification exceeded its objective by a wide margin, and an additional $188,036,300 worth of bonds were sold in exchange for other Dominion securities which matured or were called for redemption.

It is a record of which Canadians may well be proud. The huge sum subscribed is of tremendous economic importance to the future of this country and to individual Canadians. Beyond and above that, however, there will be the gratifying sense of duty well done, of faith kept with the men of our services overseas, to whom this money means assurance of the means to continue their brave fight. This community, with all others which topped their objectives, shares fully in the satisfaction which will greet the figures made public by Finance Minister Ilsley—and not the least cause of that satisfaction is the statement that the loan was floated at a new low cost of 88 cents per $100.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

American Aircraft

We hear German complaints of their aerial inferiority on certain sectors of the Russian front, and though Russia will owe most of her own fine planes it may be that the tilting of the balances, the actual gaining of superiority, came with the American Airacobra. As a fighter it has defects, yet one Soviet group using it shot down 33 Germans for the loss of three—proof of the effective use of a fighter one-half of whose total production has been sent to Russia. Our own aircraft have much to do with the wasting of the German West and with the successes in South Italy, but it is the Americans who have brought plentitude and the wide and easy margin. In the Far East, American aircraft have the field almost to themselves, and the broken bases and wrecked supply lines of Japan show how much of the war here is airborne.—Manchester Guardian.

Good Reason For Silence

When repatriated prisoners arrive home, they will have some gruesome stories to tell. They have been cautioned against repeating them publicly, but it is not within human nature for them to keep silent when conversing with friends and relatives. It is these latter who must have a guard on their tongues. It must always be remembered that there are still many of our people in the hands of the enemy, and we know that the Axis thugs will visit vengeance on anyone within their power if too much currency is given to stories of abuses in the prisoner and internee camps.—Windsor Star.

Traced in Oxford's Buildings

MOST old towns are like palimpsests, parchments which have been scrawled over again and again by their successive owners. Oxford, though not one of the most ancient of English cities, shows, more legibly than the rest, the handwriting, as it were, of many generations. The convenient site among the interlacing waters of the Isis and the Sherwell has commended itself to men in one age after another. Each generation has used it for its own purpose....

No set of its occupants, before the last two centuries began, was very eager to deface or destroy the buildings of its predecessors. Old things were turned to new uses, or altered to suit new tastes; they were not overthrown and carted away. Thus, in walking through Oxford, you see everywhere, in colleges, chapels, and churches, doors and windows which have been builded up; or again, openings which have been cut where none originally existed. The upper part of the round Norman arches in the Cathedral has been preserved, and converted into the circular bull's-eye lights which the last century liked. It is the same everywhere, except where modern restorers have had their way. Thus the life of England, for some eight centuries, may be traced in the buildings of Oxford.—From "Oxford," by Andrew Lang. (London: Seeley Service.)

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

I WISH that there were some way in which the war brides and the little young engaged girls could be made to realize that when the war is over and their Johnnies come marching home that they will not be the same boys they kissed good-bye when they left, and that they should be preparing themselves for these strange men who are coming into their lives, as the fortune tellers say.

When they think of their husbands and fiances, they see them as they look in the photographs on their dressing tables—young and handsome and boyish, full of the high spirits of youth, wanting to dance and go places and have good times, asking nothing of them except to stay pretty and slim, and know the Lindy Hop, and be always ready to step out with them.

But, alas, there is no going back in life. There is no repeating an old happiness. There is no way to summon again the thrill of a vanished day. No human being remains static. He or she goes forward, or backward, is touched and molded by new experiences, time takes its toll of even our most beloved so that when we come together again we meet almost as strangers.

And if this is true of what separation does to the human relationship in normal times and under normal conditions, in war it is a thousand times more potent to change the individual. No man who goes through the drastic training of the soldier; who lives the rough life of the camp for two or three years, where his only associates are other fighting men; who faces danger and death, is ever again an irresponsible carefree boy.

He is a man who has been sobered by suffering, who is wiser through experience, who has different ideals, different standards, and it is these changed husbands that the starry-eyed brides and the romantic girl sweethearts should prepare themselves to meet. For the day of the clinging vine woman and the child wife is over. Definitely. There will be no place in the post-war world for baby-talk ladies and sweeties who are nothing but pretty pieces of bric-a-brac.

For men will come out of the war with a different ideal of women. They will have seen women who faced every catastrophe of the war, even the death of their nearest and dearest, without a whimper. Women who bore incredible burdens without flinching under them. Women who stood side by side with surgeons over operating tables until they dropped with fatigue. Women, used to luxury and softness, who toiled in munitions factories and did the most menial labour. Women with as high a sense of duty and who were as faithful and loyal as any knight of old.

And to these men the women who sat down and cry for a mink coat, or who wail over not being able to get silk stockings, or who, in a world drenched in blood and torn with agony, have nothing to talk about except the length of skirts, and who have not even had the strength to be faithful to their husbands and sweethearts and to give up their good times for the sake of the men who are risking their lives for them, will seem pretty poor cheap creatures, not worthy of any man's love.

So I would urge every war bride and every girl who is twirling an engagement ring on her finger, to get ready to meet this new man who is coming home from the war, and who is going to demand so much more of her than the husbands of the past have done. It isn't going to be enough for her to have kept her figure and to have kittenish ways and a line of baby-talk. The only wife who is going to keep her husband is the one who has grownup, even as he has; who is an intelligent companion, and who will be a real helpmate who will put her shoulder to the wheel and pull her share of the load.

On every side of us we hear young women complaining that they are lonesome now that their husbands or boy friends are in the war; that they are bored; that they are tired of sitting at home of evenings with Mama and Papa; that they don't know what to do with themselves. If they were wise, they would be putting in time improving their minds, taking courses in college, going to night school, studying foreign languages, learning to cook and sew, so that they would be more interesting to live with when their husbands come back, and know how to make them more comfortable homes.

And, above all, every girl should be fitting herself for some gainful occupation because, alas, many men are going to come back from the war unable to ever again be money-makers, and the support of the family will fall upon the wife.

And it is for this contingency that every bride and every engaged girl should prepare herself. Pray God it may not happen to her. But if it does, let her be ready for it.

Crowded As Well As Tight

A report from Ottawa states that the number of cattle and calves in the Dominion today is 9,600,000. This is probably the largest number on record, the prewar figure being just over 8,000,000.

It may surprise many people to know, particularly farming people, that there are many millions more livestock in the British Isles than in Canada. There are 3,654,217 square miles of land in Canada, and only 94,284 in the United Kingdom. The average prewar number of cattle in Britain was 13,000,000. Canada's prewar hog population averaged around 4,000,000; in Britain 5,000,000. Canada's prewar sheep population was under 4,000,000; in Britain 30,000,000. Canada had 3,000,000 horses on farms: Britain 1,500,00.

With 18,000,000 acres of land under cultivation, giving a much higher cereal yield than almost any other farms in the world, it is not surprising to learn that Britain is today about two-thirds self-supporting with regard to food. Millions of acres have been appropriated for airfields, training grounds and camps and for special war factories. The normal human population is 45,000,000 and probably remains the same despite the great number of men and women in overseas theatres of war, their places being taken by Canadian, American and other soldiers.

Altogether, the United Kingdom is not only "a tight little isle," but a pretty crowded one.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Tragedy Averted

It is not likely that such hardened campaigners as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten will waste more than a shoulder-shrug over the narrow escape they had when a dining room roof collapsed a few hours after they left the room. They have missed death by far closer margins without making any fuss over it. But the rest of us, to whom sudden death is more of a stranger, may be pardoned a shudder or two at what might have been. To have lost these men, at a time when their qualities of leadership are truly invaluable, would have been a crippling blow to the United Nations.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

They Die For Others

It is grievous to think how many splendid young lives have been given in recent months in these raids upon Germany, lives which represent the flower of British youth. But we must not forget what these courageous airmen have accomplished. Their lives have been given for their comrades; for, as Sir Archibald Sinclair claimed, their successes are shortening the war and are reducing the toll that the Allied armies will have to pay for victory.—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

A Bible Message

Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches: but let him that glorieth in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me that I am the Lord which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord. (Jer. 9: 23, 24.)

And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God.... And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God....

But as it is written, Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yet, the deep things of God. (I Cor. 2: 1, 4, 5, 9, 10.)

PENSION FOR POLICE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In your issue of the twenty-frist instant, under the heading, "How Time Flies" 1918, I notice, "Chief of Police Thompson is advocating a Pension System for the Petreborough Police Department," and in the next space I read a letter from a well known insurance man, advocating a similar measure at this late date. I was amazed to think that a city like ours has not such a system for its Police and Firemen, when only the other day and on many occasions when in Toronto I have heard the Toronto Police and other enforcement bodies openly state that very few law breakers escape Peterborough. They mentioned by-gone cases in which Chief Newhall, when a detective, rounded up crooks year after year in Peterborough, after they had systematically operated all through the Dominion. Almost to a man they were arrested here—some for murder that were sent back to the States.

The firm, where I am employed, know the value of your Police Force, as we have been the victims of desperadoes and no better police work could have been done, and to think that when these officers have to resign after more than half a lifetime in risky work and never at any time a pleasant occupation, on a limited salary, what is to keep the "Wolf away from the door" these days? Surely, as the writer states, they are worthy of it, I assure you.

H. JAMISON.

Mouse Traps Himself

Did you ever read the story of the fat Eskimo who crawled into an igloo for a feast and then ate so much he couldn't get back out of the passageway?

There are some mice in the West Indies who do much the same thing. They just love cocoanuts. So a mouse nibbles a hole in the cocoanut of his choice, squeezes inside, and eat and eats and eats and eats. The cocoanut and the milk make him fat. When he tries to get out, the hole proves too small. So he lies down and goes to sleep, and then, when he wakes up, and could easily get out, the cocoanut proves to be too much of a temptation. He satisfies his hunger with more cocoanut.

Perhaps he isn't bright enough to think of making the hole larger. Or perhaps he is too lazy. Or it may be that he finds the cocoanut prison just too much of a heavenly place to leave.

Anyway, in that cocoanut he stays until some native comes along and picks the queer trap from the tree, and finds he has caught himself a mouse.—Irene U. Hartwell in Our Dumb Animals.

Great Projects Open Northwest For War, Peace

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, Dec. 24 (CP). —It took a war to tame Canada's much-storied northland, but this great territory enters 1944 sprinkled with the sweat of it's conquerers—a huge invasion force that broke it down through sheer inventive genius and fortitude.

Dictates of the war made necessary the opening of the northwest, linking the arsenals o the United States and Canada with outlying defence posts. Today it bristles with a chain of strategically-situated airports, and planes, both Canadian and American, range far out into the Pacific along the great sword of the Aleutians pointing at the heart of Japan.

The path-finding for this hitherto comparatively unexplored region was blazed by a band of daring Canadian bush pilots and the pioneer work proved to be of inestimable value when the time came for building the 1,630-mile Alaska Highway to the Yukon, and allied projects, including the $130,000,000 Canol oil project at Fort Norman, N. W. T., the longest open-wire telephone line in the world, stepping-stone stop-offs for Russia-bound planes and the world's longest overland mail route.

The highway snakes its way from Dawson Creek, B. C., to Whitehorse, Y. T., through wild timberlands, over treacherous muskegs and up along the lofty glacier regions of the Yukon and Alaska. An American undertaking, the $115,000,000 road was started in March, 1942, and was officially opened as a pioneer road nine months later.

A Co-operative Effort

Although built with American funds, it will become Canadian property after the war, with the stipulation that no discrimination be made against traffic originating in the United States.

Thousands of United States army engineer troops, bolstered by American and Canadian civilian crews, fought and hacked their way through hitherto untrammelled land. These men worked with heart-breaking speed in weather that slithered from above-zero temperature to 40 and 50 degrees below zero.

Bridges were built over treacherous rivers as the workers went along, Some, including the $1,750,000 suspension bridge over the swift-flowing Peace River, compare favorably with any in the cities of Canada and the United States.

Canol, developed to provide much-needed fuel for the United States army in Alaska and Canada, is about 1,500 miles of pipeline with the Norman Wells oilfields on the Mackenzie River as its source. Completion of this project is scheduled for Jan. 15.

Farthest North Oilfield

Canol, which stands for the Canadian Oil Lines, is the farthest north oil field in the world, approximately 1,000 miles north of Calgary by air.

The U. S. army signal corps also entered the picture for development of the north, completing in November, 1943, the final link in the 2,206-mile telephone system form Edmonton to Fairbanks, Alaska. It marked the first time in history overland telephone communication between the United States and its largest territorial possession was possible.

The system extends from Edmonton to Fairbanks along the route of the Alaska Highway, then stretches from Fairbanks to Anchorage paralleling the Alaska Railroad.

Another by-product of the highway is the daily overland mail route from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks. Mail for both Canadians and Americans along the various posts and stations on the highway is sorted at Edmonton, shipped by Northern Alberta Railway to Dawson Creek and then taken over by the U. S. army postal trucks.

The 1,600-mile run from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks takes a total elapsed time of three days, 19 hours.

Wood Cutters Set Record At Cavan

CAVAN, Dec. 24 — (ENS). — The Pretty River Logging Camp, a lumber camp owned by E. C. Burns, R. Sutherland and J. Perdue of Peterborough, is in operation in a woodlot on lot 3, concession 7, consisting of 200 acres.

Work began on September 17, with 11 Finlanders as wood cutters. The men worked every day, including Sundays until December 20 and during that period the total lost time, through sickness, absenteeism or bad weather was 7 man days. The 11 men worked 77 consecutive days each which would equal 777 man days. Not one day was deliberately lost and there was no turn over in labor.

During that period 1,500 cord of fuelwood, 300,000 feet of lumber logs, 10,000 fence posts and 500 telegraph poles were cut.

Twenty local men have accomplished, skidding the logs, and swamping the fuel wood, from the piles in the bush, to a clearance, where it can be picked up by the trucks and building a modern lumber mill. At present, trucks, are busily engaged in hauling the wood to Peterborough and other points.

As soon as the lumber mill is in full operation trucks and teams will haul the lumber to Dranoel Station for shipment. The company will erect a modern shingle mill immediately after the New Year.

In appreciation of this outstanding work, the wood cutters were honored by a Christmas dinner party on December 20.

After dinner the rooms were cleared and dancing followed, the music by Messrs. George Monahan, Mike Conway, Tom Hannah and Ray Nelson, violins, accompanied by Mrs. Pat Perdue at the piano.

Those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Perdue and family Downeyville; Mrs. D. Johnston of Ida; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wood; Mrs. Monahan and family; Dr. E. M. Crough with his sister, Mrs. Raymond; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Sheehy and Mrs. Leider, all from Peterborough. The remainder of the 80 people present were from the local community.

Britons Ponder Position After War

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 24—(CP)—Britain during 1943 was a nation which scented victory with the enemy and, in reaction, moved to a gradual return to peacetime wars within herself in forms which were slow to take shape.

That was the inevitable reaction to conference upon momentous conference of Allied leaders, to virtually unstemmed triumphs of British arms in the field, to the collapse of Italy, the defeat of the U-boats and the aerial onslaught against Germany.

Against that background of events favorable to optimism, domestic Britain began to take stock of things at home after four tough years of conflict.

Britons looked with an unplumbed degree of satisfaction at the government of Winston Churchill and his merger of Conservative, Labor, Liberal and neutral minds. That coalition born in the stress of 1940 had worked and after a couple of 1943 shuffles it was still working.

They looked at the King's speech of November ushering in the heaviest legislative session of the war and heaved a sigh of relief because it had appeared that Churchill was never going to get round to thinking of the peace. Now here were his proposals for social security, post-war employment, training of the disabled persons, education, rebuilding of torn cities and towns, utilization of land, and reform of electoral laws.

Basis For Argument

Britons weren't sure this was everything they wanted nor that what was suggested was the way they would like it. But here was the basis for argument about the sort of country Britain was going to be in the new peace.

They looked at politically neutral Lord Woolton and didn't envy this man of big business his tasks as minister of reconstruction. But they felt, it was another stroke of Churchill wisdom in choosing to plan the new Britain a popular man who had fed them well and soundly when there wasn't much food to do it.

Major political parties they found were still embracing the electoral truce which meant that the House of Commons of 1943 did not differ greatly from the House of 1940.

They looked at the Labor Party and found the same old faces in the spots that meant something, whether within the party or without; Herbert Morrison as Home Secretary, faithful to the coalition, a little man alternately winning and losing; solid Ernest Bevin as Minister of Labor, a man who had been tough and honest and won her respect; Clement Attlee as deputy prime minister, and Arthur Greenwood as Labor Leader in the House.

Position of Labor

They looked at Labor and thought that here was a party which would soon have to heed the call to battle, and that the way it decided—to dissolve the Coalition or to continue it—might well decide the issues of the next election, be it in peace or in war.

A look at the Conservatives revealed, too, many of the old faces—the Churchills, the Edens, the Andersons, leaders of a party still predominant in numbers in a House that has entered its ninth year.

They looked back through the 12 months just gone and thought of the men who had stirred their thoughts—of Beveridge and his plan just now beginning to bud in abridged form, of Wavell and India, of Sir Kingsley Wood and his death on the eve of the presentation in Parliament of the nation's first pay-as-you-go income tax—the plan he had fathered, of Beaverbrook and his return to the Cabinet, of Mosley, the ailing Fascist whose release from prison aroused parts of the country to fury, of Montgomery and Alexander and Mountbatten, and Cunningham going in for Sir Dudley Pound who had worked himself to death.

Then there were arguments about coal and controls and civil aviation, and looking ahead, Britons saw arguments about those and a hundred other things.

Ahead they saw the year Mr. Churchill had predicted would be the climax year of the war. They saw, too, the year that would thrash out the plans for the peace.

Rocket Weapon No Worry To Englishmen

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 24 (AP). — The average person in Britain isn't much concerned about the possibility of a German rocket bomb crashing down on him.

The German propaganda campaign on the rocket bombs—which is probably intended to console the Germans as much as it is to worry the Allies—hasn't succeeded in supplanting as prime topics of public rumination:

1. When is the war going to be over?

2. The shortage of Christmas toys.

3. Where can one buy a bottle of whiskey?

The closest that opinion on the possibility of rocket attack on Britain can be pin-pointed in this:

Although there is not even enough interest to engender much wagering, the curbstone odds are even money that no rocket shell lands inside the London area.

At no time has any great accuracy been attained by ordinary guns across the channel, and the man in the street figures that rocket projectiles fired from an open chute like a Fourth of July rocket, have even less chance of hitting Piccadilly Circus on the nose.

A few who went through the blitz here and who are pessimistically confident that anything might happen aren't fazed. They just display a "we can take it" attitude.

When the average person is asked about his feelings on the rocket the question leads, along with all others, into the beginning of a conversational cul-de-sac—"You don't know where I can get a turkey for Christmas or a bottle of whiskey, do you?"

3 Cornered Fight Looms At Oshawa

OSHAWA, Dec. 24 — (CP). — Although civic nominations will not be held until next Monday, a three-cornered contest for the Oshawa mayoralty is ready assured. Announcements were made today that Alderman Russell D. Humphreys and A. Gordon Davis would seek the honor, held for the last two years by Mayor W. H. Gifford, along with Sidney G. Carnell a former alderman.

Coinciding with the announcement of the definite mayoralty contest is the formation under the title Oshawa Non-Partisan Voters' Association. The organization has as its objective stimulation of interest by Oshawa citizens in the municipal affairs on Election Day January 3, and the election of the civic representatives who will give the city sane progressive municipal government.

Liked Poison

ELGIN, Ill., Dec. 24 (AP). —Last April, because of the mounting cost of food and the shortage of zoo attendants, park commissioners decided to liquidate the three black bears of Lord's Park. The animals, fed enough potassium cyanide and strychnine to kill scores of men, begged for more. The poison idea was given up. Yesterday the three bears succumbed to rifle bullets.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

Detroit Trims Rangers; Goalie Injured

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A current history on the rise and fall of Detroit Red Wings can be written almost exclusively around Modere (Mud) Bruneteau, now serving his ninth season with the world champions.

Without saying flatly that "as Bruneteau goes, etc" these facts are worth emphasizing:

Last November 28, Brunetcau scored two goals (his 14th and 15th of the season) as Detroit defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 6-4 to move within two points of the second place. He didn't score again until last night, when Wings walloped New York Rangers 5-3 in the only scheduled National Hockey League game.

In the interval, the 1942-43 Stanley Cup bosses won one and tied one of eight contests. The muffling of their chief sniper marked a toboggan ride from third to fifth place.

While Bruneteau must be the chief character in any plot about the Wings, some space should be reserved for Normie Smith, the 38 year old netminder who has guarded the nets for Detroit in their last two winning games. Smith was beaten last night on shots by Dutch Hiller, Johnny Mahaffy and Bill Gooden, but the 20 saves he made indicated he has lost none of the agility which marked his play prior to his "retirement" five years ago.

Two closely - spaced scoring bursts enabled Detroit to record their largest scoring total in three weeks before a slim home crowd of 5,646. Hiller opened for Rangers 35 seconds after the first face-off but Joe Carveth counted twice before the period ended to send Detroit into the lead. After Mahaffy tied it up at 3:54 of the second, Bruheteau's two goals and one by Don Grosso gave the Wings a safe 5-2 margin. Gooden ended the scoring at 13:28 of the third period.

The Detroit victory, which moved them within three points of the fourth-place Chicago Black Hawks, broke a two-game winning streak for Rangers, who suffered two possibly graver blows in injuries to goalie Ken McAuley and Grant Warwick.

McAuley, regarded as one of the leagues most promising backstops, was struck in the face by a puck from the stick of Carl Liscombe, returned to the game to finish the second period and then went to hospital with a possible fractured jaw. He was then replaced by 16-year-old Harry Lumley of Owen Sound and Barrie, Ont., Detroit's spare goalie who has been playing with Indianapolis Caps of the American League.

Warwick also received a head injury in the second period and was taken to hospital for observation.

SPORTS - Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

So far as the 'rassling fraternity is concerned the season of peace on earth, goodwill towards men, is not going to be broken next week. It had been expected that next Tuesday night would see the Tunney entourage back in action at the Brock in a bigger and better edition of the knock-him-down-and-drag-him-out art but Promoter Frank Tunney sent word last night that there will be nothing doing until the following Tuesday, January 4. "I tried to book the rowdy Karl Davis with Hard Boiled Hannigan as the feature attraction next Tuesday night," the impressario stated "but Davis, although willing to meet the big fellow from Brooklyn asked for another week to get ready for the bout so I expect it will be the main bout on January 4th. You can hardly blame Davis for not rushing into this battle at that for Hannigan is a powerhorse. He weighs around 280 pounds and he doesn't care what opponent he hits with that weight either. Tunney intimated that the two giants would be backed up by an all-star cast providing a bill that would get the wrestling game away to a good start again after a two weeks' layoff. The Davis-Hannigan clash is expected to suply more fireworks than any tussle yet carded here on account of the size of the gladiators. Between them the two weigh just under a quarter of a ton and both are rough-house performers.

* * * * * *

The New York Rangers have plenty of luck but it seems to be all bad. Last night in Detroit the Young Men of Manhattan not only lost to the Red Wings 5 to 3 which was bad enough but on top of that they lost the services of their goalie Ken McAuley who was taken to hospital with a suspected jaw fracture and of the fast-travelling Grant Warwick who suffered a head injury. The Rangers cannot afford to lose any playing strength and McAuley and Warwick have been two of their best bets. The victory of course was appreciated by the Detroit club which hasn't been going any too well lately, Mud Bruneteau who must have lost his putter in recent games regained his scoring touch for the Wings last night and fired two goals and Joe Carveth also fattened his average with a pair. Detroit had to lend the Rangers their spare goalie, the 16-year-old Harry Lumley to finish the game after Warwick was hurt.

American League Highlights

Some interesting highlights are revealed in skimming over the American League averages released this week. For one thing they show that Detroit's rookie outfielder Dick Wakefield had a great season for a freshman. Steve O'Neill predicted that the youngster would do great things with the willow and Wakefield more than made good. He went to bat oftener than any player in the loop, 633 times to be exact, and his total of 91 runs scored was just back of Case's 102 and Charlie Keller's 97 while his 275 total bases was topped only by Rudy York's league-leading record of 301. In addition Wakefield became the 16th player in major league history to make 200 or more hits in his first full season, duplicating Johnny Pesky's feat of the season before. The rookie Tiger also led the loop in doubles with 38. Another feature was the fact that Frank Crosetti of the Yanks lost his standing as the best target in the league. For a number of years Crosetti had enjoyed the dubious distinction of having been hit oftener with pitched balls than any player in the American League. During the last season however he had to turn over the championship in that department to Mickey Vernon, first sacker of the Washington Senators who was plugged ten times as against seven for Crosetti and Joe Kuhel.

* * * * * *

Chat Laabs, one of the leading distance hitters in the circuit led in strikeouts, whiffing 105 times. There is nothing new in that, however. It will be remembered that the season Babe Ruth set the alltime record of hitting 60 home runs in a season he also led the loop in taking three swings and a drink of water. Worthy of note too is the fact that managerial responsibility seems to have had no ill effect upon the defensive playing of Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians who led the shortstops for another season winding up with a fielding mark of .970 on 25 errors in 841 chances. Boudreau also set a new American League record for shortstops participating in double-plays for the season. Lou figuring in 122. The old mark was 120, held by Frank Crosetti of the Yanks. American League pitchers not only pitched well but they fielded in great style for the figures show that no fewer than 22 hurlers who took part in ten games or more went through the whole campaign without an error, and Russ Christopher of the Athletics handled 73 chances with only one skip which is nice defensive work in any man's league.

Service Teams Out

Bill Walshe contemplating the hockey situation as it looks to him from the home of Hockey's Fall of Fame fears that Army and Navy hockey may get the same treatment as has been handed out in R.C.A.F. circles. Says the Kingston scribe: "If some of the rumors are correct there may be no scheduled senior hockey at all for servicemen in the new year. The bombshell that blasted all R.C.A.F. teams out of senior and junior hockey may also explode in the Navy and Army, although the Army settled its puck policy early in the season and is not likely to change again. Officials refused to be quoted when questioned regarding the report that the soldiers and sailors would soon follow the airmen and drop all affiliations with Allan or Memorial Cup teams. There was also a report, from an authoritative source, that the National Hockey League would be asked by Ottawa to shorten its schedule and playoffs. There has been much adverse criticism about young players engaging in hockey as a profession while other boys are in the services or war factories. The hockey problem is also being used as political propaganda and that is dynamite that may explode anywhere. Officials of R.C.A.F. hockey teams are blamed for the decision from Ottawa. They killed the goose that was laying the golden egg, just as heads of armed hockey in Montreal and Toronto spoiled senior play for soldiers. Kingston is one of the few areas operating a senior soldier team, but military training and army orders come first. Soldier members of the Kingston club play and practice in their own free time while most of their mates are generally attending shows, visiting tap rooms and dances or just strolling the street with nothing special to do."

* * * * * *

"While the rumors may be just a lot of talk, it is certain there will not be any service teams playing in Dominion-wide eliminations for the Allan or Memorial Cups next spring," the Walshe article goes on. "There are plenty of good junior teams that do not include servicemen and there are a few senior clubs composed of civilians but with the pick of the puck talent in the service the Allan Cup, and also the Stanley Cup, are rather empty honors without them. If, by good play and good fortune, Kingston Fron-

Rotarians Face 170 Applications To Play Hockey

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 24. — (ENS). — The greatest difficulty Rotarians are experiencing with boys' hockey this year is in finding sufficient ice time to give all an opportunity to play. According to a report made following a directors meeting called by William Hogle to go into problems arising out of their projected school hockey club, the list of potential hockey material has already grown from the preliminary estimate of less than 100 players to a club comprising 80 boys and 90 girls.

Coach and intsructor Pat Shannon says it is the intention of the directors to have as much time as possible devoted exclusively to hockey, and this holds particularly true in so far as the boys are concerned. But girls will also have a chance to play and they will be trained as hockey players in so far as time permits. It must be recognized, however, that considerable time will have to be allowed for the development of the potential hockey material.

Too Many Players.

In regard to the totally unexpected list of 170 players—or at lease of those who want to take advantage of the training that is being provided, the club was caught more or less off guard, and as a result only tentative playing schedules have been arrived at. It is believed that by careful manipulation of the various teams every boy and girl will be able to either skate or play hockey at least twice and possibly three times a week.

After school re-opens in the New Year, Davidson's Arena will be available every afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock for hockey and every Saturday morning it will be open for skaters depending on ice conditions. During the Christmas holidays the Arena will be open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon every week day for Rotary Club hockey, and the following schedule has been arranged:

December 27 — 9-10 a.m., boys, ages 9-12 inclusive; 10-11 a.m., remainder of Public and Separate Schools boys; 11-12 noon, High School boys only.

December 28 — 9-10 a.m., girls ages 9-12 inclusive; 10-11 a.m., remainder of Public and Separate Schools girls; 11-12 noon, High Schools girls only.

Playing time for the remainder of the week will be allotted after the first workout. It is pointed out that Mr. Shannon will be at the rink to instruct the players and will be in complete charge of both boys and girls during hockey and skating hours.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 24—(AP)—First word on the big league baseball group touring Alaska comes from Pte. Howard Kosbau, editor of the "Sourdough Sentinel," via tub-thumper Jackie Farrell of the Yankees...The big leaguers have visited many military installations in Alaska and the Aleutians, mostly talking (naturally, with Frank Frisch along) and Kosbau reports they've made a tremendous hit... "In fact," he says, "the soldiers would rather talk to a big league baseball player than to Betty Grable"...There's been just one drawback to the tour. Hank Borowy has become such a k.p. expert since the baseballers had to cook their own bacon and eggs and wash the dishes that he's afraid he'll never escape those duties at home...

Cleaning the Cuff

It would be a great duel between Sammy Baugh of Washington Redskins and Sid Luckman of Chicago Bears if they ran the ball instead of throwing it at Chicago Sunday. Sid tried to run 22 times for a net loss of 40 yards and Sammy lost 44 yards on 19 tries...Miss Pat Kay, probably the youngest feminine horse trainer in the business, is only "exercise boy" for her horse, Coley Bay, at Miami...Pat is only 18 and Florida won't give her a trainer's permit until she's 21 although she has papers in Illinois.. At 81, Connie Mack says that all a pitcher needs is a good fast ball and a good curve...How about a punctured eardrum?

Neither Time Nor War Can Alter the Essential Spirit of Christmas!

The warm, bright fires of home, bulging stockings by the fireplace, smells of spice and mistletoe, the high expected laughter of re-unions, the unbroken circles around the dinner table . . this essential spirit of Christmas cannot be broken by time or war. These are the things for which our boys are fighting, and it is our sincere wish that they may be home with us again soon to fill the gaps at the table . . then we will rejoice

Rugby Overtime Top Freak In 1943 Sport

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.— (AP). — Step up and have a look at sports' freak show for 1943, folks.

An extra-inning football game between Ohio State and Illinois was chosen as the sport oddity of the year by 43 of the 75 sports writers voting in the annual Associated Press poll on the year's sports oddities.

The banishment of Bill Cox from baseball for betting on ball games was far back in second place, with only four first-place votes and 26½ points. However, the boys had a lot of trouble making up their minds whether Bill's ouster or the story he told Commissioner K. M. Landis in his appeal was the odder oddity.

In third place with 17½ points was Clint Wager, the Chicago Cardinals' end, who fractured his jaw while trying a drop-kick.

Altogether 70 different items were listed in the poll, all the way from the one Norman Coder of the St. Joseph (Mo.) News-Press forwarded about pro football referee Jimmy Cain trying to slip into his small daughter's nightgown, thinking it was a sweatshirt, right up to the story about the West Virginia Hunter who wrestled a big deer after slightly wounding him—and hanging on to him, too.

But that Illinois-Ohio State game was the headliner. The gun went off with the score tied 26-26; the two squads went to thier locker rooms and the customers started home to dinner. Then head linesman P. C. Goebel announced there was an offside on the last play, so the two squads came back out 12 minutes later for one more play. A lot of the players were only half dressed. An Ohio State's John Stungis kicked a 25-yard field goal.

Smoke Eaters Mooted For Allan Cup

VANCOUVER, Dec. 24 — (CP). — Allan Cup tip: Watch Trail Smoke Eaters.

With a nucleus of several of the topnotchers who led the Smoke Eaters to the Canadian Senior Hockey Championship in 1938, Trail has been playing in comparative obscurity until this week when Smoke Eaters hooked up with the strong Calgary Army team.

When Smoke Eaters outscored Calgary 9-6 in the first game, Calgary's travel weariness seemed to be a logical reason but that didn't stand up when the Smokies trounced the Soldiers 9-3 in the second game. Although beaten 10-5 in the third battle, Smokies have shown definite title possibilities.

Smokie players including Joe Benoit, Bunny Dame, Ab Cronie, Mike Buckna and Jimmy Norris, are divided among three teams in the Trail commercial league and an all-star team will be picked for the Provincial playoffs.

Meanwhile in British Columbia's only organized league—the Pacific Coast senior circuit — three service teams have been walloping the man-poor civilian trio rather consistently.

The outstanding team on recent form, Sea Island R.C.A.F. Seahawks, was liquidated by the Air Force ban. Seahawks are tied in first place with Esquimalt Navy. The Airmen have a smooth attack and Navy's strong point is its defence featuring Chuck Rayner in goal.

Nanaimo Army Commanders, pre-season favorites, have played in-and-out hockey and are two games behind the leaders with a record of six wins and six losses.

Victoria Machinery Depot, the best of the civilian trio, might have passed the Soldiers but for their inconsistent form.

Vancouver St. Regis are fifth and New Westminster Lodestars sixth, both well behind the leaders.

City Leaguers Stage Christmas Roll

The Stags were the only team to take three points in Men's City League at Duffus alleys last night as they reeled off 3684 pins to take high pinnage on the night with the Westclox as their victims. Cleanrites had high single team game with a nice 1381 as they took Genelco Ramblers two games to one.

Dick Pearson put on a one man show with high singles of 356 and 352 for high three of 874 for the night as Fractional Motors downed the K. of C. team.

Jay's, Machine Shop, Freeman's Big Five and Outlaws gathered in two points from Gimblett, Empress, Sunocos, Old Timers and Canada Packers.

Following Dick Pearson's 874 were Charley Thomas and Tick Caccavella with 810 and 804. Other good singles beside Pearson's 356 and 352 were Joe Denault's 336, Tom Curvin's 333, Charley Thomas's 323, Jack Menzies' 318, Chief Gimblett 315, Bud Goodson 312, Maurice Holt 312, Frank Wood 310, Doug Abraham 301. Dick Pearson won the high three for the Christmas roll with Joe Denault taking single. Blind score winners were Bill Stanbury 707 and Mel Starr 668.

TORONTO, Dec. 24 — (CP). — The Canadian Press last year announced discontinuance for the duration of its annual year-end poll of sports editors to determine the Dominion's outstanding sports developments and its leading athletes. The Canadian Press explained then: "The Dominion's greatest athletes now are doing their stuff in service uniforms, not on golf courses, football fields, or hockey rinks." That situation remains unchanged and the poll suspension continues. The fellows turning the best athletic tricks of the year include airmen putting the shot with bombs over Berlin; soldiers on smart by-passing plays en route to Rome and farther; sailors on corvettes running interference for the ocean convoys.

See who's here:

After the Turk Broda incident last October blew the lid off service hockey there were rumors the former Toronto Maple Leafs goalkeeper would not play hockey this season. Rumor was wrong. Turk Broda played goal last Saturday night at Pembroke, Ont., when the Petawawa Grenades beat Montagnards 4-3 in the Ottawa Senior City League. Reports of the game said Broda made sensational saves to give Grenades the win.

Anticipation:

Manager Paul Thompson of Chicago Black Hawks chips in with Red Dutton in forecasting increased number of games for N.H.L. teams after the war. "I look for clubs to be playing every other night and I don't think a season's schedule of 80 to 90 games for each club will be out of line." Thompson told Vern DeGeer of the Toronto Globe and Mail. He figures the players could stand the gaff and would draw fatter contracts for longer schedules and proportionately greater box office figures.

Incidentally:

Russell Andrews, who has been bowling only one year and has a five-pin average of 224, rolled a perfect 450 in a Vancouver Commercial League game. His three-game score was 957....Fred (Montreal Gazette) Kerner reports the Quebec Lacrosse Association plans all-out effort to introduce lacrosse into intercollegiate sport after the war....Nick Cizik, one of the leading jockeys on the Western Canada circuit, now is in the Canadian Army.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Following poll of 80 sports writers of the United States, The Associated Press yesterday announced at New York the result of a survey to determine the outstanding sports surprise of the year. The result, according to 60 of the 80 first-place ballots, was the selection of the last-minute defeat of Notre Dame football team by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station 19-14. This was the final game of the season for the Irish who had previously swept to victory in every match. Second choice among the year's surprises was the victory of the New York Yankees over St. Louis Cardinals in the World Series.

In observing his 81st birthday yesterday, Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics told a luncheon meeting that he had made one great mistake in his long baseball career, namely the selling of Southpaw Herb Pennock to the Boston Red Sox in 1915. Pennock, now general manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, was a guest at the luncheon but made no comment.

Pitcher Enlists

Two days after his physical examination, Pitcher Hal White of the Detroit Tigers, was inducted into the U.S. Navy at Utica, N.Y., yesterday.

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission yesterday indefinitely suspended George (Sonny) Horne, middleweight boxer of Jamaica, N.Y., and his manager for alleged failure to fulfill contract engagements at Boston.

Catcher Bobby Bragan of the Brooklyn Dodgers received notice yesterday, after he had made requests for a salary increase, that he had been put on the sales list by President Branch Rickey. Bragan is now employed in a war plant at Birmingham, Ala.

Bet More Money

During the first seven days of winter racing at Tropical Park, Miami, the betting total at $1,998,126 was an all-time record for the period, compared with the wagering of $1,672,636 in the seven days of 1941. Attendance, however, was down to 27,284 from 48,846.

Commissioner K. M. Landis yesterday approved the trade by the New York Giants of first-baseman Dolph Camilli to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League for shortstop Bill Rigney. If the Giants retain Rigney, they are to pay $25,000 cash to the Oakland Club. Camilli, previously with the Dodgers, will be Oakland's player-manager.

Mrs. Anna Nay Pannell, widow of Jockey Joseph Pannell, who was killed in a spill on the Charleston track Dec. 9, told the Maryland Racing Commission yesterday Jockey Matthew Quinn had offered her husband $150 to pull his mount, White Sea, in the first race at Marlboro Nov. 27. The horse subsequently won the event. Quinn had denied he made any offer. The case was taken under advisement by the Commission, conducting the inquiry at Baltimore.

John Mahaffy, Rangers, who scored one goal for New York and assisted in another.

Montreal Enters

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Senior Hockey League admitted Montreal University C.O.T.C. to membership at a meeting last night to replace Montreal R.C.A.F. and four-team schedule will be drawn up for the balance of the season. The Valleyfield application was turned down because of financial demands.

Hurrell Dodds

Many of those who were sponsored for the City Council and Board of Education were not present during the period of discussion of administrative affairs. Mr. Outram called upon the speakers in the order of their nomination beginning with Hurrell Dodds who was proposed for the council. He said he was highly pleased that Mayor Hamilton had received his just reward, but he did not intend to attempt to dwell on a platform or other matters which he might feel like mentioning.

"I have been sponsored by the Canadian Legion," Mr. Dodds said. "I have no complaint against our present council. I think they have done a good job. If I am elected my first service at all times will be to the citizens, and with a heart for the returned men."

Mayor Hamilton

"I assure you that I greatly appreciate your continued confidence and the trust you repose in me," Mayor Hamilton said. "It is an inspiration and an incentive to me to carry on more actively than in the past. I am glad to see so many citizens here tonight. I have seen some nominations when there were only half a dozen or so here. When the people do not come around on these occasions it seems to us that you do not care as much as you should care about what we do and also about what you want us to do.

Alderman Glover has mentioned some of the post-war projects which the council is interested in. There are several others. We have been assured by the government that Peterborough is to get a new public building. We have heard of a new hotel, and that plans are drawn for a new theatre. I would like to see some planning done to see whether those buildings which are being mentioned could be located in places that would enable them to enhance each other. I would rather see some of the old buildings removed to make way for the new, and that we might be able to plan for the future so that we would be prouder of Peterborough than ever before. You have to tear down sometime before you can build up. If the central part of the city is let go as it is, it will never be improved in the way we would like to see it.

The war has increased our problems. Your council this year has done everything it could to see that the city's affairs and work were carried out in a proper manner. Let me assure you that the members have missed nothing in their effort to make Peterborough better than it has been.

I don't think you know of the time and thought that is necessary in the council's increased business of these last few years. I sincerely hope the people appreciate it.

I wish you all a happy Christmas, but I realize that in many homes there are relatives who are not going to be here for this Christmas. They are going to be greatly missed at this old holiday season. But, we hope that when another Christmas comes and a new year, that our relatives and friends will be coming home to a Christmas when there will be no reserve in our celebration."

William Tinker

William Tinker suggested that the "excellent financial statement published by the council should be studied by the taxpayers because it indicates where we are heading. In the last 30 years our population has increased 23 per cent while our taxes have increased by 276 per cent. It also shows that our outstanding taxes are about $70,000, the majority of which is due for 1941 and 1942, while we have a reserve of $62,000 to meet tax arrears. It seems to me this amount in reserve is too high to take out of our cash to provide against $70,000 in arrears. If we were to take $25,000 and put it into the treasury this coming year it would mean one mill of the tax rate."

Mr. Tinker said the Utilities Commission had a surplus of nearly $300,000 and reserves of well over $750,000, amounting altogether to more than $1,000,000. "Advertisements tell us the Hydro is ours. If I have any say, I would like to see our rates reduced. If I am elected to the council I would like to see our electricity and water rates reduced so that all users could share in the benefits."

The City Trust Commission's surplus, Mr. Tinker continued, was more than $379,000 over their reserves, and in 1942 it was increased by more than $23,000, and was increasing all the time. But, the City Trust took from the taxpayers in 1942 more than $230,000 and the council had to pay that demand. A large part of that $379,000, if put back into the pockets of the ratepayers, would mean a lot of mills to their advantage. Speaking of Nicholls Hospital, Mr. Tinker said its Act was an old one and in some respects was not fair to the citizens. Patients were admitted from outside the city and treated at less than cost. "And the city taxpayer puts on the whiskers of Santa Claus and has to pay any deficits. I understand that the deficit for 1943 is very large. If half of it is true, I think it will be difficult to reduce the tax rate. I have lived here 31 years, and all I have is invested here. I think Peterborough is the best city in the Dominion, yes, in the world, and I want to keep it in the forefront if I can."

Alderman Gordon

Alderman Gordon directed his address to the Border Transit franchise which was before the electors, and which he said he was opposing because the company had twice increased their rates and had not presented a break-down of their costs and other finances.

"Kitchener had a municipally-owned and operated system with five-cent single fare or six tickets for 25c, and workmen's tickets eight for 25 cents, and children's tickets ten for 25c. The Border Transit charges a fare of eight cents or four tickets for 25 cents, and for a time it was three tickets for 20 cents. Students get eight tickets for 25 cents."

Alderman Gordon said Brantford's transportation system was also municipally owned with five-cent fares or six for 25c, and children 10 tickets for 25c; and they had surplus of $37,000 in 1941.

"The people are being asked to vote on this bylaw to give Border Transit a franchise for 10 years. When the war is over the costs of gasoline and repairs and maintenance will be lowered, and rates will be fixed without a possibility of change. Bus lines could be operated by the Utilities Commission and rates adjusted in the interest of our citizens, especially the men and women who work in the factories. I cannot intelligently vote on such a bylaw until we have the information we require. I ask the ratepayers to oppose it until we have more information from the company. They have been getting along without a franchise up to now."

Alderman Glover said it was quite refreshing to see so many of the citizens attending the meeting, "and I know the council would be glad if you attended its meetings at times. I wish to congratulate Mayor Hamilton and Mr. Matthews on their election by acclamation. Both of them have given a great deal of their time for years directing the affairs of the bodies with which they have been connected.

"There are a number of important matters which have been receiving the attention during the last two years," Alderman Glover said. He mentioned the new city hall, made possible by the generosity of W. G. Morrow; a municipal airport that is receiving a great deal of attention from a special committee; an artificial ice rink "in which I think the city council should be interested"; annexation as it relates to North Monaghan; the need of improving sewage disposal for Ashburnham; and a problem in connection with the city's main sewage disposal plant.

"I am chairman of the council's welfare committee. Its duties are not arduous and are capably handled by Mr. Metheral and his staff. I am also chairman of a special wood fuel committee. We have already delivered 1,200 cords, have another 1,200 cords in our yards, and I believe that no one will suffer from lack of fuel this winter if wood will serve their purpose."

Commenting on a recent letter published by Hy Wood, Alderman Glover said he with the members of the Council would appreciate any increase of interest displayed by the citizens in the conduct of the city's affairs. "If this meeting is an augury of the interest of the citizens it appears there should be a good vote on New Year's Day. It is hoped that all will turn out and elect the men of their choice."

D. V. Canning.

Mr. Canning recalled that he was elected to the Board of Education two years ago, and was able to attend all its meetings and also all the meetings of the committees of which he has been a member. He has been chairman of the Property Committee this year. "It is one of our main spending agencies and I am more familiar with its work. We have kept our schools in good condition although there has been difficulty because of the scarcity of materials and their increased cost, and also because of scarcity of labor. We have a well-equipped workshop in our administration building (at Rubidge and Sherbrooke Streets) where repairs to equipment are made and many articles for class rooms are manufactured at considerable saving in cost.

We insulated the ceilings in two schools and considerable saving in fuel is already evident. It is planned to insulate one or more schools each year until all have been done.

Mr. Canning said he believed the school heating systems could be made more efficient by the installation of automatic stokers, but that would have to be a gradual improvement. Four rooms of the old Collegiate building were fitted with new blackboards, and other work had been done.

"I have supported the measures which in my opinion were for the greatest good of our schools as well as the public, and especially any measures that would tend to open our schools for worthwhile public efforts. I believe there is room on the Board for some one with engineering experience and training, and if I am re-elected I shall continue to give my time freely and work to the best of my ability in your interest."

T. J. Carley.

Mr. Carley paid a tribute to the two retiring members of the Board, Mrs. W. R. Morris and D. G. H. Melton.

"Mrs. Morris was a member for many years, and was an excellent member. She had the interests of education very much at heart, kept abreast of the times and approached questions in a logical and practical manner. I would like to see more woman in our public bodies. Mr. Melton was chairman of the Board and spent many hours advising and helping the secretary to devise an accounting system which, I think, would commend itself to any citizen who saw it in operation.

"I have been a member four years and served on various committees. I advocated the engagement of a full-time dentist, who is doing splendid work. This year we appointed a full-time librarian at the Collegiate Institute, and all the members appreciate the improvements which Miss Fowler has already accomplished since September. After all, bricks and mortar do not furnish the best education. It depends mostly on the pupils and the teachers. I feel that we have done our best in the selection of the teachers who have been appointed. I do not know yet whether I will be a candidate. If I am, I will appreciate your vote and influence, and if re-elected I shall continue to do the best I can to serve the public as a whole."

William S. Johnston

Following Mayor Hamilton, Mr. Johnston said he simply wished to assure the electors that if they chose

Christmas Greeting to a Soldier

By JANE REITELL

There is so little I can find to send you.
Only my love and a gadget or two;
Only the wish that courage may attend you
When you have something difficult to do.

You, and not I, have priceless gifts to give.
In your young hands you hold the brimming measure—
Peace for the world, the right for us to live!

Approve Order To Purchase Car For Police Dep't

Chief Constable Sam Newhall was authorized at the last regular meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners for the year Thursday to secure prices on a new automobile for the police department to replace one of the two police cruisers now in commission.

Chief Newhall recommended the purchase of a new car, pointing out that one of the machines now used by the department had a mileage of 78,000 miles and had outlived its usefulness as a police vehicle.

The commission agreed that it would be good business to buy a new car.

No action was taken on a request from Hugh Davis of the Capitol Taxi that the licensing of taxi drivers be suspended until after the war. The writer said that some of his employees were only part time drivers and that they refused to pay for a license.

The following taxi owners' licenses were renewed: Dominic Maio, P. J. Allen, O. Gorman, Gerald Dunsford, John Drummond, 3 cars, Harry Finnie 2 cars, Wes Howell, three cars, H. E. Dunford, Hugh Davis, 11 cars, Herb Stinson, two cars.

Applications for taxi drivers' licenses were received from all the above owners and also from the following: Florence Finnie, John Finnie, Harold Howell, Michael McGuire, Ed. R. Bestard, J. O'Connell, Dalton Wood, R. McKnight, Maurice Dafoe, Robt. Crowley, Doug. Moore, Thomas Black, E. A. Pilling, Vincent Gainer, R. Crysler, Fred Jarvis, Cyrenus Sullivan, Peter Jarvis, Phil Rochetta, and Harold Bell.

All these applications were granted. The police department refused to recommend two other applicants, Albert Reid, 17 and William Hawthorne, 16, because of their age and the commission also rejected the applications.

Present at the meeting were Judge S. L. Smoke, chairman, Mayor James Hamilton and Magistrate E. A. Gee.

Honest Woman Shopper Returns $428 Wrapped Up With Christmas Parcels

A Donegal Street woman thought for a few moments yesterday that Santa Claus had really come through in a handsome way so far as she was concerned. She returned from a shopping trip, and when she checked over her parcels found a small paper-wrapped bundle. To her amazement when she opened the parcel she discovered $428 in bills. She promptly notified the police department of her find, and in a short time it was learned that the money had come from one of the big grocery stores where the cashier had been making up returns for the bank and had wrapped up the bills in paper. Just how the parcel got into the woman's shopping bag is somewhat of a mystery, but fortunately for the store the money got into honest hands.

Five-Doll Draw Of Aircrafts Nets $267 For Christmas Fund

One of the most successful efforts of its kind ever held on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund was concluded on Wednesday, when J. E. Girven, assistant works manager at the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. made the draw for the five dolls which had been sponsored by the Aircraft Instruments department, with Archie B. Hood as foreman, to give a boost to the Christmas Fund.

Each doll had a complete wardrobe of its own, 90 per cent of which was hand made by the girls of this department, the men playing their part in this venture by contributing towards the purchase of the dolls and the materials to make the said wardrobe.

With the sale of tickets in charge of Sgt. Stan Beesley, everyone worked hard, so that when the final tale was told, the splendid sum of $267.00 was realized, and that's a lot of money at 10 cents a ticket or three for 25 cents. They also had assistance from the staff of the Company's Hospital, while Miss Iris Whalon had charge of gathering the wardrobes together.

The draw resulted in 1st prize going to A Dickison of Genelco Ltd., 2nd prize to Pearl Stuart of Campbellford, 3rd prize to M. Preston of the office staff, 4th prize to Bill Kent of the Switchgear Dept. and 5th prize to G. Croft of Genelco Ltd., each of whom receives a prize of the finest type in its class due to the industry of all concerned.

There was distinct evidence of great team play in this effort which reflects much credit to the leadership of their foreman, and the backing he received, for in a similar event last year for one doll, they made slightly over $80.00 and this year more than trebled that amount.

Coal Controller Watches Dealers

Fuel dealers have received an enquiry from the assistant coal controller, Toronto, which is virtually demanding a statement showing compliance with the substitute coal order.

The controller is demanding that customers accept at least 25 per cent soft or otherwise secondary coal with orders of anthracite. "And furthermore on account of the difficult situation in your area we wish to state that you should only look after the accounts that you have supplied in the past in order that there will be no duplication of orders.

All dealers may deliver to consumers with less than fifteen days' supply. The fuel controller is armed with plenary authority, and it is understood that the public is involved in the sanction of the control law.

In other words the penalties both to them and an infracting dealer. So far the administration has been inclined to avoid undue interference with the trade, but as the crisis of winter approaches a close watch is being kept and co-operation is sought on a voluntary basis, as well, for the main purpose of helping every home through the emergency with fires burning.

Clothing Is Needed For Greek Relief

The proprietor of a little textile plant on Romaine street has been one of the first to respond to the Greek Relief appeal for clothing. Louis Yeotes told the Examiner he had received from that benefactor not only quite a large quantity of material but also $120.

"You can imagine the thrill we got from that help," he said.

The present appeal is especially for clothing which is still good enough to stand up under further use,—clothing for both adults and children, men and women. If you have any left in your home you are requested to leave it at any of the Greek shops or the Churchill restaurant. Arrangements are being made by the wives of local Greeks to do necessary sewing.

Only Two Mayors Served More Than 7 Yrs.

The election by acclamation of Mayor James Hamilton for seventh consecutive term places him third in length of service in the list of mayors who have held that office since incorporation in 1850.

James Stevenson served for ten years, but not consecutively and Roland Denne served for eight consecutive terms. The former was first elected in 1854, then 1857-58-59, and then 1886 to 1891. Roland Denne was Mayor for the eight years 1928 to 1935, but our present Mayor holds a record for seven consecutive years by acclamation.

Another Mayor who served for six consecutive terms was W. H. Scott 1866 to 1871. Charles Perry, Peterborough's fourth Mayor, also served six terms, but not consecutively—he held office in 1853 and 1861-68.

Two well-known citizens of early days served for five years— George A Cox 1872-74, 1883 and 1885, and James Kendry 1892-95 and 1900.

James Stevenson had another wonderful record in civic service For 40 years he was a member of the Board of Education and preceding governing bodies, and was chairman for 19 consecutive years, 1873 to 1891. A keen politician, he sat as a Conservative in the Dominion Parliament of 1887 and 1891.

The late S. R. Armstrong was dean of all our town and city clerks, holding office from 1893 to 1940.

As a matter of reference the names are given of all the clerks since incorporation: W. H. Vizard 1850-51, W. H. Wrighton 1851-54 Thomas White, Jr., and Robert Rei parts of 1854, Ivan O'Beirne 1855-57, James Edwards 1857-77, Charle D Macdonald 1877-88, James G. Macdonald 1888-91, J. R. Cobb 1891-93, S. R Armstrong 1893-1940, E A. Outram 1940.

Ernest Lean, Haultain, was fined $50 and $8 costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court Thursday afternoon, after he had been found guilty on a charge of having carried a loaded rifle in the Peterborough County game preserve.

Evidence in the case had been heard in the morning and when court resumed in the afternoon Magistrate Gee declared that he had accepted the evidence of Fish and Game Overseer Windsor as to what had occurred and he would therefore find the accused guilty.

W. J. Arthur Fair who appeared for Lean intimated that he would likely enter an appeal and on that account a similar charge against Percy Edwards, Haultain, was adjourned.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

To The Citizens of Peterborough City and County—

On the eve of Canada's fifth wartime Christmas may I be allowed to express to the people of this city and district my best wishes for a Merry Yuletide and a Happy and Victorious New Year.

My thoughts go out especially to the loved ones who are missing from the homes of Peterborough and the surrounding countryside, to the gallant lads who are spending the festival season in the grim fighting of the battle for Rome or standing on guard in the British Isles or on the shores of our own country, or who are patrolling the seven seas in the blue of Canada's navy or soaring into the sky over Germany or Italy with the R.C.A.F.

The best wish that could be expressed at this time is that before another Christmas the lights will have gone on again all over the world and the forces of evil will have been vanquished and the world's freedom assured. Fortunately there are definite signs that at long last the tide has turned, that the beginning of the end is in sight and that there is good reason for hoping that the day of a victorious peace for the United Nations is drawing closer.

May the Christmas of 1943 be a happy one for all our people and may the New Year that opens in a few days see the cause for which we are fighting triumphant.

More than 2,200 letters and 350 bags of parcel mail are received in an ordinary day. BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DECEMBER 24

LEAD DIRECTING DEADLY

BIDDING a suit to direct the opening lead is fatal to many No Trump enterprises. Failure to bid a particular suit, the corollary of this, can make some No Trump games not only sound to bid, but successful in operation. Compunction to select a lead blindly, on the basis of probabilities, is a terrific handicap to the defenders.

North: ♠ A J 3 ♥ Q 5 4 ♦ K 9 ♣ Q 10 5 4 2
West: ♠ 6 4 ♥ A 10 8 7 6 2 ♦ J 8 3 ♣ 8 6
East: ♠ Q 8 2 ♥ J 9 ♦ A Q 10 5 2 ♣ 9 7 3
South: ♠ K 10 9 7 5 ♥ K 3 ♦ 7 6 4 ♣ A K J

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 NT

There would have been no game at No Trumps for North on this deal if West had been able to overcall at the range of one. If his suit had been spades and South's hearts, he would have bid 1-Spade as an immediate overcall. But having to cut in at the two level, when he had only four probable playing tricks, was a bit too much.

A heart lead from East, which would have come if the suit had been bid, and the natural switch to a diamond, upon seeing the dummy, would have beaten the contract two tricks. As it was, however, North made his contract, plus two extra tricks.

East opened the diamond 5, giving North a trick with the K. He then ran five club tricks and watched the discards, to help him decide how he would finesse spades. He saw West give a heart high-low with the 7-2, then toss off the diamond 8, and East throw the heart 9 and diamond 2. Weighing these, he decided East was holding one heart to lead in response to his partner's echo, plus three diamonds, and he therefore had three spades, including probably the Q.

Acting on this, North followed his club tricks with the spade A, J and K, dropping the Q and assuring five tricks in that suit. Counting those in clubs and the diamond K, he totaled 11 on a hand on which double-dummy defense would have meant a difference of four tricks.

What principle of defense must be adhered to by West on this deal, to avoid helping South make 4-Spades?

SEASONS Greetings
Conservation becomes fun when it involves reviving delightful customs such as delivering Christmas gifts with a horse and sleigh. Simplified living today is bringing back many pleasures that had become nothing more than memories, and it is making quality an increasingly important factor. People are realizing more and more that quality brings a maximum amount of wear and pleasure for war-time dollars, and they know they find quality at

ON THE POST-WAR FOOTPATH—Not available now, but demonstrating future footprints, the straw-like, open-work shoes, above, finished with suede trimming, are made of nylon single strands . . cool, tough, smart. Nylon, the wonder fibre, will make a smash debut after the war, and the shoes shown above are a new model waiting for that happy time. Extreme toughness and abrasion resistance are notable qualities of nylon, qualities much to be desired in shoes. Above, single strands make a woven fabric; nylon will also be used as a substance in gabardine shoe fabric, and as a hard-wear coating it will be produced in leather effects resembling kid, calfskin and other grains which will be crackless and scuffless.

ROOM AND BOARD — By Gene Ahern

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, December 25

ALTHOUGH the Spirit of Christmas, with its inspiration toward Good Will and benefactions of a collective, community or public nature are uppermost, yet a high degree of excitement, agitation and commotion are likely to neutralize the true holiday gratifications. There may be sudden breaking of plans and promises, separations, loss, even accidents and dangers, to cope with, unless more than customary vigilance and caution be observed. Financial affairs also need due consideration.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may open the new season with some sort of brilliant offer, which may prove expansive, of more than usual scope and importance, with the prospect of public, community or group approbation or concrete emoluments, but there may be indications of sudden breaking up of desired hopes, plans and aspirations. This may be due to unforeseen upsets, strange antagonisms, physical accidents, or through an overweaning extravagance of finances, energies or exaggerated ideas of personal ability to "make good." With care there might be exceptional success in business, professions, travel, writings, etc.

A child born on this day may have excellent talents and versatility, with literary, artistic, inventive or scientific creative ability. But this may be negated by want of thrift, rash expenditure of both physical and financial resources.

For Sunday, December 26

SUNDAY'S horoscope indicates a joyous and beneficent day, with festivity, hospitality, social, domestic and romantic occasions celebrated to the acme of fulfilled enjoyments. "Let joy be unconfined" seems to be the inspiration for prolonging the holiday. However there is need for extra prudence and discretion.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to push ahead for high goals, in business, professional or personal ambitions and aspirations, with great assurance of brilliant achievement. Yet a deep-laid situation behind the scenes may prove disastrous, causing much anxiety and peril.

A child born on this day may be splendidly equipped for a successful and honored career, with power and acclaim, but it may be subject to subtle lures.

For Monday, December 27

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of generally menacing and treacherous circumstances, with dangers marking the way. The mind may be deep, shrewd and farseeing, and it will require much of such worldly wisdom, vigilance, and precaution to cleverly avert sinister plots. Safeguard funds and also reputation, position and prestige, business and personal.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves beset by many strange, sinister and intriguing circumstances, coming from behind the scenes, subtle or deep-laid sources of duplicity, trickery, fraud, and mischief, assailing not only the success and fortunes in business, but the reputation, prestige and position in social, domestic, romantic and spiritual security. These should be rigidly protected by equally shrewd and clever or well-laid strategies.

A child born on this day fortunately is serious, studious, discreet and shrewd, equipped to overcome false ideas, situations, illicit and delusive as well as sinister alliances.

EVENING ELEGANCE — There's no doubt about the amount of diversity and novelty that marks the short-skirted evening outfit. One of the best ideas is a black woollen suit-dress worn with white touches, which, in this luxurious and lovely ensemble, is of ermine. Nicole de Paris has made this typical "Nikki" outfit in black woollen, the jacket front with a fine lattice of black jet beads. The hat, muff and Ascot scarf are of snowy ermine.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

APPRECIATE YOUR GIFTS

WHAT IS the use of having kind friends who offer you gifts, if you don't appreciate them? Perhaps you may not even recognize them as such. That can certainly be so at the bridge table, when a defect in the opponents' play may give you a chance to make your contract which did not exist otherwise. If you don't realize the opportunity thus presented, and make use of it, you don't deserve the gift which was offered

West	North / South	East

♠ 2 ♥ Q J 10 9 4 ♦ Q 10 8 ♣ A K Q 8	N W E S	♠ 8 5 ♥ 7 6 2 ♦ K J 4 2 ♣ 9 7 2
	♠ A Q J 6 4 ♥ 8 5 3 ♦ A 6 3 ♣ 10 4

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♥	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

West saw his partner give him the 2 and 7 on leads of the club K and Q, to betoken three cards in the suit, so switched to the diamond 8, the K forcing the A. With two tricks already lost and no earthly way to avoid two diamond losers, South played mechanically, paying no attention to what the opponents did as he ran his trumps except for the ruffing out of a heart. So he went down one.

If he had paid attention, and had noticed West's discards on the second and third spades, he would have seen the heart 9 on one of these and the club 8 on the other. The latter was the crucial card, the gift which would have presented him with his contract if he had only known it. Getting rid of that blanked the club A.

South thereupon should have led to the heart A and brought back the club 6, ruffing it. This would have canceled the club A, leaving the J high. Then the heart K could have been used for an entry to dummy, to use the club J for a discard of one of the losing diamonds. Only one diamond then would have had to be given up, instead of two.

But, since South did not know West was unwittingly offering him a gift, the present did him no good.

Alnwick Schools Hold Concerts

ROSENEATH, Dec. 24—(ENS)—Christmas concerts were held in the schools of Alnwick Township previous to holiday closing, with a portion of the proceeds in each instance going to war charities. Gaily lighted trees and traditional decorations of the season were featured in each instance. Programs consisted of songs, choruses, dialogues and recitations.

Roseneath School presented a two act play "The Magic Ring" and in addition, Roseneath orchestra assisted with two numbers. The children were trained by their teachers, Misses Helen Weir and Clarice Atkinson.

Features of "Woodvale" School concert were carol singing by the audience and presentation of prizes to Lois Arthur, Marjorie Sandercock and Gordon Williamson for perfect attendance records for November and December. The teacher Miss M. Russel had her pupils well trained as was shown in their presentations.

The North School pupils in their concert on Wednesday night revealed the careful training by their teacher Miss Grace Warner. They were assisted by six young people, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parker Misses Merla Braithwaite and Myrtle Hogg, Murray Thackeray and Ray McCracken, these presenting a play "In Doubt About Daisy."

Santa visited each school and distributed candy, oranges and gifts to the children.

SH-SH! QUIET!—Here's that curiosity that must be satisfied—not on Christmas morning, but on Christmas Eve. Like thousands of other youngsters, this tyke and her puppy stole out of bed to sneak a forbidden glimpse of—they hope—Santa at work downstairs.

Only 6 Turkeys On Farm Market

Market Clerk Cowling said he counted six turkeys on the Market this morning. (And one of them he nailed for an Examiner man after another source of supply and presumed reserving failed. What's the use of rushing out at 6:30 a.m. a couple of weeks before Christmas to shanghai early birds from farmers who knew they might as well sell first as last under the ceiling system. Why not make it look tough. Wait until the very last minute and then bring down, one out of six turkeys. But why chortle?)

Twenty-five wide-eyed consumers were on hand for the opening of the doors, but the farmers were only last day stragglers. The Christmas market drooped in anti-climax to all the wartime changes which have changed the selling habits and scenery until hardly anybody recognizes them. The public is being talked into line, much after the manner of the post office dinning year after year the importance of mailing early, until everybody apparently is doing it and only the unregenerate wait in their wonted way until the postmen are almost ready to pull out on their last rounds.

But returning to the market and its leanness this morning, you could sweep the eye around in one transit glance and know that beyond a few chickens there was nothing on hand for the Christmas dinner. And only a handful of producers. Hardly any of the neighbors from South Monoghan had appeared up to 9:30 o'clock, and they seemed to be passing up entirely the one day in the year that generally packed 'em in.

Several of the apple men showed up outside, and perhaps they were still doing business, but this was one trading day when it didn't matter much.

Missionary Group Holds Election

MARMORA, Dec. 24 (ENS)—The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was held at the parsonage this week.

Mrs. H. A. Burwash reported the number of calls made during the year as 30 hospital calls, 6 sick calls and 10 stranger calls. Mrs. H. R. Haacke, treasurer, reported a small deficit in the amount of allocation for 1943. Mrs. J. Sproul mentioned that thirteen subscribed to the Missionary Monthly and twelve to the World Friend. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dougald Sanderson.

Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher conducted the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Miss M. Brown; vice-president, Mrs. H. R. Haacke; recording secretary, Mrs. C. Wallbridge; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. J. Pack; treasurer, Mrs. H. A. Burwash; secretary Christian stewardship, Mrs. J. W. Richardson; secretary community friendship, Mrs. F. Sweet; secretary temperance and citizenship, Mrs. D. Sanderson; secretary Missionary Monthly and World Supplies, Mrs. J. Sproul; literature secretary, Mrs. C. Chambers; press secretary and pianist, Mrs. H. W. Sabine; representative on official board, Mrs. H. W. Sabine.

The worship period was in charge of Mrs. H. Burwash and took the form of a candle lighting service with Christmas music featured, and all present took part.

Want Powder Room

TORONTO, Dec. 24.—(CP).—Precedent-setting presence of two women members in the Ontario Legislature may lead to establishment of what is technically known as a powder room at staid Quen's Park. Speculation surrounds the accommodation of Miss Agnes Macphail and Mrs. Rae Yuckock other than in the official Opposition rooms occupied by the C.C.F.

"If I am allowed to serve the community of Peterborough I will serve the whole community to the best of my ability. I thank not only my mover and seconder but also the movers and seconders of the other women who have been nominated. It has been a great joy to me to find so many women who are prepared to offer to serve, and though they may be my opponents at the polls I wish them every success. I wish no harm to the men who will be our opponents, but I wish all success to the women who are running with me."

G. Wilson Craw

Discussing recurrent statements by members of the city council concerning increased expenditures of the Board of Education, Mr. Craw who is seeking re-election to that body stated that in the past five years the demand made on the city council had only increased $8,756, and in that period the Board had been forced to open five additional rooms, had provided a full time dental officer and office and had been forced to pay considerably more or its fuel. In 1939 the first year that Mr. Craw became a member of the Board the demand made on the city was $264,850. In 1940 it was $265,976 and in 1941, a year he was not on the Board, the demand was $294,954. Back again in 1942 the demand was $260,004, actually less than it was in 1939 and this past year $273,606, the increase being entirely due to the opening of new rooms and additional fuel and repair costs.

Mr. Craw paid tribute to the health department of the Board and said it pioneered in the health field in Peterborough and had built up a splendid organization. He mentioned the discussions on amalgamating the health services in this city, but pointed out that since 1939 the city health department had had three acting M.O.H.'s and also at in between periods three local doctors acting part time as M.O.H. The speaker intimated that he favored co-ordinating the health services in the city under the M.O.H. but only at a time when he could be sure that the service now being given the pupils of the city schools would be continued. He however told of the co-operation now between between the two departments where the doctors and nurses met every month and discussed ways and means of using the two staffs, reduced by men and women on war services, to the best advantage in administering the health services of the city.

Rupert Starr

"If I am elected I will endeavor to serve the community as a whole to the best of my ability," Rupert Starr said.

W. J. Whibbs

Mr. Whibbs thanked his mover and seconder, and said would never think of posing as a public speaker. However, he said he was prepared to give his best service for the benefit of the city and all its people if he was elected on New Year's Day.

Gordon S. Matthews

Mr. Matthews congratulated Mayor Hamilton on his re-election at the head of the city council, "and I wish to express my appreciation to the citizens for the acclamation they have given me. This is the sixth consecutive time they have elected me for the three year term on the Utilities Commission. It really seems a long time. Mr. Tinker has suggested a reduction in the rates for water and electricity. I wish to say that I agree with him, and I think they will come shortly." (Some voices interjected "Hear, hear.")

"Mr. Tinker spoke of a reserve of a million dollars for the Commission. I think he is including our equity in the provincial Hydro-Electric system. It is an equity, but I am afraid we will not get it back in our time."

Mr. Matthews said there was also a reserve for depreciation which the Commission regarded as necessary, but it could not for that reason be used in reduction of rates. The members of the Commission had already discussed the question whether they should make a refund of charges for a month as was done in one city, or whether the rates should be generally reduced. "So far we have been in favor of a reduction in the rates. I may tell you that in my 18 years on the Commission every decision has been unanimous. If we don't agree on some question at one meeting, we leave it in abeyance until the next meeting, or even for a later one until we are in full agreement. One result of that method is that we share alike in any credit or blame."

Fred T. Tuggey

A former member of the council and chairman of its property committee, Mr. Tuggey announced that he would accept the nomination extended to him. "It is a pleasant thing to know that I have the confidence of two such men as Aldermen Bradburn and Glover. I gave seven years to the city's service and I can honestly say that I did my best in behalf of the citizens as a whole."

Mr. Tuggey said his policy was to stand on his own ground. "If I felt that I should say no to some thing, I said no. I think that is the kind of men we need today. If I feel I should oppose something I think is not right and just and in the interest of the citizens I promise you as in the past, that I'll oppose it. I don't believe in saying yes to everything without regard to whether I should or not. I will defend anything that comes up in the interest of our people, and I'll do my part to see that they get full value for the money that is spent. If you see fit to elect me I promise to do my duty for you without fear or favor.

I would like to add this, and to say to any people who do not see their way to vote for me, I urge them to get out and vote for some one else. I think citizens should show their respect to the men who are placed in a sacred place, and the care of the funds provided by the people seems to me a sacred duty. I hope the citizens will have trust in me that has been shown by Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Glover. It is close to Christmas and I hope for all our people that we will soon have the peace we all desire, and when it is over we have to see to it that for our boys coming back there are no bread lines, but something worth while."

Herb. J. McCannan

Also a former member of the council and chairman of the property committee, Mr. McCannan said he considered both Mayor Hamilton and Gordon Matthews outstanding citizens who had done much for the advancement of Peterborough. "I was in the council three years, and I felt that the property committee did a good job. Costs have gone up since then, of course. The lowest tender for the collection of garbage in my time was $10,250, now it is $24,000. I think my experience in the city council would help me greately if I decide to qualify. If you elect me you can depend on me one hundred per cent to do the square and above board thing. I hope we will all have a real happy Christmas next year with the war over. This is my wish to everybody."

Charles Macoun Dies In Seventies

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 24 (ENS)—Charles Joseph Macoun, member of a prominent Seymour family and man who was widely known both as farmer and for his interest in community affairs, passed away at his home five miles west of here Wednesday afternoon. A lifelong resident of Seymour, Mr. Macoun was born on the MacLand Homestead, a son of the late Frederick Macoun and Jane Archer. He was a farmer and was actively engaged in this occupation until a few months ago when failing health forced his retirement at the age of 73.

Mr. Macoun was widely recognized as an Ayrshire breeder and his interest in agriculture led him to take an active part in the Seymour Agriculture Society. As a dairyman he was closely associated with the cheese industry and for many years was a patron and served on the board of directors of Woodland Cheese and Butter Company. He was a staunch Liberal in politics and attended the United church.

There survive besides his widow, the former Mattie Doxsee, three sons, Fred of Campbellford, and Will and Jack of Seymour. Five brothers, Professor James of McGill University, Dr. John, formerly of Campbellford; Professor David of California, Dr. George of Warkworth and Fred of Seymour, and one sister, Mrs. John Pooley (Annie) of Wisconsin, predeceased him. Mr. Macoun was a cousin of the late Professor William T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, Ottawa and also of Sir James Macoun who was knighted for his exploratory work in the North West territories.

The funeral service was conducted from the family residence in Seymour West today at two o'clock and interment will be made in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Obituary

WILLIAM MARK STEPHENS

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 24 (ENS)—A native of Seymour and lifelong resident of the district, William Mark Stephens, 78, passed away at his home recently. A farmer, Mr. Stephens was widely known both as an agriculturist and for his service to the community, as he was for fifteen years a member of the Board of Education, representing S.S. No. 8. He was for ten years president of the Seymour Agriculture Society in which he took a keen interest, and in recognition of this service to the Society, members presented him with a Certificate of Merit during the past year. Mr. Stephens was also a member of the Loyal Orange Lodge.

There survive besides his widow, the former Sophia Brown to whom he was married 56 years ago, twin sons, Albert and Alfred, two grandsons, Fred and Clarence Stephens. The funeral service was held from his late residence this week, when many friends from the district gathered to pay tribute. The pallbearers were Garnet Craighead, Murray Meiklejohn, Roy Loucks, Melville McKeown, Fred Todd and Oscar Rannie. Flower bearers were George and William Beggs, Alex and Ralph Stephens and John, Fred and George Brown.

New Super-Bomber Built By Americans

LONDON, Dec. 24 (CP). — Rt. Rev. Bernard W. Griffin, newly-appointed Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminister, today announced his whole - hearted support of Sir William Beveridge's plan for post-war social security and said he hoped the government would soon put it into effect.

"We need it," he said. "We want to get it going as soon as possible."

Mgr. Griffin, whose appointment by Pope Pius as successor to the late Arthur Cardinal Hinsley came as a surprise to most English Catholics, said he hoped to have the "full co-operation of all the churches for the social welfare of the country." He added, however, that he saw no prospect of a reunion of Christian churches in England.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Last night's lone National Hockey League game between Detroit Red Wings and New Rangers failed to make any difference in hockey's big seven. Joe Carveth, topscorer for Detroit collected two goals to give him a total of 24 points—10 goals and 14 assists—but he failed to touch Montreal Canadien's Buddy O'Connor who is in seventh place with 27 points.

Five-Doll Draw

ership of Miss Minnie Williams, fund representative in that place, the sum of $167.50 was raised, for the Christmas Fund. Getting away to a good start through the proceeds of a draw for a lunch cloth made and donated by Miss Williams, which raised $32.15, the sum total is expressed in no less than thirty-six different contributions all listed in today's receipts.

Among these there were four which came from various churches or groups within the church, these being the Ladies' Aid of Knox Presterian church, Our Lady of Mount Carmel church, the Women's Association of the United church, and the Pentecostal Assembly.

Other groups included both the Belmont and Havelock Women's Institutes, the Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98, the Prosperity Chapter O.E.S., Royal Lodge I.O.O.F., Canadian Pacific Railway employees through F. A. Rogers, Employees of the Canada Needle Co. and the staff of the Havelock Schools.

Twenty-one personal gifts dot the list, which include Rae Williams, Howard Buck, Mrs. P. Colquhoun, Reeve Ernest Seeney, B. Smith, Miss Madge Curtis, Ernest Leeson, Patterson Cafe, Havelock Creamery, Dr. Joseph Holdcroft, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Lancaster, Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, William Smith, Mrs. James Kitchen, S. J. W. Clarke, H. T. Mathison, William Forsythe, Robert Sayers, Mrs. George Chiles, A. C. Denike, G. Rutherford, Fred McKenzie, and George Hubbel.

Two Draws Net $116

Two turkey draws both of them held for the third year in succession for the purpose of helping this fund, resulted in a total of $116 being included in the Christmas gifts. The first of these comes from the draw sponsored by the staff of Loblaw's Groceterias under the leadership of P. E. Moore, the manager, and netted the nice sum of $66. The draw was made by the secretary of the fund, and resulted in 1st prize going to E. Casey of 216 Rogers street, ticket No. 738 and the second prize to Mrs. G. Denike, 9 Burnham street with ticket No. 447.

The other one was forwarded through Fred J. Martin, purchasing agent for Genelco Ltd., and represented the proceeds from the 3rd annual draw in this plant and amounted to $50 which was accompanied by a letter expressive of good wishes for the success of the fund, which is much appreciated.

In a similar type of effort, Mrs. Kathleen Elcome turned in another $22.55 from the sale of tickets on the doll sent her by a niece in Portsmouth, England,—which now raises the total from this to the fine amount of $59.55, the final returns for which will shortly be made.

Donnie Bell Makes $26.50

Listeners to radio station CHEX have been following with interest the effort of seven-year-old Donnie Bill of Bridgenorth, who was raising funds through placing of names on his cast, which now has amounted to $26.50, and is listed in today's returns.

Then a similar effort by Douglas Lochhead of Norwood under almost identical circumstances is enriched by a further $2 given at his Sunday School for the same purpose, which added to his previous return makes a total of $24 to his credit to help the boys and girls in Britain have a happy Christmas.

Six different entries come under the heading of gifts from school children, the lead in this respect being taken by Lang's School No. 2 in Otonabee School area, taught by Miss Lilian Bowie, who brought in $10, and others included the Kindergarten, and Grade 1 and Grade 2 at Prince of Wales School, and Miss H. M. Bonnycastle's class at Queen Alexandra School, while S.S. No. 3 Dummer taught by S. Ostenhirst brought in the sum of $3.02.

There are eleven personal gifts which include Senator Iva C. Fallis, Mr. and Mrs. A. Weddell, Miss E. V. Huffman and others under various press names, while a collection taken at a concert held in Dixon House sponsored by the Parkhill Fellowship Group, added a further $3.75 to the $32 they turned in a day or so ago for the Christmas Fund.

Crystal Hotel Has $10,000 Fire

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 24 — Damage estimated at over $10,000 was caused to the Crystal Hotel here yesterday when fire broke out in the basement and spread to the lower floor. Origin of the blaze was attributed to overheating. Firemen battled the blaze in subzero weather, with the result that Fire Chief William Lynch and another fireman are under physicians' care due to exposure.

Discovery of the blaze was made by Charles Treverton, proprietor of the hotel, when he found smoke as the hotel was being opened for business. Guests evacuated the building with their personal belongings although the fire did not go beyond the main floor. They were accommodated in a nearby restaurant until they could procure lodgings in other hotels. The fire burned through the main floor of the beverage room.

Smoke and water damaged property in the adjoining haberdashery operated by J. Diamond.

North Monaghan

to the War fund.

Following the closing of the nominations addresses were made by the elected candidates and by various electors of the township, with particular reference being made to aspects of the question of annexation with the city of Peterborough. The keynote of the discussion was struck by Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan and chairman of the meeting, who said the township was presented with the alternative of either making progress and supplying its ratepayers with services they wanted or of going in with the city. "We now have more than 5,000 people here," Mr. Johnston said "and it is apparent to all if we are to remain a township we cannot carry on in the system we have used for 30 years."

Good Economy

Reeve Johnson, appointed to his fifth term in that post, revealed that less than $6,000 of the $11,000 available for road work and the maintenance and repair of streets and sidewalks had been expended during the past year and said "That is not enough. Our streets are rough and we are sorry that they are." He explained the difficulties which had stood in the way of adequate repair of township roads and stated that it had been deemed inadvisable and unpatriotic to raise the scale of wages for work of this type when it would mean drawing off the services of sorely-needed men from war industries. Thus the council's program of road maintenance had not been carried out to the extent which would have been desirable, and ratepayers were deprived of a service which in this case the township could have easily afforded.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that both township schools were operating at capacity and that some 80 children in addition were going into the city for their schooling. Bruce Johnston elaborated with the argument that North Monaghan would be faced with the decision of either providing more school accommodation itself or of paying a large bill to Peterborough. In this connection he informed the electors gathered that township's interest in the war houses was nearly equivalent to that of the city, there being 250 such houses in North Monaghan as against 317 in Peterborough.

Better Sewers

The possibility of obtaining better sewer arrangements through union with the city was advanced by several of the speakers, but disagreement as to the certainty of obtaining this and other services was voiced by some who were less optimistic of the advantages to be gained by annexation.

Regard sewage, H. B. Rye expressed opinion that Peterborough had not, and was not even now, doing a good job for itself; and he said that those people who believed that by joining the city they would have many desired services handed to them on a silver platter might be in for some bitter disillusionment. He advocated a public meeting of electors of the township at which the questions involved in annexation should be taken up in detail—the services inhabitants expect to get, how soon they might be realised and at what cost.

Temporary School

Walter Bannon, chairman of the School Board, suggested that a temporary one-room schoolhouse could be put up to accommodate overflow of children from the War Time Housing areas in case annexation did not go through, and that this solution would be preferable to the building of a new and permanent school.

Discussion developed near the end of meeting over the amendment to the law which would make it necessary to permit all electors to express their opinion were a public vote on the annexation question to be taken, and not solely those who were property owners and whose interests were most nearly affected. It was generally thought unfair to the latter that tenants having no ownership interest in the land or any developments should have an equal say with property owners in the vital matters affecting the township.

Pope Appeals

creasingly near the war zone and where in a sense he is a prisoner—for the shadow of Nazi bayonets ringed and fell across the ancient seat of the Roman Catholic faith—the holy father appealed for a peace not "imposed at the point of the sword."

"A future peace should not, certainly, leave out the possibility of sanctions," he added. "But do give back to the world a peace based on justice, not on reprisals, on a world communion based on present world suffering."

Spoke In Italian

The Pontiff, isolated from the 300,000,000 of the faithful since the German occupation of Rome last September, spoke in Italian by radio. The speech was recorded and translated by The Associated Press in London.

He began by recalling that for the fifth time since the outbreak of the war Christendom was preparing to celebrate a day of unique holiness — a ceebration in marked contrast to the horrors raging throughout the world.

"Ruins all over the world are increasing," he went on. "Humanity is suffering and we all see this conflict degenerating into something more and more terrible."

"Reason and spirit," the Pontiff said, "seem to be darkened throughout the world. Christ only can deliver humanity. Christ only will lift the human species from the horrors now raging in the world."

It was sad and terrible, he added, that mankind had lost its way to the manger and that people had forgotten their religious and human duties.

Saying that all who followed Christ were saddened by the catastrophe of war, the Pope added that the faithful were able to view it "with the hopes offered to you by your faith."

He said he alone could not bring the war to an end but declared:

"There are two things we will certainly do: First, we shall do whatever is in our power to help and decrease the sufferings of all the warriors, of the prisoners of war, of the internees.

"Second, we must all remember the power of our faith.

"The road of humanity in this present confusion has been the road without God — against God. But those who erred still remain our brothers. No one has the right to feel sinless. We must all co-oper in the salvation of our brothers. To work, dearest brothers; do not stand idle. Let us start the reconstruction of the world."

"WE WILL WIN IN 1944"--EISENHOWER

SUNK IN FIGHT — One of Germany's mightiest battleships, the Scharnhorst, has been sunk off North Cape, Norway, after a battle with units of the British Home Fleet. This 26,500-ton ship has been a Navy and Air Force target many times before, and although damaged remained afloat.

British Sink Scharnhorst

By ROGER GREENE—Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 27—(AP).—The possibility that the German battleship Scharnhorst carried her entire crew down with her when she was sunk by British Home Fleet units off the Norway North Cape arose today when no word came of any survivors.

If such were the case last night's sinking of the 26,000-ton vessel in a blazing Arctic action would parallel the sinking of the big battleship Bismarck by the British Navy in May, 1941. Only a relative handful of the Bismarck's crew was saved. About 1,400 men presumably were aboard the Scharnhorst.

Allied military experts hailed the sinking of the Scharnhorst as one of the most spectacular triumphs of the Royal Navy and as a bitter defeat for Hitler in his latest desperate gamble to halt the flow of British and American war supplies to Russia.

Admiral Sir William Jemes, chief of British naval information, told reporters: "The striking power of the German fleet is being slowly but steadily whittled away."

"Today, German surface striking power is reduced to two pocket battleships of 10,000 tons and some small cruisers."

Desperate Gamble.

Further official news of the Scharnhorst exploit and the battle which revolved around it was not expected here until the Russia-bound convoy which was the target of the Scharnhorst's attack has passed the danger zone.

The use of the Scharnhorst and other Nazi surface units in an attack on a convoy suggested Hitler now has been forced to the desperate gamble of risking his few remaining warships in an attempt to disrupt shipments of arms and munitions to Russia.

In the past the German Admiralty has relied primarily on U-boats and planes for this work. But the German submarines have taken a terrific beating in the past few months in the battle of the Atlantic, and the mighty Allied aerial offensive against the Continent apparently has compelled the Nazi Admiralty to pull in all available planes for the defence of the homeland.

The triumph—in apparently the greatest fight with the German navy since the kill of the Bismarck May 27, 1941—practically crippled Hitler's battle fleet, leaving as damaged kingpins only the great Tirpitz and the Scharnhorst's sister ship the Gneisenau.

The fight "lasted a considerable time," the Germans said, and "considerable damage was inflicted on the convoy and on the British escort vessels."

It was revenge for the 55-year-old Admiral Fraser, for he formerly was captain of the aircraft carrier Glorious, sunk by the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau off Norway June 9, 1940, with 1,074 of her crew missing and 130 known dead. The fact he commanded suggested heavy British ships were engaged, possibly including a battleship of the 35,000-ton King George V class armed with 10 14-inch guns.

A Powerful Ship.

The Scharnhorst, bearing main armament of nine 11-inch guns and normal complement of 1,461 men, had a speed of 29 knots, was launched Oct. 3, 1936, and went into service Jan. 7, 1939.

Canadians Sing Yule Carols Within 300 Yards Of Huns

By DOUGLAS AMARON—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 24 (Delayed) — (CP Cable).—There was no peace for the Canadian 1st Division around Ortona this Christmas but there was a celebration of festive spirit that no German shells or mortars could destroy.

Amid the din of crashing explosives, the staccato of machine-gun fire and the roar of flame-throwers, the Canadians celebrated Christmas. For some it was their fifth overseas since they left Canada; for all it was the most memorable of their lives.

Western Canadian infantrymen (the Seaforth Highlanders from Vancouver) chose a battered church inside Ortona for a mess-hall and although the Germans were 300 yards away they sat down to a lunch of turkey and pork. A pipe band played regimental airs and an organ accompanied them as they sang Christmas carols.

On the heights to the southwest other westerners guarding the approach to the town held parties in ruined houses. Their songs were drowned by the crash of shells and mortars peppering the roads leading to Ortona.

Rain Everywhere.

A cold drizzle dampened everything but the spirit of the troops. The position of the troops on a hill well inside the forward area was reached only by mule tracks and surrounded by mines. Bodies of horses and sheep were scattered about the cratered fields and even the German dead still lie unburied for the enemy turned them into booby traps before withdrawing.

Here men of Capt. Colin MacDougall's company spent Christmas Day. The Montrealer and his men won the ground after some of the heaviest fighting in the Moro valley battle.

Canadians Face Flame Throwers

By JOSEPH DYNAN
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERS, Dec. 27 — (AP). — Tanks pressed today into the fierce house-to-house struggle for possession of Ortona, the Adriatic peg of the present German line in Italy, where Canadian 1st Division troops occupied two more blocks in the northwest corner of the small port which the Germans have turned into a "Little Stalingrad."

Nazi forces attempted to infiltrate into the southwest corner of the port, which has a normal population of 9,000, but they were discovered and beaten off. The Allied communique said the conquest was proceeding "street by street."

The fight for Oronta was in its eighth day yesterday, with the Germans stubbornly dug in cellars and sewers.

Five miles inland from Ortona, and a mile north of the Ortona-Orsogna road, Indian troops of the British 8th Army completed their seizure of Villa Grande. The Indians took 25 German soldiers and three officers prisoners and beat off two German columns which counter-attacked with tanks. This thrust by the Indians is aimed at Tollo, two miles back of the German lines on a secondary road paralleling the coast.

Tollo In Flames

Columns of smoke arising from Tollo disclosed that the Germans apparently were scorching that town before withdrawing.

All along the 8th Army front troops heard the continuous roar

Red Armies Approach Zhitomir City

Germans Retreat 25 Miles From Kiev Bulge

MOSCOW, Dec. 27 — (AP). — The Red Army's new winter offensive across the Ukraine was reported today to have cut the Kiev to Zhitomir highway, trapping a large German tank and infantry force.

Gen. Nikolia Vatutin's 1st Ukrainian Army pushed west along both sides of the road advancing within 20 miles of Zhitomir, biggest prize of the Germans' disastrous autumn attack.

The Russians continued to edge forward through the Vitebsk fortified zone further north, working around the city from the northwest, east and southeast and coming within eight miles of this big German base.

The two Red Army thrusts gained momentum, steadily assuming the proportions of a major push. A clean break-through in these sectors would open tthe way for swift advances to the Soviet border, the western Ukraine and the Baltic region in the northwest.

The Russian offensive in the Ukraine brought one of the most dramatic reversals of this long war front. It was mounted at a point where the Germans used big tank divisions and a huge infantry force early in November to liquidate the Red Army bridgehead west of the Dnieper.

Heavy Barrage

Front - line dispatches disclosed the Red Army had launched its own offensive there with a tremendous artillery barrage followed by a tank and infantry assault.

The Vichy radio acknowledged: "The initiative in the Kiev salient has passed over to Vatutin who is making prodigious efforts to enlarge breaches in the German lines." The German communique said the Russians threw heavy tank and infantry forces into the attacks on the Zhitomir area and that "battles of varying fortunes are in progress."

The communique claimed Soviet penetration on the Vitebsk front had been sealed off and that attacking Red Army spearheads had been thrown back in counter-attacks. A Berlin military spokesman was quoted by the Paris radio as saying picked Soviet units have broken the German lines in the Zhlobin area between Vitebsk and Zhitomir.

The 1st Ukrainian army, in a strong comeback in the Kiev sector, pushed the Germans back 25 miles on a 50-mile front, a Russian communique announced, while the 1st Baltic Army surged to within eight miles of Vitebsk and severed almost every escape route from the city.

A BBC broadcast quoted the Germans as admitting loss of ground southeast of Zhitomir and describing the battle as raging in near-zero temperatures, in blizzards alternating with icy rain.

Seize Radomysl

The Moscow communique said Gen. Nikilai F. Vatutin's forces had routed approximately 150,000 German troops in the Kiev bulge and had seized Radomysl, 55 miles west of Kiev and 28 northwest of Zhitomir, as well as Brusilov and Kor-

McNaughton Has Resigned Command Of Canadians

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 27—(CP Cable).—Canadian Army forces with bases in Britain will attack in the western invasion of Europe without the leadership of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, who has found the strain of his army command too great. He has left his post as history's greatest military operations nears the final stages of preparation.

This shapes up as his kind of fight and one for which he has been waiting and planning for years—to cross from England to the Continent again and hammer the Germans on their own soil.

But ill health has forced the 56-year-old general to relinquish his command with the long-awaited invasion day almost in sight. He is going back to Canada to get well again while some other general will take the Canadians into battle which would have been a great climax for Gen. McNaughton's distinguished army career that was notable even when the First Great War ended.

Last nght from Ottawa Defence Minister Ralston announced Gen. McNaughton has been relieved of command of the 1st Army Overseas because he has advised the Government "of his inability physically to carry on."

Acting Commander.

Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the general staff, who accompanied Col. Ralston to England recently and remained behind, has been appointed acting army commander pending the appointment of Gen. McNaughton's successor.

To Gen. Stuart also goes the permanent appointment to the new post of chief of staff, Canadian military headquarters in London.

Canadian Army Separate Entity

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—(CP).— The present intention is that the 1st Canadian Army, with a new commander, will function as an army in operataions now being projected under Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as supreme Allied commander, Defence Minister Ralston said to-day at a press conference.

The Minister had nothing to add to last night's announcement of the retirement of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton as 1st Army commander for health reasons, except to emphasize that it was illness and not other reasons which brought about ths development.

The fact that one corps from the Canadian Army is in Italy is no reason for the army not operating as such, he said. He predicted appointment of a permanent successor to Gen. McNaughton. Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart has assumed temporary command.

The Canadian Army would likely function as one of the British group of armies under command of Lt.-Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, whose move from command of the 8th Army in Italy to command the British group under Gen. Eisen-

New Invasion Commander Reviewing Progress Calls For United Action

Compares Position Today With Year Ago When Hun Was Pounding At Gates Of Cairo With Rommel Army

ALGIERS, Dec. 27—(AP).—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, new commander of the main European invasion force, declared flatly and without qualification today that "we will win the European war in 1944."

Eisenhower made the statement at a farewell press conference before leaving for Britain to take command of the invasion of Hitler's European fortress from the west or north.

He indicated he would depart soon to take over his new duties and said his task would be to create an Allied supreme staff to run the big invasion.

"My own and personal job immediately of course will be to do what we have done here," he said. "That is to weld the directing team together in such a way that no real friction ever develops, that people trust each other, work in unison and go into this thing with full weight. I believe we have developed here that sense of partnership which has come as near as humanly possible to elimination of the friction that has been typical of allied actions in the past."

He added:

"The only thing needed for us to win the European war in 1944 is for every man and women, all the way from the front line to the remotest hamlet of our two countries, to do his or her full duty."

Eisenhower declared in making the prediction that the war in Europe would be won in 1944 that the temptation always arose to qualify it, but that he was resisting this impulse.

In answers to questions whether he had been satisfied with the progress of the war against Germany during 1943 and if the year had been up to expectations, the general said the best way to answer that was for people in their own minds to compare the position of the Allies in October, 1942, with the position today.

The general then reviewed the changes, pointing out that last year, with the Germans almost at the gates of Cairo, Malta hung by a thread, and submarine warfare was at its height.

Speaking of the campaign in Italy, the General pointed out that the surrender of the Italians had enable the Allies to seize the heel of Italy, including the naval bases of Taranto and Bari, with a small expenditure, and dispose of the Italian fleet for a big gain in Allied naval fortunes.

He said he had expected nothing more and had prepared for nothing more although he may have hoped that the surrender would give greater military advantages.

Referring modestly to his new appointment to lead the continental invasion, he said only time would tell whether he was the right man for the job.

To Use French

Asked whether French forces would be used to attack Europe, Eisenhower said the French were being armed to fight the Nazis and certainly would be included in any such plans.

His main task, he said, would be to weld Allied forces into one team without friction and he said he thought Britain and the United States had developed a sense of partnership which eliminated traditional causes of friction among Allies.

Commenting on his recent trip to the Italian front, the commander-in-chief said he had been constantly amazed by the ability of the troops to accommodate themselves to appalling conditions and to make the best of treacherous weather.

The Allies will continue to attack at every opportunity in Italy to keep the Germans on the defensive,

Second Invasion Completed By U.S. Marines

By ROBERT RUNSON
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, IN NEW GUINEA, Dec. 27 — (AP). —United States marines swarmed ashore in two simultaneous landings at Cape Gloucester on western tip of New Britain yesterday to establish a second invasion front on Japan's island stronghold in the Southwest Pacific.

Within two hours of both landings by veterans of the Guadalcanal campaign, headquarters announced today, both beachheads were firmly established without loss of a man.

Heavy aerial and naval bombardment accompanied the landings.

One American ships was lost and three damaged in the operations in addition to seven planes destroyed. The Japanese lost 36 bombers and 25 fighters in attempts to stem the invasion tide.

The landings, carried out early yesterday, not only give the Allies the first foothold on the north coast of New Britain, but also secured domination of the Vitiaz Straits between New Britain and New Guinea.

The first wave of Marines hit the shell-torn beach of Borfen Bay at 7:30 a.m., Dec. 26 (4:30 p.m. Dec. 25 E.D.T.) and apparently encountered no serious opposition from Japanese ground forces.

U.S. 6th Army troops severed the western route of the enemy supply lines from Rabaul, Japan's main base on New Britain, when

Heavy Bombers Fire Bangkok

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 27—(CP) —R.A.F. and American heavy bombers, flying as one team in huge formations, attacked Bangkok, capital of Thailand, Thursday night and set fires visible 100 miles away, the southeast Asia command announced today.

Many hits were scored on the railway station, yards and adjacent buildings and in the arsenal area in this fifth blow at Bangkok, the communique said.

Japanese airmen, striking back in a raid on Chittagong, Indian city just over the border from Burma, lost five planes to Allied fighters and another to anti-aircraft, while inflicting light damage and casualties on the city.

Apparently in support of American and Chinese forces carving a new "Burma Road" through North Burma, American fighters and fighter-bombers carried out an intensive, three-day bombing and strafing attack on enemy positions throughout the Kukawng Valley. The assaults began Dec. 22 and continued through Christmas eve. They were termed "effective."

Strikes Hit War Industries

Steel And Rail Workers Make Demands

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(AP).—President Roosevelt cut short a Christmas week-end at his home at Hyde Park, N.Y., to-day to try to iron out labor disputes threatening to paralyze two key war industries in the United States—Steel and rail transportation.

From railway unions he awaited a reply to his offer to arbitrate a wage dispute with the carriers and stop a controversy which may result in a country-wide strike next Thursday. White House officials said Mr. Roosevelt expected to see union leaders some time to-day.

From steel workers and three companies already affected by a work stoppage which seems likely to infect the entire industry, he waited hopefully for word that they would comply with his request for "uninterrupted production."

Failure of the government to achieve settlements in the steel and rail cases would result in its taking over and operating the bulk of two of the biggest and most complex industries in the United States.

Montgomery Says Win Air War First

Claims Land Army Cannot Operate Without Full Air Support

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 27 — (CP Cable) —The first principle of war is that the battle in tthe air must be won before the land or sea battle is fought, General Sir Bernard Montgomery told a group of Empire war correspondents at his headquarters in Italy.

It was the first public elaboration by the 8th Army commander on the tremendous role of air power. Gen. Montgomery has just been named as commander-in-chief of the British Armies serving under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the latter's new position as the supreme Allied commander of the forces designed to invade Europe from the west.

Paying a monumental tribute to the Allied air force, Gen. Montgomery said "When you fight a good enemy—and the German is very, very good— I do not believe a land army can operate without full support of the air force."

"I have never fought a battle until the air battle was won," he added. "I believe that to be the first principle of war."

Must Be One Entity

(The views stated in the interview are believed to be among those which Gen. Montgomery expressed in recently written thesis on the relation of air to the land power. That work has not been made public.)

The General sat on his caravan step and spoke for more than an hour on the relationship of the land and air forces.

The second most important regulation governing a battle, he said, was that the army and air units must be so knitted as to form one entity.

"The resultant military effort will be so great that nothing can stand against it," he said. "The Allied air force at the side of the fighting machine must be centralized and kept under air force command. I hold that it is quite wrong for the soldier to want to exercise command over the air force.

"Two staffs — army and air — must sit together and there must be between them complete mutual confidence and trust. Each must understand the problems and the difficulties of the other and they have to be good friends. If there is any friction they are done. A fighting machine is a very delicate thing."

Speaking of the army reconnaissance air wing, the General said "it is almost our life blood" and added that if it is neglected "the army only fights with one eye."

Army Directs

As an example of the use of air striking power in a land engagement, he said that during the battle of the Sangro River a group captain on the ground directed the fighter-bombers to targets "which wanted treatment at the moment." In that instance, the army selected the enemy positions it wanted cleared.

In general, he said an army commander directs the military ef-

Halifax Defences On Alert

Nature Of Christmas Eve Warning a Secret

DESIGN—Halifax -F—q

HALIFAX, Dec. 27.—(CP).—Defences in the Halifax area were placed on the alert Christmas eve, and servicemen stood by their weapons until Christmas night after a warning of a possible attack had been received from United States' authorities.

Officers here did not disclose the nature of the warning, but they revealed that anti-aircraft guns, shore artillery batteries and other defences were manned continuously from about three o'clock Saturday morning until late that night.

The warning was transmitted to the Navy, the Army and the R.C.A.F., all of which were on operational duty in this area. All service personnel not actually manning defences were ordered to remain on call during the period of the alert.

Major O. R. Crowell, head of the civilian defence forces here, said all was n readiness to call out Halifax's 5,000 A.R.P. workers if any attack had materialized.

King's Message Forecasts New Fraternity

LONDON, Dec. 27 — (AP)—The King, sitting alone in a room in his quiet country home for his sixth Christmas broadcast to the Empire, called on his people Saturday "to take comfort from our faith that out of desolation shall rise new hope, and out of strife shall be born a new brotherhood."

Speaking in firm measured tones, the King declared that "while we have bright visions of the future we have no easy dreams of the days that lie close at hand," and warned "that much hard working and hard fighting and perhaps harder working and harder fighting than ever before" are ahead before final victory.

Text of his speech follows:

Once again, from our home in England, the Queen and I send our Christmas greetings and good wishes to each of you, all the world over.

Some of you may hear me in your aircraft, on board your ships, or as you wait for the battle in the jungles of Pacific islands or on Italian hills. Some of you may listen to me as you rest from your work or as you lie sick or wounded in a hospital.

To many of you my words will come as you sit in the quiet of your homes. But wherever you may be to-day of all days in the year, your thoughts will be in distant places and your hearts will be with those you love.

I hope that my words spoken to them and to you may be the bond that joins us all in one company for a few moments on this Christmas Day.

With this thought in my mind, I wish to all who are on service away from home good luck and stout heart; to all who wait for them to return, proud memories and high hopes to keep you strong; to all children here and in the lands beyond the seas, a day of real happiness.

I send these words of Christmas greetings to all of you who dwell within the family of the British Commonwealth and Empire.

But I know you would wish me also to send a message of hope to our allies who fight with us, and to all who in the loneliness of exile or horror of invasion look forward to our coming victory.

In the year that is almost ended many things have happened under God's providence to make us thankful for His mercies.

The generous strength of the United states of America; the tremendous deeds of Russia; the endurance of China under her long ordeal; the fighting spirit of France reborn, and the flower of manhood and womanhood of many lands that share burdens of our forward march—all these have played their part in the brightening of our fortunes on sea, on land, in the air.

Since I last spoke to you many things have changed. But the spirit of our people has no changed As we were not downcast by defeat, we are not unduly exalted by victory. While we have bright visions of the future, we have no easy dreams of days that lie close at hand. We know that much hard working and hard fighting, and perhaps harder working and harder fighting than ever before are necessary for victory. We shall not rest from our task until it is nobly ended.

Meanwhile within these islands we have tried to be worthy of our fathers; we have tried to carry into the dawn the steadfastness and courage vouchsafed to us when we stood alone in darkness.

This is not the time for a chronicle of our progress. But there is one landmark in the sombre, world-embracing battlefield which I hope and I trust may endure.

Wherever their duty has called our men and women, they have gained new friends and come to know old friends better.

They have leafnt to share burdens and to read the hearts of their neighbors; they have laid the foundations of new friendships between nations and have strengthened old ones formed long ago.

As the result, there is springing up in every country fresh hope that out of comradeship in sacrifice shall come power to restore and power to build anew.

I saw proof of this when I visited North Africa last summer. I saw many thousands of men of the United Nations united in action, in heart and mind and purpose. The only rivalry between them was in the service of a great cause; their anly aim was defeat of the common enemy.

In the same spirit of unity, men of divers races have come together in the council chamber and round the conference table; some to meet the stern, immediate demands of war itself; others to heal wounds that war deals to all humanity—to feed the hungry, shelter the homeless, mend the broken and succor the poor.

So as we see clouds breaking on this Christmas Day, we should take comfort from our faith that out of desolation shall rise new hope, and out of strife shall be born a new brotherhood.

From this ancient and beloved festival we are keeping to-day, sacred as it is to the home and to all that home means to us, we can draw strength to face the future of a world riven by tempest such as it has never hitherto endured.

Thus the post of chief of the general staff at Ottawa becomes vacant, with Maj.-Gen. J. C. Murchie, vice-chief, carrying on as acting chief as he has since Gen. Stuart went overseas.

Col. Ralston returned Friday from an extended trip overseas, during which he visited troops in Italy and held his usual conferences with Canadian Army leaders and British and other military and civilian executives.

Col. Ralston also revealed that Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commands the Canadian Corps in Italy, formation of which was announced yesterday.

The various announcements made no reference to possible changes in the importance of the post Gen. McNaughton has held but that point may be clarified by Col. Ralston today or later in the week.

Since the dispatch of one Corps of the two-Corps army to the Mediterranean front the question has arisen whether the Canadian army will fight as such under a single army command.

If the other Corps should participate in operations expected to open in western [illegible]ope it would, presumably, form part of some larger United Nations command as the Canadian Corps in Italy forms part of the British 8th Army.

The responsibilities of Canadian military headquarters in London, of which General Stuart now becomes head, have been growing with the increasing number of troops overseas and the separation of the troops as between Britain and the Mediterranean theatre.

Last night's announcement said Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, a Manitoba Judge in civilian life, who has been chief in London will continue with Gen. Stuart as Major-General in charge of Administration and as Judge Advocate-General, Canadian Army Overseas.

Col. Ralston said Gen. McNaughton, who led the 1st Division overseas in December, 1939, and built it up first into a Corps and then into a two-Corps Army with five divisions and two army tank brigades, has been granted several month's leave of absence from service.

He said it is hoped that the General's unusual talents will be available later in some capacity less exacting than command of an army in the field.

The senior Canadian officer overseas in point of experience and rank now is Gen. Crerar, who commands the corps in Italy.

High tribute to General McNaughton's work was paid by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a statement which said few people realized the great strain under which he has been working, a strain made greater by the loss of a son in action with the Air Force.

"Gen. McNaughton's health has prevented him from carrying on, as he would have wished, until the end of the war," said Mr. King.

"He has, however, the satisfaction of knowing that his work has been a large factor in contributing to th successes thus far achieved by Canada's army and that it will have its part in the supreme effort needed to attain ultimate victory.

"All Canada will wish for Gen. McNaughton a speedy restoration of his health and that his erceptional abilities and wise experience may long continue to be at the service of our country."

of artillery and mortar fire.

On the western end of the front American troops of the Anglo-American 5th Army, attacking in driving rain, captured two important high points in the Mount Samucro mass along the stoutly-defended road that leads to Cassino and from there to Rome. The Americans also wedged in closer to the village of San Vittore, halfway between Mignano and Cassino.

The Germans used flame-throwers for the first time against the Canadian 1st Division on Christmas Day in the fight for the Adriatic coastal town of Ortona but failed to stop western infantry who are winning the shattered town street by street.

Used previously on this front against other 8th Army units in the battle of the Sangro river, flame-throwers were no more successful against the Canadians. These flame-throwers were the newest addition to the weapons of the desperate German paratroopers now pressed back into the buildings north of Ortona's main square. The fire comes from the flame throwers with a roar like the magnified sound of a blow-torch.

One of the flame-throwers set up in a lane was put out of commission by anti-tank gunners who toppled the wall of a building beside it with their fire.

Peterborough District Soldiers Fight Valiantly At Moro River

By WILLIAM STEWART—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY (Delayed)—(CP Cable)—The battle of the Moro River, which began December 8, put the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in its fiercest series of engagements of the Italian campaign. Men of this central Ontario unit, fighting under the heaviest German fire that had been poured on them in Italy, pushed the Germans out of positions dominating the Moro valley, dug themselves in and held.

The enemy tried time after time to force the battalion back across the river but every man stood fast and as more Canadian troops crossed the valley the Hastings moved forward beyond the ground they had held so well.

The battalion's first foothold across the river was established by a company whose commander was wounded by shrapnel when the enemy subjected the company to heavy artillery and mortar fire after they had gained a position near the top of a sandy shoulder above which the enemy sat.

Withering Fire

The troops, who had faced withering fire after they had left the paved road and started across the muddy valley bed, were not budged by the rain of shells and bombs. Two more companies and finally a fourth which had crossed originally followed them over.

Looking back across the valley from a trench in the yellow slope where his company commander was hit when a shell exploded in a tree nearby, Lieut. J. D. Seaton of Brockville, Ont., said he wondered "how in hell his men ever made it."

The flat valley bed, with its vineyards and tall yellow reed stalks, was exposed to machine-gun fire from the 150-foot north-western slope. Big W. J. R. McKnight, of Bowmanville, now the Acting Company Sergeant-Major, said it took his company an hour and 11 minutes to get across the valley's 600-yard width. One sergeant started across with a platoon but nad only two non-commissioned officers and six men left when he reached the sand bank on the German side.

Peterborough Officer.

The platoon commanders of the company were Seaton and Lieuts. H. J. Vallery of Peterborough and Tom Davis of Montreal. Their N.C.O.'s and men included Sgts. R. D. fort of the combined army and air power and the air force commander who works with him applies the air effort in accordance with the combined plan.

"A very big battle-winning factor has been participation of the fighter-bomber in the actual land battle," he said.

Referring to some of the difficulties encountered in waging war against a mobile line, he said there had been occasions when Allied fighters and bombers had attacked Allied troops.

"Great steps were taken to try and stop it but it is almost inevitable," he added.

Linking of air and land powers began in North Africa and has been geared to a "high pitch," said Gen. Montgomery.

"We never talk of air co-operation now, because the two things are one," he added. "There is no question of co-operation. When you are one entity, the word co-operation does not exist.

Speaking of smashing the German winter line in Italy, Gen. Montgomery said "we had a bit of a party to get it." He added "It is a very good example of how you can't do things unless you have the air force behind you.

"The air bombing and artillery barrages the Germans received were terrific."

He spoke with pride of his beloved 8th Army. Mentioning the Canadians along with others who made up his force, he said: "This is an imperial army in the best sense of the world and the soldiers of the Empire are the best soldiers in the world."

Answering a question relating to Germans prisoners, the General said the younger captives were impregnated with the Nazis ideas and clung to the belief Germany would win the war. "But they are not very intelligent prisoners," he added. "They have heard nothing, for instance, of the bombing of Berlin or the nasty business on the Russian front."

He warned, however, that "the German soldier is fighting very well and there is no indication of the end of the war."

he said, but the campaign must necessarily be slow.

The General said the speed of the military campaign in Italy would have to be measured in relation to the military situation in the whole world, taking into consideration the demands of other theatres.

One correspondent said he had heard the suggestion that the Allies should have landed farther up the Italian boot instead of at Salerno.

Gen. Eisenhower replied that Salerno was the extreme range of Allied fighter planes any that any commander who sent such a large expedition out beyond its fighter range should be relieved. He added that sudden raids could be made outside fighter cover but not a prolonged operation.

He added that bombing undoubtedly would have a great effect on Germany but that other means besides bombing would be needed to knock her out of the war because if bombing was all the Germans needed to fear they could devote all their energies to air defence.

One Corps In Italy.

With a new supreme Allied commander and a new commander for the British group, it was not known yet wh t dispositions they would want to make of their troops, but the present intention was that the 1st Army would operate under Canadian command.

"The situation now is that we have in Britain an army less one corps," said Col. Ralston.

He said an army, in the technical sense, consists of two or more corps but also of a headquarters and a group of army and line-of-communications troops which maintain connections between the corps at the front and the headquarters.

"We have an army headquarters, excellently trained, with all the necessary army troops, which can be used to support any operation," said the Minister.

Appointment of Gen. Stuart as chief of staff at Canadian military headquarters in England was intended to relieve the new army commander, "whoever he is," of some of the responsibility for matters of policy which had been borne by Gen. McNaughton.

C.M.H.Q. in London, said the Minister, is really an advance section of the Ottawa defence headquarters. A number of matters of policy have to be dealt with there, in addition to matters of administration involved in service to the Canadian troops.

Yugoslavs Enter Zagreb Area

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Yugoslav patriots have penetrated the Zagreb area and destroyed the Velika-Goritza air base less than 10 miles southeast of the Croat capital, Marshal Josip Broz's (Tito's) headquarters announced today in a communique broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio.

The communique credited another Yugoslav force with foiling a German attempt to occupy an unidentified island off the Croat coast.

Units of the Italian Garibaldi division which went over to the Partisans after the fall of Italy aided another Yugoslav unit in scoring a "conspicuous success" in Montenegro, between Plevlje and Bjelopolje where a radio station and a large quantity of war material were captured.

In Croatia a train was derailed on the Zagreb-Belgrade railway near Okucani, while in the Banat border area near the Hungarian frontier an attack resulted in the destruction of a large store of 169 truck loads of wheat and the derailment of another train.

An enemy garrison also was wiped out at Tovarnik near Sid in Croatia, the communique said.

nin, 37 and 39 miles east and southeast of Zhitomir, respectively.

A German broadcast said more than 150,000 Soviet troops were being used in the drive for Zhitomir, which the Russians captured Nov. 13 and lost Nov. 20 to a powerful Nazi attack. The city is a vital rail junction on the Leningrad-Odessa line.

The Russians apparantly also were menacing Korosten, 60 miles above Zhitomir and 60 miles from the Polish frontier, which also was captured in November, only to be lost again.

In White Russia the fall of Vitebsk, which would endanger the entire German line on that front, appeared to be imminent. Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's forces, which Friday captured the heavily fortified lake town of Gorodok, 20 miles north of Vitebsk, and the next day cut the highway leading westward to Polotsk, swept up 60 more localities yesterday, bringing the beseiged city within artillery range from three sides.

A clean tablecloth covered boards that served as a table. The decorations were the work of Sgt. Leonard Davies of Vancouver, while the meal was served by Pte. Michael Hillcoff of Gimli, Man. It was not a[n] elaborate lunch, but for the troops within sniping range of the enemy it was a feast.

The main course was turkey, pork, potatoes and chili sauce made from Italian tomato soup. The dessert was fig pudding with rice sauce and spiced with rum. Added delicacies were mince pies, apples, oranges, nuts, candies and two bottles of beer for each man. The auxiliary services provided cigarettes and candy.

There was a present for every soldier—razor blades, soap or similar articles. Men with parcels from home shared them with those whose parcels had not arrived.

Mortar shells fell nearby but the men didn't let that interfere. Pte. J. L. Bowan of Athabaska, Alta., dressed for dinner in a brightly-colored tie "borrowed" from an Italian.

"Everyone from the Rockies wears a tie for Christmas," he said.

Lieut. Hogan, Sgt. Davies and Sgt. W. A. Brebber of Wetaskiwin, Alta., waited on the men, who included L.-Cpl. L. P. Kelly, Sudbury, Ont.

The meals, cooked in the rear, were driven to the front lines to supplement normal rations.

At task headquarters palms were used as decorations, and Lieut. W. D. Houser of Toronto found a Christmas tree for the officers' mess. Italian residents of a nearby town contributed 45 litres of wine for the soldiers.

The country was scoured for fowl and the tankmen got 12 turkeys, two ducks, nine geese, six rabbits and a number of chickens.

The road along which the Canadians travel was strung with Christmas signs and even jeeps carried chalked "Merry Christmas" messages. The Italians printed signs conveying their greetings to the Allied troops.

Airmen Aiding Santa Overseas

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 27 (CP Cable).—Canadian airmen in Britain helped make this a children's Christmas.

Hundreds of youngsters who have gone without a lot of things for the last four years were royally entertained at parties in R.C.A.F. air stations from one end of Britain to the other.

Candy rations carefully saved for the last two or three months are being packaged for distribution to children and the airmen have been spending lots of time in organizing their parties.

Typical of the kind of party being arranged is one planned by the Intruder squadron commanded by Wing Cmdr. Paul Y. Davoud, D.F.C., of Kingston, Ont. Its members are entertaining 300 children from a village near their station.

The squadron has purchased small gifts for each one of their little guests. They'll have a Christmas tree and if a costume can be found Flt. Lt. Bob Johnson of Barrie, Ont., will play Santa Claus.

At one R.C.A.F. station Christmas dinner is going to mean pork and chicken. The men have been running their own barnyard in anticipation of the festivities.

A number of squadrons of the Canadian bomber group are staging celebrations for children orphaned by the war. Two of the fanciest parties are being arranged by the Goose and Thunderbird squadrons.

For themselves the Canadian airmen do not ask much.

"If I get a letter from home Christmas week," said one sergeant, "that's all I need to make it a Merry Christmas."

Expect Defeat

CHUNGKING, Dec. 27.— (AP).—The editor of the Shanghai Evening Post Mercury yesterday quoted a "recent arrival" from Shanghai as saying that Japanese authorities there have prepared internment camps into which to put Germans when Adolf Hitler is defeated. Nazis in Shanghai were said to be selling much of their property.

The chapel is situated in the most eastern corner of the abbey.

Fire Damages Cobourg Ferry

COBOURG, Dec. 27 — Fire which broke out in the forward part of the passenger deck caused damage amounting to several thousand dollars on car ferry Ontario No. 2 Saturday afternoon. Discovered around 1:30 p.m., the fire gutted the purser's office, the dining room, canteen, passenger's cabins, lounge on the passenger deck and the captain's quarters, wheel house and radio room on the top deck.

So great was the heat that the steel plates on the deck were buckled. The galley mess and the other quarters aft were untouched. Cobourg Fire Department laid its pumper intake in the harbor, and plenty of water at adequate pressure was available to fight the fire. The ship is mainly of steel construction, and the fire was prevented from getting to the car deck below. It, however, ate through the wooden ceiling to the top deck.

The car ferry was recondonitioned at Kingston for the winter season and was laying in harbor over Christmas with a skeleton crew. It plies between Cobourg and Genessee, N.Y., and handles coal cars throughout the year with a heavy excursion passenger trade during the summer. At the time of the fire it was tied up at the centre pier ahead of its sister ship Ontario No. 1.

10,000th Trip

LONDON, Dec. 27 —(CP)— The Atlantic has been crossed 10,000 times by aircraft of the R.A.F.-U.S.A.A.F. Transport Ferry Command. The 10,000th crossing was made by a Flying Fortress piloted by Lieut. H. W. Monsky of the U.S.A.A.F. which landed at a British airdrome Christmas eve after a non-stop flight of a little more than nine hours.

YUGO AID HINTS NEW DRIVE—As Gen. Tito's Yugo Partisans threaten Banjaluka, heavily fortified German position in Bosnia and claim 10,000 Nazis killed in 20 days in that area, observers have noted an unusual rush of supplies and planes to the Partisan fighters. One report told of 100 Allied planes and fliers going to Tito's aid and of a vast fleet of small craft dodging daily across the Adriatic north of Bari with every conceivable type of cargo. The area of fighting and of supply running, shown on the map, is expected to be greatly expanded—and soon—and many are linking the activities with coming invasion thrusts. Dotted line indicates the approximate dividing line between the Chetnik and Partisan areas.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Registration

The old year is gradually slipping away and yet there are many of the Scout groups that have not yet registered. According to P.O.R. if a unit is not duly registered by the first of the year, there can be no badges issued or awards made to the group concerned. Mr. Edgar Jones, field secretary from Toronto, expects to pay the association a visit in January, and one of the items he is to discuss is this matter of registration so the following groups are asked to get to work and get this matter straightened by the time he arrives: St. John's Troop, St. Luke's Troop and Charter, St. George's Pack, Troop and Charter, Sacred Heart Pack, Troop and Charter, St. James' Pack and Charter, Park Hill Community Pack, Troop and Charter, George St. United Pack and Charter, Murray Street Baptist Pack and Charter.

Medicine Bottles Wanted

Another urgent call has been received for medicine botles from ¼-oz. to 8 oz. size and Scouts will arrange to pick up—just phone Mrs. Langhorne at 3896. Please be sure that the bottles are clean and fit for use.

Changes At St. Andrew's

After a good many years of faithful service Scouter Ingham has found it necessary to relinquish his post with the St. Andrew's group. It was with great reluctance that the group committee accepted the resignation. Scouter Ingham has for the past two years been acting as leader of the Pack and previous to that was scout master to the troop. Allan Johnson, a former Cub and Scout is now acting scout master while the position of cub leader is being taken over by Mr. R. K. McGee, vice principal of one of the public schools.

Scout Leaders' Course

There has been a demand to carry out a leaders' training course for scout masters and this will be arranged as soon as all groups have fully registered. Commissioner Wolff stated at the last scouters meeting that it was essential that this duty be carried out.

Scouters Club

The Scouters Club will be holding the first meeting of the new year in the Dixon House, headquarters of the Park Hill Community group on Wednesday, January 12.

Name For Hut

There have been no names put forward yet for the hut out at the Scout grounds and every Pack and Troop is asked to get busy with their suggestions immediately. Send them in to W. G. Shiner, secretary of the local Association.

Thank You

Another year nearly gone and I want to say thank you to all those who have been so faithful in the past year in sending in reports. Let us make 1944 even better than 1943. Also thanks to Mrs. Langhorne for the splendid way she stepped into the job during my absence from town. Why not every Troop and Pack appoint a reporter and have them phone 3067. Good luck and good hunting to every Cub, Scout and Officer in and around Peterborough. The Skipper.

Reprisal Pattern

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(CP).— The Nazis threatened officially yesterday to take "hundred-fold reprisals" on De Gaullist prisoners of war if the Fighting French "take reprisals on German prisoners in their hands." The Berlin radio said the action was prompted by French "dissident" radio stations warning of reprisals for alleged abuse of French officer prisoners.

A Municipal Election

On New Year's Day Peterborough voters will go to the polls to elect five aldermen to the City Council and five members to the Board of Education. In both fields there is a wide choice of candidates, with twelve contesting the vacancies on the council and nine on the School Board.

The failure of Alderman G. N. Gordon to qualify came as a surprise. Alderman Gordon had for some time been hinting that he would not seek re-election but it had been felt that he ultimately would qualify. He has given the city good service and his criticisms of many important questions have had a tendency to strengthen the acts of the council. The four retiring aldermen, R. M. Glover, the municipal veteran R. S. Cotton, Floyd Curtis and Thomas Mark, are all in the field again, and along with them a group of citizens representing practically every walk of life. From this field the voters will have no difficulty in selecting good strong aldermen for the 1944 council.

Perhaps the surprise in the Board of Education field is that the four women nominated on Thursday night all qualified. Two of the veteran members of the Board, Mrs. Kate Morris and D. G. H. Melton, recently announced their retirement, but the other three retiring members, T. J. Carley, K.C.; D. V. Canning, and G. Wilson Craw, are seeking re-election. With these three, the four ladies and two additional men the voters have a good field to select five members for the new Board.

Between now and election day the candidates will present their platforms and we urge the electors to study these closely and then go to the polls and vote New Year's Day. With many contesting both City Council and Board of Education there should be a large vote cast next Saturday.

Anthony Eden Speaks

The Hon. Anthony Eden, Britain's Foreign Secretary, was the first person of those who attended the great conference at Cairo and Teheran to make a public statement concerning them. It is obvious from what Mr. Eden said to the House of Commons that he was delighted with the results of the conferences, but he laid particular stress on the great efforts which the United Nations must make during the coming year; "great battles are impending for which we shall need all our strength, all our courage, all our unity in greater measure than ever before", said he. The victory which he is certain will be ours is not an end in itself, but the means toward a greater end, which is lasting peace; and "the very magnitude of the plans to which we have set our hands will call for an immense effort in the coming months from each and all of the United Nations". This is realism, but it is optimism of a reasoned and acceptable kind, also.

Mr. Eden assured the House that the chief object of the conferences was to hasten the day of victory, although a wide range of subjects was discussed. "To destroy Germany and then make a compromise with Japan would only sow the seed of a third World War", said Mr. Eden, and in this everyone, and particularly the United States, will agree with him. A speedy victory is what we want, but we cannot — we dare not — sacrifice thoroughness to speed. The job will have to be finished in a workmanlike manner or our peace will have a shifting foundation.

It is clear from Mr. Eden's speech that problems of the peace were discussed at length both with Chiang Kai-shek and with Stalin, but he is too experienced a diplomat to give more than a hint of the nature of that part of the conferences. But he is sure that the three great powers can work together, and he said that they had no desire to impose a collective will upon the world: this is fortunate, for the three great powers are themselves so unlike in many respects that only the broadest conception of unity among them will work. Mr. Eden assures us that the foundation already exists of "an international order of firmer strength and unity than any enemy can seek to challenge", but he is certain also that German post-war diplomacy will all be directed to dividing the United Nations. Against that diplomacy we shall all have to be vigilant; it was effective last time, and unless we wish to show ourselves incorrigible dunces we must remembers our expensive lesson.

Municipal Acclamations

The acclamations which returned James Hamilton and Gordon Matthews to the posts of Mayor and Chairman of the Utilities Commission were well deserved and thoroughly earned. For many years the present Mayor has played a prominent part in the public life of this municipality. He was first elected to the City Council in 1919 and remained in office for four years; six years later he again stood for election and served for two further years; he was an alderman continuously from 1931 to 1938, when he was elected to the Mayoralty, and he has remained in office with six acclamations since that time. Several weeks ago the Examiner set forth its reason for believing that the citizens of Peterborough would be well advised to return Mayor Hamilton to office and there is no need to repeat them here. In accepting office once more he takes on a job which has grown from a part-time occupation to a full-time one; being Mayor of Peterborough at present is not a bed of roses. Post-war planning for this city has been extensive, and the Mayor has done his full share of it; we think it just that he should remain in office to see the plans over which he has worked so hard come to fruition.

Mr. Gordon Matthews has been Chairman of the Utilities Commission for seventeen years, during which time the Commission has been smoothly and efficiently governed. Like the Mayoralty, the Chairman's job is anything but an easy one. It is public service, of an arduous kind, and we are lucky to have an able man who is willing to take it on.

We congratulate both Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Matthews on the trust which their fellow citizens have repeatedly shown in them. That is their sole reward for the hard work which they do and the city is greatly complimented that they regard it as sufficient.

Churchill The Fighter

On the 21st of December, Premier Stalin's birthday, we gave a brief account of his life and his career as a fighter and leader. An account of similar interest could be written of Winston Churchill. All his life he has known danger—indeed he has courted it. When he was 21 a Cuban bullet missed him by a foot. At 23 he was in action in Afghanistan, and at 24 he was in the Sudan campaign. He sought these dangers; they were in no way obligatory.

In the South African war he was a newspaper correspondent, often in danger of his life, and once the prisoner of the determined Boers. When he was 41, during the First Great War, he left a Cabinet post to see service in the front line with the Grenadier Guards. There again he narrowly escaped death, and on one occasion he was called out of a dugout just five minutes before a German shell blasted it from the face of the earth.

Commenting on his present bout of pneumonia the New York Times has this to say:

> "Having so much courage of his own he could impart it to others. In the dark days after Dunkirk one of the few reasons why the British were able to keep up their hopes was that Mr. Churchill was leading them. Nor was his courage merely of the plumed-hat variety. He went to Egypt the other day with a temperature of 100 degrees, deriding the threat of pneumonia as he did that of German bombers.
> "Now his enemy is upon him. From all ranks and political groups in his own country, from all people of the free lands everywhere, will go up prayers for his speedy recovery. There is good ground for hope. The antagonist has to deal with a fighting man who will not give in easily."

Mr. Churchill seems to bear a charmed life. The only time of which we know when he was in real danger was when he was knocked down by a taxi during a visit to the U.S. But even that did not phase him for long; even the perils of modern traffic are powerless against his invincible spirit. Pneumonia simply doesn't stand a chance.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Winnipeg Tribune says that all Germans should begin to think furiously. Or, more to the point, fueherlessly.

A man in Southfield, N.B., says that he has found an egg which bears a striking likeness to Hitler. A bad egg, of course.

Now the report has been contradicted which said that Ciano had been shot in the back. Well, wherever he was shot, it wasn't at the front.

In London, Ont., a man was recently convicted on a charge of having stolen a fan. Appropriately, they put him in the cooler.

TODAY, to meet the needs of wartime, and especially to anticipate the demands of the post-war period, Britain is training considerably more women doctors, who, gaining valuable experience from special wartime medical conditions, will be well qualified to undertake the vital tasks ahead.

Britain's Ministry of Labour has agreed that greater numbers of students may be enrolled each year for training by the Hospitals Medical Schools. At the School of the Royal Free Hospital—the only considerable medical training establishment for women in London—the yearly enrolment may be increased by one-third, which means that some 80 students may now qualify yearly, finishing a six-year course.

When qualified, women doctors are going on to house posts at their own or other municipal hospitals, where they now replace men widely as house physicians and surgeons. There they gain practical experience caring for cases on behalf of highly qualified specialists. These valuable first posts are known as "A" posts, and are followed by more senior hospital jobs—"B" from which the majority of women now gravitate into the services.

MANY of these young doctors are absorbed into R.A.F. and Army, and some into the Navy. Most of the others serve in the Emergency Medical Service of the Ministry of Health, attached to hospitals to deal with air-raid and service casualties. In these days only a few go into general practice. All are under the direction of the Central Medical War Committee of the British Medical Association, which controls the profession on behalf of the Government and supplies the needs of the fighting services, recruiting unmarried women doctors up to the age of 31, and submitting to the Service Departments concerned the names of volunteers over that age.

Britain's Royal Army Medical Corps had no women doctors before the war. A few volunteered in the early days of the war, more joined as the Auxiliary Territorial Service grew, and now the number is considerable. Women doctors look after both A.T.S. and army personnel. Appointed to commissions as Lieutenants in the Women's forces for employment with the Royal Army Medical Corps, they have the same rates of pay as male medical officers and are eligible for promotion to the war substantive rank of captain after a year's satisfactory service.

Some are now majors, doing specialist work as surgeons, anaesthetists and psychiatrists attached to military hospitals, and a number are employed on administrative duties, dealing with A. T.S. general health, hygiene, supervise physical training, control infectious diseases and prepare sick reports.

IN the R.A.F. (Volunteer Reserve) women medical officers—starting with rank of flying officer, with promotion up to squadron leader—are tending both Women's Auxiliary Air Forces and R.A.F. personnel.

One woman M.O., at the headquarters of each command—Bomber, Fighter, Coastal,—and so on —looks after the medical interests of W.A.A.F., visiting all units in the command, carrying out hygiene and sanitary inspection, lecturing and being available for consultation.

Other women are M.O.'s attached to stations, and carry out the routine medical duties, some are on the medical board that checks the health of W.A.A.F. officers, a few are specializing, one working in a pathological laboratory, another on W.A.A.F. X-ray.

At the Training School of the Royal Free Hospital students are largely trained by women. Lecturing to them in clinical subjects are women specialists in obstetrics, gynaecology, orthopaedics, anaesthetics, ophthalmology, veneral diseases, along with surgeons, children's physicians and pathologists.

WOMEN students are often better examinees than men, possibly because they tend to be more selective; they take up medicine because they have a strong feeling for it, rather than because it is one of several professions open to them.

After the war probably many of these young doctors will specialize in child welfare, obstetrics and gynaecology, while others will take the Diploma of Public Health and go into the civic services; thus most of them will be dealing with the production of development of a new generation.

Amongst the 6,000 women doctors now practicing in Britain, replacing men in hospital posts, school medical services, maternity, child welfare and other public health services, are some 400 specialists, many of them women of international reputations.

Dr. Helen Mackay, member of Britain's Royal College of Surgeons and first woman Fellow of the College of Physicians, hitherto entirely masculine throughout its four hundred year history, does brilliant research work in the causes of nutritional anaemia in children.

DR. Lucy Wills, M.A., B.S., Lond., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., Member of the Royal Society of Medicine, the Pathological Society of Great Britain and the Biochemical Society, is investigating nutritional problems, with special reference to factory workers.

Dr. Janet Vaughan, D.M., B.Ch., M.R.C.P., is a great blood expert, an authority on anaemia, and a member of the committee that organizes blood transfusion for the Nuffield Trust.

Dr. Dorothy Russell, M.D. Lond., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., is a member of the scientific staff of the Medical Research Council, the Bernhard Baron Institute of Pathology, the London Hospital, a Fellow of the Royal Society of Medicine, and is now engaged on research on tumours.

Dr. Alice Stewart is doing industrial investigation, with special emphasis on T.N.T. cases—and so the list of these brilliant, highly qualified women, who are devoting their lives to the welfare of their fellow human beings goes on. One hears of them from other members of their profession, learns of their brilliance and their absorption in their work; but one rarely meets them, because they are working some 18 hours a day, seven days a week, in laboratories and hospitals, and only the medical profession and the thousands of sufferers who have benefited know the greatness of their achievements.

OFFICIAL MINDS

Some months ago a high school boy in Arkansas sat down and wrote a suggestion on how to collect more waste fats from the housewives of America, fats that are desperately needed for industrial and military purposes. His idea was that if the OPA would grant two meat ration points for every pound of fat turned in the job was done. To the amazement of everybody, the OPA adopted the idea. The startling thing is that it was so practical and sensible that nobody had any idea that the OPA would even consider it.—Detroit Free Press.

The Little Sardinian Train

THE various trains in the junction squatted side by side and had long, long talks before at last we were off. It was wonderful to be running in the bright morning towards the heart of Sardinia, in the little train that seemed so familiar. We were still going third class, rather to the disgust of the railway officials at Mandas.

At first the country was rather open: always the long spurs of hills, steep-sided, but not high. And from our little train we looked across the country, across hill and dale. In the distance was a little town, on a low slope. But for its compact, fortified look it might have been a town on the English downs. A man in the carriage leaned out of the window holding out a white cloth, as a signal to someone in the far-off town that he was coming. The wind blew the white cloth, the town in the distance glimmered small and alone in its hollow. And the little train pelted along.

It was rather comical to see it. We were always climbing. And the line curved in great loops. So that as one looked out of the window, time and again one started, seeing a little train running in front of us, in a diverging direction, making big puffs of steam. But lo, it was our own little engine pelting off around a loop away ahead. We were quite a long train, but all trucks in front, only our two passenger coaches hitched on behind. And for this reason our own engine was always running fussily into sight, like some dog scampering in front and swerving about us, while we followed at the tail end of the thin string of trucks.

I was surprised how well the small engine took the continuous steep slopes, how bravely it emerged on the sky-line. It is a queer railway. I would like to know who made it. It pelts up hill and down dale and round sudden bends in the most unconcerned fashion, not as proper big railways do, grunting inside deep cuttings and stinking their way through tunnels, but running up the hill like a panting, small dog, and having a look round, and starting off in another direction, whisking us behind unconcernedly. This is much more fun than the tunnel-and-cutting system....

At every station we were left ignominiously planted, while the little engines—they had gay gold names on their black little bodies—strolled about along the sidelines, and snuffed at the various trucks. There we sat, at every station, while some truck was discarded and some other sorted out like a branded sheep, from the sidings and hitched on to us. It took a long time, this did.—From "Sea and Sardinia," by D. H. Lawrence. (New York: McBride.)

DOROTHY DIX SAYS....

WHAT is the proper mental approach to age for a woman? Two sisters have been discussing this subject that is vitally interesting to all women everywhere between the cradle and the grave, and one of them writes asking my opinion in the matter. She says:

"My sister contends that because I speak so often of my own age and that of everyone else I know, it shows a secret fear of growing old. To her mind the correct attitude towards age is to completely ignore the years. She maintains that if a woman can forget her age that she can deliberately make herself stay young in thought and, therefore, young in body and appearance. In other words, if a woman thinks 25, she will stay 25 through sheer will-power, regardless of the advance of years.

"I disagree with this point of view entirely. I am interested in age because it is important to me, but nothing to be afraid of. In my own growing process every few years I have felt a definite change in myself, a sudden maturing of mind and body, which has given me an entirely different viewpoint and reaction to life. Usually for the better. Each new step has been on experience, which I would not trade for mere youthfulness.

"I am a very frank 35 and feel that is a very fine age to be. I am over the period of uncertainty and readjustment. Happily married and well on the road to a contented future. However, this doesn't prevent me from realizing that the years bring certain changes and that 35 is the age when the average woman must do a little stepping up, mentally and physically, because it is so easy to slump. Therefore, I discuss the pros and cons of hair colouration, of keeping my figure, mental stimulation and a flock of other preventives for growing old unattractively before my time.

"Hence I believe that my sister's theory, that the way to keep young is to shut your eyes to the passing of time, is the one that shows fear of age. Furthermore, that if we don't care how old we are, neither does anyone else. Also, if we are going to say anything about our age, it is better to exaggerate it than to minimize it. It was clever Sarah Bernhardt who, when she was 60, claimed to be 70, so that people would exclaim: "How young you look!"

"What do you think should be a woman's attitude towards her age?"

The dread of age, which is one of the hereditary fears with which all women seem to be born, is one of the most pitiful things in the world because it is a phobia for which there is no cure. No amount of thinking youthful thoughts, or dieting, or face lifting, or cosmetics, or hair dye will stop the relentless march of the years and keep them from taking their toll of us.

So it is folly and waste of time and effort and money to try to look younger than we are. An old sheep dressed as spring lamb never fools the beholders. It only makes them wonder why any woman would put on an act that makes her look ridiculous.

The only sensible attitude that a woman can take on the age proposition is to light all the candles on her birthday cake, and say: "There they are. Count 'em! And what of it?" And make herself so charming and agreeable that nobody will notice her wrinkles, or care whether she is 17 or 70.

This doesn't mean that she shouldn't put her best foot foremost and have buckles on her shoes. Quite the contrary. The older a woman grows, the prettier clothes she needs and the better grooming. But unless she wants to make herself a figure of fun, she doesn't doll herself up in knee-length skirts, or decollete gowns that call attention to her bones or her fat and that make her look like a grotesque caricature of her granddaughter.

Nor does it mean that age gives a woman the right to fall behind the times and bore everyone to tears with her reminiscences about the time Johnny had the croup forty years ago. The more the outside of a woman's head deteriorates, the more necessary it is that she should cultivate the inside of it and make herself so interesting that no one will look at her appraisingly. They will only listen to her.

For a woman to try to keep young is a feat impossible of accomplishment. It can't be done, and even the attempts at it are horrible. When grandma dyes her hair and fills up the wrinkles in her face with calcimine and paint, she doesn't look like a subdeb, she looks like a harridan. And the spectacle of an old woman dancing with a paid gigolo and talking about her boy friend is something to make the angels weep.

So I say that women should not forget their birthdays. They should remember them and act accordingly. The best advice ever given to a woman is: Be your age.

London Hotels

The London hotel situation: already bad is likely to get worse. Lord Portal is meeting the hotel industry to discuss further Service demands to be made upon it, particularly for American officers and men.

Hotel chiefs say that little can be done except by refusing manufacturers and specialists in war industries who have regularly to visit Government departments in their work, relatives of soldiers who come to go with a relative who has won an award to Buckingham Palace or to get the decorations of dead heroes, witnesses in law cases, and others who have to come on indispensable business. Visitors on pleasure nowadays are almost negligible. Already some of the biggest hotels have had to set apart sections for foreign soldiers.

The fact has to be faced that if increasing numbers of American officers and men are to be in London on duty and on leave the Office of Works will have to repair and recondition many more of the disused West End houses and make them into hostels.—Manchester Guardian.

The Answer

What goes on here? The Women's Army Corps needs between 400,000 and 500,000 women. It was hoped to get 150,000 in uniform this year by voluntary enlistment. Only some 60,000 have come forward. The situation in the Waves and Spars is similar.

The solution to the problem is in front of our eyes. None other than Secretary of War Stimson has emphasized it—a dra[illegible] of young women for military service comparable to the draft of young men [illegible] tied in with a national service [illegible] all of us.

Well, why not? What goes on here? A war or a tea party?—New York Post.

A Bible Message

Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered? (Jer. 8: 22.)

O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee shall be ashamed, and they that depart from me shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord, the fountain of living waters. Heal me, O Lord; and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise. (Jer. 17: 13, 14.)

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! For he hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the bars of iron in sunder.

Fools because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted. Their soul abhorreth all manner of meat; and they draw near unto the gates of death.

Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saveth them out of their distress. He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions. (Ps. 107: 15-20.)

Long Live Winston Churchill

After the doctors and nurses have their way—and we'll bet they didn't get it without a roaring fight—Winston Churchill must lie alone with his thoughts for a few hours.

We can't know all that passes through his mind. But for most of his 69 years that mind has been about equally preoccupied with making history and writing it. And so we can safely assume that he is thinking in terms of history and of his own place in the tremendous record of his times.

That will call for many books. One item we wish to contribute today: that Winston Churchill will stand as the perfect example of how an intelligent conservative, a conservative by birth, education and conviction, could hate and fight fascism with all the passion and power of his being. By that demonstration alone, he has done a great deal to save the democratic way of life. He proved how it was possible for men to differ on many fundamental questions, and yet fight together for each other's freedom. We needed that proof.

That is why liberals and conservatives both, free men everywhere, hope from the bottom of their hearts for his quick recovery.—New York Post.

Charles Taft's Pictures

Charles Taft, brother of the late President Taft, lived in a wooden house in Cincinnati where he collected priceless paintings, regardless of cost. If he liked the painting, he bought it. Taft instructed his servants that they never must touch any of the electric lights, for a short-circuit in the wooden house might cause a fire and destroy the paintings. "I push al' the light-buttons here," he insisted. For neither the house nor the paintings carried insurance. "Why should I insure them?" he explained. "I bought these paintings because I like them. Money never can replace a painting I like." Those paintings he left now are in a $3,000,000 fireproof museum in Cincinnati, all insured.—Leonard Lyons, in New York Post.

Preparations In France

According to a letter from Nice, written nearly three weeks ago, the Allies are well informed about conditions in France by parachutists.

The car of two physicians was requisitioned by two men in German officers' uniforms recently, the letter said. The men said the car would be returned to a garage in Nice.

That night, when one of the doctors went to the garage, the car was there with a note on the driver's seat. It said:

"Here is 200 francs for the gas and oil. Many thanks from the two British parachutists to whom you were kind enough to lend your car this morning."—Berne Report.

BETHANY, Dec. 27—(ENS).—The annual meeting of the evening auxiliary of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Harding.

Mrs. Harding then presided for the election of officers, and it was moved by Mrs. Jackson and seconded by Mrs. Rowan that the officers remain the same as previous year. Mrs. Harding voiced appreciation of work done by the Society during 1943 and urged further zeal be used in future for greater accomplishments.

Mrs. Porteous reported on the sale of Christmas cards, also the greeting cards sold during the year. Sales netted $15 and a vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Porteous for handling the sale. Mrs. Jackson, treasurer, reported that $95 had been raised during the year.

Mrs. Rowan gave a short talk on Stewardship and Mrs. Jackson reported on Trinidad. Mrs. Jackson gave a talk on prayer, "The grace of working and living together," telling how the home life is unchanged for many wears in India and the difficulty it is for a Christian member of the family to try living where other members are not in sympathy, was cited. Nevertheless many Christian homes are being built and the work of God is being accomplished by all working together in co-operative projects, the speaker pointed out. Mrs. H. Fallis sang and the Candle Lighting service was held, the theme being the "Light of Knowledge of God."

Prayer by Mrs. Harding closed the meeting. The collection amounted to $1.40 and fees were $1. The hostess served a lunch.

Noted Canadians Who Passed On

By The Canadian Press

The Canadian scene was deprived of many of its leaders during 1943, death striking at prominent persons from all walks of life.

The Senate lost four members—two Liberals and two Conservatives—while Alberta lost Premier William Aberhart, 64-year-old proponent of Social Credit who died in Vancouver May 23.

2 tablespoons chopped onion
Mix together the rice, diced fowl, gravy and onion. Add the well-beaten eggs and seasonings. Pour into a shallow well-oiled baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven till the mixture is set (about 40 minutes). Remove from the oven and cut in squares. Serve with escalloped potatoes and green peas.

TAMBLYN
WISHES YOU A HAPPY NEW YEAR
The year 1943 is fast drawing to its close. It has been, we admit, a very trying one for all, but we are sure that we all now feel that ultimate Victory is but a matter of time. The Tamblyn Drug Stores throughout the year have endeavoured to give you outstanding service, but we regret have unfortunately fallen far short of their objective. At this time we wish to thank you, our good friends and patrons, for your co-operation and forbearance throughout the period, as we realize that your attitude has indeed contributed mightily to the continuance of our most pleasant relations. In a few short days, we will be starting 1944, and like you—your Tamblyn Drug Store, in keeping with time-honored practice, will be making new resolutions particularly in respect to their quality of service to you. In the meantime we do wish each and every one

TOO MANY C.C.N.Y. "COOKS"—Led by an ultra-determined gentleman, Hal Korovin (18), these C.C.N.Y. players discover that too many players after one ball are as bad as too many cooks. While the trio of New Rangers got in each other's way, Bob Kurland (90) of the Oklahoma Aggies, right, broke loose with the ball. The City College boys got unscrambled enough, however, to win the game in New York.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Everywhere the writer of this column has been recently he has been besieged by youngsters anxious to play organized hockey who wanted to know what the chances were for action this winter. Unfortunately there was nothing in the way of hope that we could hold out. Apparently no one but the boys themselves is interested in the question of whether or not there is to be any hockey. So far as we know there has been nothing done to organize minor loops and the result will probably be that outside of the C.G.E. Shop League there will be little in the way of league hockey this winter. Calls for teams to enter a senior City League have failed to produce more than three clubs and so far as the minors are concerned there is no activity. The tragedy is that of these youngsters who are clamoring for a chance to play organized hockey will be in the armed services in a year or two. In the failure of their home community to supply the opportunity these lads are being deprived of their birth right. They will pass on into the service of their country without ever having their fling as sport-loving young Canadians. It is a deplorbale situation.

Action is indicated on the basketball front after a week's layoff. The Y.M.C.A. House League is now entering the stretch drive with the schedule billed to end Wednesday night and the playoffs likely to start in a few days. The result is that there are games billed for the first three nights of this week. Tonight Joe Stewart's unbeaten Algerines are scheduled to hook up with Pete McArthur's Fairmiles and that should be an interesting argument. It remains to be seen whether the McArthur cast is any more successful in stopping the score streak of Joe Stewart than have been the other clubs defeated by the Algerines. Tomorrow night Gord. Johnston's Cruisers will tangle with Harry Currie's Destroyers. Cruisers haven't had much success from a winning standpoint but they always give the opposition a battle. Just what is the setup for Wednesday night is not yet decided. The Military Training Centre's two teams were originally billed to meet the Corvettes and the Frigates but the Centre has lost some of its basketball talent in recent drafts and there is not much chance of being able to field both teams.

Physical Fitness

According to James P. Fitzgerald, sports editor of the Telegram a meeting has been called of all Toronto sport bodies for Wednesday night to discuss the Physical Fitness Act and its program. Says the veteran sports commentator: "Perhaps it may be news to most of the sports world that there is what is known as "The Physical Fitness Act." This is a federal law passed at Ottawa last fall, presumably prompted by the fact that something like fifty per cent of our young citizens can't pass the doctor for anything much. Whatever the reason there is such an Act and through it the government undertakes to aid the general provinces toward the promotion of physical fitness. This aid is to be financial and the sum total of the fund is $225,000. It may also be gathered that there will be a whole lot of advice and instructions and interference tossed in with any grants or gifts. Anyway, the plan seems to be that each province set up some sort of office or commission to direct things, especially the dispersal of the money and indicate in what direction and to what amounts this is to be done. The Act suggests that existing sports organizations be made use of for this upbuilding of the youth of the nation and incidentally to be the recipients of at least some money with which to do it. The first step for any province to take to show its willingness to co-operate is to have its government tell the powers-that-be at Ottawa so. Three western provinces already have done so, but then when it comes to matters of being financed the west never was too bashful or backward."

The American League managed to break or equal no fewer than thirty records during the past year as compared with 22 new marks recorded the previous year. Altogether there were 12 major league records broken and six tied while nine American League records went by the boards and three tied. As might have been expected the New York Yanks set the pace by setting three new team records while the outstanding individual performance was that of Bobby Doerr, referred to in this column last week in accepting 349 consecutive chances at second base without making a solitary bobble. Roger Cramer set up a new mark by going to bat more than 600 times for his ninth season and George Case of Washington by leading the league in stolen bases for five years in succession set up a fresh mark in that department. One odd major league record that was tied was for the fewest putouts in a game by a first baseman, Rudy York of the Tigers doing the trick when he went through an entire battle without having a putout. On the other hand York had the distinction of equalling the major league record for the most assists by a first baseman in a season. The big Tiger initial-sacker had 149 assists, during the campaign, close to one per game. New York Yanks led the league in home runs for the 24th time, made their record of having made 100 or more homers in a season extend to 22 years and did the trick for the 19th season in succession, another new record.

Cowley Is Clicking

In the Ottawa Citizen Jack Koffman pays the following well-deserved tribute to the smooth-working Bill Cowley of the Bruins, an Ottawa boy who has made good: "Come to think of it, there has been nothing wrong with Cowley's play from the day he broke into hockey's big time....Over a stretch of years, Bill ca npoint to a pretty fair record....His ability to lay a puck on a dime has sent him to the top of the scoring heap with almost monotonous regularity and has made a prolific marksmen out of ordinary wingmen....At the moment, Bill heads the pro pack with 40 points for 20 games....It makes no difference whether the Bruins come up with a stretch of years, Bill can point to a pretty fair record....His ability to ....As someone remarked after his three-goal display at the expense of Toronto on Tuesday, when his wings fail to make good on scoring passes Bill takes over the goal-getting himself. Cowley's smooth work as a playmaker probably will not be fully appreciated until he hangs up his skates. ....The Bruins and other N.H.L. teams will be able to appreciate his hockey skill when his shoes have to be filled....A fellow can get hot in any sport for a game or two, a week, a month—even a season....But, when you get a hockey player setting record year after year as has been the case with Cowley, the player has to have a lot more than good fortune....The records show Bill made high-scoring wings out of Ray Getliffe and Charlie Sands, did the same with Roy Conacher and Eddie Wiseman....Bill, it appears, can make a consistent scorer out of any person capable of skating the length of the ice."

New York Rangers did quite well by themselves over the Christmas week-end. They completely ruined the Yuletide celebration for Toronto hockey fans by garnering their first road victory of the season at the expense of the Leafs Saturday night and they followed up that triumph by nosing out the Chicago Black Hawks in New York last night by 7 to 6. The Rangers showed decidedly unexpected offensive strength in the Toronto game running in five straight goals before Hap Day's men finally found the net. It was 5 to 3 at the finish with Oscar Aubuchon, former linemate of Bill Calladine's at Providence doing the hat trick for the winners. In the Chicago game Bryan Hextall spear-headed the attack by running in a pair of goals and assisting on two more. Boston Bruins moved into a tie for second place Sunday night by coming from behind to earn a draw with the Detroit Red Wings in Detroit. The final count was 4-4 and Bill Cowley fattened his average with a goal and an assist.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Many Peterborough fans will learn with sorrow of the tragic death of Norm Worthy, Brampton lacrosse star who played brilliantly for the Petes some seasons ago and was very popular in local lacrosse circles....Bill Calladine helped to set up the final goal at Detroit last night to sew up the game....Montreal Canadiens increased their lead over the week-end by beating Chicago Black Hawks 5 to 1....

Hershey Bears Win Twice Over Week-end

(By The Canadian Press)

Hershey Bears—leaders of the American Hockey League—chalked up two more victories over the week-end to raise their total number of wins to 15 in 23 starts. Four of their other games were lost and four tied. Saturday night they defeated Buffalo Bisons 5-3 and last night Indianapolis Capitals 4-3.

Cleveland Barons—in second place with 28 points—whipped Providence Reds 6-1 last night after bowing to Caps 6-4 Saturday night. Pittsburgh Hornets laced Reds 3-0 Saturday but were stung 2-1 by Bisons last night.

Hershey's attack against Bisons was led by Gaston Gauthier, who scored twice in the first period. Ross Knowles and Jimmy O'Neil, who counted twice, were the other Hershey scorers. Bison marksmen were Fred Hunt, Max Kaminsky and Max Bennett.

Bears' encounter with Capitals last night saw Caps come from behind twice to tie the score, but they couldn't take the lead. Fred Hergert scored the winning goal at 14:39 in the third period.

Barons Lost 6-4.

Caps showed better form Saturday night when they handed Cleveland Barons a 6-4 defeat—the first on home ice this season. Caps jammed in a three-goal lead during the first 14 minutes of play.

Lou Trudel, left winger, scored three goals for Barons while Nakina Smith collected two for Caps. Hynie Buller, Alex Ritson, Johnny Sorrell and Rod Morrison added the other four.

Barons made up for the loss last night by trouncing Providence 6-1. Mike Shabaga set the pace early in the first period and collected two tallies. Reds scored early in the second, but Barons banged home three more counters in the same inning and clinched the victory. They added a sixth in the final period.

In the Bison-Hornet encounter all the scoring took place in the second round. Cliff Barton and Bob Walton scored for Pittsburgh and Larry Thibeault for Buffalo.

Hornets gained the only week-end shutout Saturday night when they blanked Reds 3-0. Tom Forgie tallied in the second and third period and Bob Gracie accounted for the third tally.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Featherweight champion of the world not many months ago, Jackie Callura of Hamilton, Ont., was placed 14th in the list of leading fighters in his division in the ring roundup of the year by Ring magazine which named champion Manuel Ortiz of the bantams as the year's standout civilian boxer and boatswain's mate Fred Apostoli, former middleweight titleholder, as "boxer of the year" for 1943. The list was published in the publication's copyrighted article on the 19th annual rankings of the scrappers. Ortiz, it was pointed out, successfully defended his title eight times during the 12 months.

Ring magazine gave its selection of the No. 1 fighters in all divisions as follows: heavy—Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland; lightheavy—Lloyd Marshall, Sacramento; middle—Jake Lamotta, New York; welter—Ray Robinson, New York; lightweight—Sammy Angott and Beau Jack tied; feather—Willie Pep, Hartford; bantam—Manuel Ortiz; flyweight — Jackie Paterson, Scotland. The magazine listed Johnny Greco of Montreal in 10th place of the lightweight division, the Canadian chappion now in the army having been active during the early part of the year. Sgt. Joe Louis did not head the heavyweight list because he had not fought in 1943.

Bears Beat Redskins

With Sid Luckman firing five touchdown passes before joining the Merchant Marine, Chicago Bears walloped Washington Redskins 41-21 at Chicago Sunday to win the National Pro Football title. Sammy Baugh, champion passer of the Easterners, was forced to retire in the second period after being "roughed" by opponents but returned in the second half to pitch two scoring passes.

On a muddy track at Fair Grounds Go-Gino came from behind to capture the $5,000 Christmas handicap Saturday fsrom the favorite, Dearborn Stable's Overdrawn, B. F. Whitaker's Requested and Rupaca's Layaway, the latter finishing second. Go-Gino paid $31 for $2.

Manager Jack Adams of the Red Wings announced last night at Detroit Goalie Jimmy Franks, recently displaced by 17-year-old Harry Lumley from Indianapolis, had consented to play N.H.L. road games. Normie Smith would play in front of the nets in home games, Adams stated. Lumley is returning to Indianapolis.

Brian Timmis, coach of the Hamilton Flying Wild Cats, 1943 Canadian grid conquerors, announced last night at Hamilton he would never again be identified with a team which Sam Manson, club president, is associated. Timmis complained about the financial split, saying one player received $300 while two others received nothing from the pool.

CURLING NOTES

The main item of interest at the Curling Rink this week is the commencement of our schedule games. On Tuesday, December 28 the 44 rinks will start off on the long grind that will take them right up to February 14. Who will come out on top? We haven't the slightest idea. We have had very little opportunity to size up the rinks and therefore hesitate at the present time to make any wild guesses.

We will print the schedule games for Tuesday and Wednesday, and from there on the players will have to refer to their schedule books. It is to be hoped that the skips will contact each player of his rink, and by doing this it will cut down the "sub" business almost entirely.

There were a few out on Christmas afternoon for the bonspiel. Tom McArthur's rink of M. White, A Aitkenhead, and Leo Ackford walked away with the folding money.

By way of a change we will have a mixed bonspiel this evening at 7:30 'clock, fee 25 cents. Telephone your name in early. We are depending on the lady curlers to help put this bonspiel over.

This is the best one we heard over the week-end: It seems this young man bought his best girl an $8.00 lipstick for a Christmas present, and the story goes that he expects to get most of it back.

Tuesday, Wednesday 28.

L. Ackford vs. C. E. Blewett.
E. Brown vs. B. Chesler.
A. Gibbs vs. J. Walker.
E. Hand vs. R. Hutchinson.
J. Hutchinson vs. C. Lawrence.
F. Batten vs. G. Braund.

Wednesday, December 29

D. Davis vs. P. DeWolfe.
L. Hamley vs. R. Williamson.
A. Kay vs. R. Payne.
E. Shirley vs. G. Sorenson.
H. Clegg vs. R. Downey.
D. Grant vs. G. W. Green.

SINGS NEW TUNE—Former heavy boxing contender, Eddie Simms of Cleveland, now is singing a new tune. Eddie, an accordion player from way back, now applies his talent to entertaining Navy bluejackets and giving boxing instructions at the Naval Air station in San Diego, California.

Yuletide Rush

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 — (CP). — Ottawa railway officials said last night that Christmas rail traffic here this year was the "heaviest on record." All available accommodation was taken on trains entering and leaving the Union Station and railway companies were unable to meet last-minute requests for reservations.

Invite Franks

DETROIT (AP)—Goalkeeper Jimmy Franks has been invited to return to the Detroit Red Wings by Manager Jack Adams for N.H.L. games away from home, it was announced last night. Normie Smith would continue to mind the net for home games and work in a war plant. Franks would replace 16-year-old Harry Lumley, drafted from Indianapolis.

Musial Awarded Batting Title

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—Stan Musial will have his first major league batting championship to give the Mrs. as a belated Christmas gift when he returns to Donora, Pa., from that baseball jaunt to the Aleutians.

Although the title had been conceded to the St. Louis outfielder since last season, it wasn't official until the National League yesterday released the 1943 batting averages. Musial, in his second full year in the majors, thus earns the double crown distinction as hitting champion and most valuable player.

Musial's .357 mark puts him several lengths in front of Billy Herman, the Brooklyn infielder, who placed second with .330. It was the highest average in the National since Joe Medwick stroked a .374 in 1937.

Ernie Lombardi, last year's king slid off 25 points but still made the exclusive 300 club which numbered 10 members participating in 100 or more games.

Walker Cooper, a teammate of Musial's on the pennant winning Cardinals, followed Herman in third place with .319.

Bill Nicholson, Chicago, was the home run king with 29 but Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, walloped 18 out of the park to boost his all-time league record to 463.

Musial had most hits, 220; most total bases, 347; most doubles, 48; and most triples, 20.

Longest streak of the year was Harry Walker's feat of hitting safely in 29 consecutive games. St. Louis had the longest win march at 12 while Chicago lost 11 in a row at one stretch.

Fractures Skull

DETROIT, Dec. 27—(AP)—Hospital physicians last night described as satisfactory the conditions of Grant Warwick of New York Rangers who suffered a fractured skull Thursday night in a National Hockey League game with Detroit Red Wings. They said Warwick would be confined to hospital for two or three weeks. Warkick was injured when his head struck another player's skate when he fell to the ice after being checked.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 27. — (CP).—Probably the greatest disappointment caused by R.C.A.F. withdrawal from Allan Cup hockey was in Vancouver where the R.C.A.F. Seahawks were giving the citizens some of the best hockey they had seen since the good old days of Cyclone Taylor, the Patricks and Company. Vancouver had just got its forum out of hock with the military and, celebrating its return, the forum accommodated a crowd of 5,500, a record for the rink, at a Seahawks-Army game.

Amateur hockey had never previously flourished at Vancouver and, with some of the fans savoring their first taste of really good hockey in some years, it is not surprising they are bitter. Ken McConnell, sports editor of the Vancouver Province, said the R.C.A.F. action was taken "ignoring agreements with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the various leagues throughout Canada and forgetting the fans."

McConnell refers to Allan Cup victories the past two seasons by Ottawa service teams and comments: "It does seem passing strange that when the west coast does finally come up with a potential champion and Ottawa is left with little hope of success in hockey, a blackout is ordered."

It is incidental that rumor says one reason for the R.C.A.F. hockey blow-up was an interview with Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa which McConnell published in his column. McCaffrey was the man who lined up the Ottawa Commandos army team which won the Allan Cup last season. McConnell quoted McCaffrey as saying: "In our case we simply made arrangements, through the rinks, lined up the talent we thought was required and the boys were taken care of in a satisfactory manner."

Sports columnists across the country jumped on this interview as an example of the manner in which hockey players in the services could be moved around at the wish and for the benefit of influential civilians. It is rumored backstage that the R.C.A.F. wanted no part of such a set-up.

Incidentally, McCaffrey returned east just in time to help save the Quebec Senior League from collapse following withdrawal of the Montreal R.C.A.F. team. At a league meeting, McCaffrey said Ken Reardon, going overseas shortly, played a great game Dec. 18 in his final game with Commandos. "He didn't want a cent for playing either," said McCaffrey, but Bill Brunton, son of the Ottawa rink operator, offered the information Reardon was paid $40. "That was the best $40 worth of hockey I ever saw," said Brunton.

Nobody can accuse the National Hockey League of failing to provide for the underprivileged at Christmastime.

True to traditional Christmas spirit, the league scheduled a holiday week-end program which saw the needy New York Rangers sweep a doubleheader, 5-3 against Maple Leafs at Toronto Christmas night and 7-6 against Chicago Black Hawks before 15,391 home fans last night.

While Rangers filled their stockings after a victory fame which saw them lose 15 and tie one of 18 previous contests, Boston Bruins stole into a second-place tie with Leafs by holding Detroit Red Wings to a 4-4 tie on Olympia ice Sunday.

Chicago Loses

In the only other week-end contest, Montreal Canadiens flattened Chicago 5-1 Saturday to tighten their death grip on first place, nine points ahead of Toronto and Boston. It was the second double loss for Chicago in the last two week-ends.

Ossie Aubuchon scored four goals in the two New York games, three against Toronto and one against Chicago. Chicago's Bill Mosienko also performed the hat trick.

The chief victim of the Ranger resurgence was Paul Bibeault, slender army reject purchased by Leafs from Canadiens. Bibeault didn't look any too healthy in his net-minding debut, allowing five of 36 shots to filter past while Ken McCauley handled 44 without error for Rangers. Rangers led all the way, taking a 5-0 lead before Bob Davidson, Lorne Carr and Jackie Hamilton connected for Leafs.

Chicago was tougher competition Sunday. Goals by Mosienko and Earl Seibert against Dutch Hiller's counter made it 2-1 for Hawks in the first period and it was 4-3 midway through the second after Clint Smith and Mosienko offset two scores by hard-working Bryan Hextall. Then Rangers went ahead to stay, Frank Boucher and Bucko McDonald sending Rangers ahead 5-4 at the second intermission. Aubuchon and Ab Demarco tallied New York's third-period goals while Mosienko and Doug Bentley came through for Hawks.

Against Montreal Saturday Vic Heyliger gave Chicago the first goal, but Canadiens asserted superiority early in the second and coasted to victory on goals by Gerry Heffernan (2), Toe Blake, Phil Watson and Fern Majeau.

Don Gallinger produced the deadlock at Detroit, where the Wings and Bruins played their second straight tie. Joe Carveth counted two goals for Detroit.

Canadiens' Goalie Purchased By Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP)—Coach Hap Day of the Toronto Maple Leafs announced Friday that Leafs had acquired Goalkeeper Paul Bibeault from Montreal Canadiens. Day did not release the terms of the deal between the two National Hockey League clubs.

It was not known immediately whether Benny Grant—who has played goal for Leafs so far this season—would be released immediately or the two goalkeepers would be kept to compete for the position. A few weeks ago Day said that if the Leafs did get Bibeault, he would have to show he was a better netminder than Grant before the veteran Owen Sound, Ont., netman would be replaced.

Bibeault recently was discharged from the Canadian army.

5th Army Units Take Two Hills

ALGIERS, Dec. 27—(AP)—Fifth Army troops in Western Italy have occupied two important hills, it was announced today, while to the east fierce fighting raged in Ortona on the Adriatic with the enemy being "driven out street by street" by Canadian troops.

Eighth Army forward units, fighting well beyond the Ortona-Orsogna road, occupied the village of Crecchio, about six miles in from the Adriatic, and also captured the town of Ariella, two miles southwest of Ortona.

In Ortona itself, the stubborn German garison, sworn to die rather than yield, has been swept into one corner of this eastern anchor of the Nazi defence line by western infantry of the Canadian 1st Division. However, they continued to hold out with bloody tenacity.

In the air again after three days of the poorest kind of flying weather, Allied heavy bombers gave the southern rail approaches to the Brenner Pass another drubbing by blasting yards at Bolzano in a Christmas Day raid. Medium bombers simultaneously struck at railway targets in and around Pisa on the west coast and heavy bombers blasted an airfiled and attacks at Vicenza, 40 miles west of Venice.

The Admiralty announcement said:

"This afternoon, Dec. 26, the German battleship Scharnhorst was brought into action by units of the home fleet under command of Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser (K.C.B., K.B.E.) which was covering a Russian convoy. The Scharnhorst was sunk this evening off North Cape."

Earlier, a German communique declared Nazi U-boats had sunk five Allied ships, totalling 34,500 tons, and destroyed nine destroyers and escort vessels from convoy escorts and submarine chaser flotillas in the last few days in the Atlantic and Mediterranean.

Peterborough

crossing covering fire was provided by Ptes. Theodore Whalen, North Bay, Gordon Ritchie, Wallaceburg. Lloyd Patterson of Oshawa and Wilf Scott of Cromarty, Que., were stretcher bearers.

The crossing was only the start of the battle that went on for days and nights.

The day the main Canadian attack across the river took place L. Cpl. Doug Rutton of Belleville and Pte. C. R. Turner, Havelock, both armed with tommy-guns set out at dusk on the south-westward patrol to make contact with the other Canadian units to get information about their dispositions.

The two crept across slopes in front of German positions for more than two miles. Ruttan carried a map on which he recorded information he obtained. Turner spotted a crouched figure on the way so the pair returned, by the other side of the valley, to their position to report to the colonel for fear their may might fall into enemy hands.

L. Cpl. H. E. McKnight, a brother of the company sergeant major, made three trips along the valley to get information about the enemy, locate the right flank of another battalion and roundup as much as he could of a disorganized mule train. His trips served their purpose and McKnight came back with the much-needed mules, mortar sights and ammunition.

Remarkable Feat

The Hastings' fight to hold their position was as great as their difficult crossing. Presence of enemy tanks was detected on one occasion by Davis and Cpl. Jim Buckley of Cardinal.

A pair of anti-tank guns, each weighing nearly a ton, were manhandled a mile and a half through the valley mud up a rough trail and set up below a road where a movement was heard. Their crews were directed by Sgt. Hubert Guay of Iroquis, Ont., and the troops performed a job which had been considered impossible and looks impossible even now.

Meantime, mule trains were led across the valley under heavy fire in charge of C.S.M. Angus Duffy of Trenton and the battalion during its battle never was short of either ammunition or food.

One of tthe counter-attacks was spotted by Pte. George Fields.

During the counter-attacks the truck drivers who hadn't been able to get their transports across the valley and who helped guide the mule trains, took a hand in sniping.

Picked Off Four

Among them were Cpl. Rollie Fleming of Madoc, Tom O'Brien of Bancroft. Pte. Irwin Jackson of Gunter, Ont., handyman among the battalion headquarters personnel, accounted for four Germans with his rifle.

During one of the heavy German counter-attacks, Sgt. Bill Nolan of Bancroft, whose platoon occupied a forward position, refused to move despite the severity of the assault.

C.S.M. Cecil Yearwood of Madoc established himself in a two-storey building overlooking the Hastings position, knocked a hole in the tile roof, and sniped away while one of his men fired through a hole in the wall directly below him.

Artillery fire was directed on the enemy by Capt. Con Harrington of Montreal who was forward observation officer with the battalion. It was his first action and was commended on all sides.

Pte. Avon Duffy, brother of the Regimental Sergeant Major, took two prisoners and buried the bodies of four Germans killed by shell-fire. C.S.M. George Ponsfort of Picton carried food across no-man's land during the fighting and brought back wounded.

There were numerous other acts of distinction in the battalion whose fight protected the main Canadian bridgehead. During a series of counter-attacks the enemy sometimes was within 30 yards of the men of the Hastings and the groves in front of them were littered with German dead.

When Sgt. Jim McCaw of Belleville was asked what men distinguished themselves particularly in the company in which he platoon sergeant he replied: "we had 100 of them in our company."

Excellence of communications, permitted the battalion to direct the fire of its mortars behind the river with devastating effect. The German counter - attacks failed and toward dusk prisoners started to come in. Lieut. Squibb Mowat of Kingston, Ont., counted 50, among them four officers. One of of the officers carried orders indicating the Germans intended to hold the Moro line at all costs.

125 Casualties

German casualties inflicted by the Hastings and artillery supporting them were estimated at least 125. Fire also disabled an enemy self-propelled gun.

Pte. Grant Gillespie of Buckthorn, Ont., was among stretcher bearers who carried out Hastings wounded to a jeep ambulance driven by W. I. Fiddler of Saskatoon who with Pte. H. L. Marshall of Cobourg, Ont., took them to field hospitals.

Members of he mortar section who during the battle fired more than 1,000 bombs at the enemy included Sgt. W. E. Morris and N. C. Monney, both of Bancroft, Ont., Stan Downs of Trenton, L. Sgts. Joe Flerry of Oshawa, Gus Shea of Hearst, Cpls. W. L. Bates of Bowmanville, R. T. Carswell of Madoc, L. Cpl. George Vesterfelt of Marmora, Ptes. J. A. Campbell of Windsor, L. R. Burns of Dutton, L. E. S. McGinn of Amherst, and W. A. Sexsmith of Napanee, all in Ontario.

Much of the patrol work was done by Capt. Long, Lieut. Wayne King of Ottawa and CMS. Cecil Yearwood of Madoc. The battle provided the first frontline action for the padre, Rev. Fred Goforth of Toronto, who earned the admiration of all the battalion.

OSWALD GETS THE COALS—Oswald Mosley, jailed at the outbreak of the war as the leader of the Fascist party in England, is shown here in one of the first pictures taken of him since his release from prison about five weeks ago on medical grounds. Here he is shown in the garden of the Oxfordshire Inn, where he is now living, with coals, which is part of his share of the household work. The picture on the right, of Mosley's wife, is the first one taken of her at their new home.

Liquor Ration Cut To 26 Oz.

TORONTO, Dec. 27 — Ontario's liquor ration drops to 26 ounces monthly starting January 4, 1944, and unless Ottawa eases its restrictions, this will be the maximum for the duration.

Thursday and Friday of this week, after a three-day shutdown due to insufficient deliveries from distilleries, will be the last days on which the 40-ounce monthly ration will be obtainable for those entitled to it. Liquor stores will remain closed until 10 a.m. Thursday, and will be closed January 1 and 3, to enable restocking of empty shelves.

"We are remaining closed on these dates due to the stocks available under the Dominion Government restrictive order not having proven sufficient to meet the substantial public demand which has been displayed this month," said the board chairman, A. St. Clair Gordon. "We are having trouble getting deliveries from the distilleries which are classed as non-war industries. All liquor stores will be closed January 1 and 3 to give us an opportunity to restock."

Mr. Gordon disclosed that the board divided 1943 into 13 months, allotting two months' supply to December in order to take care of the expected heavy demand.

"Had we not done that, and treated December as an ordinary month, we would have been sold out by December 10," said Mr. Gordon, "Despite all our preparations, the December demand all but exceeded the two months' supply allotted to the 12 month."

Mr. Gordon said there would be no change from the present beer and wine quotas, under which 24 pints of beer may be obtained per month, along with eight bottles of native wine—two only in one week —and four bottles of imported wine. Stores selling native wine will be closed December 27 and 28 and on January 1 and 3.

Brewers' retail stores and retail depots will be closed today and on New Year's Day.

MRS. ARTHUR MUMFORD.

The death of Mrs. Arthur Mumford, 43, of Harcourt, Ont., occurred in Nicholls Hospital on Christmas Day, following a short illness.

The daughter of Thomas Drumm, Sr. and his wife, Alice Kelly, who make their home in Peterborough, Mrs. Mumford was born in Hastings county and was a resident of Hastings and Haliburton counties all her life. She was a member of the Anglican church.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Arthur Mumford, and eight sons and a daughter: Edward in Africa, Ronald and Earle of Peterborough, and Cecil, Ross, Douglas, Dale, Jimmie and Dorothy at home. Two brothers, Edward and Thomas, are living in Peterborough; and there are two sisters, Mrs. Leo Masterson of Peterborough and Mrs. Marshall Short.

The body is resting at the Bert Duffus Funeral Home until Tuesday morning, and will be taken to Wilberforce for service in the Anglican church on Wednesday afternoon. Interment will be made in Wilberforce cemetery.

Second Invasion

they landed at Arawe on the southwest coast of the island, about 60 miles from Cape Gloucester.

The main landing of the Cape was made near the foot of Target Hill approximately six miles east of Cape Gloucester and its airdrome. At the same time, a second marine force went ashore a few miles southwest of Gloucester.

American forces also occupied Song Island in Vitiaz Straits.

Reports from the headquarters of Maj.-Gen. William S. Rupertus, commanding the invasion troops, said his men, the majority of them veterans of Guadalcanal, were systematically pushing through the jungle trails to Cape Gloucester.

Bag 71 Planes.

The landing climaxed a series of aerial bombardments of a scale new to the Pacific theatre. Nearly 3,500 tons of bombs were dropped on the vulnerable Cape Gloucester area in almost daily raids beginning Dec. 1.

Allied headquarters reported today the enemy has lost at least 71 and probably 90 planes at Rabaul, New Britain, one destroyer, two large cargo ships and other smaller craft at Kavieng, New Ireland, during the Christmas week-end.

Carrier-based planes raced in over the harbor of Kavieng, principal Japanese base on New Ireland and a link in the sea supply chain between Rabaul and Japan. early Christmas morning, caught enemy defences by surprise, sank a destroyer and two large freighters and damaged another destroyer, a patrol boat and several smaller vessels. Eight seaplanes caught at anchorage were strafed.

The Order of the Golden Fleece founded by the Duke of Burgundy in 1429 is the oldest order of the knighthood in Europe.

ADJOURNS CASES.

Icy condition of the roads this morning prevented Magistrate E. A. Gee from making the trip from Lindsay to Peterborough so Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer, J.P., occupied the bench and adjourned the cases until Tuesday.
